TERRIBLE WRECK OF A TROLLEY CAR.

Jumped the Tracks at a Curve and Plunged Into a Tree With Terrific Force.

THE MOTORMAN WILL DIE.

ACCIDENT HAPPENED IN WESTFIELD EARLY THIS MORNING.

Exact Cause of the Disaster is Not Known, as the Motorman's Story Cannot be Learned—Two Other Railway Employes Hurt.

The most serious accident that has ever occurred on the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway, and which will probably result fatally to the motorman of the car, occurred at Westfield shortly before 2 o'clock this morning. Martin Walsh, the motorman, is in the Muhlenberg Hospital where his death is expected hourly.

The conductor, E. Victor Lorton, of East Third street, is confined to his bed with painful but not serious injuries. Car No. 8 of the Westfield and Elizabeth line is at the West Fourth street carhouse beyond repair. It was almost split in two. Besides the conductor and motorman there was only one other man in the car, Robert Eggert, of Stebbins place, who is also an employe of the company. He escaped with a few slight bruises.

The accident occurred on the curve at Summit and South avenue and was caused by the car jumping the track and plunging into a tree in the depot park nearly fifty feet away. There is a steep grade on Summit avenue, leading to South avenue, down which the car went at full speed. Whether Walsh did not see the curve or whether the brakes refused to work is not known. Lorton was making up his account on the rear platform of the car, which is a closed one, and Eggert was sitting inside. Suddenly, without warning and with a terrible crash, the car leaped clear of the rails and almost the next instant had struck the tree in the park. Lorton was thrown against the closed doors with terrific force, but managed to clamber off.

With presence of mind, Eggert threw himself on the seat the instant car jumped and escaped injury. Hurrying to the front of the car Walsh was found wedged in the front platform in a terrible condition. Securing assistance he was lifted up and placed aboard a car following which started for Plainfield. In the meantime Dr. Sinclair, of Westfield, and Dr. Fritts, of Plainfield, were summoned. The latter started for the scene on a special car and met the other one on the road.

The injured men were made as comfortable as possible until the hospital was reached. Walsh was in terrible agony. His skull was fractured, his right leg broken in two places and he was injured internally. Beside these injuries his body was a mass of cuts and bruises.

In case he should recover, which is not at all likely, amputation of the limb will be necessary. Lorton's injuries consisted of cuts and bruises about the face, head and lower limbs His throat also seems to be affected and he is hardly able to speak. It will be several days before he is able to leave his bed.

Walsh, who is about thirty years of age, is a single man and boards on West Third street. He has been in the employ of the company but a short time, coming here from Syracuse, N. Y., two months ago. He has a brother in this city, Michael Walsh, who is also employed by the Street Railway Company.

Soon after the accident the wrecked car was patched up and brought to this city but it cannot be repaired. The front platform is torn off and it is almost cut it two, showing the terrific force with which it struck. On examination the brakes appeared to be in good order, but there are dozens of things which would prevent their working at the right time.

To Put Up New Bridge.

A meeting of the bridge committee of the Union County Board of Freeholders, of which Nathan W. Bonnell, of Springfield, is chairman, was held last night to receive bids and award the contract for the construction of an iron bridge to be built over the brook known as Wade's Race, on Morris avenue, near Short Hills avenue, Millburn. This work will cost about $1,000.

Says He Was Not In It.

John Moran, whose name was associated with the trouble on Park avenue Thursday evening, says that he had nothing to do with it. He says that he witnessed the affair, but was not in any way responsible for it, as was alleged.

BRIDE FROM BRIDGETON.

Miss Mattie S. Bowen Becomes the Wife of C. Francis Platts—To Reside in This City.

The marriage of Miss Mattie S. Bowen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Bowen, of 25 South Pearl street, Bridgeton, and C. Francis Platts, formerly of Bridgeton, but now of 740 West Third street, took place last week Wednesday at the home of the bride's parents in the presence of the immediate relatives and a few friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Spencer Moore, cousin of the groom, of South River, N. J.

The bridesmaid was Miss May Barrett, and the best man was Oscar L. Platts, brother of the groom, both of Bridgeton. The following evening a reception was given to the bridal couple by the groom's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Platts received a great many handsome and useful presents from their relatives and friends.

The bride is a popular young woman. For five years she was manager of the Western Union telegraph office at Bridgeton. The groom has been a resident of Plainfield for the past two years, and holds a position at the Pond Tool Works. They have taken up their residence at 740 West Third street.

STRUCK WITH GOLF BALL.

Miss Daisy Elsberg Under Physicians Care as a Result of an Accident on Park Club Links.

Miss Daisy Elsberg, of Prospect place, met with an unfortunate accident on the links of the Park Golf Club Thursday afternoon. She was playing round in company with William R. Faber and had reached the ninth teeing-ground. After driving she walked a short distance ahead and to the right. Faber caught the ball on the toe of his driver and it, swerved to the right. Miss Elsberg chanced to look up just in time to have the ball strike her on the left cheek.

She is now under the care of Dr. Adams. The cheek is badly swollen and it is feared that the cheek bone may have been injured as well.

BEACH LEAVES CENTRAL.

Appointed Superintendent of the Atlantic City Division of the Reading Railroad

Charles A. Beach, of New York, was yesterday appointed superintendent of the Philadelphia and Reading Railway's Atlantic City division, to succeed G. D. Whitcomb.

The appointment was made by General Superintendent S. Weigard, with the approval of First Vice-president Voorhees. Since 1898 Mr. Beach has been superintendent of the Central New Jersey terminals, with supervision over Newark, Constable Hook, Elizabeth and the New York branches.

A Great Day's Outing.

An enjoyable Labor Day is assured for those who take advantage of the Grocers' excursion Monday and go with them to Coney Island. Coney-Island has a world-wide reputation and possesses nearly every kind of attraction that anyone can wish for. Then there's good sea bathing. The first section will leave the North Avenue station at 7:45 o'clock and the second fifteen minutes later.

September Panel of Jurors.

Sheriff Schoonmaker, of Somerset county, in the presence of Judge Schenck, drew the following petit jurors to serve at the September term of court: North Plainfield—Philip H. Curren, George Hummer, John D. McMurty, Charles Wood, Frank B. Rowley, Wm. Conroy, George F. Brown, Abram VanCleef, George Mobus, Henry Gracely. Warren—Thomas Rodgers.

Navigated With Difficulty.

Just as the crowd was beginning to assemble for the open air band concert last evening, Benjamin Brown, a hostler, colored, wandered along Park avenue, decidedly the worse for an intimate acquaintance with fiery spirits. Brown navigated with considerable difficulty. Patrolman Higgins locked him up and Mayor Rockfellow fined him $2 this morning.

Forty Dollars Each for Musicians.

Full returns have been received from the subscription ball, held at the Hotel Netherwood last Saturday evening for the benefit of the hotel orchestra. After paying all the expenses, Acton Poulet, treasurer of the committee, turned over $40 to each of the three members of the orchestra.

Japanese to Reside Here.

H. K. Tetsuka, of New York, has rented George Dupuy's house at 1002 LaGrande avenue, through the agency of Armstrong Mulford, North avenue. Mr. Tetsuka is a Japanese and is engaged in the Oriental goods business in New York. He will take possession of the house about Oct. 1st.

DEMOCRATS WILL ELECT DELEGATES

Primaries Ordered to be Held Next Friday Evening by City Executive Committee.

OTHER POLITICAL NOTES

REPUBLICANS OF MIDDLESEX COUNTY ARE IN A MUSS

Trouble Threatened at the Primaries—Chairman Murphy Returns From Europe—Democratic Candidate for Congress.

A meeting of the Democratic City Executive Committee was held last night and the call for primaries issued in accordance with the date fixed by the county committee at its recent meeting. The primaries will be held in the various wards of the city on Friday evening of next week, and at that time delegates will be elected to both the State and Congressional conventions, the former to be held in Trenton September 12th, and the latter to be held in Bayonne September 19th. Plainfield will be entitled to nine delegates in each convention, the First, Second and Third wards getting two and the Fourth three delegates. The First ward primary will be held in the vacant store in the Veehl building on East Front street; the Second ward primary in Bryant School building; the Third ward primary in the High School building, and the Fourth ward primary in the T. A. B. hall on West Fourth street.

Franklin Murphy, chairman of the New Jersey Republican State committee, arrived in New York from Paris last night on the American liner St. Paul. Mr. Murphy was not expected to arrive before today, but the steamer made a remarkably quick trip, beating her previous records by about ten hours.

There were indications in New Brunswick yesterday that unless those Republicans who assume to be the party leaders in Middlesex county could settle among themselves whom they would honestly advocate as the Republican candidate for State Senator, a number of the members of the party who have generally left the work of the convention to the machine workers might take a hand in the primaries and select delegations that would nominate a candidate over the heads of the factionists. It is probable that such a movement would receive popular indorsement to the extent of making the election of a Republican State Senator in Middlesex not so problematical as it is now regarded by the Democrats.

The Arthur Russell who is now being urged by Cumberland county Democrats as the candidate for Congress in the First New Jersey district was, it is said, a Republican in 1896, and at that time published a newspaper advocating the election of McKinley and Hobart. If Mr. Russell should receive the Democratic nomination it is his purpose to challenge Congressman Loudenslager to publicly debate the issues of the campaign, which would afford Mr. Loudenslager, his friends say, an excellent opportunity to distinguish himself.

Dogs May Go on Trolleys.

Dogs may be taken as passengers upon the cars of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway after today. According to a rule just adopted by the company, permits will be issued, entitling the owner of a dog to take the animal upon any car by simply showing the card. The cost will be 25 cents, which will cover a period of one year from date of issue. It is stipulated that the dogs must be taken upon the platform, and that the owner be responsible for all risk. The permits are not transferrable, as they bear the owner's name and designate the kind of dog for which the cards are given.

Delegate to Grand Lodge.

William Jones will go to Atlantic City next Thursday to attend the annual gathering of the Grand Lodge of the Grand United Order of Odd Fellows to which he is a delegate from Union Lodge, of this city.

Conferred Chief's Degree

At the meeting of Miantonomo Tribe of Red Men last evening, the chief's degree was conferred on two candidates and a committee was appointed to arrange for the eleventh anniversary.

Trimming Trees.

A man in the employ of the street department has been trimming the trees along Franklin place and adjacent thoroughfares. The appearance of the streets is improved by the trimming.

RATHER DIE THAN LIVE.

GRIEF-STRICKEN OVER DEATH OF BABY MOTHER ATTEMPTS SUICIDE.

The Sad Attempt Occurred at the Westfield Fresh Air Camp—Desperate Act Was Unsuccessful.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Sept. 1.—Grief stricken over the loss of her infant child, Mrs. Noonan, who has been staying at the Westfield Fresh Air Camp for several weeks, made an unsuccessful attempt yesterday to take her life. The child had been at the point of death for some time past with an incurable disease, and death brought relief to the suffering on Thursday. The little one was buried yesterday. This, together with the fact that Mrs. Noonan's husband has not lived with her since a short time after their marriage, worked upon her mind and no doubt was responsible for the attempt to take her own life.

It is stated that Mrs. Noonan's husband lives in Newark. He was notified as the baby's critical illness. To this he paid no attention, and made no effort to help his wife share the burden that had fallen to her lot. She was an attractive young woman when Mr. Noonan met her, and was preparing to engage in just such work as that carried on at the Camp. Her marriage interferred with her plans and they had to be given up. Not a great while after the marriage the husband left his wife and since then she has not seen him. She has written him, but there were no responses.

The fatal illness of her infant child was a source of great worry to her and from time to time she acted very strangely. Her child was given the best of care and everything possible was done to save the young life.

Mrs. Noonan was watched closely, for it was feared that she might do herself harm. Yesterday, however, in an unguarded minute, she made the attempt to take her life, but it was unsuccessful. She was discovered in time and thus her efforts proved futile. Just what will be done with the heart-broken woman has not yet been determined, but she will have to be taken care of until she recovers her mind and strength.

Sara Curry Noonan was the name of the little one that died and she was loved by all at the Camp. Until taken sick she was a bright baby and won many friends among those staying at the Camp and those who visited the place.

MISS CURRY A VISITOR.

Matron of West Fresh-Air Camp Heard in First Baptist Church Last Evening.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church was favored last evening by a visit from Miss Sara Curry, the matron of the Westfield Fresh-Air Camp. She told them about the great good being accomplished there and through her day nursery in the city. It is a revelation to some of her hearers to realize that the primary object of the camp work is to convert the mothers to the Christian life and through them to lift up the families. This makes it much more than "fresh-air" work—it is true evangelical work, and it is nobly followed up throughout the year by this distinguished Christian worker.

Miss Curry and her day nursery are unique in that they rest solely upon the generosity of Christian people, and on the power which move their hearts. She has no society back of her. The camp, however, is run by a society or convention of delegates from various societies.

The final service for the season will be held at the Camp Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock and reports of officers and committees will be presented. All who are interested in the Camp should go over, as the meeting will make many things plain. People who have been going to visit the Camp, should embrace this last opportunity.

In Full Operation.

The Chimney Rock branch of the Central is now in full operation. A section gang of four men have been put on for maintenance of way, and Wm. Haelig has a small colony of Italians employed and five stone crushers in course of erection with a capacity of thirty gondola cars per day. The picnic grounds are also in great demand this year, being occupied almost every day by picnic parties.

Played Euchre.

The weekly progressive euchre party was held at the Hotel Netherwood last evening. There were fifteen tables. The first prizes went to Mrs. J. H. Schoonmaker and S. B. Carson. The winners of the second prizes were Mrs. Edward Keeler and F. Lloyd Kane. Mrs. S. B. Carson and J. H. Schoonmaker won the third prizes. The Saturday evening formal hop will be held tonight.

WHAT'S TO HAPPEN HERE ON LABOR DAY

Monday Will Be Quiet in Plainfield—Several Excursions Will Take Many.

SEVERAL PICNICS PLANNED.

LIVELY TIMES ON BOTH OF THE GOLF COURSES MONDAY.

Big Grocers' Excursion Goes to Coney Island—Jersey Central Will Run an Excursion to Mauch Chunk—Other Events.

Labor Day promises to be a very quiet holiday for Plainfield. There is little happening here and then several excursions to seashore and mountains will take away many of the people from this city. The only events of importance scheduled for the day are those in golfing circles, when the fall activity begins.

Chief among the attractions for Labor Day is the big excursion of the Grocers' Association which promises to carry away over a thousand people. Elaborate arrangements have been made for the event. The destination this year is Coney Island. The first section leaves the North Avenue station at 7:45 o'clock and the second at 8 o'clock. At Jersey City one of the finest of the Iron Steamboat Company's steamers will carry the excursionists down the bay.

The Jersey Central Railroad has also provided a special Labor Day outing to Mauch Chunk, Glen Onoko and the famous Switchback. The excursion train will leave the North Avenue station at 9:30 o'clock and will carry passengers at a remarkably cheap rate. The Lehigh Valley Railroad will also run an excursion to the same destination.

At Mountainside Grove, Division No. 4, A. O. H., will give its second grand picnic Monday afternoon and evening. There will be music and dancing and other attractions. The Independent Gun Club will hold a shoot Monday afternoon on their grounds near Terrill road. Up at Dewey Park, near Dunellen, Drake's band from Elizabeth will give concerts both morning and afternoon and there will also be political speaking during the afternoon.

After over a month of quietness, things will liven up on the links of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club. For Monday afternoon play for the Golf Committee cups will be held. Class A is open to members with handicaps between scratch and 18, and Class B to members with 18 or more handicap.

On the links of the Park Golf Club Labor Day will be quite an active time. In the morning the second round of medal play for the Charles Hyde holiday cup will be held In the afternoon a mixed foursome will be played. At 4 o'clock there will be an approach and putting contest. There will also be a tea at the clubhouse and a large attendance is expected.

The Last Service.

The 4 o'clock service at the Westfield Fresh Air Camp tomorrow afternoon will be the last one for the present year, and it promises to be of much interest. There will be reports of work undertaken and accomplished and remarks will be made by Rev. John McMurray, pastor of Monroe Avenue church, this city; George E. Woolfe, president of the Camp Association; Arthur N. Pierson, vice-president; Rev. E. L. Fox, of New York; Miss Sara Curry, matron, and D. M. Torrey. There will doubtless be a large attendance on the part of many who have become interested in this grand work.

Found Owner for Cow.

The police have discovered the owner of the cow which Patrolman Higgins arrested early yesterday morning. His name is Clark and he hails from Scotch Plains. A few days ago he purchased two cows at North Branch and drove the home to Scotch Plains. Thursday night they broke loose from the yard and wandered out into the world. One was arrested by Patrolman Higgins as it leasurely wandered through West Front street. The other was found back in its old home at North Branch whither it had tramped during the night,

Memorial Service at Cranford.

A memorial service will be held tomorrow evening in the Walnut M. E. church in the memory of the late Mrs. Eleanor J. Leveridge, of Plainfield, who was for several years closely connected with this church. A special sermon will be preached by the pastor, Rev. Oscar Joseph. The subject is "The Consolations of the Christian Hope."

MUST GO TO ITALY.

To Get Murderer Roberti — Prosecutor English Arranging for the Extradition of the Prisoner.

Nothing further has been done toward the extradition of Thomas Roberti from Italy, for the murder of Tony Deluce at Summit. The matter has been placed in the hands of Prosecutor English for his attention.

Mr. English has been out of Elizabeth for some days at his summer home in Liberty Corner. It is said that he has not been well.

Residents of Summit, where the murder was committed, are greatly pleased that the murderer has been apprehended and the county detective is receiving the congratulations of many for his clever work in tracing the criminal.

Roberti's wife and child are still in Summit, where they have been trying to live down the bad name willed to them by the husband and father. The wife expressed the hope that Roberti would be brought back at once and punished for his wickedness.

It has not yet been decided who will be sent to Italy after the murderer, and this will not be known until the prosecutor decides upon the course to be pursued in extraditing him.

CENTRAL PROMOTIONS.

Charles H. English, of Dunellen, Has Been Appointed Assistant Train Master of Central Division.

Several promotions have just been made on the Jersey Central Railroad which have resulted in the advancement of one of Dunellen's promising young men, Charles H. English. The resignation of C. A. Beach, superintendent of terminals, was accepted and M. M. Richey was promoted from the position of train master of the L. and S. division to be superintendent of terminals. The office of train master of the L. and S. division. The High Bridge branch is now under the jurisdiction of the train master of Central division with an assistant train master quartered at High Bridge. Charles H. English, of Dunellen, who has been a train dispatcher at Jersey City has been promoted to the latter office and has his headquarters at High Bridge.

Only an Eyewitness.

John Carey, the nurse, who lives in the borough, and who was reported yesterday as being engaged in a scrap with a white man, following the announcement of the result of the Corbett-McCoy fight, called at The Daily Press office yesterday afternoon and stated that he was not engaged in any such trouble. He says that it was a small colored lad by the name of Cuff who was being chased by a crowd of white people, and that the boy ran to where he was standing on Park avenue and asked for protection. The police soon appeared and learning the trouble sent the boy home. The correction is made in justice to Mr. Carey, whom it appears had nothing whatever to do with the trouble.

Miss Mair on Her Way Home.

Mrs. Elizabeth Mair, of Leland avenue, received a welcome cablegram yesterday from her daughter, Miss Rachel G. Mair, who is on her way home from Liberia, Africh, where she has been engaged in mission work for several years past. Yesterday was the anniversary of the birthday of Mrs. Mair, and the cablegram announced the safe arrival of Miss Mair at Hamburg, on her way home, and it also contained greeting to her mother in honor of the birthday celebration. Miss Mair is well-known in this city, and her many friends have watched with interest her work in Africa. She will reach home in about two weeks.

Woman Fainted in the Crowd.

The usual big crowd assembled on North avenue last evening to hear the open-air band concert by LaVere's band. The selections were well rendered and received considerable applause. A little excitement was caused by the fainting of a woman in the crowd. She was carried into Armstrong's pharmacy, and finally driven home in a carriage. She lives in Plainfield, but did not give her name.

Threw Mud at the News Office.

Jerry Griffin, a newsboy, threw mud at the News office and was caught in the act by Patrolman Myers. He was haled before Mayor Rockfellow this morning and sentenced to a good sound thrashing. His mother was in court and took the contract to carry out the sentence of the Court to its fullest extent.

Revival Services.

A revival has been in progress at the Fillmore Avenue Baptist church during the past week. The meetings have been conducted by Rev. W. H. McLean, the new pastor. Regular services will be held at the church tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock and at 8 o'clock in the evening.

WHITE AND BLACK WERE READY TO RIOT

Big Gang of Men Willing to Fight Gathered After the Band Concert Last Night.

ARMED WITH FENCE PICKETS

ROUNDSMAN FLYNN CHARGED THE MOB AND DISPERSED IT.

Band of Burly Negroes Laid in Wait for Gang of Rough and Ready Fellows From West End, Who Were Ready for Fight.

The fortunate arrival of Roundsman Flynn at the corner of Madison avenue and West Second streeet last evening shortly after 10 o'clock just prevented trouble between a large crowd of negroes and a party of white men. Hot words had been exchanged and pickets were being ripped off the fence for weapons when the officer arrived all alone and charged the crowd, dispersing it. There were several occasions last evening when trouble threatened but it was not so imminent as on that occasion.

At a previous band concert a young man from the West End had his coat and vest slashed open. It was said that a negro did it with a razor. There was considerable feeling on the subject. At the band concert last night several thousand people assembled. Among them was a crowd of negroes. Once nearly fifty of them congregated on Park avenue and the police had difficulty in scattering them. While no objection was made by the police to the people standing to listen to the music they were on the careful watch for any large gathering, white or colored, and compelled the men to move on. It was feared that there might be a repetition of the trouble of the night before in which two colored men had narrow escapes from hard treatment at the hands of a mob.

After the concert a band of burly negroes, some of whom are well known by the police as tough characters, moved out Second street and waited at the corner of Madison avenue for a gang from the West End which usually takes that route homeward. At first the white men were outnumbered. They grouped together and answered the taunts of the others, but neither side made a move which would open the conflict.

There were additions to the white contingent every minute until their ranks were more numerous than their darker opponents. Then the negroes sent a runner down to the Boulevard to summon assistance. His summons to the negroes to turn out were heard by a policeman, who hurried to the scene.

Roundsman Flynn heard of the fast gathering crowds and went to the place at once without waiting to secure aid. Some of the crowd, it is not known which part, stripped a nearby fence of the pickets and prepared for action. When Flynn showed up the West End contingent retreated down Second street in a body, while the colored men scattered.

Several of Plainfield's prominent colored citizens, saw the impending trouble and hastened there in the hope of preventing it. They expressed the hope that the ring leaders in any conflict, should one take place, should be severely punished without regard to race or color. They felt that it was very unfortunate for the well-behaved and peaceable colored people of the city that a few of their race should attempt to incite a riot.

While there are many colored folk in the city for whom the police have only the greatest respect, there is a certain element which, they fear, is going to make trouble. The race riots in New York and the cutting of the white man's coat and vest at a previous band concert have intensified the feeling on both sides and the police are watching carefully to prevent any meeting of the whites and the negroes.

Stolen From a Grip.

John Wortheimer, of this city, is mourning the loss of a new pair of shoes and several other articles which were purloined from his grip while on the way to Asbury Park a few days ago. The articles were in the grip when it left Plainfield, but on opening it at the Park they had disappeared in some mysterious manner.

—Burt Hetfield, of East Front street, has taken a position in Love's wall paper office.

—The September meeting of the Mayor and Borough Council will be held Friday evening of next week.

—Not wishing to carry them over until Tuesday, Neuman Brothers will have a special sale tonight of seventy-five baskets of peaches at 35 and 50 cents each.

BEAUTY OF SPIRIT.

Qualities of the Heart That Are More Desirable Than Qualities of the Brain.

The people who win their way into the inmost recesses of other's hearts are not usually the most brilliant and gifted, but those who have sympathy, patience, self-forgetfulness and that indefinable faculty of eliciting the better natures of others, says the Watchman. Most of us know of persons who have appealed to us in this way. We have many friends who are more beautiful and gifted, but there is not one of them whose companionship we enjoy better than that of the plain-faced man or woman who never makes a witty or profound remark, but whose simple quality of human goodness makes up for other deficiency. And if it came to a time of real stress, when we felt that we needed the support of real friendship, we should choose above all to go to this plain-faced man or woman, certain that we should find intelligent sympathy, and charitable construction of our position and difficulties, and a readiness to assist us beyond what we ought to take. If you could look into human hearts, you would be surprised at the faces they enshrine there, because beauty of spirit is more than beauty of face or form, and remarkable intellectual qualities are not to be compared with unaffected human goodness and sympathy.

Fruits for Rheumatism.

Dr. Kellogg says the use of fruit diminishes the acidity of urine, and thus antagonizes the rheumatism and gout. The acids of fruits undergo changes which diminish the acidity of the blood and aid in the elimination of uric acid. The most digestible fruits are ripe grapes, peaches, strawberries, apricots, oranges, whortleberries, very ripe pears, steamed figs, dates, baked apples, stewed fruits. A dietary consisting wholly of fruits is a valuable means of overcoming biliousness. Such a dietary may be maintained for one or two days or a week. A modified fruit dietary is highly beneficial. Two meals may be eaten, the breakfast of fruit only, and the ordinary dinner, or if three meals are taken, the first and last meals should consist of fruit only. The most laxative fruits are apples, figs, prunes, berries and peaches.—Popular Science.

CREED REVISION.

Committee Issues a Circular to Presbyterian Churches.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 1.—The committee on creed revision appointed at the last meeting of the Presbyterian general assembly has issued a circular to the presbyteries of the church reciting the authority for the appointment of the committee to ascertain the general feeling in regard to the proposed revision of the creed and requesting the presbyteries to consider and answer the following inquiries:

First.—Do you desire a revision of our confession of faith?

Second.—Do you desire a supplemental explanatory statement?

Third.—Do you desire to supplement our present doctrinal standards with a briefer statement of the doctrines most surely believed among us, expressing in simple language the faith of the church in loyalty to the system of doctrine contained in Holy Scripture and held by the reformed churches?

Fourth.—Do you desire the dismissal of the whole subject so that our doctrinal standards shall remain as they are, without any change whatever, whether revisional, supplemental or substitutional?

The circular is signed by 15 members of the committee, as follows, the Rev Stephen A. Dana of Philadelphia being the only member of the committee whose signature is not attached to the document:

Charles A. Dickey, Herrick Johnson, Samuel J. Niccolls, Daniel W. Fisher, William McKibbin, George S. Stewart, Samuel P. Sprecher, Henry Van Dyke, Benjamin Harrison, John M. Harlan, Daniel R. Noyes, E. W. C. Humphrey, William R. Crabbe, John E. Parsons and Elisha A. Fraser.

The presbyteries are requested to record the affirmative and negative votes. This, it is expected, will cause a divided vote in the Pittsburg and Allegheny presbyteries, as most of the ministers differ regarding the proposed revision of the creed.

GOVERNOR WOOD'S TRIP.

Inspection of Cuba Nearly Ended Excellent Results.

JUCARO, Cuba, Sept. 1.—Governor General Wood, after a careful canvass of the island, will return to Havana tomorrow evening. The effect of his tour has been excellent. Wherever he has been he has found good order prevailing and the jails for the greater part empty. The reconstruction of the country is slow, but much is being achieved. Nowhere has he seen evidences of suffering from hunger. The health of the United States troops at all points is good. The political situation still retards the investment of foreign capital, but the public school system is steadily expanding, with the probability that at an early date places will be found for 250,000 children.

Senor Perfecto Lacoste, president of the Planters' association, has been nominated to the forthcoming constitutional convention from Santiago and Senor Diego Tamayo from Havana.

New York State Fair a Success.

SYRACUSE, Sept. 1.—The state fair closed yesterday with an attendance of 10,000. It has been the most successful fair in the history of the institution. The total attendance for the week aggregated 125,000. There was a good racing card, and the horse show exhibits were up to the standard of the previous exhibitions. Lieutenant Governor Timothy L. Woodruff, president of the state fair, won second prize for a pair of coachers in the horse show yesterday afternoon. President Woodruff has been in attendance at the fair each day since it opened and is greatly pleased with the success of the fair. He left last night for Saratoga to attend the Republican state convention.

CHATTANOOGA, Sept. 1.—The Rev. H. S. Clubb of Philadelphia, president of the Vegetarian Society of America, is here in the interests of the society. The members are scattered all over the United States, and during the last four years, so President Clubb states, there has been a growing spirit among the greater part of its members to separate themselves more distinctly from the rest of society. It is with this spirit that his journey has been made to the south.

Chinese Question a Hard One to Settle.

WILL RUSSO-AMERICAN POLICY WIN?

Japan Is Thought to Be In Accord With the Plan For Withdrawal of Troops—Other Powers Not Heard From.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—The Russian note relative to the withdrawal of Russia from China and the United States' response thereto were made public yesterday by the state department after the cabinet had fully considered the expediency of so doing. The correspondence is unique in the history of diplomatic exchange. It may be said to illustrate a clever move by which the United States government again has assumed the lead in prescribing the policy of the powers respecting the Chinese trouble. This was accomplished by the state department's availing itself of the Russian note to address to the powers an inquiry as to their policies, an answer to which scarcely can be avoided.

Various meanings may be placed upon the statements of the two principals to this correspondence. Thus, on the one hand it may be noted that while Russia announces a purpose to withdraw her troops from China, still, as to the occupying force at Newchwang, a condition is attached that almost negatives the proposition as to that point. Respecting our own attitude, it appears that, while believing the best course to pursue is to remain in Peking, our government is still willing to withdraw. Perhaps this means that if there is to be separate action by the powers in China the United States proposes to deal with the situation with a free hand.

It may be noted in connection with our withdrawal statement that whereas Russia proposed to withdraw from China our offer is to withdraw only from Peking. A significant fact in this connection is that General Chaffee, who is well advised of the situation, having several days ago been directed to prepare for just such an emergency as that precipitated by the Russian action, continues his preparations for wintering the American troops in China. Indeed unless the men are afloat and out of the Pei-Ho within the next six weeks they are likely to remain in China perforce, being icebound. General Chaffee was further advised of the developments in the situation, a compendious statement of the points in the Russo-American correspondence being cabled to him for his guidance. As bearing further on the prospects of the future, it may be noted that the war department officials state that the government has not considered the question of the evacuation of China.

It scarcely is expected that even with the aid of the cables a complete accord can be reached upon this last proposition immediately. Up to the close of the official day only two communications had been received in consequence of our last note. One was from the British foreign office, through the American embassy, stating that Lord Salisbury was absent from London and merely promising consideration for the note. The German response was through Mr. Jackson and was equally inconclusive, indicating a wish on the part of the German government for time to consider the proposition. The officials here say that they are satisfied that Japan at least is fully in accord with our objects as set out in the note and rather expect an early answer from the government of that country. France has not been heard from on this point, her last communication relating entirely to the matter of Li Hung Chang's status.

The full text of the French government's answer to Li Hung Chang's peace proposals of Aug. 19 and 21 has just been received here. It proves to be almost identical in language with the reply of the American government, which laid down as a preliminary to peace overtures that security in the Chinese capital and responsible government authority be established.

It has developed in the course of the careful consideration which officials have given to Li Hung Chang's credentials that they were issued by the empress dowager and not by the emperor, Kwang Su. This may have an important bearing on the subject, as it opens up the authority of the empress dowager since the coup d'etat of Sept. 9, 1898, when she took the reins of power from the hands of the emperor. It involves also the issue between the empress dowager, who is antiforeign, and the emperor, who is proforeign. Still a further consideration is the Russian sympathies entertained by the empress dowager as against the British sympathies held by the emperor. Thus far, however, there has been no questioning of the credentials on any of the personal grounds mentioned, although they are forcible in shaping the action of the several powers.

ENGLISH OPINIONS.

Much Adverse Comment Upon the Russo-American Proposal.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—In the absence of further news from China the papers are again filled with discussions of the Russo-American proposals, which, so far as may be gathered from the representations of opinions in the various European capitals, are calculated to subject the unity of the allies to an exceedingly severe and dangerous test.

In Germany, especially these proposals are so diametrically opposed to Emperor William's policy that they have produced something like consternation. As The Daily News editorially remarks, "Count von Waldersee was assuredly not sent to assist in restoring the empress dowager."

It is recognized on all sides that Germany's decision is the pivot of the matter. Emperor William intended by dispatching Count von Waldersee to have the master hand in the Chinese settlement. Russia has taken the wind out of that officer's sails and is now posing as the friend and protector of China.

The morning papers express the greatest suspicion of the intentions of Russia. The Daily Mail says:

"Russia has forced the hand of the United States against the better judgment of the latter. At the same time the United States government has adduced such valid reasons why the Russian policy is a bad one that it will hardly be expected that other powers will concur."

The Daily News, which complains bitterly that the British government does not communicate a particle of information respecting these important negotiations, calls Mr. Adee's dispatch "very able" and asks what the British government is doing in the matter.

The Daily Chronicle thinks the question of the "open door" will prove the rift within the lute which now sounds such sweet harmony between the United States and Russia.

The Times, dealing editorially this morning with the Russian policy in China, says:

"The advantages of Russia's policy are not manifest, and it is very doubtful whether it will recommend itself to powers like England and Germany that have large commercial interests in the establishment of a stable and progressive government to replace the reactionary clique which has imbued all progress and development in China in recent years.

"Negotiation with Li Hung Chang would be a condonation of government crimes and the throwing away of all the advantages gained by the occupation of Peking.

"Much mischief may already have been done by the hesitation to enter the forbidden city. To withdraw from Peking would be interpreted as proving not only that the allies are cowards, but that they are hopelessly divided. It may be that some of the powers will withdraw, but that does not imply that others are bound to leave Peking and to acquiesce in the restoration of a government guilty of a gross international crime."

Germany Taken by Surprise.

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—The German government is considerably embarrassed by the joint proposition of the United States and Russia to withdraw from Peking and to recognize Li Hung Chang as an intermediary. It was wholly unexpected here that Russia would join the United States in such a step. Count von Bulow, the foreign minister, considers the new situation thus created so important as to compel him to abandon the vacation trip he was about to take.

The semiofficial press expresses the views of the government in cautious terms. A foreign office official made the following statement on the subject:

"Germany has not yet answered Russia's request to withdraw from Peking. The other powers do not regard the military situation there as precarious. So far as Li Hung Chang is concerned, Germany is ready to acknowledge him as China's representative in peace negotiations if he shows himself properly accredited, but as to this feature of the case nothing is as yet known here."

German official telegrams announce that the German forces in Peking occupy the northwestern portion of the city. The joint proclamations of the generals against plundering have thus far proved ineffectual.

RACE HORSES BURNED.

A Costly Blaze at Narragansett (R. I.) Park.

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 1.—Shortly after the beginning of the racing in the closing day of the grand circuit meeting at Narragansett park yesterday afternoon fire broke out in one of the stables near the three-quarter turn and with great rapidity destroyed three stables, a number of cattle sheds and burned to death four race horses. Several strings of other horses, some in the burned buildings and some in others near by, were got out. The horses destroyed comprised three in the string controlled by B. Simons of London, Ont.

The Ace, with a record of 2:05¼ and valued at $4,000; Maud K., a green mare without a record and valued at $1,000, Ackman Jim, with a record of 2:16¼ and valued at $1,600, and Charles A. Guyer's brown mare Wilrissa, valued at $1,500, which was handled by William Matthews. Simons owned The Ace and Maud K and handled Ackman Jim for Isaac Battenbury of Clinton, Ont., to whom Simons sold this horse a year ago.

The loss on buildings amounts to $2,500, partly covered by insurance. In addition to the loss of $8,000 on the horses killed, on which there was no insurance, there was a loss of about $2,500 on stable apparatus and traps of the horsemen and personal effects of the handlers. Jim Carpenter's string of horses was saved, but traps worth about $500 were lost. The total loss will amount to about $14,000.

Gomez Declines.

HAVANA, Sept. 1.—General Maximo Gomez has declined to accept the nomination offered him by the National party to the constitutional convention. He says he has always kept out of politics and does not wish to enter now. The National party did not join with the other parties in a telegram sent to President McKinley asking that the clause referring to the future relations between the United States and Cuba in the order calling the constitutional convention be modified. The parties who did sign the dispatch call the Nationalists unpatriotic.

St. Paul Makes Fast Run.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—The American line steamer St. Paul, Captain John C. Jamison, arrived last night from Southampton and Cherbourg, after a quick passage of six days, seven hours and six minutes. This time is the best made by the St. Paul between this port and Cherbourg and beats the best time of each of the big fleet of ocean greyhounds plying between Cherbourg and this port, with the exception of the present record holder, the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, whose time is 5 days, 17 hours and 37 minutes.

Van Wyck's Time to Answer.

ALBANY, Sept. 1.—The 15 days allotted to Mayor Van Wyck of New York in which to file answer to the complaint seeking his removal in connection with his ownership of stock in the American Ice company elapsed today. As Governor Roosevelt is in the city to hear arguments on the Gardiner charges, it is expected that the mayor will forward his answer direct to the executive chamber.

Miners Will Not Go Out.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Sept. 1.—The coal operators of the Shamokin district, in the mines of which district 20,000 men are employed, in a statement last evening say the miners have been polled relative to going on strike and that 75 per cent of the workmen said they would remain at work should a strike be ordered. The operators will not treat with the United Mine Workers as a body.

Count Von Waldersee at Aden.

ADEN, Sept. 1.—Field Marshal Count von Waldersee, selected to command the international forces in China, landed here and was received by a guard of honor of British troops.

Huntington Estate Appraised at $69,650,000.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC'S NEW PRESIDENT

M. E. Ingalls, President of the Big Four, Said to Be Slated For the Position—Vanderbilts Behind the Movement.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Through the appraisement of the estate of Collis P. Huntington the value was fixed at $69,650,000, of which Mr. H. E. Huntington, the railroad magnate's nephew, receives $20,000,000.

Young Huntington's wife, sister of the Princess Hatzfeldt, and her brother were not mentioned in the late millionaire's will. This was thought peculiar, as Mr. Huntington's treatment of the princess was particularly generous. She was given $2,500,000 in 5 per cent bonds as a "dot" and $1,000,000 in gifts within a period of ten years. On top of this came her $1,000,000 legacy.

Willard V. Huntington, a brother of the young railroad king, was given only $50,000.

This was because he tried railroading and abandoned it. His uncle gave him $250,000 when he married, and he developed this into a magnificent fortune by speculation in San Francisco real estate.

The appraisement of the Huntington estate places the following values on his railroad holdings: Southern Pacific, $20,000,000; Pacific Mail, $6,000,000; Mexican railways, $8,000,000; Newport News yards, $12,000,000; New York realty, $6,000,000; bonds and cash, $7,000,000.

It was said in financial circles that the late Mr. Huntington's successor as president of the Southern Pacific will be M. E. Ingalls, president of the Big Four road.

The interests that are bringing the name of Mr. Ingalls to the front control a majority of the stock and could have dethroned C. P. Huntington at any time within the last few years, but they believed he had earned the position he held and declined to humiliate him.

The selection of Mr. Ingalls would be another move in line with the reported Vanderbilt plan to weave all the railroads of the country into one vast system under a single head.

President Ingalls was very close to the late Cornelius Vanderbilt and is today one of the few men in whom the Vanderbilts repose absolute confidence. He stands in almost the same relation to Southern Pacific interests. He is familiar with all the affairs of the late Mr. Huntington and succeeded him in the management of the Chesapeake and Ohio road from Cincinnati to Newport News and Washington. By reason of his control of that road he became intimate with the Huntington steamship line, which carried freight from Newport News to London.

Woman Shoots a Burglar.

NUTLEY, N. J., Sept. 1.—Miss Helen Chalkiadi, daughter of Theodore Chalkiadi, a New York importer, who lives at Chestnut and Whitford avenues, shot a burglar shortly before midnight, and the police are searching hospitals for the wounded man. Miss Chalkiadi was awakened by some one trying to open a side window directly under her bedroom. The young woman jumped up and taking a revolver from a bureau drawer went to the nearest window. She saw two men below working at a window, and she fired a shot at them. The burglars dropped from the window ledge to the ground and ran towafd the woods. Miss Chalkiadi fired another shot at them. A hundred yards from the house a handkerchief saturated with blood was found, and along a path leading to the Nutley station was a trail of blood.

Chasing Train Robbers.

ROCK SPRINGS, Wy., Sept. 1.—The authorities are hot on the trail of Butch Cassady and his gang, who robbed the New York and Pacific Coast express on the Union Pacific road on Wednesday night. The robbers have been cut off from their lair in Brown park and are now making for the Robbers' Roost country near the Hole In the Wall. More than 500 men are now on the trail of the bandits, all intent upon earning the $1,000 reward. The chase is similar to the famous hunt for the band of the Curry brothers in this same section about this time last year. The latter blew up an express car on the Union Pacific and got away with $50,000, though chased for ten days by a small army of men. The escape of the Curry gang indicates just how difficult the pursuit of outlaw bands in this country is.

National Democratic Headquarters.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Last night ex-Governor William J. Stone of Missouri, chairman of the subcommittee of the Democratic national committee, which will have charge of the eastern national headquarters, after a conference with several of his associates, including ex-Senator Arthur Pue Gorman of Maryland, Congressman James S. Richardson of Tennessee, minority leader in the national house of representatives, and Hon. Daniel J. Campau, national committeeman of Michigan, announced that no decision had been reached as yet concerning headquarters. He explained that several of the members of the committee had not yet reached the city and that it might be several days before the selection could be announced.

Negro Murderer Hanged.

RALEIGH, Sept. 1.—The execution of Tom Jones, the negro murderer, took place here yesterday. He kept his nerve on the gallows and died in five minutes after the drop fell. He was baptized and joined the Catholic church Monday. The crime he committed was one of the most atrocious ever known in this state. On the 22d of March last he killed Ella Jones, his paramour, and her 13-year-old daughter and burned their house to hide his crime, roasting, besides the bodies of his victims, four of her children, the youngest of whom was an unnamed month old babe, of which Jones was the father. His trial and conviction followed within a week of the crime.

The Oregon at Nagasaki.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—The battleship Oregon has arrived at Nagasaki, Japan. She eventually will return to the United States for the complete repair of the injuries sustained in her grounding, but will first go to China.

Battleships Ordered to Wu-Sung.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 1.—It is announced here that the United States battleship Oregon and four German battleships have been ordered to Wu-Sung.

The family of J. Hervey Doane, of LaGrande avenue, returns today after spending several weeks on the coast of Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Boice, of Piscataway, were guests Thursday at the home of Benjamin Hand, of West Second street.

Charles W. Burton and daughter, Mrs. Harlot Burton Ford, of Watchung avenue, are home after a sojourn at St. Johns, New Brunswick, Canada.

—In India, the land of famine, thousands die because they cannot obtain food. In America, the land of plenty, many suffer and die because they cannot digest the food they eat. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat. It instantly relieves and radically cures all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

Miss Florence Scribner, of West Front street, has gone to Roundout and Albany to spend a two weeks vacation.

Rev. and Mrs. H. J. Johnston, of Staten Island, returned home Friday after a visit at the home of Rev. George W. Smith, of LaGrande avenue.

A Night of Terror.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham, of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she would die from Pneumonia before morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night, "but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, which had more than once saved her life, and cured her of Consumption. After taking, she slept all night. Further use entirely cured her." This marvellous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

Jed D. Smalley, of Somerset place, has returned from Moscow, Pa., and left Thursday for Hyde Park, N. Y.

Great Sachem William Newcorn went to Paterson Wednesday night to the meeting of the associated tribes of that city.

—Chinese are dangerous enemies, for they are treacherous. That's why all counterfeits of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve are dangerous. They look like Dewitt's, but instead of the all healing witch hazel they all contain ingredients liable to irritate the skin and cause blood poisoning. For piles, injuries and skin diseases use the original and genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. L. W. Randolph.

Twenty years ago there was not a missionary in Uganda, Africa, where there is a population of 10,000,000. Now there are 500 churches and 600 teachers, including 100 native helpers, who are supported by native contributions.

Rev. J. A. Bachman, of Schaffers-town, Pa., during a pastorate of 22 years has ministered to four congregations each Sunday, none of which were accessible by steam or trolley from his home. To reach them he has traveled in the aggregate 66,000 miles. He has preached 3,742 sermons, made 1,186 addresses, baptized 1,810 infants, confirmed 1,035 catechumens, and performed 587 marriage ceremonies.

The American Bible society has received from its agent in Japan, Rev. Henry Loomis, his annual report in which he states that the first effects of the completion of treaty revision and the abolition of extra territorial jurisdiction have been helpful to Bible work. There is a special readiness to purchase and read the Bible, because it has such a prominent place in the literature of the enlightened nations as well as being the basis of their moral and ethical teaching.

A GOOD SHOWING.

Few Failures For August—Improvement In Iron Market.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Commercial failures during August were 735 in number, with liabilities of $7,323,903. Manufacturing were 174, for $2,945,607; trading, 519, for $3,585,667, and other commercial, 42, for $792,629. There were only two banks, with liabilities of $146,000. This is the best monthly statement for 1900 thus far, but shows an increase over the corresponding month in the two preceding years. A fair comparison would be with the same month of 1896, however, when the country was suffering from anxiety attending the presidential campaign and from the fear of an unsound financial policy. In August, 1896, commercial failures were 1,107 in number and $28,008,637 in amount, while banking defaults were also enormous. Much better conditions now prevail, and greater confidence is shown, except in a few branches of business, as appears by the detailed statement published this week. Before the last two years of great prosperity but one month is found since 1893 with smaller commercial liabilities than August, 1900.

Steady improvement is seen in the iron market. It is not marked by large advances, but wherever change occurs it is in the right direction. It is claimed by some authorities that orders currently booked aggregate more than present production and shipments. Special concessions to secure prospective business are withdrawn, and buyers seek contracts for prompt delivery. In some lines mills are actively employed, with orders for months ahead, and contracts running to June were placed this week. Sales of iron bars were made at $1.40, and $16 is quoted for bessemer pig at Pittsburg.

Western stove manufacturers have been buying freely, and more bridge builders signed contracts for structural material. Merchant steel advanced on increasing orders, while domestic purchases of cotton ties were large, although rather late. Copper exports average a million pounds per day, and the market is in strong position.

It is not possible to report progress in the boot and shoe industry unless it can be considered encouraging that continued inactivity at the shops must in time reduce stocks to a point where orders will mean resumption of operations.

Failures for the week were 175 in the United States against 141 last year and 19 in Canada against 25 last year.

CABINET IN COUNCIL.

A Decision to Send For Destitute Cape Nome Miners.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—The regular Friday cabinet meeting was held yesterday. The Chinese situation was of course the all important question, but as the United States has now announced her policy to the powers no further step is possible until the replies are received. The question therefore did not actually receive much consideration at the meeting yesterday.

Only two other subjects besides that of China were considered—the condition of several hundred or thousand destitute miners at Cape Nome and of a large number of Indian tribes in Alaska. It was decided that the war department should send a transport to Cape Nome to bring back such of the miners as are penniless and liable to endanger the public welfare there this winter by reason of their destitute condition. It is believed that a large proportion of those who flocked to Cape Nome early in the spring hoping to "strike it rich" are stranded. Provisions and clothing will be sent to the Indians, who are said to be destitute.

The other matter discussed at the meeting was that of better roads in the Philippines. The international commerce of the islands, it was said, imperatively demands better means of communication, through Luzon particularly. The government has received a request for permission to extend the one railroad in Luzon to a point about 50 miles to the north. This request will be granted if possible, as it would greatly aid in getting the products of points north to Manila.

Nearly Killed In the Shafting.

ITHACA, N. Y., Sept. 1.—Frank Fish, an employee on the Cornell university farm, while at work in the barn had his clothing caught in the shafting and was whirled around until nearly killed. A visitor to the barn found him lying unconscious on the floor without a strip of clothing on his body except his shoes. Fish was badly bruised and cut, but there are hopes of his recovery.

Terrorized by Tramps.

NYACK, N. Y., Sept. 1.—Large numbers of tramps continue to infest the Erie railroad where it runs through the western part of Rockland county, and people in that region are in fear for their lives. The railroad detectives rounded up a big gang at Sterlington and captured 11. The prisoners were sent to the Rockland county jail for 30 days, where others are serving a like term.

Suspected Fire Fiend Arrested.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Sept. 1.—Alexander Muno is held by the authorities of Carthage, suspected of having caused the several fires that have occurred in that village within the past few months and which it is believed were of incendiary origin.

Coal For Austria.

PENSACOLA, Fla., Sept. 1.—A local coal company has closed a contract for 100,000 tons of coal to be shipped through this port to Fiume, Austria.

MILES SEES DANGER.

Acute Stage of Chinese Crisis Not Passed.

A WORLD WAR MAY BE THE RESULT.

American Army Commander Sees a Possibility of General Conflict Over the Settlement of the Chinese Question.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—The acute stage of the Chinese situation has not been reached, in the opinion of General Nelson A. Miles. He regards it as quite possible that a general conflict of the powers may result from the conflicting interests in China, and he believes that an attempt on the part of some of the powers to partition the Celestial empire among themselves would be sufficient ground for the United States to resort to force.

General Miles also believes that the dismemberment of China would hold the possibility of a great danger to the United States in that the time might come when the European nations would turn their covetous glances toward the riches of America and be tempted to combine against this country.

"No, I do not believe that the acute stage of the Chinese crisis has passed," said the general. "I believe that it is possible that the conflicting interests of the powers will yet bring on a general conflict which will involve all the civilized powers in the greatest war of modern times.

"The danger arises from the chance that some of the powers will attempt the dismemberment of the Chinese empire. If the United States and Russia succeed in acting in harmony along the lines of the reported agreement proposed between them, it may result in a peaceful outcome from the present situation."

"Do you believe that an attempt to partition China would result in a conflict between the powers, general?"

"That is my opinion."

"What attitude would the United States adopt in that case, do you think? Would this country fight?"

"I believe that it would have sufficient cause to fight," was General Miles' response.

"So far as I can see the most hopeful indication is the chance that Russia and the United States will agree to act together," he continued. "There is to my mind every reason to believe that Russia is acting in good faith. Russia has more to gain by the preservation of the integrity of the Chinese empire than she has by the policy of disruption. She has spent vast sums of money in the construction of the Transsiberian railway, the greatest enterprise of modern times."

Home With Some Gold.

SYRACUSE, Sept. 1.—Charles N. Brown of this city and J. W. Prescott of New York have arrived here from Cape Nome, which they left on May 6. They have $1,400 in gold, representing 100 hours' work. The United States commissioner's decision that the beach belonged to the owners of claims abutting, whose titles were filed prior to June 6 put them out of business. They say gold is plentiful, that there was no sickness and plenty of work at $5 per day. Lawlessness, they say, is due to idlers and gamblers. They expect to return to Alaska in a short time.

One of Andree's Buoys.

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 1.—Captain Grendahl telegraphs the following message from Skjervoe, Norway: "Andree's buoy No. 4 has been found here and contains the following: 'July 7, 10 p. m., Greenwich. Our voyage gone well so far. Are now at an altitude of 250 meters. Original direction, north 10 degrees east, compass undeviation. Later, north 45 degrees east, compass undeviation. Four carrier pigeons dispatched. They are flying west. We are now over ice, which is very rugged. Weather splendid the whole time. In excellent spirits.'"

The Alabama's Engines.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—The engines of the splendid battleship Alabama were designed by the steam engineering bureau of the navy department under the direction of Engineer In Chief Admiral Melville. It was for this reason that the builder of the Alabama telegraphed Admiral Melville under yesterday's date as follows: "Congratulate you on performance of engines on Alabama. We could have gone to Europe if we had coal enough. Nothing to do to engines, boilers. Best yet."

Railroad President Dead.

RYE BEACH, N. H., Sept. 1.—Edward S. Washburn, president and general manager of the Kansas City, Fort Scott and Memphis railroad, is dead at his summer home here. Deceased was born in Boston in 1844. He became president of the Memphis road in July, 1897, succeeding George H. Nettleton, who had died the previous March. Mr. Washburn was one of the best known railroad men in the country. He had worked up to the presidency from a clerkship.

Large Coal Mining Deal.

HALIFAX, Sept. 1.—The second largest deal in the history of coal mining in Cape Breton was completed at Halifax yesterday, when the properties of the General Mining association of London were formally transferred to the Nova Scotia Steel company for $1,500,000, the price being paid. The sale includes the mines, mining equipment and buildings at North Sydney, besides 100 other properties. The coal areas involved are 21 miles in extent.

To Prosecute Keepers of Bees.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Sept. 1.—Half a dozen large fruit growers in the town of Warwick are preparing to bring suits against several bee keepers for alleged damage to fruit by their bees. William Utter, a peach grower, has already secured judgment against his brother for such damage.

Missing Man Heard From.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Sept. 1.—Isaac Goldstein, who disappeared from Walton a year ago and was thought to be dead, has been heard from. He says he left because he was discouraged and crossed the ocean six times.

Naval Movements.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—The collier Saturn has sailed from Gibraltar for Port Said. The Scorpion is at Newport. The training ship Topeka will be in readiness at the Boston yard for her winter cruise by Sept. 10.

Freight on Trolleys.

Those who appreciate the rapid advancement of trolley interests in New Jersey, and who are able to foresee the consequences in the ramifications that are being made by the transit lines operating on the public highways of the State, realize that it will not be long before the street railway promoters will seek a source of revenue in the carriage of freight. At the present time the street railway lines are prohibited from conveying anything more than passengers in their cars, but how long they will be limited to this will be guaged only by the time and opportunity requisite to the securing of concessions from the governing bodies for the right to carry frieght.

In this connection the Railroad Employe, a journal issued in the interests of the men employed on the steam railroads of the State, is able to see the trend of affairs and in its last issue the following note of warning is sounded for the benefit of the class whose cause and interests it espouses:

The recently published statement of the falling off of the passenger receipts at stations along the line of the Central Railroad of New Jersey on account of direct trolley competition should furnish food for serious thought to the steam railroad employes of New Jersey.

The income from passengers is an insignificant item as compared with that derived from the freight traffic, and if the trolley companies are to be permitted to carry freight it will not be long before several thousand steam railroad men who at present are receiving good wages, will be looking to get work.

This may be a blunt way of putting it, but the fact remains, nevertheless, and it behooves every man employed in the steam railroad service to be up and doing from now until after the fall elections.

Any candidate who will refuse to pledge himself to vote against any revision of the anti-trolley freight law should not be permitted to have a voice at Trenton this winter.

The time for concerted action on the part of the steam railroad men of New Jersey has arrived.

Labor Day.

Monday will be Labor Day, a day set aside as a holiday in honor of the working people of the country. It has only been observed within recent years but is now a legal holiday in nearly all of the eastern States. The movement looking toward its observance was originally started by the labor unions. It in reality marks the ending of the summer season and the opening of autumn. With Labor Day thoughts of vacations practically cease and business takes a renewal of life as the business man and his clerk settle down for the fall and winter activity after the quietness which always accompanies the hot weather. Warm weather often follows Labor Day but it will not last long and the shorter days and cooler evenings mark the sure approach of the autumnal times. This year Labor Day sees the practical beginning of the great national campaign. It has been too hot to talk politics but the time is now at hand when both of the big political parties will start active work.

The advertisement of a St. Louis merchant reads: "We want the public to know that visitors are welcome to this store, and that is what we mean by 'our latchstring is out'." Such an announcement would never have been made if there had not been stores where people feel that their welcome is not cordial, says the Philadelphia Record. A newspaper advertisement is a special invitation to people and in the absence of such an announcement prospective purchasers are left in doubt as to what would be the nature of their reception at the store of the non-advertiser.

According to reports received at Berlin from the German Admiral at Taku the number of troops landed at that point up to August 18 last was as follows: American, 155 officers and 4470 men; British, 189 officers and 5942 men; French, 115 officers and 2903 men; Italian, 13 officers and 277 men; Japanese, 573 officers and 19,508 men; Russian, 275 officers and 11,500 men. Since the date named the German contingents have begun to arrive, the first 2,000 from the Fatherland having reached Pekin five or six day ago.

A new feature of the campaign in Passaic county will be a series of trolley car parties, covering every part of the county where the electric cars run. The cars employed will be occupied by speakers, and will stop at convenient points to afford the people an opportunity to hear the issues of the campaign discussed from the rostrums on wheels.

It is reported that the contest for the Democratic Congressional nomination in the Seventh district has narrowed down between Senator Allan L McDermott and ex-Judge Robert F. Hudspeth, with chances in favor of the latter.

Monday being Labor Day no paper will be issued from The Daily Press office.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

New Jersey has about 2,000,000 acres of forest land, being almst equal to the area of improved farm land. The northern portion of the State has 575,000 acres of forest. The larger part of this portion is in three tracts, 58,000 being on the rugged Kittatiny mountain, 211,000 in the northern highlands, and 11,000 on the trap of the Palisades. The latter area contains much really fine timber. The forest cover throughout the State prevails upon lands unsuited for agriculture, and ranges from stump and brush to timber of large size.

Never in the history of Plainfield has such a large proportion of its population been absent on summer vacations. The summer vacation season is practically over now, however, and the host of summer sojourners are coming home in crowds. While so many Plainfielders have been absent, there still have been an unusual number of visitors here, many of them for the summer, and they have all expressed themselves as highly delighted with the city and its people. The rain has been more evenly distributed through the summer so that no period of great drouth has occurred. The result is that the city and country roundabout looks almost as bright and green as it did in early June. There have been some exceedingly hot days here but, taken altogether, the summer has not been an excessively warm one and periods of delightfully cool weather have been frequent. While in the west the warm wave continued for three weeks without a single break, Plainfield has been fortunate enough to have the heated and cool periods fairly evenly divided.

Gentlemen:—I must say in regard to GRAIN-O that there is nothing better or healthier. We have used it for years. My brother was a great coffee drinker. He was taken sick and the doctor said coffee was the cause of it, and told us to use GRAIN-O. We got a package but did not like it at first, but now would not be without it. My brother has been well ever since we started to use it.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE.

Royal Baking Powder is the greatest of helps to the housekeeper or cook in preparing the best and finest food.

With least labor and trouble it makes hot breads, biscuit and cake of finest flavor, light, sweet, appetizing, digestible and wholesome.

Do not permit the grocer or peddler to substitute any other brand in place of the Royal.

Some baking powders are claimed to be cheaper. They can be cheaper only if made from cheaper materials. "Cheaper" means inferior. To cheapen the cost of an article of food at the expense of its healthfulness, as is done in alum baking powders, is a crime.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused be catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Oldenburg.

Oldenburg. Ueber unser Großherzogthum zog ein schweres Unwetter, das auf den Feldern und in den Ortschaften erheblichen Schaden verursachte. Der Blitz hat an vielen Stellen gezündet; so wurde in Moslesfehn die große Meyer'sche Torfstreufabrik vollständig eingeäschert. Ebenfalls wurde in Holle ein Haus des Landmanns Suhr in Folge Blitzschlages vollständig eingeäschert. In Dingstede wurde das Haus des Landmanns Osterloh in Asche gelegt. In Berne traf ein Blitzstrahl einen jungen Mann und tödtete ihn sofort. Ein Knecht, der in der Nähe war, wurde vom Blitzstrahl gelähmt.

Mecklenburg.

Neubrandenburg. Arbeiter Karl Blanck, der ein Zweispännerfuhrwerk des Maurermeisters Zörn mit Sand belud, bemerkte während der Arbeit, daß die Pferde mit dem Fuhrwerk durchgehen wollten und sprang deswegen schleunigst hinzu, um sie daran zu verhindern. Hierbei fiel er nieder und gerieth unter das Gefährt. Er erlitt hierbei so schwere Verletzungen, daß er alsbald verschied.

Braunschweig. Waldeck.

Braunschweig. Der Verlagsbuchhändler Harald Bruhn hat sich erschossen. Das Motiv der That ist unbekannt.

Pyrmont. Beim Baden in der Emmer ertranken zwei 23 beziehungsweise 18 Jahre alte Söhne des Cigarrenmachers Keßelher. Der ältere der Brüder, welcher zuerst untersank und um Hilfe rief, hat wahrscheinlich einen Krampf bekommen, der jüngere ist nachgesprungen und hat beim Rettungsversuch sein Leben eingebüßt.

Großherzogthum Hessen.

Darmstadt. An Branntweinsteuer hat der hessische Fiskus im abgelaufenen Jahr 1,238,326 Mark gegen 1,155,616 Mark im Vorjahre vereinnahmt, trotzdem die Branntweinfabrikation von 18,097 Hektoliter auf 17,454 Hektoliter in diesem Jahre zurückgegangen ist.—Der Generallieutenant z. D. August v. Pannewitz ist im 82. Lebensjahre gestorben.

Eppertshausen. Bei einem Gewitter schlug der Blitz in das Wohnhaus des Häfners Johann Theodor Müller und tödtete die 9jährige ledige Maria Müller in dem Augenblicke, als sie im Begriffe war, mit einem Kinde an der Hand über die Hausthürschwelle zu treten. Das Kind blieb merkwürdiger Weise unverletzt.

Mainz. Durch die Ausrüstung des Chinakorps ist die Armeekonservenfabrik in Mainz fast über die Grenze ihrer Leistungsfähigkeit hinaus in Anspruch genommen. Um dem Mangel an Arbeitspersonal abzuhelfen, sind Soldaten der Mainzer Garnison zum Nachtbetrieb der Fabrik kommandirt worden.

Bayern.

München. Der Kommandeur des zweiten (bayerischen) Bataillons des vierten ostasiatischen Infanterie-Regiments, Major Graf Montgelas, stiftete ein Kapital von 10,000 Mark, aus deren Zinsen die während der Expedition in Ostasien dienst- und erwerbsunfähig gewordenen Unteroffiziere und Mannschaften fortlaufende Unterstützungen erhalten sollen.—Der Kunstmaler Alois Stephan hat aus nicht bekannt gewordenen Gründen Selbstmord begangen.—Anhier starb an den Folgen der Malaria Dr. Erich Nymann, ein schwedischer Naturforscher aus Upsala, nachdem er soeben nach einer dreijährigen Reise durch den malayischen Archipel und im holländischen Theile Neu-Guineas nach München zurückgekehrt war.

Ansbach. Ein für unsere Stadt hochbedeutsames Werk, die neue Wasserleitung, ist vollendet und wurde durch Ingenieur Kullmann der Stadt übergeben. Das Wasser wird aus der Eschenbach-Ismannsdorfer Gegend, etwa 25 Kilometer von Ansbach, hergeleitet. Die Kosten für die Leitung belaufen sich auf 1,500,000 Mark.

Bayreuth. Die Versicherungsanstalt für Oberfranken hat 300,000 Mark zu dreiprozentiger Beleihung von Arbeiterwohnhäusern zur Verfügung gestellt.

Bruck. Hierorts ist die ganze Familie des Arztes Dr. Spiers an Wurstgift gestorben.

Donauwörth. Des Mordes verdächtig wurden der Söldner Johann Schretzmeier und dessen Sohn verhaftet. Der Sohn gestand ein, den Bräutnecht Leonhard Ehleiter von Pfaffenhofen, dessen Leiche in einem Kornacker aufgefunden ward, durch Messerstiche um's Leben gebracht zu haben.

Fürth. Der Verein für innere Mission wird dahier ein Lehrlingsheim eröffnen, in dem allen von auswärts kommenden Zöglingen bis zu 18 Jahren Kost und Logis, sowie Gelegenheit zur Fortbildung und Unterhaltung während der freien Zeit geboten wird. Die Preise sind möglichst niedrig bemessen.

BODICES.

The Separate Bodice Still a Decided Favorite.

Not only do bodices different from the skirt continue in favor, but they will be worn all winter, although not for ceremonious occasions. They are appropriate for small social festivities, however, and for the theater, where only the upper portion of the figure is seen. These separate bodices vary in style, trimming and elaboration, ranging from the simple flannel shirt waist to corsages of silk and satin enriched with embroidery, lace and all sorts of ingenious decorations.

A black skirt adapts itself well to a different bodice and usually has an air of greater elegance than a colored skirt in such circumstances unless the latter happens to match some part of the bodice—the material or trimming. A black taffeta or satin skirt is a most useful item in the wardrobe, because it is so generally adaptable.

The cut shows a gown of pink crepe de chine. The skirt is gathered all around the waist and bordered at the foot by a wide band of guipure framed in bands of black and white striped ribbon. A similar decoration runs horizontally around the middle of the bodice, and there is a knot of the striped ribbon fastening the wide collar of guipure. The plastron is of black and white striped silk. The sleeves flare a little toward the wrist and terminate in a puff of white mousseline de soie gathered in by a bracelet of black and white ribbon. The hat of white horsehair braid is trimmed with draperies of tulle and knots of black velvet.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

CHILDREN'S STYLES.

Simple Costumes and a Great Many of Them.

Fashion of late years has reverted to the old custom of short sleeved and low necked dresses for little children, at least in the summer time, and truly nothing is prettier than the little uncovered shoulders and chubby arms. A flannel or pique sack should always be kept at hand, however, on even the warmest days, to afford protection against sudden changes of temperature, which, even when slight, may easily affect the delicate organization of a child.

Straight gowns, gathered upon a yoke and held in at the waist by a sash are the almost invariable style for small children. These gowns are easily laundered, and a number of them are usually provided, to insure plenty of changes; for the chief elegance of a child's clothing is its purity and fullness. These, more than elaboration or costly material, show the refinement and good taste of the mother.

Today's illustration shows a pretty dress for a little girl. It is of liberty muslin having a pink design on a white ground. It is mounted on a finely plaited yoke of white muslin, and the gown itself is closely tucked to hold it in to the figure at the waist and hips. The revers, which are bordered with plaitings of white muslin, are of pink silk, as are the cuffs of the plain sleeves and the sash which ties with long ends at the back. The plaited collar is of white muslin.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

He Got It Too.

"I want some more chicken," said Bobbie at the dinner table.

"I think you have had as much as is good for you, dear," said Bobbie's mother.

"I want more," said Bobbie.

"You can't have more now; but here is a wishbone that you and mamma can pull. That will be fun. You pull one side, and I'll pull the other, and whoever gets the longer end will have the wish come true. Why, Bobbie, you've got it! What was your wish?"

"I wished for some more chicken," said Bobbie promptly.

He got it this time.—New York Tribune.

That Is the Opinion of Many in Regard to China.

Old Army Officer Explains Why He Is Sure That the Armies of the Civilized World Will Conquer China's Millions.

[Special Washington Letter.]

HE WAS a marvelously gifted writer who declared that "old things have passed away; behold, all things are become new." In the mutations of time the changes in our environments are wonderful, and so also are the changes in ourselves.

One who was blessed with the philosophic instinct and the training of a seer, and also gifted with the inspiration of poetry, penned the oft-quoted lines:

"I have dipped into the future far as human eye can see,
Saw a vision of the world, and all the wonders that shall be,
When the war drum throbs no longer, and the battle flags are furled,
In the Parliament of Man, the federation of the world."

But even that seer could not know that nations should furl their battle flags and muffle their drums; that there should be universal conferences looking to the conservation of universal international peace; and that again and again the war drums should throb and the battle flags be waved on high, with hundreds of thousands of men in battle array, nation against nation, fighting like savage beasts for supremacy over apparently desirable portions of the crust of the perishable earth.

But there shall be wars and rumors of wars for many years before the advent of that millennium for which myriads of men and women have prayed. In the development of the great plan of which we know so little right and wrong must clash and oftentimes the wrong must seem to triumph, only to spur on to greater endeavor those who persist in forcing the right into the van of the battlefield of human endeavor.

Very few people think of the fact that, divinely inspired and projected though it was, Christianity groveled in the obscurity of the world for 300 years before it was made respectable by its acceptance in Rome and its enthronement on equality with the scepter of the Cæsars. Ten generations of men and women lived and suffered and died without seeing any sign of an answer to their prayers.

Capt. Whittleton, an old army officer who has served his country long and well, and who still renders efficient service in a quiet way in one of the great executive departments, discussing the conditions in China to-day said:

"There is a great element in human affairs which the most effective and efficient soldiers never take into calculation. It is probably just as well that they do not, but rely apparently upon their own endeavors. I am not a religionist, but simply a man of affairs and one who has seen the terrible power of Right when arrayed against Wrong in the struggles of mankind in this world. In the actual combat there is a power with those who are right, which makes them invulnerable to superior numbers, and which enables men to almost accomplish miracles without realizing that they are doing a work which is greater than their own conception of the duties of the hour.

CHARGING UP LOOKOUT MOUNTAIN.

"It is on this account that the millions in China have no terrors for me. What they have done is wrong. They have outraged all civilization by their treatment of the diplomatic ministers of the nations of the world. They have been wrong in their indiscriminate massacres of innocent women and children. They are as wrong to-day as King Herod when he ordered and consummated the slaughter of the innocents. Because they are wrong, they will be made to suffer, and the nations of the world need not be intimidated with their vast numbers.

"In private life, without the incentive to do something for the right, no considerable number of men could be induced to go on a picnic and climb the rugged heights of Lookout mountain on the coolest and most pleasant day of the year. And yet I saw thousands of men climb those heights on a hot afternoon, in the face of a terrific and well-directed fire of capable men who were defending the mountain. They were inspired with a purpose, believing that they were right, and they went onward and upward until they were fighting above the clouds. Every man knew that death and wounds must be inevitable, and that all were amenable to the stern law of impact and impingement when the shot and shell and minie bullet were singing and ringing above and about them. But there was no faltering of individuals, no wavering of the lines.

"Moreover, I have seen mule teams, during war times, pulling loads through mud and mire and accomplishing what even the dumb brutes could not have been driven to attempt under ordinary conditions.

"Why did 27,000 Spanish soldiers at Santiago surrender to 16,000 American soldiers, when the Spaniards were entrenched and the Americans were on the outside and in the trenches? It was because those American soldiers represented the invincible power of Right, and those who were in the wrong knew it. Moreover, preceding circumstances manifesting the power of right principles made destiny so apparent that even the Spanish government at Madrid saw the handwriting on the wall and authorized that surrender. Otherwise the hundred thousand Spaniards under command of Gen. Blanco might until this day have been carrying on war, living on the country, and baffling superior numbers. The surrender at Santiago was the consummation of a great plan, far above and beyond human knowledge."

The soldier-philosopher went on to say: "In the preliminary development of this new world, the Spanish freebooters under De Soto, Cortes, Pizarro, and the rest, were an essential element. But when their time came to make way for better men and purer designs those Spanish freebooters had to give way. It was the culmination of their destiny that they should be defeated by a small army in Cuba, and driven from this hemisphere because right makes might.

THE INVASION OF CHINA.

"Now as to China: she is like the man that hid his talent under a bushel. The centuries have come and gone and she has not increased her talent. She has lived behind her wall of selfishness and declined to see the cross. Finally, in desperation of supreme selfishness, she has resorted to the sword in a most cowardly and brutal manner; and she shall perish by the sword.

"In one of your recent letters you said that China can send 60,000,000 soldiers into the field. That is very true; but it is not the whole truth. China can raise such an army, and can equip the men with modern guns and ammunition, but China cannot give those men the inspiration of being right. The Philistines produced the Goliath, but David, having right on his side, needed only his sling and five smooth stones from the brook."

All of this, uttered with great emphasis and considerable vehemence, was interesting and philosophically correct. But it overlooks the element of right on the side of China; the invasion of her seclusion by methods and teachings, unwelcome and exasperating. It is an assumption to assert that China has buried her talent under a bushel, because we have no means of knowing what progress China has made during all of the centuries of her existence. We have only a very superficial knowledge of her true history.

One of the officials of the department of state to whom these observations were narrated said: "The government at Washington has been considering the question of right and wrong from the beginning. There is no better aphorism in diplomacy than to 'be sure you are right, and then go ahead.' Days and weeks went slowly by, the whole world being in anxiety concerning our representatives on Chinese soil, and almost two months elapsed before the government at Washington said to China that her conduct was 'unfriendly.' Even that mild declaration of national and international purpose was ignored by China. What provocations the government at Peking may assume to have had cannot now be considered. If provocations there were, China could have ordered that all negotiations with the remainder of the world should be broken off, and the diplomatic ministers and foreign residents could have been requested to depart. Whatever of right China had has been obscured by the great wrong which she has done. China seems to have accelerated the date for her dismemberment, or for her humiliation. The nations of the world cannot endure what has been done without resentment and punishment."

These men, who reason from the standpoint of great experience in affairs, seem to believe that in the passing away of old things ancient China is to become a memory with a history, and that the nations of the world will have power to open that vast country to the free access of the pioneers of the civilization of the orient.

If it is so written, we shall witness this marvel of the beginning of the century, and with our own eyes see that "old things have passed away, and all things are become new."

Not So Foolish.

The ostrich has long been laughed at for pushing his head into a bush when hunted. It is really far the wisest thing the bird could do, for its long neck is by far the most easily seen part of it. Its body-plumage harmonizes perfectly with the desert sand.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning Sept. 2, "Seek Souls—Text, Luke xv, 1-10.

"This man receiveth sinners and eateth with them."

Nothing in the life of Jesus was more startling and revolutionary of the notions of the times than His treatment of the people who were not counted as religious. "Then drew near unto Him all the publicans and sinners to hear Him" shows Him possessed of an attractive power of personality such as no other reformer, however eloquent, ever had. Nowhere do we read of the multitudes of the common people offering any opposition to Him unless first stirred up by the professedly good leaders of religion. The publicans were cordially hated as being for purposes of gain in league with the foreign conquerors and political masters of the nation. Oftentimes they were probably extortionate in their demands and violent in their methods of collecting the taxes. It is quite likely that as a class they were socially inferior and morally of low type. They are usually coupled, as in this instance, with sinners. These two classes were the openly nonreligious people of the times. They were the most needy of spiritual help, and no effort was made to reform them by those who made most profession of piety. One good thing remained true of them in all the evils of their occupation—they made no pretense of goodness, of which they were destitute. There was no sham with them. They were openly in life what they were and concealed nothing under a cloak of false profession of sanctity. If they defrauded any man, it was not under the disguise of pious duty and godly helpfulness. If they overreached any one, they did not make their evil doubly hateful by long prayers and hypocritical ejaculations. They were not given to cant.

Such people need the gospel and are much more easily reached by it than those who appear to be more righteous, but who are righteous only in appearance. A publican is an easier man to reach with truth and appeals of duty than a self satisfied Pharisee.

Jesus shows the real heart of all truth in seeking those who are most needy of His helpfulness. He reverses all false estimates of the worth of external forms of religion and centers all value in the intention and soul desires. Mechanical motion and mere ceremony belong to the realm of the unfree, but whatever is of the nature of compulsion, whatever is forced and necessitated, loses value in the sphere of the free spirit of man. Oblige a child to repeat a prayer, and as a prayer it is worthless. It may be useful, perhaps, as a lesson of obedience, but not as a religious expression of soul desire.

The publican and sinner are ignorant of their real nature and needs and, not as the Pharisee, openly defiant of known right. Jesus awakens in the evil ones the dormant desires and calls into active exertion the powers of good. He seeks those lost to right and saves them by rousing them to put forth their energies in co-operation with the spirit of holiness. Sinners recognize in Him a Saviour and, penitently forsaking their sins, follow Him in the regeneration of purity and power.

So the followers of the Christ are called not so much to a routine and ritual of worship as to the active exertion of godliness in seeking and saving the lost.

Credo—Confido.

It is the fashion with many to despise creeds as illiberal and a mark of narrowness in mind and spirit in those who hold to them. It seems so much broader and more cultured to refuse all such restrictions to thought. But there is a deal of arrant conceit and nonsense under it all. These professions of liberality cover quite frequently the utmost bigotry and lack of liberality.

All thinking persons must have some opinions and beliefs on the great basal truths of religion. They view God in some manner and hold some ideas of Jesus Christ, the Holy Spirit, the nature of the human soul, its capacities, duties and destiny, the nature and mission of the church and the Bible.

It resolves itself into this—whether it is nobler, more reasonable and helpful to say, "I don't believe this, that and the other," which men have for ages, after deepest search and severest testing, found to stand the test of adequacy, or to recognize such facts as rational and worthy to be used as a working basis of daily life and to say, "I believe—Credo."

Incredulity never led to strong, sustained and noble effort. "I believe and I confide in Jesus Christ" has been the keynote of all heroic endeavor for ages. Confidence in God and the ascertained facts of religious consciousness are marks of greater breadth and depth in culture than all the popular doubts of erratic though brilliant discrediters of creeds.

Find some solid rock for your foundation. If it is not on the surface, then dig for it, but find it. No life can be reared substantially on the sand of "I don't know." Bedrock of "I believe, I confide," alone can give firm basis for life work.

The Luxury of Life.

It does not consist in the abundance of things which surround one. Elegance in architecture and finishings does not constitute a home. Richness and abundance of viands cannot make a feast. Companionship is the essential element, without which life loses its attractiveness. Persons and not things make existence desirable. The luxury of life is love. With it all material things assume significance and worth, as they bear the impress of personality, speaking through them to our inner thought and feeling. Friends and friendship make up our future good.

To Anna B. Pond.

NEW JERSEY, SS.

L. S.

The State of New Jersey to the Sheriff of the County of Union. Greeting:

We command you to summon Anna B. Pond, builder and owner, and William M. Sandford, mortgagee, to be and appear before the Circuit Court in and for the County of Union, at the Court House in said County, on the twentieth day of August, inst., that the said Anna B. Pond, builder and owner, and William M. Sandford, mortgagee may answer unto John Abbott, the claimant, in an action upon contract, to his damage, three thousand dollars, as is said, for which the said John Abbott, claims a building lien on a certain building and the lands of the said Anna B. Pond.

The said building is a two and one-half story frame dwelling house, 47 feet, 6 inches wide in front and rear, and 31 feet deep, erected on a lot or curtilage of land situate in the City of Plainfield, County of Union and State of New Jersey, being all of that certain lot of land which is known and distinguished as lot No. 26 on a map of Woodland Park, Plainfield, N. J., and is bounded and described as follows:—Beginning at a point in the Southerly side of Evergreen Avenue distant four hundred feet Easterly from the Southeasterly corner of Hillside and Evergreen Avenues; running thence Easterly along said side of Evergreen Avenue seventy-five feet; thence southerly and parallel with Hillside Avenue one hundred and sixty-two and forty-seven one-hundredths feet to a point; thence Westerly and parallel or nearly so with Evergreen Avenue Seventy-five and six one-hundredths feet to a point; thence Northerly and parallel with Hillside Avenue one hundred and sixty and fifty-six one-hundredths feet to the point or place of beginning, being the same premises conveyed by Deed of the S. D. Drake Realty Company to said Anna B. Pond of date December 15th, 1899, and duly recorded in Book 360 of Deeds for Union County, pages 218, etc., upon which said premises the said William M. Sandford holds a mortgage of record.

And have you then and there this writ:

Witness, Bennett VanSyckel, Esquire, Judge of our said Circuit Court, at Elizabeth, this sixth day of August, A. D. Nineteen Hundred.

JAMES P. POWERS, Attorney.

THE DOLLIES' PIC-NIC.

A number of sweet little dollies
Were lying close by on the shelf,
Contented to lay there together,
And not thinking at all of theirself,
When up jumped one bright-looking dollie
And cried out in a manner most gay:
Oh, dollies, let's have a real pic-nic
And have it this day, right away!
So they got up a wonderful pic-nic,
And played till they could play no more.
If you want to see this fine pic-nic,
Look in the window of Harker's fine store.

Union County Orphan's Court.

IN MATTER OF THE APPLICATION OF Jeremiah Cash, Administrator of Maggie Cash, DECEASED FOR SALE OF LAND TO PAY DEBTS. } ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE.

Jeremiah Cash, Administrator of Maggie Cash, deceased, having exhibited to this Court under oath, a just and true account of the personal estate and debts other than the mortgage indebtedness of said deceased, whereby it appears that the personal estate of said deceased is insufficient to pay his debts, and requested the aid of the Court in the premises: It is, on this ninth day of August, nineteen hundred, ordered that all persons interested in the lands, tenements, and real estate of said Maggie Cash, deceased appear before the Court, at the Court House, in the City of Elizabeth, on the seventeenth day of October next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause why so much of the said lands, tenements, hereditaments, and real estate of the said Maggie Cash, deceased, should not be sold as will be sufficient to pay his debts, or the residue thereof, as the case may require. And it is further ordered, that this order be set up and published in one of the newspapers of this State, as by the statute directed.

FATE OF LONDON CATS.

Stray Felines Are Gathered In by Young Ladies, Chloroformed and Cremated.

Is your back garden a gathering place for stray cats? If so, drop a line to the honorable secretary of the London Institution for Lost and Starving Cats, Ferdinand street, Camdentown notifying her of your distress.

In the course of the next day a well-appointed cart with a prancing cat blazoned on its hood will pull up at your door. From it will descend a young lady with a gold-lettered hatband, and a smart boy in buttons. You will be asked to point out the distressful animal, and, if he be not on the spot, James, the boy in buttons, will seek it out and lure it to his arms with desirable cat's meat, says the London Mail.

When found, the young lady will, on the principle of Capt. Cuttle, make a note of it. You will be required to declare that the cat is a genuine "stray," and immediately it will be whisked off to be seen by you no more.

A Daily Mail representative and a cartload of cats arrived at the institution in Ferdinand street the other day at the same time. Both were received by a young lady.

"Oh, yes," she said, in response to an inquiry, "sometimes we get as many as 20 and 30 cats a day. We put them in here," she continued, leading the way to a bright room gay with pictures by Louis Wain and flowers in pots.

"Here," she went on, waving her hand toward numerous cats lying about in all directions, "after ticketing them we leave them for a day. During that time they can help themselves to as much meat and milk as they like. Then we put them into a chloroform box, and they die painlessly. We received about 4,000 cats last year. We keep pretty ones for a few days sometimes and try to find them homes.

"We have another room for boarders upstairs and a playground on the roof.

"This," she said, leading the way to another apartment, "is the infirmary. Yes, the patients have various ailments. Now, this is a case of nerves and hysteria. Her people went away. She sulked and made herself ill. But you're better now, aren't you, puss?" and she chucked a dyspeptic-looking Persian under the chin.

"This," she continued, lowering her voice and opening another door, "is the mortuary."

The Mail representative removed his hat and entered softly. The young lady opened a long wooden box, smelling faintly sweet of chloroform. At the bottom lay something fluffy, very quiet and still.

"In the evening," whispered the young lady, "they will be cremated."

"Woking?"

"No; a knackers' yard at Kingscross."

Hundred-Year-Old Mortgage.

Thomas E. Mallary and John P. Stang filed a petition, asking for the satisfaction of a mortgage on a piece of property at Boggs avenue and Lelia street, made by Samuel Dilworth to George Wallace on August 22, 1795, to secure the payment of £606. It was payable as follows: £33 13s 4d on August 22, 1796, and a like sum each succeeding year until 1804. No satisfaction appears on the record of the mortgage, and the legal presumption of payment exists by reason of the expiration of over 95 years since the last installment became due.—Pittsburgh (Pa.) Times.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

TOPIC.—Seek souls.—Luke xv, 1-10.

The parables of the lost sheep and the lost coin, which form our study, were spoken by Christ as a result of criticism against Himself for associating with publicans and sinners. "The Pharisees and scribes murmured, saying, This man receiveth sinners and eateth with them." In answer to this charge Christ pointed out by these parables that He came to seek and to find lost souls. Seeking souls was Christ's mission on earth. Seeking souls is the mission of every Christian and of every Christian church. Christ is our example and our inspiration in this as in all other respects.

1. The soul should be sought because it is lost. It was a lost sheep and a lost coin that were sought. Had their owners not realized that they were lost they never would have sought them; hence before we will be earnest soul seekers we must realize that the soul is lost. It is lost if unsaved through Christ—lost in sin, lost to God, lost to heaven, lost to eternal life! But many do not realize it. Many minimize sin. They look upon it as a weakness, a defect, but not of a serious character. They do not realize that it is a transgression of God's law, punishable by the eternal death of the soul. Let us keep this clearly in mind. Unsaved souls are lost souls. This should inspire us to fidelity in seeking them.

2. The soul should be sought because it is valuable. The lost sheep and the lost coin were valuable; hence they were sought. The soul

SPORTING.

GOLF

Activity at the links of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club will be resumed Monday, Labor Day. The Golf Committee cups, for classes A and B, will be competed for in the afternoon. Class A will be open to members whose handicaps run from scratch to 18. Class B is for those whose handicap is 18 or above. The events will be handicap, eighteen holes, medal play, and a large field of entries is expected. The plan of dividing the members into two classes will give the "duffers" a chance.

There will be two events of importance on the course of the Park Golf Club Labor Day. In the morning there will be the second round of medal play for the Charles Hyde Holiday Cup. The four competitors who make the lowest average net score in two or three of the rounds of medal play will qualify for the semi-finals which are to be played, match play, Thanksgiving Day. The third round of medal play is scheduled for Election Day morning. Monday afternoon there will be a mixed foursome with approach and putting contests later in the day. A large crowd is expected on the links Monday and the course is being put in particularly fine form for that day.

ON THE DIAMOND

There will be two ball games on the Washington avenue grounds next Monday between the St. Mary's nine and the Y. M. O. A. S., of Newark. The morning game will commence at 10 o'clock and in the afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Turned Curve Too Quick.

What came near being a serious accident took place on the street railway at Watchung avenue and Fifth street about 6 o'clock last evening. A motorman on a through car approached the curve at full speed and swung around it with a sudden jerk. The conductor was thrown for some distance and landed on his back. He was quite severely bruised, but was able to continue the trip.

—The regular consecration meeting of the First Presbyteran Y. P. S. C. E. will be held tomorrow evening.

—The evening service at the East Third Street chapel tomorrow will be led by Andrew Wilson. Sunday school will commence at 3 p. m.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

In the sea picture of the battle between the American and Spanish fleets off Corinto, Central America, in the "Man O'Warsman," which will be seen at Music Hall next Tuesday night. The two minature fleets move about and engage in action in a realistic manner. It is very effective, and unlike most stage pictures of ships and of the sea, is technically correct. The stage is set to represent the interior of a fortress and the scene of the battle is presented through a large porthole in its stone wall. A clever arrangement of nettings gives the appearance of distance and the minature warships, which are perfect in every particular, even to their turrets, sponsons, gundecks, etc., move in grooved slides. On the back of each ship is arranged a small, round box of burning punk, which is connected by tubes with the ship's funnels. A rubber tube blown by the man handling the ship causes the smoke to pouf out of the funnels in a realistic manner. The tiny guns are loaded with real powder, which flashes and sends out puffs of white smoke, like real guns when they are fired by means of a spark. The report of the guns is produced by a large bass drum, and the rattle of the rapid-fire guns by a peculiarly constructed machine, which rapidly revolves a number of wooden slates, striking them against a hollow box. The Holland sub-marine boat is represented in a realistic manner, as she is seen to slowly approach the Spanish warship El Scorpion, dive under the waves, and, when in close proximity, discharge her deadly torpedo. She then backs away quickly, the torpedo strikes the warship, a terrific explosion follows, and she sinks.

Complaint About the Trolley.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—Through the columns of your valuable paper please call the attention of John H. Adelmann, superintendent of the Plainfield Street Railway, to a grievance of passengers residing in the West End, beyond the carhouse on West Fourth street, near Grant avenue, that recently some of the cars arriving at the carhouse at 11 o'clock p. m. the passengers wishing to go beyond that point to the end of the route on West Seventh street and Monroe avenue, were informed that the car did not go further and that the trip of that car ended at the carhouse, and that no transfers could be made to another car. This has frequently occurred of late, very much to the annoyance of passengers, including ladies and children. If this is to be the rule that all the cars are to stop at the carhouse at 11 o'clock p. m., let it be understood so that passengers can make other arrangement on returning home late at night from Music Hall and other places during the winter, as the road beyond the carhouse is a very lonely one late at night. The ladies say that they would rather remain at home than to walk that distance at that hour of the night alone, which might at any time happen if this is to be the rule. P.

Bed Bugs and Cock Roaches.

For destruction and complete riddance of Cock Roaches, Beetles, Wood and Water Bugs, Bed Bugs, Ants, Rats, Mice, etc., "Rough on Rats," though poisonous, if used with care is most effective. In fact it is the only thing that will permanently annihilate Bed Bugs and Cock Roaches. As an exterminator of Rats and Mice, "Rough on Rats" is the old reliable that never fails nor disappoints. They "don't die in the house." Is sold all around the world. Is used by all civilized nations of the earth. Is the most extensively advertised, the best know and has the largest sale of any article of its kind on the face of the globe. It gives satisfaction every time. Beware of imitations. I employ no peddlers. Have a suspicion of any dealer offering substitutes said to be as good. 15c. and 25c.

Mrs. C. P. Leggett and family, of Madison avenue, and her sister, Mrs. Chickering and baby, have gone to Ocean Grove for a week or two.

WAGON OVERTURNED.

Horse Turned Before Driver Got Hold of the Lines.

In attempting to turn around at th corner of Putnam and Kensington avenues Thursday afternoon, one of Hillier's laundry wagons, driven by Edward Wrage, struck a stone and was overturned. Wrage had just got into the wagon and had not yet secured the reins when the horse turned of its own accord.

Becoming frightened at the overturning of the wagon the animal started to run away, with Wrage struggling inside. He managed to secure the reins, however, and stopped the runaway before it had gone far. The wagon was badly wrecked and was taken to a repair shop. Wrage received a number of bad cuts from the broken glass.

CLAMBAKE FOR THE UNION COUNTY G.O.P.

Republicans Arrange for an Outing Near Rahway on September 15th.

PARTY LEADERS EXPECTED.

PROGRAMME OF THE DAY WILL INCLUDE ATHLETIC SPORTS.

Chairman Gourley Had a Conference With County Chairmen—Encouraging Reports Made for Democrats.

The clambake and outing under the auspices of the county Republican committee will take place on September 15th, and will be held at Gibson's Grove, near Rahway, on the line of the trolley road, Picton branch. This decision was reached by the committee of arrangements. The committee comprises: James C. Calvert, Elizabeth, chairman; S. Rusling Ryno, secretary; Frank Smith, Plainfield; Charles Denman, Westfield; James W. Hope, Roselle; James White, Elizabeth; James E. Warner, Cranford.

The outing will be a county affair, held in the county limits, conducted by county men, and music furnished by a band of county residents. Gov. Voorhees, United States Senator Kean, State Senator Cross, Congressman Fowler, Assemblymen Meeker, Smith and Foote, and other distinguished men of the county are to be present. State Chairman Franklin Murphy, Senator Stokes and other notables have been invited as honorary guests.

The dinner and clambake will be provided by N. A. Astfalk. The programme for the day will include athletic games. Special arrangements have been made with the trolley company for conveyance to the grove. There will be a special meeting of the county committee tomorrow night, when the tickets will be ready for distribution. The price of tickets will be $1, which will include badges, etc.

Chairman William B. Gourley of the New Jersey Democratic State Committee, held a conference Saturday afternoon in the committee rooms at Jersey City with the chairman of county committees throughout the State. Mr. Gourley expressed the opinion that the anti-imperialism and the anti-trust issues ought to draw a heavy vote from the Republicans this year. He also thought there would be marvellous results if proper organization was brought about. He said that 95 per cent of the Gold Democrats in New Jersey would vote for Bryan.

There was a fizz like that of champagne in the Second district Democratic Congressional Convention, which met in Atlantic City Saturday and nominated Thomas J. Prickett, of Palmyra, Burlington county. Out of 218 delegates entitled to seats, but 56 answered roll call. Ocean county failing to send any representation. Mr. Prickett explained that he had been informed no call had been issued for the election of delegates by the county committee, and for this reason, while there were several Democrats from Ocean county present, there were none having credentials.

DEWEY PARK FESTIVITIES.

Political Speeches, Band Concert, Ice Cream and Cake.

Dewey Park presented a gala appearance yesterday when five hundred people assembled to enjoy the festivities arranged by S. D. Drake. The celebrated Drake band, of Elizabeth, was present and discoursed a fine programme of music. In the afternoon the Hon. M. J. Harrington, of New York, delivered a political speech. The address was from a Republican point of view, and judging by the applause, the majority of those who heard it were well pleased.

Among those present were the members of the Lincoln Sunday-school, and later in the afternoon they were served with ice cream and cake by Mr. Drake and the teachers of the Sunday-school. It was nearly dark when the crowd dispersed, but all declared that they had spent a most delightful day as the guests of Silas Dewey Drake.

Will Not Resign.

A report was in circulation early in the week that Chief Marshal Campbell, of the borough, would soon resign his position. That is denied by Mr. Campbell, who says that some people know more about his affairs than he does himself.

Block May Be Appointed.

It is reported that Henry Block, formerly janitor of the Watchung School in the borough, may be appointed a regular marshal at the next meeting of the Mayor and Council.

COLORED PEOPLE WORRY

THERE IS STILL SOME TALK OF RACE RIOTS.

Rev. E. E. Jackson Deprecates the Agitation of Trouble and Urges Parishioners to Be Quiet.

The possibility of there being serious disturbances between the rougher elements of the whites and the negroes is still talked about in this city, although there are many who scout the idea of a real riot developing from any friction that might ensue between the members of the two races. The colored people themselves—that is the better class—are agitated somewhat over the situation.

Rev. J. W. Mitchell, a retired colored minister, is one of those who seem deeply apprehensive of trouble, and he says that if there should be any disturbances the colored people would be prepared to assert their rights and to protect themselves from unwarranted assaults. Rev. Mr. Mitchell has suggested to some of his colored friends the idea of their meeting together to discuss the possibility of trouble between the races, but the idea has been tabooed by those who believe that the colored people should pursue the "even tenor of their way" and not concern themselves about trouble that is not probable to occur.

Rev. E. E. Jackson, pastor of Mt. Olive church, one of the most influential colored men in Plainfield, deprecates the whole agitation. He says that the less said about possible trouble the less chance there will be of its happening. He says that if any of the young men of his flock are found guilty of seeking or starting trouble with white men, they will receive no aid from him in getting out the predicament that their indiscretions may involve them in, but if they are outraged without cause he will do all in his power to defend their rights. He urges all of his parishoners to mind their own business and be law-abiding under all circumstances.

CLOSE OF FRESH AIR CAMP.

Successful Season Ended at the Westfield Resort Where Babies and Mothers Recuperate.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Sept. 4—After one of the most successful seasons in its history the Westfield Fresh Air Camp was officially closed last Sunday night, and services in commemoration of this event were held Sunday afternoon and evening. In the afternoon at 4 o'clock a very large crowd gathered and engaged in the service under the auspices of the officers of the Association. George E. Woolfe, president of the Association, was in charge, and reports were presented by him and Rev. E. L. Fox, of New York, who is connected with the Camp officially. Unstinted praise was given Miss Curry for her faithful and untiring efforts to make the lives of so many little ones and their mothers happy. In all over five-hundred mothers and children from New York have enjoyed these benefits during the warm months.

From a monetary standpoint there is a slight shortage, amounting to about $250, and at the close of the meeting an opportunity was given those present to contribute toward this amount. Over one-half was realized.

In the evening a prayer and praise service was held. A feature of the service was the presentation to Miss Curry of a handsome purse of money which is intended to provide her with a few weeks' rest after so hard a season's work. This purse was made up by Miss Curry's many friends, who have realized the severe strain on her in looking after the work.

There are a few mothers and their children still at the Camp on account of the illness of the former. As soon as possible they will be taken to their New York homes, and then the Camp will be closed until next summer.

Killed a Mad Dog.

A pet dog belonging to Rev. Mr. Griffin, of LaGrande avenue, acted strangely early Sunday evening. The dog was locked in the house for safe keeping and Patrolman Saunders was summoned. It was thought that the dog was suffering from the rabies. The officer went into the house and found the dog in the cellar. It was foaming at the mouth and apparently in great agony. Saunders killed it with a shot from his revolver.

Preparatory Services.

Preparatory services will be held at the Crescent Avenue church next Friday evening, and on the following Sunday morning the sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed.

AUTUMN GOLF SEASON AUSPICIOUSLY OPENED

MANY SPIRITED GAMES.

Fine Weather Drew Large Crowd To Compete in Labor Day Events.

METUCHEN GOLFERS BADLY BEATEN BY BOTH LOCAL TEAMS.

Play for Golf Committee Cup Hillside Links—Second Round for Hyde Holiday Trophy Played on Park Course.

The autumnal golfing season opened yesterday when events were held on both of the local links. There was spirited play on both of the courses which were in fine condition. Plainfield possesses a great crowd of golfers, many of whom were home from their summer vacations in time to spend Labor Day enjoying the fine weather and good golf. Details and scores of the various competitions will be found below.

ON THE HILLSIDE LINKS.

Handicap Medal Play Opened the Fall Season There.

The Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course presented a lively scene yesterday when the fall season opened under most favorable circumstances. The weather was a trifle warm for playing, but this did not prevent a large number of enthusiasts from being present and indulging in the favorite ancient game.

The event was a handicap, 18 holes, medal play, open to active and associate members, and while in some cases the contestants had fat handicaps, there were many who had small ones, and they were obliged to use their best efforts to get up among the leaders. The play commenced in the morning and by the middle of the afternoon most all of the scores were in. This was well, for it was exceedingly warm in the afternoon and this was not conductive to good play. There were no social features at the clubhouse, and in fact, very few remained there.

During the forenoon a contest was arranged for two dozen golf balls as prizes. Morris J. Dumont won first prize for the best net score, 82. His gross was 58 and handicap 6. W. L. Glenney won second prize for best gross score, 86. He played from scratch. In the afternoon a ball sweepstake was arranged, and there was a large number of entries. Frank Reinhart won first prize with a score of 81, and Frank Talmage was second with a score of 84. The third man was Howard Huntington, who scored 85. Both events were handicap play, and created much interest.

From now on there will be events on the course every week until the last of November, providing the weather remains good, and in another week or two, the full membership will no doubt be actively engaged in playing the popular game.

James P. Murray was the winner of the golf committee cup, with a net score of 81. As will be noticed by the scores there was very little difference among the leaders in their tallies, and the contest was of great interest from start to finish. Below are the scores:

TWO HOLIDAY EVENTS.

Park Club Golfers Indulged in Spirited Contests Yesterday.

Many enthusiastic golfers assembled on the links of the Park Golf Club yesterday. Two events marked the holiday while there were a number of four ball matches and other unofficial contests on the course both morning and afternoon. The course itself was in fine condition. The turf was just short enough to be satisfactory while the putting greens were very fast.

In the morning the second round of medal play for the Charles Hyde holiday cup was played. The first round was played on Decoration Day and the third will be played Election Day. The players making the four lowest average net scores in two or three of the rounds qualify for the semi-finals,

GYPSY MATRON TO COME

PROMISED TO BE IN JUSTICE NASH'S COURT THURSDAY.

Colored Girl Now Says That She Does Not Want to Leave the Tribe of Gypsies.

Constable Robert Mattox, accompanied by Rev. E. E. Jackson, pastor of the Mt. Olive Baptist church, went to Madison yesterday and succeeded in serving the warrant on Mary Harrison, the Gypsy matron, who is accused of cruelly treating Louise Jackson, a colored girl, who is traveling with the Harrison tribe of Gypsies. The warrant was issued on the complaint of Lizzie Benner, near whose house the Gypsies camped just outside of the city limits of Plainfield two weeks ago. John Harrison, the king of the Gypsy tribe bearing his name, promised to have the accused and the colored girl in Justice Nash's court in this city Thursday, and so the woman was not taken into custody. If the colored girl is given up by the Gypsies Rev. Mr. Jackson has arranged for her to be taken into a Plainfield family. The complaint was made against Mrs. Harrison because of the stories told by the girl, but now the latter says that she does not want to give up life in the Gypsy camp.

WALSH IS STILL LIVING.

THE MOTORMAN'S LEG AMPUTATED AT THE HOSPITAL.

He Rallied From the Amputation Much Better Than was Expected—Wrecked Car is a Sight.

Motorman Martin Walsh, who was seriously injured at Westfield about 1 o'clock Saturday morning, while making his last trip to Plainfield, still lies in Muhlenberg Hospital in a critical condition. During Sunday he seemed to improve sufficiently to allow the physicians to amputate his leg which was fractured. This was necessary. Walsh recovered from the operation much better than was expected, and he appeared to be improving until last evening when he was not doing so well. Today noon he had symptoms of being a trifle better. At times he regains consciousness, but only for a short time. He understands most everything that is said to him, but is unable to talk to any extent.

The physicians are yet unable to tell with any degree of certainity what the outcome of his injuries will be. The depressed fracture of the skull is the most serious injury sustained and this leads the physicians to have grave doubts as to his recovery. Owing to his condition they can do nothing further at present, until he gets more strength.

The car which Walsh was running at the time of the accident and which was a total wreck, was brought to the Plainfield carhouse between 5 and 6 o'clock Saturday morning. All day Sunday hundreds of people visited the carhouse for the purpose of seeing the car. Superintendent Adleman gave instructions to allow no one to see the car, and it was completely covered with a large canvass. Since that time what remained of the car was destroyed by burning. It was beyond repair and this was the only course left.

SOUTH JERSEY DEAL.

Syndicate Already Controlling Trolley and Lighting Corporations Will Extend Operations.

Official announcement is made that a deal had been consummated whereby the syndicate which recently secured control of several electric railroad and lighting corporations in South Jersey had still further enlarged its field of enterprise. The statement was made by General Manager Ludlam, of the Camden, Gloucester and Woodbury Railway, that as a result of the deal that line would be merged with the South Jersey Gas, Electric Light and Traction Company, and the Gloucester City Electric Light and Gas Company. Thomas A. Nevins, of East Orange, is said to be one of the principal capitalists interested in the combination.

Manager Ludlam also announced that it was the intention of the company to extend the trolley line to Pitman Grove, Glassboro and Clayton, at which point it would connect with the Vineland Trolley Company. It was also rumored that the South Jersey Gas, Electric Light and Traction Company was negotiating for the majority of the stock of the Camden Heating and Lighting Company. This corporation already controls the Moorestown, Merchantville, Woodbury, Haddonfield and Burlington electric light companies, Camden Gas Company, East Side Gas Company and the Woodbury Gas Company.

A. S. Patterson and family, of Franklin place, will return home tomorrow from Minnewaska, Ulster County, N.Y.

EXCURSIONISTS HAD A HARD TIME OF IT.

Their Day's Pleasure Spoiled By The Mix-Up in Coming Back to This City.

MANY ON THE WRONG BOATS

GREAT CROWD AT CONEY ISLAND THE TROUBLE.

Some Were Taken to New York, Newburg, N. Y., and Jamaica, L. I.—Mayor Rockfellow Did His Best.

Through the inability of the Iron Steamboat Company to handle the crowd, the 1,000 Plainfield people who attended the Grocers' Association excursion to Coney Island yesterday, will remember the event for some time. Everybody got there safe enough but getting away, or rather getting home, was a different thing. A large number who were carried to Newburg, N. Y., did not get home until late this morning, while the majority reached this city at midnight, only through the persistent efforts of Mayor Rockfellow.

It is estimated that there were over 100,000 people on the island yesterday, and it is due to this crowd that the Plainfielders got into trouble. When their boat, which was scheduled to leave at 5:40, came up to the pier, everyone made a scramble to get on board. The result was a perfect jam at the gates through which no one could pass. The excursion committee did all in their power to get the Plainfielders separated from the crowd, but it was almost a superhuman task.

There is a law against the overcrowding of a boat and when the officers thought the limit was reached, the gates were closed. Those belonging to Plainfield on this boat reached Jersey City safely and securing their seats in their excursion train which reached home about 9:30. There were about 2,000 in this crowd.

Those remaining at the island were forced aboard any and every boat which came along regardless of its destination. The result was that they were landed at Newburg, N. Y., Jamaica, L. I., and various points in New York city.

To make matters worse the majority of them were without money. Some who were carried to Twenty-second street, New York, had to walk back to Liberty street. The biggest crowd was landed at the Battery. The jam there was terrible and in the midst of the excitement a woman from Newburg dropped dead and several others fainted.

Order was finally restored by Mayor Rockfellow who stuck to the crowd and at last got them to Jersey City. Here a special train was made up and the excursionists reached home shortly before midnight. Some of the remainder came in on the morning trains, while up to this noon it was reported that those taken to Newburg were not home yet.

The grocerymen are indignant at the action of the steamboat company in not providing proper facilities to get their boat off properly, as everything was in their hands. The company's officials declared early in the day that they knew how to handle a crowd and that everything would be all right. The excursionists can tell whether it was or not.

Jessie and Lizzie Naylor, aged four and thirteen, of West Second street, became separated from their uncle in the crowd and were left at the island all night. The police were notified, but it is not known whether they have been found or not.

WYCKOFF MURDER THEORY.

Dead Man Had Been Robbed and May Have Gone to Lie in Wait for the Culprit.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bernardsville, Sept. 4—A new theory concerning the Wyckoff murder is now receiving the attention of the detectives.

It has been discovered that Wyckoff was robbed of some money a few days before the murder. The theory is advanced that he may have gone to lie in wait for the one whom he suspected of robbing him, and that while attacking him he was struck the blow from which he died.

The detectives are now trying to find out who stole money from him. Wyckoff himself told his wife of the theft the day after it occurred.

Mrs. L. K. Prescott, of Brooklyn, returned home today after spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. Mary L. Force, 203 Watchung avenue.

PASSED FORGED CHECK.

J. W. VAN SICKLE'S NAME USED—NICK CONNORS THE VICTIM.

The Amount Represented Was $16—Plausible Story Told by the Swindler.

J. W. VanSickle, the North avenue butcher, has again been made the instrument for the passing of a worthless check. Nicholas Connors, of Bound Brook, is the victim. A stranger went to Mr. Connors' hotel last week and asked him to cash a check for $16. The check was signed with Mr. VanSickle's name, and the stranger explained to Mr. Connors that he had placed several electric fans in Mr. VanSickle's butcher shop, which were paid for by the check. The story seemed so plausible that Mr. Connors readily cashed it. The stranger secured work in one of the machine shops at Bound Brook.

Mr. Connors did not feel uneasy about the worth of the check until it went to the bank. It was taken by bank at Bound Brook, but when it reached the First National Bank in this city, Cashier Runyon at once recognized that the check was a forged one and it was so reported back. Mr. Connors was then obliged to stand for the amount.

Mr. Connors came to Plainfield and saw Mr. VanSickle and related the circumstance, and was quickly convinced that the latter had nothing to do with the check. This is the second time that Mr. VanSickle's name has been used this way. The first time a stranger passed a check off on Randolph Dunham, when he kept a tailoring establishment on North avenue. That check was for $7.

AWAITS APPROVAL.

Fire Committee of Council Will Inspect New Chief's Wagon This Evening—A Fine Vehicle.

The new chief's wagon is now at fire headquarters waiting to be inspected this evening by the members of the fire and buildings committee of the Council. If approved by the committee, as it probably will be, the wagon will be put in service at once.

It was received Saturday and taken to William Hand & Son's stable on East Second street. Yesterday it was transferred to headquarters. The wagon is a handsome one, built on the same design as the chief's wagons used by the most up-to-date departments, except that it is lighter. As the roads in Plainfield are so good, it was deemed that a lighter wagon would answer the purpose even better than a heavy one. It is handsomely painted and varnished. The body is black and the running gear red with yellow trimmings. Everything is built of the best material and to give a maximum of strength for a minimum of weight. The wheels are equipped with rubber tires. One of the best gongs made is placed in the carriage.

TENNIS AND BASEBALL.

Interesting Times at the Hotel Netherwood on Labor Day—Dance in the Evening.

A tennis tournament, a baseball game and a dance were the special Labor Day events at the Hotel Netherwood yesterday. The tennis tournament was held on the hotel courts during the morning and developed some very spirited contests. It resulted in a tie between O. L. Richard and William C. Faber, both of New York, which will be played off this afternoon.

In the afternoon a baseball game between the married and the single men was played on the lawn in the rear of the hotel. The married men won by a score of 11 to 8, after an exciting game. The guests assembled on the lawn where refreshments were served after the game.

An informal dance was held during the evening which was attended by a number of Plainfielders in addition to the guests at the hotel.

Death of Joseph Scheuerer.

The death of Joseph Scheuer, of Newark, a member of the firm of S. Scheuer & Co., occurred Sunday. He was the son of Simon Scheuer, the senior member of the grocery firm, and was thirty one years of age. All the grocery stores of the firm throughout the State will be closed tomorrow, and the employes, including those in the Plainfield store, will go to Newark and attend the funeral services in a body. The stores of the firm will be closed all day tomorrow.

TROUBLESOME WRECK FOR THE CENTRAL.

Four Tracks Blocked by Ten Big Coal Gondolas Piling Up in Promiscuous Heap.

EIGHT MEN IN THE WRECK.

ALL OF THEM ESCAPED WITHOUT SERIOUS INJURIES.

Accident Caused by Breaking of Air Brake Hose, Which Brought the Rear End of Train to Sudden Stop.

All four tracks of the Central railroad were blocked Sunday night by a wreck which occurred about 9:30 o'clock just east of Berckman street. Ten large gondola coal cars were heaped in a confused mass and three of the tracks were badly twisted and torn up.

The accident was caused by the bursting of an air hose on the first car behind the engine, causing the brakes to set. In the fourth car back, which was one of those wrecked, eight men were stealing a ride. In some miraculous manner they all escaped injury with the exception of two, both of whom were colored. They were picked up by Officer Totten soon after the accident and placed aboard the engine which brought them to the depot. From there they were taken to the police station and Dr. Fritts was summoned. They gave their names as Oscar Robinson, seventeen years old, and Samuel Jones, sixteen years old, of South Carolina. Neither was hurt very badly. Robinson was injured in the back and was hardly able to walk. He was also badly bruised and scratched. Jones' injuries consisted of cuts and bruises about the face and hands. As soon as their injuries were dressed they asked to be allowed to go and when last seen were on Watchung avenue soliciting money with which to get home.

The other six men were white and belonged to various places along the road near Easton. It was feared at first that some of them were buried beneath the wreckage as they could not be found. They were located some time afterward in the crowd.

The train, which was in charge of Conductor J. E. Goward and Engineer David Thatcher, of Penobscot, Pa., was on the westbound passenger track and was going at the rate of forty miles an hour. It contained seventy-nine large cars and was drawn by engine 460. The engineer was first made aware of the accident by hearing a terrific report which was followed by his engine breaking loose and darting ahead. He immediately returned and, with the assistance of the crew, attempted to clear one track, but without success.

On account of a previous wreck it was nearly 12 o'clock before the wrecking crew arrived, but inside of half an hour one track was cleared and some of the stalled trains passed through. As fast as the wrecked cars were drawn from the pile they were placed in a heap and set on fire. There were only two of them which could be repaired. It was nearly 8 o'clock yesterday morning before the last car was removed and the tracks repaired for traffic.

Thrown From Bicycle.

Becoming confused between a trolley car and a wagon at the corner of Watchung and Fifth street, Saturday afternoon, an unknown cyclist struck the car track at an angle and was thrown from his wheel. He was rendered unconscious by the fall and narrowly escaped being run over. He was picked up by some bystanders and restoratives applied. Upon recovering his senses he refused to go to a doctor and walked away without giving his name.

Golf Balls Stolen.

The workshop of Professional M. R. Brown, of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, was broken into Sunday evening and $50 worth of golf balls stolen from the place. Entrance was gained through a window which was forced open. This is the third time that the workshop has been broken into this year.

Kept in Borough Lockup.

Lee Young, of the borough, was arrested in the borough Sunday for being drunk and disorderly. The Mayor committed him to the lockup, where he remained until this morning, when sentence was suspended. His Honor thought a short time in confinement would have the desired effect and it did.

New Closed Cars.

New closed trolley cars are now run on the Brunswick Traction Company's lines. They are extra long, and are a great improvement over the old rolling stock.

JOTTINGS OF THE DAY

Newsy Notes of More or Less Importance Bunched Together for the Ready Reference Press Readers

—You will never find any other pills so prompt and so pleasant as DeWitt's Little Early Risers. L. W. Randolph.

—Next week Monday the postal substation will be opened at No. 90 Somerset street in the borough. J. J. Stahl will be in charge.

—The Democrats of the borough will meet next Friday evening to elect delegates to the State and Congressional conventions.

—The Common Council will hold its regular September meeting this evening, and several matters of importance will be considered.

—The horse roller is now being used to roll the new macadam on Park avenue, and the steam roller is being used on other streets.

—Summons have been issued by Justice Nash in the case of Smith against Kenyon, in tort. The summons are returnable September 6th.

—There will be a lecture given by Prof. H. G. Sytell, of Boston, on Thursday evening next at the Mt. Calvary Baptist church under the auspices of the Ladies' Missionary Society.

—Some mean person has deliberately broken the thermometer that has been on duty at the corner of Park and North avenues near Armstrong's pharmacy. It was a valuable one and very accurate.

—The wolf in the fable put on sheep's clothing because if he traveled on his own reputation he couldn't accomplish his purpose. Counterfeiters of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve couldn't sell their worthless salves on their merits, so they put them in boxes and wrappers like DeWitt's. Look out for them. Take only DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It cures piles and all skin diseases. L. W. Randolph.

Paris Award for the Prudential.

The award of gold medals for American exhibits has just been made at the Paris Exposition, and the first and only life insurance company in the United States to get a gold medal or an award of any kind is the Prudential. It comes as a formal and official recognition of the Prudential's excellent policies and modern business methods, and the officers feel justly proud that their's is the only company to be paid such a well-merited honor. The company's exhibit was made at the request of the United States Government, and the award carries with it a double significance, for it bears witness to the unique status of the Prudential in the world of life insurance, and to the high character of American exhibits in general. To receive a high award is one thing, but to receive the first and only award attests not only the company's commanding place in the life insurance world, but is equally a tribute to those of its management, to whose untiring efforts the success of the company is so largely due. The Prudential's award suggests the epigram, "Praise is praise when well addressed."

Wants Tuition Money.

The contract case of A. A. Phelps, proprietor of the Plainfield Business College against Mary A. Codwise will be tried in Justice Mattison's court Saturday morning, September 8th, at 10 o'clock. The plaintiff is suing for tuition given to the son of the deendant.

Stood Death Off.

E. B. Munday, a lawyer of Henrietta Tex., once fooled a grave-digger. He says: "My brother was very low with malarial fever and jaundice. I persuaded him to try Electric Bitters, and he was soon much better, but continued their use until he was wholly cured. I am sure Electric Bitters saved his life." This remedy expels malaria, kills disease germs and purifies the blood; aids digestion, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, cures constipation, dyspepsia, nervous diseases, kidney troubles, female complaints; gives perfect health. Only 50c at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

Stolen Bicycle Found.

Last June Thomas Klase, of Cranford, borrowed a bicycle of Roy Scheonover, of Mountainside, rode it to Jersey City and disposed of it. The matter was recently placed in the hands of John M. C. Marsh, of Westfield, and he located the wheel. It has been returned to the owner. Klase has gone to England.

Race War Renewed.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—An apple core tossed by a small colored boy precipitated another race disturbance near Eighth avenue yesterday afternoon, and for a time Forty-seventh street west of Longacre square was filled with a furious crowd of white men, who attacked every colored man within their reach. Bricks were thrown and revolvers were flourished, while the negro denizens of the block for the most part fled in terror to their homes. Those who stood their ground were buffeted by the mob until a force of reserves came up on the double quick from the West Forty-seventh street police station, a block away, and with their clubs hitting every head that came within reach, black or white, restored a semblance of order.

The Yaquis Seek Peace.

HERMOSILLO, Mexico, Sept. 4.—A delegation of five Yaqui Indians, who belong to the peace faction of that tribe, have arrived here. They are on their way to the City of Mexico, where they will lay a proposition before President Diaz looking to a settlement of the war that has been going on for the last two years between the Indians and government troops. The Indians demand that they shall be permitted to conduct their own tribal affairs without interference and without taxation. It is not considered probable that President Diaz will accept the proposition.

Democrats Carry Arkansas.

LITTLE ROCK, Sept. 4.—The entire Democratic ticket, headed by Hon. Jeff Davis of Pope county for governor, was elected in Arkansas yesterday. Early returns indicate that the vote will be lighter than was expected. H. L. Remmel, the Republican candidate for governor, made a good showing, and his increased vote over two years ago will probably reduce the usually large Democratic majority. There was no opposition to the Democratic ticket for any office except that of the governorship.

Hill Speaks In Troy.

TROY, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Labor was the city's host yesterday, when one of the most formidable demonstrations ever seen here occurred. About 3,500 representatives of practically every known trade took part in the parade, and all business houses and factories were closed. Ex-Senator David B. Hill arrived in the city and after reviewing the parade was entertained at dinner at the Troy club. At Rensselaer park in the afternoon Mr. Hill delivered an address on "Economic Questions."

Arthur Sewall Stricken.

BATH, Me., Sept. 4.—Arthur Sewall, Democratic candidate for vice president in 1896, is in a critical condition at his summer home at Small Point, 16 miles from this city. Mr. Sewall was seized with an attack of apoplexy at 10 o'clock Sunday night and has been unconscious most of the time since then. News was received from Small Point to the effect that the chances for his recovery are slight.

Killed by Sky Rocket.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Rebecca Markowitz, an 18-year-old girl, was killed last night in front of her home at 206 East Fourth street by a sky rocket. The missile passed through the left side of her head, tearing away her eye and ear.

Killed by a Foul Ball.

DALTON, Mass., Sept. 4.—Joseph Marsh, 23 years old, one of the best known baseball men in western Massachusetts, was killed by a foul ball yesterday afternoon. He was a former student at Holy Cross college.

Ask Your Neighbor.

Hundreds of Plainfield Citizens Can Tell You All About It.

Home endorsement, the public expression of Plainfield people should be evidence beyond despute for every Plainfield reader. Surely the experience of friends and neighbors, cheerfully given by them, will carry more weight than the utterances of strangers residing in faraway places. Read the following:

Mr. Richard Day, of 134 East Front street, says:—"I had a miserable pain across my back and a sort of lame feeling over my kidneys. Standing any length of time or walking any distance aggravated it greatly. I was never sick much in my life and consequently never took much medicine, so when I first began having these attacks I paid but little attention to them. They however grew worse instead of better so I had to look about for a remedy. I read quite frequently in our papers about cures brought about by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills so I got a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store and after taking them I felt greatly relieved. I have recommended them to my friends and those who have used them speak very highly in their praise."

THE DOLLIES' PIC-NIC.

A number of sweet little dollies
Were lying close by on the shelf,
Contented to lay there together,
And not thinking at all of theirself,
When up jumped one bright-looking dollie
And cried out in a manner most gay:
Oh, dollies, let's have a real pic-nic!
And have it this day, right away!
So they got up a wonderful pic-nic,
And played till they could play no more.
If you want to see this fine pic-nic,
Look in the window of Harker's fine store.

LABOR CELEBRATES.

Thousands Listen to Roosevelt and Bryan In Chicago.

MONSTER PARADE OF WORKINGMEN.

Democratic Candidate For President and Republican Nominee For the Second Place Speak From the Same Platform.

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—The feature of the day here was a big demonstration held by the labor organizations, including a parade and a picnic. Governor Roosevelt and William J. Bryan reviewed the parade from the same stand and later made speeches to a great crowd at the picnic grounds.

Arriving at nearly the same time Sunday, spending the night in two wings of the same hotel, reviewing a great Labor day procession from the same balcony, having lunch together at noon and speaking from the same rostrum to the same crowd in the afternoon, the two candidates completed a day unusual in American politics.

Thirty-five thousand representatives of Chicago's trades unions marched yesterday morning in celebrating the labor holiday. Representatives of 162 unions were in line, and the parade was the largest ever seen on Labor day in Chicago. Scattered through the line were many floats representing particular trades.

Shortly before 1:30 o'clock the speakers' party arrived at Electric park. In it were Roosevelt, Bryan, Samuel Alschuler, Richard Yates, Senator Mason, Carter H. Harrison, Charles A. Towne, Mayor Rose of Milwaukee, John Finerty, P. H. O'Donnell and R. M. Patterson, all of whom were billed to make addresses.

Governor Roosevelt, who wished to catch the 5:30 o'clock train for the east, opened the speechmaking promptly before one of the largest crowds ever assembled here to listen to a political speech. He was followed by Bryan at 4 o'clock, and others spoke in the afternoon and in the evening. Bryan left this city at 8 o'clock last night on his eastern speechmaking tour.

Governor Roosevelt spoke in part as follows:

"By far the greatest problem, the most farreaching in its stupendous importance, is that problem, or rather that group of problems, which we have grown to speak of as the labor question. It must be always a peculiar privilege for any thoughtful public man to address a body of men predominantly composed of wageworkers, for the foundation of our whole social structure rests upon the material and moral well being, the intelligence, the foresight, the sanity, the sense of duty and the wholesome patriotism of the wageworker. This is doubly the case now, for, in addition to each man's individual action, you have learned the great lesson of acting in combination. It would be impossible to overestimate the farreaching influence of and on the whole the amount of good done through your associations.

"The fundamental law of healthy political life in this great republic is that each man shall in deed and not merely in word be treated strictly on his worth as a man; that each shall do full justice to his fellow and in return shall exact full justice from him. Each group of men has its special interests, and yet the higher, the broader and deeper interests are those which apply to all men alike, for the spirit of brotherhood in American citizenship, when rightly understood and rightly applied, is more important than aught else. Let us scrupulously guard the special interests of the wageworker, the farmer, the manufacturer and the merchant, giving to each man his due and also seeing that he does not wrong his fellows, but let us keep ever clearly before our minds the great fact that, where the deepest chords are touched, the interests of all are alike and must be guarded alike.

"The more a healthy American sees of one's fellow Americans the greater grows his conviction that our chief troubles comes from mutual misunderstanding, from failure to appreciate one another's point of view. In other words, the great need is fellow feeling, sympathy, brotherhood, and all this naturally comes by association. It is, therefore, of vital importance that there should be such association. The most serious disadvantage in city life is the tendency of each man to keep isolated in his own little set and to look upon the vast majority of his fellow citizens indifferently, so that he soon comes to forget that they have the same red blood, the same love and hate, the same likes and dislikes, the same desire for good and the same perpetual tendency, ever needing to be checked and corrected, to lapse from good into evil. If only our people can be thrown together where they act on a common ground with the same motives and have the same objects, we need not have much fear of their failing to acquire a genuine respect for one another, and with such respect there must finally come fair play for all.

"To do our duty; that is the summing up of the whole matter. We must do our duty by ourselves, and we must do our duty by our neighbors. Every good citizen, whatever his condition, owes his first service to those who are nearest to him, who are dependent upon him, to his wife and his children. Next he owes his duty to his fellow citizens, and this duty he must perform both to his individual neighbor and to the state, which is simply a form of expression for all his neighbors combined. He must keep his self respect and exact the respect of others. It is eminently wise and proper to strive for such leisure in our lives as will give a chance for self improvement, but woe to the man who seeks or trains up his children to seek idleness instead of the chance to do good work. No worse wrong can be done by a man to his children than to teach them to go through life endeavoring to shirk difficulties instead of meeting them and overcoming them. You men here in the west have built up this country not by seeking to avoid work, but by doing it well; not by flinching from every difficulty, but by triumphing over each as it arose and making out of it a stepping stone to further triumph.

"We must all learn the two lessons—the lesson of self help and the lesson of giving help to and receiving help from our brother. There is not a man of us who does not sometimes slip, who does not sometimes need a helping hand, and woe to him who, when the chance comes, fails to stretch out that helping hand."

Governor Roosevelt reviewed New York legislation in the interest of the laboring man and said in closing:

"On the whole we shall all go up or go down together. Some may go up or go down further than others, but disregarding special exceptions the rule is that we must all have to share in common something of whatever adversity or whatever prosperity is in store for the nation as a whole. In the long run each section of the community will rise or fall as the community rises or falls. If hard times come to the nation whether as the result of natural causes or because they are invited by our own folly, all of us will suffer. Certain of us will suffer more and others less, but all will suffer somewhat. If, on the other hand, Providence and our own energy and good sense bring prosperity to us, all will share in that prosperity. We will not all share alike, but something each one of us will get. Let us strive to make the conditions of life such that as nearly as possible each man shall receive the share to which he is honestly entitled and no more, and let us remember at the same time that our efforts must be to build up rather than to strike down and that we can best help ourselves, not at the expense of others, but by heartily working with them for the common good of each and all."

Following is the speech delivered by William J. Bryan, following Governor Roosevelt at the Chicago labor demonstration:

"Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen—I am greatly obliged to the committee for the invitation which enables me to participate in the celebration of Labor day at this place. This day has been wisely set apart by law to emphasize the dignity of labor and for the consideration of those subjects which especially affect the interests of the wage earner. The laboring men constitute so large and so indispensable a portion of the population that no social, economic or political question can be treated without an investigation of their connection therewith. But there are some questions which touch them immediately, while others only operate upon them in a general way.

"The first thing to be considered is the laboring man's ambition. What are his aims and his purposes? For what is he striving? The animal needs only food and shelter, because he has nothing but a body to care for; but man's wants are more numerous. The animal complains when it is hungry and is contented when its hunger is appeased, but man, made in the image of his Creator, is a threefold being and must develop the head and the heart as well as the body. He is not satisfied with mere physical existence, neither will he be content unless all avenues of advancement are open to him. His possibilities must be as unlimited as his aspirations.

"In other countries and in other civilizations men have been condemned by birth to a particular occupation, place or caste. In this country each man, however or wherever born, can strive for the highest rewards in business, state or church, and these avenues of advancement must be kept open.

"No civilization can be considered perfect which does not plant a hope in the breast of every child born into the world. The nearer we approach to this ideal the better is our civilization. Those who complain of existing conditions cannot be put aside as disturbers of the peace."

Mr. Bryan here recounted the many reforms brought about by organized labor. He spoke of the need of restriction of immigration, denounced government by injunction and spoke in favor of popular election of senators and the establishment of a labor bureau with a cabinet officer at its head. Continuing, he said:

"The resolutions adopted by various labor organizations in condemnation of militarism and imperialism justify me in making a brief reference to those questions. No class contributes more than the laboring class, in proportion to its numbers, to the rank and file of the army; no class contributes more in proportion to its numbers to the expense of the army, and no class is more menaced by the existence of a large army. Most of the countries in Europe which maintain large military establishments collect an income tax which adjusts the burden of the government to the income of the citizen. Here our federal taxes are largely collected upon consumption, and while they are income taxes in the sense that they must be paid out of the incomes of the people, yet the exactions are not proportionate to the incomes. The taxes upon consumption bear heaviest upon the poor and lightest upon the rich and are, in fact, graded income taxes, the per cent collected decreasing as the income increases.

"If this nation adheres to the doctrine that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed and the people have an easy and ready means of correcting all abuses, the government will not need to be supported by a large, permanent army, for every citizen will be ready to defend such a government from attack. The only domestic use for a large standing army is to suppress by force that discontent which should be cured by legislation.

"To support a permanent army of 100,000 men requires approximately one-half as much money as is annually expended for education in the United States. How much cheaper it is to uplift people by the gentle and peaceful process of intellectual development than to blow them up with powder and dynamite.

"Imperialism involves a departure from principles which were universally accepted in this country until within two years."

Mr. Bryan here quoted from recent newspaper articles favoring the colonial policy and in closing said:

"But why quote from newspapers as to what may be done hereafter in the presence of a law already enacted which makes subjects out of Porto Ricans, withdraws from them the guarantees of the constitution and asserts the power of the president and congress to govern them without their consent and tax them without representation—a power as unlimited and tyrannical as man ever asserted or exercised by any ruler in all the history of the human race. This doctrine has not yet been approved by the people; it furnishes the supreme question of the present campaign. In the presence of these perils the laboring man has a responsibility commensurate with his opportunity. Without a large percentage of the laboring vote no party can win in an election in the United States. The men who work for wages can, by throwing their votes on the one side or the other, determine the policy of this country. They need not march in parades, they need not adorn themselves with the insignia of any party, but on election day their silent ballots can shape the destiny of this nation and either bring the government back to its ancient landmarks or turn it into the pathway followed by the empires of the Old World."

HARMONY PREVAILS.

New York Republicans Agree on Candidates.

OLD TICKET HEADED BY ODELL.

Woodruff Finally Consents to Take Second Place Again—What the Platform to Be Adopted Will Contain.

SARATOGA, Sept. 4.—The meeting of the state committee of the Republican party last night brought forth no development not already known. The selection of a temporary chairman was mere formality and, in fact, the sessions of the convention today and tomorrow will be formal, for every detail has been arranged. Such enthusiasm as might be called forth by the usual occurrences will be evident only if the proposed ratification meeting to follow the convention's work develops some fine oratory.

The almost forced consent of Mr. Woodruff to take the second place on the ticket disposes of any contest for office. It is understood that every detail of the platform has been arranged and agreed upon. There are, it is believed, no contests for a committee on credentials to dispose of, and so the serenity of what promised to be a lively event in the annals of the party will be almost unprecedented.

By those who are in control of party affairs this is looked upon as a good omen, demonstrating great harmony in the party ranks, while others are prone to believe that the lack of friction shows lack of interest. The following is the probable ticket:

For governor, Benjamin Odell, Jr., of Orange; for lieutenant governor, Timothy L. Woodruff of Kings; for comptroller, William J. Morgan of Erie; for secretary of state, John T. McDonough of Albany; for state engineer, Edward A. Bond of Jefferson; for attorney general, John C. Davies of Oneida; for state treasurer, John P. Jaeckel of Cayuga.

So far as obtainable, because over some sections of the platform there is still debate, the resolutions have been decided upon which will, first, indorse strongly the administration of President McKinley, upholding the establishment and continuance of the gold standard; second, a strong indorsement of the government policy in Cuba and Porto Rico and a statement that the Philippines are ours by every right and that if it can be called expansion then the party in New York state is for expansion; third, an indorsement of the administration of Theodore Roosevelt as governor of New York; fourth, an indorsement of the legislature of 1900, specifically calling attention to the tax rate of 1.96 mills, the solution of rapid transit for New York, the protection of New York city's water supply, shortening the hours of labor, reform in tenement houses and sweatshops, the erection of a consumptive hospital, protection of the forests, improvements to the agricultural land; fifth, noncommittal plank regarding the canals, saying that there is now being made a preliminary survey, authorized by the last legislature for the purpose of accurately determining the cost of their enlargement and that the Republican party will not favor any large expenditure unless it is certain that as a result of the enlargement of their capacity the conditions of all classes of people and all sections of the state will be materially improved; sixth, an indorsement of the national Republican ticket; seventh, a protest against trusts, suggesting that means be taken to obtain more publicity in their affairs.

It is given out that ex-Governor Frank Black will make the speech nominating Mr. Odell, Senator Depew being out of reach.

Havana May Accept Charter.

HAVANA, Sept. 4.—It is probable that the Havana charter, which was originally rejected by the municipality, will be ultimately accepted. The municipality has been seeking to avoid the responsibility of acceptance, although it wants the charter, and presumably if Governor General Wood had issued it in the form of an order the municipality would have made an excuse of yielding to necessity. The publication of the long protest recently circulated in Havana was a bid for popular favor. The charter as it stands confers upon the municipality all the rights the law allows.

Labor Day Observed In Atlanta.

ATLANTA, Sept. 4.—The largest celebration of Labor day ever carried out in this city and probably in the south took place here. Five thousand men were in line, representing every labor union. Large delegations from adjoining towns participated. Civic and military organizations were in the parade. The enthusiasm along the line of march throughout the city to Grant park was very great. The features of the exercises at the park was the address of the day by Frank K. Foster of Boston and a speech by Governor Candler.

Deer Season Opened.

MALONE, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Although the deer season opened on Saturday and hunters have been patroling the forests in all directions, only two deer have been killed in this section of the Adirondacks. One was captured at Indian lake and the other at Reynoldston. Considerable illegal hunting with jacks has been done on Deer river north of the St. Regis Paper company's lands, and some estimate the number killed as high as 25.

Across English Channel in Balloon.

PARIS, Sept. 4.—Jacques Faure, treasurer of the Aero club, successfully crossed the channel in a balloon. He left the Crystal palace, London, at 8 o'clock Saturday night and arrived at Alette Quas de Calais at 3 o'clock Sunday morning. The crossing of the channel occupied four hours. During this time the aeronaut kept his balloon at a height of 700 meters.

Son Shot His Father.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Sept. 4.—While making a brutal assault upon his wife in a quarrel over a trivial matter, A. Woods, a farmer living near Martelle, was shot and instantly killed by his 18-year-old son. The son was exonerated by the coroner's jury.

Cholera Causes Frightful Mortality

BOMBAY, Sept. 4.—Official returns show that there were 7,969 deaths from cholera in the native and British states during the week ended Aug. 25. The number of relief works is decreasing, and the number receiving gratuitous relief is increasing.

WATCH YOUR KIDNEYS!

Never for one moment forget that your constant duty to yourself, to your business, to your family, is a constant watch on your kidneys. As the careful engineer watches each pulsation of his faintly tended engine, so should you give the closest scrutiny to your kidneys, for are they not the great engineers of human life? The kidneys filter the blood, all its impurities are left in the kidneys, to be, in turn, passed to the bladder and so find escape from the human system. Can you not readily see how with improperly working kidneys the blood scatters its poison, and before you know it you are in the clutch of Brights Disease and death is upon you.

Hundreds of the sudden deaths you hear and read about are due to neglect of the signals nature gives, such as weak back and pains across the small of the back. If you ever have backache, don't hesitate, but seek the best and surest and quickest acting remedy at once are made from the formula of a practicing physician and guaranteed to be the most efficacious in all diseases of the bladder and kidneys. They go at once to the weak spot and give quick strength; they are vegetable, easy to take and pleasant. Thousands owe life and health to them, and take them occasionally as a preventive, and thereby forestall the possibility of the inroad of disease.

Look out for substitutes and take only the genuine Dr. Holtin's Kidney Tablets. Price 25 and 50 cents per package.

A Night of Terror.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham, of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she would die from Pneumonia before morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night, "but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, which had more than once saved her life, and cured her of Consumption. After taking, she slept all night. Further use entirely cured her." This marvellous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

Thomas A. Cuming, of the firm of LaRue & Cuming, has gone on a tour through New England. He will stop at Casco Bay and Old Orchard, Me., and Boston and other points of interest.

COMPLIMENTED FOR BRAVERY.

Lieutenant Lawton Four Times Wounded at Battle of Tien-tsin.

AUBURN, Sept. 4.—Mrs. Louis B. Lawton of this city, wife of Lieutenant Lawton of the Ninth United States infantry, now doing service in China, has just received a letter from Major J. M. Lee, who took command of the Ninth upon the death of Colonel Liscum, in which he gives a graphic account of the battle of Tien-tsin and commends the gallantry of Lieutenant Lawton, who was wounded four times during the battle while executing orders.

Major Lee says that Lieutenant Lawton has been recommended for a medal of honor and a brevet and describes the lieutenant as "the most heroic, gallant spirit that ever went into battle." After referring to the loss sustained by the Ninth regiment, which the major places at 25 per cent in killed and wounded he says: "Captain Noyes had been twice wounded, Captain Bookmiller had fallen, Major Regan had fallen severely wounded within a few feet of me and soon after General Liscum fell mortally wounded. This all occurred before or about 9 a. m. on the 13th. We had pushed forward to the limit and were separated from the enemy by a canal or moat 50 yards wide and from six to eight feet deep in water. The ground in our rear, where so many had fallen, was literally swept by bullets and shrapnel. To advance was impossible, and with the dead and wounded around us and all of us in mud and water from our waists to armpits, we determined to hold the place and await re-enforcements, ammunition and relief for our wounded. The situation became more and more desperate.

"About 10 a. m. I decided to send Lieutenant Lawton with an orderly back for help. It was a perilous undertaking, but I believed he would get through and he did so under a heavy fire and coolly represented all our needs to General Dorward. Some re-enforcements were sent, about 100, but they never reached our front line. Lieutenant Lawton stood up under fire and urged them to move out. He then received a scalp wound. He then started alone to join me and report. We saw him coming and the word went along the line, 'There comes Lieutenant Lawton,' and every man opened on the enemy to protect him.

"I saw him stoop to pick up something and thought he was hit, but he had dropped his notebooks and had coolly stopped to pick them up. On he came, and when nearly through he was hit in the arm and breast severe, but, thank God, not fatal. Captain Brewster and I went to him, and he calmly and clearly reported the result of his perilous mission. There he and I, with the dead and wounded about us, remained under fire until nightfall. He was again hit in the sole of the shoe. A gallant, heroic little soldier named Nelson C. Price, private in Company F, Ninth infantry, attended him and protected him with a little bank of earth, which was hit many times. The superb heroism of this young soldier no doubt saved your husband's life and mine as well."

Severe Storm In Santiago.

SANTIAGO, Cuba, Sept. 4.—Santiago is now experiencing the severest weather known here since 1877. Yesterday the lower part of the city was five feet under water. The firemen and police are assisting the sufferers. The German steamer St. George, Captain Hengsbach, from Philadelphia Aug. 5 and Norfolk Aug. 8 for St. Lucia and Daiquiri, which was chartered by the Spanish-American Iron company to load ore at Daiquiri, collided last Thursday with the Daiquiri pier and put into Santiago pending repairs to that structure. Yesterday morning she ran ashore at Daiquiri, and she now lies broadsides on the rocks, abandoned and a total wreck. The captain and crew got ashore in safety.

Gambling House For Manila.

DENVER, Sept. 4.—George L'Abbe, the Leadville gambler, announces that he will establish in Manila one of the finest gambling houses in the world. It is also to be a first class amusement house, for the benefit of American soldiers and citizens. L'Abbe is one of Colorado's best known sporting men. He was formerly associated with Joe Gavin and while in Denver won $9,000 of Gavin's money at the latter's Curtis street faro rooms. He is said to have lost everything in Nome and then won $25,000, making his total winnings for four months about $65,000. At his gambling house in Seattle only high bets are placed.

Connecticut Needs Water.

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 4.—Eastern Connecticut and Rhode Island are much concerned over the disastrous results caused by the drought. In four months there have been only five wet days. Factories in the affected districts whose motor power is furnished by mill streams have been obliged to shut down, and others are badly crippled. The hay crop is so light that several farmers are selling their cattle, not being able to keep them and sell milk at a profit. Strawberry vines have been nearly all killed. Peach, pear and other young trees and even wild fruits and grapes are a failure.

Railway System Halts.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 4.—From 11:15 o'clock till 11:20 yesterday every locomotive, every piece of machinery and every employee on the Memphis railway system from Kansas City to Birmingham, Ala., were idle. This action was taken as a mark of respect to the memory of the late president of the system, E. S. Washburn, who died at Rye Beach, N. H., last Friday and whose funeral services were held at St. Andrew's chapel, Rye Beach. The body was later taken to Boston for interment in Frost Park cemetery, where other members of the family rest.

Mail Carriers March.

DETROIT, Sept. 4.—Twenty-five hundred of the men who deliver the mails in the various cities of the country appeared in Detroit yesterday, marched at 5 o'clock in the afternoon in attractive imposing parade, lunched together in Light Guard armory and at night took part in a public reception and listened to addresses of welcome, commendation and encouragement. There are but 750 delegates to the annual convention of the National Association of Letter Carriers.

British Garrison In Danger.

MASERU, Basutoland, Sept. 4.—Commandoes under Fourie, Grobelaar, Bemmer and Hassebrock, together with 200 of Theron's scouts, are investing the British garrison at Ladybrand. It is reported that the troops have already burned their stores, and it is feared that they will be compelled to surrender. General Hunter is hastening to their relief.

UNDATED MESSAGES.

Another Dispatch Received From Minister Conger.

TRYING TO CHANGE RUSSIA'S MIND

An Effort Being Made by the Powers to Induce the Czar to Abandon the Idea of Withdrawing Troops From Peking.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—A dispatch from Minister Conger was received by the state department yesterday. It was chiefly interesting in being the first word from him since his dispatch of about the 27th ult. referring to the proposed parade of troops through the imperial palace in Peking. Like that dispatch, this is dateless as to Peking. The contents was not made public, but it was stated that it contained nothing materially changing the situation. The lack of date led to a determination to take energetic steps by which all dispatches hereafter coming to the state department from China will have the date clearly stated.

Two other dispatches received from China referred to the state of health of the troops, which generally is satisfactory.

It cannot be learned that there has been any marked advancement of the negotiations between the powers touching the withdrawal of the international forces from Peking. The plain indication is that the powers are acting upon the hint conveyed in the last note of the state department and are bringing all of their influence to bear upon Russia to induce her to change her mind as to withdrawing her troops. For some reason the authorities here appear to feel a growing confidence that this effort will be successful. It is noted as a fact of great significance that the proposition is being advanced to have Prince Ching return to Peking as the acting head of the Chinese government. The suggestion is made that the progress of this wave of reorganization while the international troops are still in Peking, promising as it does speedily to provide an actual de facto Chinese government with which the nations may treat without further doubt as to its strength, may solve the present problem and put the Chinese question in a fair way to final and satisfactory settlement. Much may depend upon the attitude of Russia in this matter, and the manner in which she treats this appeal from the Chinese notables may prove to be a test of the sincerity of her expressed desire to deal with the Chinese government as soon as possible.

Dr. Hill, first assistant secretary of state, has returned to Washington and assumed the duties of acting head of the state department, relieving Mr. Adee, who has performed these duties during the perplexing diplomatic exchanges of recent date. Dr. Hill has been absent in New England with his family on a vacation, but in view of the important diplomatic phases of the Chinese question which have arisen decided to curtail his stay and take up the work here. Soon after arriving he went to the White House and spent a half hour with the president, going over the present status of the Chinese negotiations. Later he conferred at length with Mr. Adee. From this time on until Mr. Hay returns Dr. Hill will be the active head of the state department. The dispatch from Perley, the chief surgeon at Taku, makes it apparent that whatever the conditions may be on the land route between Taku and Peking the Pei-Ho river route at least is open and safe for the transportation of passengers.

LONDON HEARS LITTLE.

Latest Chinese News Now a Fortnight Old.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The latest reliable Peking date is now nearly a fortnight old. An undated dispatch has been recieved at Vienna reporting that the allied troops marched through the imperial palace Aug. 28, but it was known that this date had been fixed by the allied commanders for a formal parade.

There is no other news of any kind.

The Hongkong correspondent of The Daily Mail says that the Canton officials have been ordered to transmit all possible revenue to the north for war expenses and that all pay of officials, from the viceroy downward, has been stopped during hostilities.

The Vienna correspondent of The Standard telegraphs that he learns from a good source that the Germans, Americans and Italians will remain in Peking after the Russians withdraw.

Shanghai and Hongkong dispatches express the utmost astonishment at the idea of evacuating Peking.

The Daily News suggests editorially that Russia may have made secret terms with China behind the backs of the powers. The Standard expresses gratification at the explanation that the United States government does not approve Russia's proceedings.

The Daily Express publishes an interview with a New York Chinaman, Liu Chuah, now staying in London, who admits Li Hung Chang's "duplicity and rooted antagonism to western ideas," but thinks that the allies have no choice but to negotiate with him or to retire from China altogether.

A dispatch from Peking, dated Aug. 21, says:

"Prince Ching is endeavoring to open negotiations with the allies.

"Yu Hsien, governor of Shanghai, has sent a memorial to the throne asking for a reward for having invited 52 foreigners under his protection and for having afterward killed them.

"In the provisional government established here each nationality administers a section of the city according to its own ideas.

"Chung Li, a member of the tsung-liyamen and prefect of police, visited the Austrian representative, who arrested him because of the Chinese official's complicity in the attacks on the legations.

"Sir Robert Hart, the director of the Chinese imperial maritime customs, has resumed charge of the customs and has reopened the imperial posts."

M. de Blowitz, the Paris correspondent of The Times, asserts that the origin of Russia's decision to evacuate Peking was her desire to frustrate the schemes of Emperor William and to correct the impression produced by the kaiser's speech attributing to Emperor Nicholas the initiative in the appointment of Field Marshal Count von Waldersee to the command of the international troops.

COMING EVENTS.

Sept. 10—Meeting of Volunteer League or Missionary Study Class of the Y. M. C. A.

Too Many Laws.

The members of the American Bar Association, in session at Saratoga, Wednesday last listened to a timely talk on lawmaking by Former Senator Manderson, of Nebraska. He declared that the insane passion for lawmaking continues to rage in all the States, bringing in its train "the ills of Paternalism—dead letter statutes—with disregard and even contempt for law." In 1899 there were enacted 14,159 laws by the State Legislatures then in session.

Adding to the comment of the distinguished speaker, who has helped to create the condition he now deplores, the Philadelphia Record says:

"There can be no denial of the multiplicity of evils which Mr. Manderson cited as the consequences of excessive lawmaking, besides others which he did not mention. There would seem to be no better place for this complaint to be made than at a meeting of the Bar Association. Lawyers occupying a large proportion of the whole number of seats in legislative bodies; lawyers draw up most of the bills, and lawyers profit by the court complications which follow the enactment of so many laws. Year after year the members of the Bar Association are urged to use their influence to effect a reform—if not in the number and character of the measures adopted by Legislatures, then at least in the slip-shod methods of framing bills by which existing statutes are bungled and emasculated. Still, as Mr. Manderson says, the passion for curing all human and social ills by the enactment of new laws continues, and hence the time of the courts is devoted to the trial of endless causes."

The Republican State convention will be held in Trenton Thursday, at which time the list of Presidential electors will be nominated. There will be two electors-at-large to represent the State as a whole, and eight electors to represent the same number of Congressional districts into which the State is divided. There are several names mentioned for the honor, which is considered a high one, for the Eighth district, of which Union county is a part. The Essex delegates are considering the names of Wilberforce Freeman, of Orange, and Thomas A. Oakes, of Bloomfield. In Union county the names of Frank Bergen, of Elizabeth, and Ernest H. Ackerman, of Plainfield, are associated with a possible nomination. But as Mr. Ackerman was honored with being chosen a member of the Electoral College four years ago, it is not likely that he will either seek or receive the honor again this year.

Upton S. Jefferys, who for ten years has been the New Jersey editor of the Philadelphia Inquirer, yesterday assumed the duties of managing editor the Camden Post-Telegram, Assemblyman Frank F. Paterson, Jr., will continue as general manager of the paper, which, with such a combination at its head, bids fair to attract success of a high degree. Mr. Jeffery's successor will be his brother, William H., who has been the Camden representative for several years.

From now until November 6th—Election Day—political matters will occupy the attention and thought of all good citizens. In Plainfield there is but one newspaper that treats every party with equal fairness in its columns. That is The Daily Press. Those who would obtain a fair knowledge of political affairs of this community, served up without partisan misrepresentation or bias, should read The Daily Press.

After the State convention the next big event of importance among the New Jersey Republicans will be the convention of the State League of clubs, to be held at Jersey City September 13th. A mass-meeting will follow, at which Mr. Murphy is expected to preside. Senator Foraker, of Ohio, and John J. Barrett, of Vermont, will be the leading speakers.

The convention of the Third Congressional district of New Jersey meets in New Brunswick to name a Congressman from this district. There is little doubt that Representative Benjamin F. Howell, now serving his third term, will be renominated by acclamation.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

One of the conditions attached to fame at the present day is having one's picture in the New York papers. Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers, of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, achieved fame last Wednesday by her defeat of Miss Ruth Underhill on the links of the Shinnecocks Hills Golf Club. Thursday her picture was in the New York Daily Tribune among the championship competitors for the highest golf honors given to a woman in the United States.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

The great naval drama, "The Man o' Warsman," will be seen at Music Hall tonight. The play is founded upon momentous political questions now agitating the American continent, particularly that of the Nicarauguan canal and the attempt and failure of the European powers to secure control of it. The comedy element is abundant, the situations and climaxes especially striking and highly dramatic. In the last act is a realistic naval battle, The U. S. Warship New Orleans and the Spanish El Scorpion are plainly seen fighting in the harbor of Corinto. There is the distant booming of cannon, the smoke from the guns, the flashes of light after every report, and the disaster to the rigging of both vessels. As the fight proceeds the New Orleans shows her superiority. The mainmast of the Scorpion topples over, a cannon ball pierces her bow, and finally the Spanish warship sinks beneath the waves. Messrs. Coombs and Grady have engaged a particularly capable cast, at the head of which is W. A. Whitecar, an actor of great strength and sterling ability.

The vividly realistic masterpiece of dramatic work, "The Span of Life," with its thrilling sensational effects, strong situations, beautiful heart story, brilliant scenery, marvelous mechanical effects, its great lighthouse scene and the daring and skillful formation of the human bridge will be the attraction at Music Hall, Friday night.

. . . . . .

The late Frank Mayo's famous play of "Davy Crockett" will be seen at Music Hall next Monday night. "Davy Crockett" is a type of one of nature's noblemen, a gentleman born whose heart is in the right place, and who accepts what is true and honorable, and penetrates the false gentility, bred of custom only, by an iniative process which he implicitly trusts and which never deceives him.

The firm's label is on every garment and is a guarantee in itself that you will get the best fit and the finest workmanship ever offered in Plainfield.

MEN'S SUITS, fall weights, that were sold by Cassell & Co. at $10.00 and $12.00, will be sold at $4 50 and $5.00.

MEN'S FINE DRESS SUITS that were sold by Cassell & Co. at 13 00 and 14.00 will be sold at $5 50 and $5.90.

MEN'S EXTRA FINE DRESS SUITS consisting of the very best Rock Spring Worsteds, as well as the Washington mills 18-ounce clay diagonals and twenty other different cloths, that were sold by Cassell & Company from 15.00 to 25.00, will be sold at $7.50 and 8.50.

500 pairs of men's trousers were in this purchase. The latest and best styles and qualities will be sold just exactly at half the price that Cassell sold them, ranging in price from 1.00, 1.50, 1.75, 2.50 and 3.50, former prices 2.50 to $8.

150 MEN'S FALL AND WINTER OVERCOATS were in this purchase that sold from $11.00 to $25.00. We will offer them now at the greatest sacrifice ever known as we are well aware that this is entirely too early in the season to offer medium and heavy clothing, but on account of purchasing at such a low figure, this immense lot of fine clothing, we are sure of disposing of the entire lot before the regular fall season commences.

If you have the ready cash it will surely pay you to visit us this Saturday and select for yourself enough clothing to last you the whole winter. The above items are only a few sample prices of what you will see at this great sale.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, Sept. 4—There were plenty of places to which the borough residents could go yesterday to pass the holiday and a good many availed themselves of the opportunity to enjoy a day's outing. The Grocers' Association to Coney Island secured the largest number with the Central's excursion to Mauch Chunk a close second. The band concert at Dewey Park secured a few, while others spent the day at Boynton Beach and other nearby places.

With a large number of scholars in attendance, the borough schools opened for the fall term this morning. Beyond the assigning of the various scholars to their respective classes and distributing books nothing was done today, but by tomorrow everything will be in shape for hard work.

Abner Coriell and Edward Taylor have completed the surveying of Madison avenue preparatory to macadamizing. The total distance is a trifle over 3,100 feet and when completed the street will be one of the finest in the borough.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wright, of St. Simons, Ga., who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Warden left Saturday for New York, for a visit before returning.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Aus der Rheinpfalz.

Speyer. Unlängst wurde mit der Eröffnung der Kaisergräber im Dome zu Speyer begonnen. Bekanntlich birgt die Königsgruft die Gebeine der sämmtlichen Kaiser aus dem salischen Hause, nämlich Konrads des Zweiten, Heinrichs des Dritten, Heinrichs des Sechsten und Heinrichs des Fünften, von Hohenstaufen die irdischen Ueberreste der Gemahlin des Kaisers Friedrich des Ersten, Beatrix, sowie die seines jüngsten Sohnes Philipp, ferner die der Habsburger Rudolf und Albrecht von Oesterreich, endlich die Adolfs von Nassau. Die Plünderung der alten Kaiserstadt im Jahre 1689 durch die Horden des französischen Generals Melac erstreckte sich auch auf die Kaisergruft, deren Särge aller Werthgegenstände beraubt und planlos herumgeschleudert wurden.

Kaiserslautern. Der nach Unterschlagung von 20,000 Mark flüchtige Bureaubeamte Max Kuhn von dem Gienanth'schen Eisenwerke in Eisenberg hat sich selbst der hiesigen Staatsanwaltschaft gestellt.

Pirmasens. Die hiesigen Stadtväter waren mit Klagen über den ohrenbetäubenden Lärm der zahlreichen in den Wirthschaften aufgestellten Musikinstrumente aller Art überhäuft worden. Sie entschlossen sich deshalb zur Erhebung einer kräftigen Abgabe von allen nicht künstlerischen Zwecken dienenden Instrumente. Klaviere in Vereinslokalen bleiben steuerfrei. Erhoben werden von größeren Musikwerken 150 Mark, Spieluhren 30 Mark und Klavieren zu öffentlichen Zwecken 20 Mark. Die in vierteljährigen Beträgen im Voraus einzuziehende Steuer fließt in die Armenkasse.

Württemberg.

Stuttgart. Aus dem Jahresbericht über die Thätigkeit des städtischen chemischen Laboratoriums im Jahre 1899 ergibt sich, daß 3322 Untersuchungen vorgenommen wurden. Von 197 untersuchten Milchproben waren 147 als entrahmt oder gewässert zu beanstanden. Die Bieruntersuchungen ergaben, wie auch in den Vorjahren, daß unsere einheimischen Biere „nieder eingesotten und immer noch zum Theil Surrogatbiere" sind.

Göppingen. Der Gemeinderath lehnte ein Gesuch der Vereinigten Gewerkschaften um Gewährung von Reisestipendien an Arbeiter zum Besuch der Pariser Weltausstellung ab.

Horb. In Mühringen wurde die Hinterlassenschaft der unter Anzeichen eines Raubmordes erstickten Frau Raiz kontrollirt, wobei sich ein Verlust von Staatspapieren im Betrage von 23,000 Mark ergab.

Nürtingen. Die Filderbahn wird in die Leitung der Westdeutschen Eisenbahngesellschaft, die in Köln ihren Hauptsitz hat, übergeführt. Es ist für die Bahn elektrischer Betrieb und weitere Ausdehnung in's Auge gefaßt.

Ulm. Eine für Jägerkreise wichtige Verhandlung fand dahier statt. Der Güterbeförderer Gemeinderath Steinhauser von Ehingen hatte auf einen in dichtes Holz fliehenden Rehbock geschossen und dabei eine Frau, die er nicht sehen konnte, getroffen. Zwei Tage darnach starb die Frau. Die Experten verneinten die vom Gericht gestellte Frage, ob ein Jäger auf Wild nur dann schießen dürfe, wenn er die ganze mögliche Schußbahn übersehen könne. Steinhauser wurde freigesprochen.

Baden.

Karlsruhe. Als erste weibliche Hilfskraft des badischen Fabrikinspektors ist Fräulein v. Richthofen angestellt worden. Fräulein v. Richthofen hat ihre nationalökonomischen Studien an der Hochschule in Heidelberg mit dem Doktorexamen abgeschlossen.—Auf der Kohlenstation bei Gottesaue stießen ein Rangirzug und eine leere Maschine zusammen, wobei der Reserveführer Grimm getödtet wurde.

Heidelberg. Unlängst wurde der 21jährige Kaufmann Hermann Süßkind von Azbach im Stadtwalde an der Molkenkur erschossen aufgefunden.

Wolfach. In dem Dorfe Hofstetten ist das Anwesen des Hofbauern Wegner ein Raub der Flammen geworden. In dem brennenden Gebäude haben vier Personen den Erstickungstod gefunden.

Elsaß-Lothringen.

Straßburg. Der durch das jüngste Hagelwetter im Oberelsaß angerichtete Schaden beträgt nach amtlicher Schätzung in den Gemeinden Neukirch 130,000 Mark, Erlenbach 80,000 Mark, Breitenau 50,000, Triembach 40,000, Gebweiler 200,000 und Sulz 512,000 Mark.

Hochfelden. Der Gemeinderath in Ringendorf lehnte die Aufforderung, einen Beitrag zum Anschluß der Gemeinde an das elsässische Telephonnetz zu bewilligen, mit der Motivirung ab, daß das Telephon einzig und allein den jüdischen Kaufleuten Nutzen bringe.

Rufach. Gastwirth Meier hatte Acetylenbeleuchtung in seiner Wirthschaft eingeführt. Da ein Licht versagte, wollte er den Kessel wieder in Ordnung bringen. Plötzlich erfolgte ein heftiger Knall, und die herbeigeeilten Angehörigen fanden Meier in seinem Blute todt. Die Explosion des Kessels hatte ihm den Kopf zermalmt.

THE FASHIONABLE FIGURE.

The Mold of Form Now Demanded by the Mode.

The fashionable figure is long and narrow, tending to straight lines rather than curves. The new corsets have a high, small bust and narrow hips and are modeled, to a certain extent, on the rigid lines of the eighteenth century.

Shirred bodices are again in vogue for young girls. This would seem to be in opposition to the scant styles now preferred, but the material employed is thin and the fullness so drawn down and straightened that no bouffant effect results. Five or seven lines of shirring are carried around the bodice above the waist line, and the top is also shirred, with a yoke effect. Occasionally the top of the skirt is shirred in the same fashion.

Another method of holding in the bodice to the figure is to have a number of little vertical tucks running upward from the waist line for a few inches, forming a sort of corselet.

The illustration shows a costume of white mousseline with a lilac printed design. The lower skirt is bordered with two bands of violet satin ribbon. The tunic is scalloped around the edge and finished with three bands of the ribbon. At the top is a deep yoke formed by lines of shirring. The bodice is draped and crossed, with a guimpe covered with diagonal bands of violet ribbon. The bertha consists of two puffs and three ruffles of white mousseline, forming a fichu. The sleeves have scallops and bands of ribbon at the wrist, and the belt and choux are of violet ribbon. The hat, of lilac neapolitan braid, is trimmed with mauve poppies. JUDIC CHOLLET.

VARIOUS NOTES.

Russian Embroidery as a Method of General Ornament.

Russian embroidery, which is usually of colored threads forming cross stitch designs, is simple, effective and fashionable. It is greatly used for decorating, not only cushions and table covers, but children's dresses and aprons and blouses for young girls and women.

Aprons are again making their way into the grown up wardrobe. There are all sorts of pretty designs for the use of the mistress of the house during her domestic occupations, while sewing aprons and those for similar purposes are still more fanciful and elaborate. Linen, batiste and nainsook are ornamented with embroidery, lace and ribbons and are made with oddly cut bibs and pockets to give them originality.

Sacks of white serge with Russian embroidery in red are seen for very little children and are pretty and easily cleaned. Little jackets of mastic cloth are also new and fashionable.

The sketch illustrates a costume of pearl gray voile. The skirt, plain in front, is shirred around the hips and at the back. The bodice is entirely shirred and has a bolero with a pointed yoke formed by lines of shirring. The close sleeves are wrinkled throughout their length and have a tiny ruche at the wrists. The cravat is of white tulle, the belt of liberty satin, plaited around the waist and falling in long ends at the back. This costume may also be made of mousseline, grenadine or any other thin, delicate fabric, but is suitable for a slender figure only. JUDIC CHOLLET.

The Hero's Sad Mistake.

"In the latest psychological novel the hero marries the girl he adores. A little later on he awakes to the tragic conclusion that it was her sister he should have wedded."

"Yet he didn't love her?"

"No, he didn't love her. But you see, she could earn $70 a month."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A New Yorker, who lately went on an excursion to New Mexico with a lot of railroad men, in a special car, reflected that alkali dust and champagne always upset his digestion, and determined to buy a box of Ripans Tabules at a St. Louis drug store.

"How do these sell?" he asked of the druggist.

"We sell a lot of 'em," was the reply. "That gentleman who just went out bought a box. He is Commodore J. E. M. Maury of New York, who is on this New Mexican excursion."

As days went by, our friend took a Tabule after each meal and one before going to bed and was as regular as a top. So too was the Commodore. In a few days however, most of the party suffered more or less from over-eating, over-smoking, alkali dust, want of exercise and indigestion. Nearly every one complained of constipation, and the Commodore, like a good angel produced his box from time to time, and in every case relief followed his kindly ministrations.

"How does it happen," asked the Commodore of our friend, "that you alone escape the inconvenience all the others suffer from? Only you and I escape." But our friend was foxy and would not admit that he too was a slave to Ripans Tabules; but all that party carry them now when they go where meals are irregular and the water is bitter or poor.

WANTED—A case of bad health that RIPANS will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word RIPANS on the package and accept no substitute. RIPANS, 10 for 5 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

Military Effects Will be Popular for Fall Fashions

Braids, Buttons and Gold Lace Will Figure Prominently as Fashionable Trimmings

KENTUCKY'S young lady colonel is preeminently popular. There is scarcely a society man in New York to-day who would not give much to be able to claim just such a commission as she has. It would go well with her fall gowns, for in the fall gowns military effects are to predominate, and if one is to wear the shoulder straps one likes to have the authority to show for it. So it is that the young lady of Kentucky who sports a colonel's commission is an envied member of her sex at the present time.

Even now, long before the warm days have even begun to cool, while if anything they are at their hottest, we see forerunners of the coming change to the military. The summer has been all fluffiness and flounces, ribbons and chiffons; the fall is to be as directly opposite as it possibly can be and run to the severe straight lines and plain trimmings of the soldier's uniform.

With such a vogue as this the favorite colors will be blue and black—blue is of the field and line, black is of the staff departments—and broadcloths, plain cloths, kersey and the other smooth fabrics will be the materials. For trimmings there will be braids—the wide black mohair kind—frogs, an abundance of gold buttons, and for those who wish to outrank the young lady from Kentucky there will be gold lace, but as gold lace is permitted only on the uniforms of the general officers, and as the majority of the ladies will hardly seek so high a rank, it will probably not be in great demand.

The linings will be the chic feature of the fall gowns. The colors will be red, yellow and white. The lady whose soldier friend is of the cavalry will wish to honor that branch of the service and will line her gown with yellow, the cavalry color. The lady whose favorite gallant is of the artillery will choose red as her color for dress lining, and she who wishes to favor the "dough boys" of the infantry will have white. But all will have the gold buttons, and the black braids and frogs. A few, more probably in the east than farther west, will cater to the men of the navy, and for these there are many little ways in which they can emulate this branch of the government's fighting force.

But it is not alone in trimmings and linings that the military effect will be noticeable. The cut of the gowns will convey the military effect quite as much as the trimmings. Shoulders will be much broader and built out, giving a clearness and swing quite the reverse of feminine, considerably freer and much more graceful. In fact it would seem from present indications that the day of the ultra-tight garment had forever passed away. Women have seemingly learned what it means to be free from the girding, tenacious hold of a narrow-shouldered, tight-busted, skin-tight sleeve gown, that stops the circulation of the blood, impedes every movement and deprives the feminine figure of every particle of ease and grace. The healthfulness of looser attire would not by itself have gained the day, but the improved appearance, the better pose of chest and back, as well as the whole figure, has won for sensible lines of dress the position which style alone could not have got for it.

A great many buttons, olives and fancy buckles will be introduced in the early fall styles. The new folded belts, which are now so much in use, require a relief in the back, and the handsome cut steel, gold and enameled affairs utilized in Paris, as well as by the better dressed New Yorkers, bespeak a coming of such ornamentation into general wear.

The greatest difficulty in the button matter is not the buttons themselves and their designs, but the general unfitness of their employment in certain cases.

There are many gowns that would be much more tasteful and better finished were buttons properly used on them. The hidden and secret fastenings which have been so popular for some time past require relief and change, and it is quite probable that in the nattier military styles of the fall buttons will have a decided prominence.

It is as yet too early to see many of these fall models, but occasionally one finds them at some of the shops where they are but just arriving from the tailors and dressmakers, for the benefit of early customers, and within the next few days the rush of preparation for the fall season will have begun. I will give a description of two or three of the new gowns, so that you may get a better idea of what they are like. One very smart one, made up, of course, more as a model than for any other purpose, is of royal blue broadcloth, strapped with white broacloth. The skirt of this gown has a deep plait at each side of the front gore, with a strapped band of white broadcloth holding the plait down just below the knees, where an underpiece of white broadcloth, embroidered with blue, is revealed. A pointed vest of the white broadcloth embroidered in blue, and a double breasted jacket having stunning shoulder straps and revers of the white broadcloth. A deep pointed cuff on a plain sleeve.

Another of these models is of a Venetian cloth, black. The skirt of this gown is bordered with mohair braid in a scroll design. The natty coatee has a deep sailor collar with a pointed effect in front of yellow broadcloth, trimmed with the black mohair braid. Decorative buttons down each side, with a scroll design in mohair braid.

Another is of a dark blue kersey. The skirt is tucked all around with a slightly full back. The tucks are four inches apart and caught nearly to the bottom. A single breasted jacket just below the waist line with a spade front. The turn-over collar and large revers are trimmed with narrow black braid. The sleeves are tucked to match the skirt, and finished in Vs.

SARAH DAVIDSON.

Strange Facts About Cows.

It was a class of eight-year-olds, and the subject for composition was "The Cow." One of the girls wrote, among other things: "The cow is a very useful animal, for she supplies us with beefsteaks, veal, pork and other meats." Another, looking at the subject from a wholly different standpoint, thought the cow very useful because "She keeps the garden clean by eating the weeds."

ART IN ARCHITECTURE

Designed and Written Especially for This Paper

IN BUILDING small and inexpensive houses simplicity in the arrangement of rooms and in the exterior appearance must be the guide. Rich ornaments and details are of necessity prohibited and would be out of place if used. A good designer must possess the faculty of being able to conceive the proper thing and to put it in its appropriate place. This qualification may really be termed "common sense." Architects are prone to use too much ornament, while a builder's designs usually exhibit a lack of proportion and a barrenness of details and ornament, which illustrate the intensely practical side of it with a view to economy. A happy medium between these two extremes gives the best results.

NEAT AND ATTRACTIVE RESIDENCE.

For a compact arrangement the handsome little house here shown cannot be beat. The perspective view and floor plans convey the general features of the design so fully that but little need be said by way of explanation or comment as to the exterior appearance or the size and arrangement of rooms. The frame of the building is of pine, covered with lap sheathing and paper and finished with pine siding.

It will be observed that all the rooms are of fair size, both above and below, and that direct access is had to all the chambers from the stairway and hall. The materials used in the construction are of the best throughout. We enter from the front through a porch and vestibule into either the sitting-room or parlor. To the rear of the parlor, and connected with the sitting-room by wide sliding doors is the dining-room. The passage from the dining-room to the kitchen is through the pantry. The pantry is not large, but is well equipped with pastry table, flour bins and large cupboard with pot closet below.

The kitchen is also small, but when considering the fact that there is a nice large dining-room and a good pantry in which to do the culinary work the small size of the room is but little objection as it becomes but a cooking room. However, the room could be extended two or three feet back at but slight additional cost. The stairs to the cellar lead down from the kitchen and under the main stairs to the second story. These main stairs lead up from a small hall between the sitting-room and kitchen the opening out onto a large side porch. While the location of this hall and stairway may seem somewhat remote to some people, yet it possesses the advantage of being so located as to allow one flight of stairs to serve as both front and back ascent, quite an item of saving in the cost of the house. Cellar is provided under the dining-room and parlor. The size of the house is 32x43 feet, not including the projection of the front porch. Height of ceilings, cellar, 6 feet; first story, 9 feet and second story 8 feet. Painting and plastering three coats each. Trimmed *inside throughout with natural fin*ished pine. The building is well constructed of good materials, and would cost complete from $1,200 to $1,400.

THE SUNLIGHT CURE.

Terrors of Measles and Smallpox Modified by a Unique and Novel Course of Treatment.

Recent experiments indicate that the sun may be a potent remedial agent in the case of persons attacked with smallpox, scarlatina and measles. These experiments were made by Dr. Finsen, of Copenhagen, and Dr. Chatiniere, of St. Mande, and so novel were they that they have aroused a good deal of discussion among the members of the Academy of Medicine in Paris.

Dr. Chatiniere a short time ago treated 12 children, who had measles, according to this new method, which is scientifically known as phototherapie. Red light was the only cure which he used, and this he made serviceable in the following manner: On the windows of the sick rooms he hung red curtains, and on the table, near each bed, he placed a lamp which gave forth a red light. He acted thus because he felt satisfied that the irritation of the skin in cases of measles is due to the chemical rays of the solar spectrum, or, in other words, to the ultraviolet rays, and not to the so-called caloric or heat rays. If this were not so, how account for the fact that the postules and scars are especially deep and marked on the face and hands, which are the very parts of the body that are most exposed to the solar rays? The result showed that he had not erred in arriving at this conclusion. His little patients rapidly regained their health, and the virtue that lies in red curtains and red lamps is being extolled by many physicians.

Impressed, like Dr. Chatiniere, by the fact that the influence of the solar rays is especially manifested on the faces and hands of patients, Dr. Finsen conceived the idea of subjecting persons suffering from smallpox to the influence of ultraviolet rays, which reached them after the light had been filtered through thick red curtains. The result was that the little vescicles or bladders gradually disappeared, and the patients did not suffer from the customary fever, and, furthermore, were not pockmarked. The ultraviolet rays, indeed, in the case of these patients produced practically the same effect as the red light in that of Dr. Chatiniere's, the most notable tokens of their efficacy being the absence of fever and restlessness, and the gradual disappearance of the eruptions before coming to maturity. It was also noticed that the rays had a marked effect on the maladies in so far as they affected the bronchial tubes.

Dr. Finsen's method of cure has been introduced into France by Dr. Larat, and is being used not only in cases of smallpox, but also in cases of certain forms of skin diseases.

A Fine Polishing Powder.

A polishing powder which will not scratch the finest enamel can be made by adding a solution of green vitriol (sulphate of iron) to a solution of oxalic acid. This precipitates a powder, which is an oxalate of iron, and which should be collected by pouring the solution through a piece of filter paper or a piece of fine linen. Wash it by pouring water through it, and allow it to dry. Then heat it on a shovel, or in an iron vessel to a dull red heat. It then becomes the dark red oxide of iron, which is the principal constituent of many well-known metal polishes, and will be found to restore the luster of old enamel where the ordinary powder fails. It should be applied with a piece of chamois leather.

The Irrigation Question in the Western States

It Is a Problem That the National or State Governments Must Deal With in the Near Future

MOUNT UNION rises in solemn grandeur in the Wind River mountains of Wyoming south of Yellowstone park. From this peak flow three streams, which, with their tributaries, control the industrial future of a region greater than any European country save Russia, and capable of supporting a larger population than now dwells east of the Mississippi river. These streams are the Missouri, the Columbia and the Colorado. The first waters the mountain valleys on the eastern slope of the Rockies and the semiarid region of the Great Plains; the second, the Pacific northwest, including part of Montana, all of Idaho, and the major portions of Oregon and Washington; the third, the southwest, embracing much of Utah and western Colorado, parts of New Mexico and California, and all of Arizona.

In this vast district, when reclaimed, homes may be made for many millions of people. To effect this result is a task inferior to no other in the realm of statesmanship or social economics. It is the nation's farm. It contains practically all that is left of the public domain, and is the chief hope of a free home for those who dream of enjoying landed independence, but who have but little besides industry and self-denial with which to secure it. As it is now, this land has but little value. In many places a township would not support a settler and his family, and a section of land does not yield enough to keep a light-footed and laborious sheep from starving to death. This is not because the land lacks fertility, but because it lacks moisture. Where rivers have been turned from their course, the products which have resulted equal in excellence and amount those of the most favored district of ample rainfall.

APPEARANCE OF IRRIGATION CANAL WHEN COMPLETED.

The essence of the problem to be met at the outset is the control and distribution of the water supply, since not only the enduring prosperity but the very existence of the homes created will be conditioned upon the ability to use these rivers for irrigation. The diverse interest of individuals and communities, and even of different states, will all be dependent on streams flowing from a common source. To reclaim all the land possible will involve the spreading of water over a surface as large as New England with New York added. Standing now at the birth of things and looking down the vista of the future, we can see in the course of these rivers the dim outline of a mighty civilization, blest with peace and crowned with a remarkable degree of prosperity, in case wise laws and just policies shall prevail in the years of the immediate future while institutions are forming. But if it be otherwise, if greed and ignorance are allowed to govern, and we ignore the experience of older countries than ours, there will remain to us only a gloomy forecast of legal, economico and, possibly, even civil strife.

In discussing this subject, let us follow the Missouri, Columbia and Colorado rivers in their lonesome courses through mountains, plain and desert to the place where one joins the Mississippi, where another mingles its waters with the Pacific, and where a third flows into the Gulf of California. For it is not only interesting but important to see in the midst of what surroundings so large a future population must dwell, and upon what other resources than water and land it will rear its economic edifice.

The climate of the western half of the United States takes its chief characteristic from its aridity, or dryness. The heat of its southern summers and the cold of its northern winters are alike tempered and mitigated by lack of humidity. Neither the humid heat which prostrates nor the humid cold which penetrates to the marrow is known in the arid region. The western mountains and valleys are a recognized natural sanitarium where thousands of invalids are sent each year by physicians to regain their health.

The dominant feature in the physical appearance of the arid regions is its mountain topography. On every hand a rugged horizon meets the view. From north to south, from Canada to Mexico, the Rocky mountain range makes the backbone of the continent. Along the Pacific coast the Sierra Nevada and Cascade ranges lift their barriers to intercept the moisture and condense it into snow. Between these two principal chains, with their connecting ranges and outlying spurs, are many minor systems, so that the whole country is a succession of mountains and valleys, of forests and deserts, of raging torrents and sinuous rivers winding to their sinks upon the plains or making their difficult way to the distant ocean. The far west is thus a land of the greatest scenic beauties, and widely celebrated as such.

The cultivable lands lie in the valleys, rising with gradual slope on either side of the streams to meet the foothills. Narrowing to the mountains, these valleys widen as the river loses grade and approaches the sea or its confluence with a larger stream. There are valleys which will accommodate hundreds, others thousands or tens of thousands, and a few, like the Sacramento, in California, where millions may dwell.

The national government alone can make the best and broadest study of the various economic questions related to the development of agriculture on arid lands. This includes not only the measurement of streams and survey of reservoir sites, but also a consideration of practical methods of applying water to the soil and of social and industrial institutions adapted to the environment of the arid region. The nation alone can deal with the conflicting rights in interstate and international streams and with the construction of great reservoirs at their head waters, with a view to benefiting the several states lying along their course. The national government is already active along all these lines, and the field for the expansion of its efforts is wide and inviting.

IRRIGATION CANAL TEN YEARS AFTER COMPLETION.

A Seclusive People.

The people of the southern Appalachian mountains number about 2,000,000, their descent being from the Scotch-Irish, French Huguenots, English and Germans. They have been in these mountains since long before the revolution. They love their homes, and mingle but little with the outside world.—N. Y. Sun.

SPORTING.

ON THE DIAMOND

The Pond Tool Works ball team played two games at Garwood yesterday, winning both of them. The local boys were treated in a splendid manner by the Garwood team and were given a dinner at the Oakland House.

The New Providence baseball team went to Bernardsville yesterday afternoon and contested for honors with the team at the latter place. The former team were confident of success, but they were disappointed. The home team won by a score of 10 to 7.

The St. Mary's and Y. M. O. A. S. ball nines broke even in their two games played on the Washington avenue grounds yesterday. The morning game was won by the Newark boys by a score of 15 to 9. St. Mary's won in a close game in the afternoon by 16 to 15. The batteries for the St. Mary's was Montross and Scott and for the visitors Steffan and Johnson.

The annual baseball game between the married and single men of Berkely Heights was played yesterday, and the married men were so confident of winning that they neglected to bring their wives and children with them. The single men brought their sweethearts with them to cheer and help them win the game, and the succeeded by the score of 13 to 8. The single men made another stroke by having a school teacher keep score. There was a dispute over one of the tallies which affected the score materially, and the scorer was so positive that she was right that she refused to change it. After the game a social time was enjoyed and everyone had a good time.

GOLF

Things are booming at the Cranford Golf Club's links and a lively fall is predicted by the members. A number of improvements have been made. Links number three and four are now combined into number four, extended from extreme right to extreme left of firounds, making a link of 565 yards. Link number five will tee from the big tree near the club house, driving over the big ditch and continuing along the ditch up into the corner, making an extra hazardous link of 370 yards. It is proposed to extend all links so that the entire length of the new nine-hole course will cover 3,354 yards, making it one of the longest nine-hole courses in the United States.

CAPT. MORRISON SAFE.

Word Received That the Steamer, "Californian," Has Arrived at Her Destination, The Philippines.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New York, September 4.—Word was received here this morning announcing the safe arrival of the steamer, "Californian," at Manila. This is the boat that G. D. Morrison, of Plainfield, is captain of, and which was overdue fifteen days from Honolulu, where she last touched.

The receipt of the above news by Captain Morrison's family on Plainfield avenue will be a great relief for them.

Much anxiety has been felt in this city regarding the whereabouts of the steamer, which was bound from San Francisco for Manila with government supplies.

Captain Morrison's relatives last heard of him on July 26th. He was then at Honolulu and stated that he was more than pleased with the vessel's behavior up to that time. She is loaded with 5,000 tons of commissary stores and an immense amount of chairs.

NIAGARA FALLS EXCURSION.

Low-Rate Personally Conducted Trips via Pennsylvania Railroad.

Excursion of September 20 from Philadelphia will run via Manunka Chunk and the Delaware Valley; special train will leave Broad street station 8.00 a. m.; on other dates special trains will leave Philadelphia at 8.10 a. m.

Round-trip tickets will be sold at $10 from Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, and all points on the Delaware Division; $11.25 from Atlantic City; $9.60 from Lancaster; $8.50 from Altoona and Harrisburg; $6.90 from Sunbury and Wilkesbarre; $575 from Williamsport; and at proportionate rates from other points, including Trenton, Mt. Holy, Palmyra, New Brunswick, and principal intermediate stations.

For descriptive pamphlet, time of connecting trains, stop-over privileges, and further information apply to nearest ticket agent, or address Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia. 9 4 7 o a w.

Away on Her Vacation.

Miss Emma Messler, superintendent at Muhlenberg Hospital, left Plainfield to enjoy a vacation of three weeks. This will be spent chiefly at Norwich, Conn., and in the Catskills. She goes from Plainfield to Norwich, where her brother, Harry Messler is to be married tomorrow afternoon, and after remaining there a short time she will go the Catskills. During her absence her place will be filled at the hospital by Miss Stewart.

Engagement Announced.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Hiram Humes, of this city, and Miss Jessie King, of Belvidere, N. J. The exact date of the marriage has not yet as been set, but will take place soon. Mr. Humes is a well-known and popular young man and his engagement has caused considerable surprise among his friends.

A BATCH OF OFFENDERS.

MANY CULPRITS ARRAIGNED BEFORE CITY JUDGE RUNYON.

None of the Charges Were Serious, the Most of Them Being Drunk and Disorderly.

City Judge Runyon found a big batch of offenders ready to appear before him this morning when he returned to duty after a two weeks' vacation in the Catskills. There were no serious breaches of the peace, however.

John and Edward Gillette, colored, are brothers. They forgot their kinship early last evening and had a lively fracas when Patrolman Vanderweg took both and locked them up for the night. The Judge gave them the choice between a fine of $3 or eight days in jail.

A Frenchman named Jean Gautier, commonly called "Frenchy," was arrested at 4 o'clock Sunday morning by Patrolman Lunger. There has been considerable trouble in the West End of late owing to the continuous thefts of flowers. The officer says he saw "Frenchy" picking some. He was fined $3 this morning.

Harry Hatchett, colored, was displaying a revolver on the streets Saturday night. Patrolman Myers placed him under arrest. Hatchett was fined $3 this morning.

George Washington, colored, was drunk on Park avenue yesterday afternoon and Patrolman Vanderweg locked him up. He was fined $3.

John Scott was arrested Saturday night for being drunk and disorderly on West Front street. He pleaded not guilty and his trial was set down for tomorrow morning.

Patrolman Saffron arrested Robert Hart Saturday evening for being drunk and disorderly. Judge Runyon adjourned his hearing this morning until tomorrow morning.

The hearing in the case of the two hackmen, Charles Berry and Joseph Burns, was laid over this morning until tomorrow morning.

George Miller was stopped by Patrolman McCarty and Alex. Filmore by Patrolman Totten last evening for riding without a light. They will appear before Judge Runyon tomorrow morning.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Cornelius Guinee, of Boston, is spending a few days with her parents on West Third street.

Charles Graves, of South Second street, returned today from a pleasant trip to Niagara Falls and Buffalo.

A. D. Honeyman, of West Front street, has returned from a three weeks vacation spent at Budd's Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard Randolph, of Albert street, spent Sunday and Labor Day at Cross Roads, Somerset county.

James Muldowney, formerly of this city, but now of Philadelphia, is spending a few days with relatives on West Third street.

George Graves, of this city, who has an excellent position with an art company, is now located at Altoona, Pa., for a few weeks.

Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, of West Seventh street, returned yestesday from Saratoga, where he has been enjoying his annual vacation.

J. Evarts Tracy and family, of West Eighth street, have returned from Lake Minnewaski, where they have been spending the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Devine, of Brooklyn, are stopping for a few days with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Clark, of Liberty street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Case and daughter, of Duer street, accompanied by Miss Bertha Needham, spent yesterday at Cross Roads, Somerset county.

Mrs. A. E. Gillem, of 113 Duer street, accompanied by her daughter and son-in-law, L. S. Smith and wife, are visiting relatives at Bedminster, Somerset county.

Mr. Bennett and family, of Long Island, have returned to their house on Duer street recently vacated by A. M. Vanderbeek, who has removed to Duer street, near Lincoln place.

Mrs. F. W. Baily and son Pierson, of Duer street, have returned from Cherryville, Hunterdon county. They were accompanied by Miss Grace Pierson, of Beverly, Burlington county.

To Resurface Street.

A gang of men from the street department are working on East Front street from Watchung avenue east preparing to give that thoroughfare a much needed resurfacing. The street is being ploughed up preliminary to the work of remacadamizing.

—The State Firemen's Association convention will be held at Atlantic City Wednesday and Thursday, September 12th and 13th.

—These warm summer days and evenings stimulate a desire for cool, refreshing soda, and one of the most popular places to obain it is at Powers' pharmacy in Somerset street. The best fruit syrups, together with delicious ice cream, are specialties at popular prices, Mr. Powers also dispenses first quality drugs and compounds prescriptions accurately.

Ants, Cockroaches, Bed Bugs.

Mix, say, a 25c. box of "Rough on Rats" carefully with a pound or so of mashed boiled potatoes, or with a loaf of finely crumbled dampened bread, or two tin cups of fine powdered sugar, and place about their haunts, out of reach of children or pet animals. Even the hardier Black Cockroaches, Beetles, Wood or Water Bugs, in one or two applications will be completely annihilated. "Rough on Rats" is the only thing that will effectually and permanently annihilate Bed Bugs, and it stands unrivalled the world over for the prompt and effective extermination of Rats and Mice. 15 and 25 boxes at druggists.

NEW IDEA PROPOSED FOR SEWAGE BEDS.

Material to be Disinfected, Screened, Filtered and the Sludge Taken Out.

WANT CITY TO BUY SYSTEM.

LUMP SUM OF $25,000 OR $5,000 A YEAR FOR TEN YEARS.

The Proposition Made by Leonard Spangenberg, but it is Not Thought That the Council Regards Project With Favor.

The regular September meeting of the Common Council was held last evening and the most important matter that came before that body was a communication from Leonard Spangenberg, of Netherwood, who represents the "Doughty Precipitating and Filtering Tank Process, Patented." Mr. Spangerberg explained briefly what the system would do, that is, it is claimed that it disinfects and takes care of all sludge, and permits clear pure water to run out minus the least bit of odor. As the sewage is received it is disinfected immediately, screened and precipitated and the water is left in a tank and filtered. The sludge is taken out by a chemical process. It is claimed that the process in a definitive disposal of every atom.

Mr. Spangenberg asked the Council for permission to erect a tank close to the present reception tank at the sewage farm, and his own expense. If the system is not a complete success there will be no expense to the city, but if it does what is claimed for it, he will expect the city to purchase it. The terms are that the city shall pay him $5,000 a year for ten years for operating the system, with the privilege of purchasing the plant within one year from date of operation for the sum of $25,000.

It is also claimed that considerable revenue is possible from the sludge as fertilizing material. It is said that as much as $15 and $20 a ton has been paid for it. The system is a secret one, that is, the combination of chemicals is known only to the originator of the system. It is said that it never has been tried on a large scale, but the inventor of the system feels assured of its success in any capacity.

The communication was received and referred to the committee on sewers. It is not probable that it will be reported upon favorably, as the idea is not according to the ideas of a majority of the Council. Other systems more feasible and less expensive are under consideration.

In the regular order of business Mayor Rockfellow appointed John H. Adleman as a special policeman, and the same was confirmed by the Council. Building Inspector Doane reported the granting of nine building permits during August. Mr. VanHerwerden offered a resolution to the effect that $5,000 for the general fund and $1,000 for the fire fund be borrowed in anticipation of the collection of taxes.

Mr. VanHerwerden also reported on the communication received from H. E. Gale and William Pearson, formerly doing business under the firm name of Pearson & Gayle. These parties asked for an equal apportionment of the assessment for macadamizing of West Fourth street, where they both own property, which has been divided since the separation of the firm. Mr. VanHerwerden recommended that the apportionment be made, and it was granted.

Regarding the petition for the laying of a stone sidewalk on Watchung avenue between Front street and the brook, Mr. Tolles reported that the stone had been ordered and the work would be done soon. He also presented a report concerning the request from the Fanwood Township Council asking for a joint committee meeting to consider ways and means for the county officials taking care of roads designated as county roads, and which under the present order of things have to be taken care of by the township or city. Mr. Tolles expects that a meeting will soon be held when a report is received from the corporation counsel as to the rights of the city and townships in such matters.

Mr. Mellick introduced the question of the city taking care of the leaves about the city this fall. He said that they had always been a source of nuisance and bother to the residents, and he favored a concerted, well-defined plan to have them taken care of. He believed the residents would thoroughly appreciate such an effort, and he thought the time had arrived when the city should take some action in this matter. If neces-

FOR HYDE HOLIDAY CUP.

STANDING OF COMPETITORS FOR THAT TROPHY AT PARK LINKS

Two Rounds Played and Third Comes on Election Day—Charles Dupee Leads Now.

Now that the second round of medal play for the Charles Hyde holiday cup has been played on the links of the Park Golf Club, there has been considerable interest in the standing of the various competitors for that trophy. According to the conditions of the play for that trophy, there are to be three rounds of medal play, and the players who compete in at least two of the roudns, who make the four lowest net scores, qualify for the semi-finals match play. The first round was played Decoration Day with a large field of competitors. The second round came Monday, but only nine out of the sixteen, who turned in cards Monday, had competed in the first round. Then there are twenty-five others who, if they play in the third round Election Day, will have a chance to qualify.

Charles Dupee made an 84 Monday and is at the head of the list. His handicap will be much reduced before Election Day, however, when he will have to play to qualify. Of those who have played both rounds so far Frank Rogers is now in the lead with an average of 87 5 That is practically sure to land him in the semi-finals unless he plays again on Election Day and makes a very poor figure. W. de la R. Anderson and Charles B. Morse stand next with an average of 95 each. W. J. R. Thiers is close behind with 97.5. Morgan T. Townsend has 99.5. Either of the four are likely to qualify if they make a low figure on Election Day as many of those now between them and the top of the list will not compete Election Day, or else will make a score which will bring their average way up.

The standing for the Hyde cup is now as follows:

BROTHERS TO MEET.

Chester A. Cleaves to See the Relative He Was Seperated From Over Forty Years Ago.

In 1858 a well-known and respected family of Biddleford, Me., of the name of Cleaves became separated owing to the death of the mother, and the children were taken by different relatives. Chester A. Cleaves was brought to Plainfield, where he has resided during all these years. Another son drifted to Washington, and another, Frank Cleaves, to California. The latter became an actor and manager and is known to every city and hamlet on the Pacific coast. He now happens to be the star in the Davy Crockett Company which comes to this city Monday, September 10th. The agent of the company discovered that his star and the Chester Cleaves, of this city, were brothers, and for the first time since their separation when children over forty years ago, will the brothers learn that each other is alive.

Chester Cleaves and family will occupy a box at the theatre Monday evening and witness their relative in "Davy Crockett," in which character he is said to excell.

GYPSIES TO FIGHT THE CHARGE AGAINST THEM

Nailor Harrison, the King of the Tribes Bearing His Name, is Aroused.

WILL COME TO PLAINFIELD.

CLAIM TO HAVE LEGAL RIGHT TO HOLD NEGRO GIRL.

The King Says He will Spend Every Dollar He Has to Clear His Tribe—He is Worth $50,000.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Madison, Sept. 5.—The charge of kidnapping against William Harrison, son of Nailor Harrison, king of the gypsy tribes of New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, has so aroused the feelings of the king that he intends to fight the matter to the bitter end and clear the tribe from the imputation.

Nailor's son William has a tribe of his own, and while camping at Plainfield last week missed Clara Johnson, a colored member of his tribe, known in gypsy parlance as "Tootsie." He had reason to believe that she was with Mrs. Lizzie Benner, wife of the proprietor of Benner's Hotel, South avenue, in that city. Young Harrison secured a search warrant from a Justice of Scotch Plains, and in company with him searched the hotel. The colored girl was found and willingly accompanied Harrison. The band then departed for Nyack, N. Y.

Young Harrison has the consent of the father of the girl to keep her until she is of age, and never before has there been any question of authority over her. The Benners were so exercised over the finding of the girl in their hotel that they secured a warrant for Harrison's arrest upon the ground of kidnapping and cruelty to the girl.

William Harrison, hearing of this through his father, came to Madison Saturday with the girl, having driven from Nyack. He immediately went to the police and gave himself up, but they had already given the matter a thorough investigation and came to the conclusion that Harrison had not committed an offence, and refused to have anything to do with the matter. An officer from Plainfield, who has a warrant for Mrs. Harrison, wife of the young Gypsy, was in Madison Sunday to arrrst her, but she is with the tribe at Nyack.

The Gypsy king will take his son and the girl to Plainfield tomorrow and have the whole matter thoroughly ventilated. The king says he will spend every dollar he has to clear the tribe of the charge. He is worth about $50,000.

Body Not That of Forman.

Last week it was announced that the body of Enos Forman had been found in the canal. This is a mistake. The body of a man supposed to be Forman was found wedged in the logs of a raft near new Brunswick. The friends of Forman, who have inquired into the matter, are satisfied from the description given by Coroner Smith, of New Brunswick, of the dead man and the clothing that he wore, that it is not Forman. No clue as to his whereabouts have been found, and any information concerning him will be gladly received by his friends.

Champion Crab Eater.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Asbury Park, September 5.—William Brower, of Bradley Beach, has offered to bet any man in Monmouth county that he is the champion crab eater in the county. Brower has the reputation of having eaten more boiled hard crabs than anybody in his borough. Many are the contestants he has left in an almost dying condition in times past, while he has gone on merrily with the feast. His friends believe he will yet meet his match when he strikes challengers from Keyport and Sea Bright.

Work on Carhouse.

The work on the carhouse for the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway at Ripley Junction, Westfield, will be commenced this week. It will be 60x300 feet. The new cars for the winter operation of the road will be thirty-five feet in length, with a smoking compartment, fitted with electric brakes and all the latest improvements.

To Reopen Quarry.

Work will be resumed this week at the Hartshorn quarry on the Springfield Mountain, which has been shut down for the past two weeks because of fire which destroyed some of the buildings. New buildings have been erected and a new engine has been added to the plant.

NEW GOLF CLUB.

Westfield Enthusiasts Will Lay Out Links on the Osborn Farm Near Scotch Plains.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Sept. 5—Messrs. C. D. Orth, W. E. Little, Jr., E. D. Floyd. J. A. Worth and E. R. Perkins, the committee appointed at a recent meeting of golf enthusiasts looking toward the organizing of the Westfield Golf Club, have decided that the Osborn farm, between this town and Scotch Plains, is well adapted for the purpose and will so report at a meeting of the Westfield Club Friday evening. The property is owned by Chandler W. Riker, of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company, and the golf club will endeavor to lease it for a period of ten years. It is proposed to lay out a nine hole course to start with, and as the club grows make the course one of twelve holes.

The land on the farm spoken of is of a rolling nature and would make one of the best golf courses in this section.

NOT UP TO THE STANDARD

ROOM FOR LOTS OF IMPROVEMENT ON LOCAL TROLLEY SYSTEM.

The Employes are Poorly Paid and the Service That is Given is Very Inferior.

A man who has travelled considerably throughout the United States was in Plainfield last week and while here he had occasion to learn much about the local trolley system. His opinion was that the service given and the rolling stock is the poorest he had ever seen. He thought that considering the amount of money made by the trolley company first-class service in every particular should be given. In a large measure this is true. It must be admitted that the rolling stock of the company is in very poor shape.

Concerning the operation of the trolley lines and the liability to accidents, this same person said that too much care cannot be taken in the selection of men who are to run the cars. With the operation of steam roads an engineer and every member of a train crew must come up to a certain standard, and he believed this rule should be adopted by trolleys. The life of a passenger on a trolley car is worth just as much as it is in a steam railroad train, and in these days of railroading officials have come to the conclusion that no risks can be taken in the operation of roads. It is a well-known fact that most every steam road of any importance has a hard fast rule that engineers, firemen and in fact every member of a train crew must be sober men. The public demand this and the railroads have been quick to recognize the fact that the lives of the travelling public would not be safe in the hands of men who are unsteady in their habits. This fact must be realized by officials of trolley roads at no distant date. The companies should engage thoroughly reliable and trustworthy men and pay them a living-man's wages.

An employe of a trolley company remarked recently that the company pay a man $1.25 a day and expect him to be a first-class bookkeeper and operator of a trolley car. There is only one way that the trolley companies can gain the confidence of the public, and that is by operating their roads with first-class men and in a first-class manner.

Consolidated.

The Ironclad Resistance Company, of Westfield, and the Cutler-Hammer Company, of Milwaukee, Wis., have consolidated. Both companies manufacture rheostats, and both own valuable patents. The consolidation of interests and patents will enable the combination to turn out more satisfactory starting rheostats and theatre dimmers. The main factory of the company will be at Westfield. The new name will be the Cutler-Hammer Manufacturing Company.

New Cable.

The new German Atlantic cable was opened for public business Saturday, September 1st. This new line is laid from New York to Fayal Azores and from Fayal to Emden, Germany. It is the only direct cable route to Germany and the only one in direct communication with the telegraph lines in Germany. The rate to Germany remains unchanged. Cables should be routed via Azores Emden.

Hon. Patrick Collins Chief Orator.

Hon. Patrick A. Collins, of Boston, Consul-General to London under the first Cleveland administration, will be the chief orator at the New Jersey Democratic State convention in Trenton, Sept. 12th, for the election of Presidential electors. Mr. Collins will devote the larger part of his speech to Imperialism.

TWO OF THE BRAVEST UNDER CUPID'S SPELL

Chief of Police Kiely Will Be Married in New York City Early This Evening.

IS TO WED MISS BARRY.

PATROLMAN FLORENCE M'CARTHY TO WED MISS NELLIE MOTLEY.

Chief Kiely Will Be Married By Rev. Father Smith With City Judge Runyon as Best Man—Other Wedding in St. Mary's Rectory.

Besides having won his promotion to the head of the Plainfield police force Chief Patrick Kiely has achieved another victory. He has won the heart of an estimable young woman and will, at 6 o'clock this evening, make her his wife. The ceremony is to be performed at St. Columbia's R.C. church, Twenty-fifth street, New York city, by Rev. Father P. E. Smythe, rector of St. Mary's church, this city, who is going down specially to perform the ceremony.

The bride is Miss Mary L. Barry, of New York city. She visited in this city a number of years ago and made a number of acquaintances. She is a charming young woman of pleasing appearance and will undoubtedly preside over the household government in Chief Kiely's new home in model fashion.

She will be accompanied to the altar by a friend, Miss Mary H. Mulverhill, of Passaic, while Chief Kiely's best man is to be City Judge William N. Runyon, of this city. The wedding will be a very quiet one, only a few near relatives and intimate friends to be present.

After the ceremony the newly-wedded couple will take their honeymoon. Chief Kiely has taken advantage of his two weeks vacation to go on his wedding journey, leaving Sergeant Frederickson in command. On their return they will occupy Chief Kiely's new home, 416 East Fifth street, which he recently purchased. His new home has been prettily furnished and will be all ready for the bride when they return from their little trip. The Chief has a host of friends in this city who will wish him the best of success in his matrimonial venture. The announcement of his marriage will be a surprise to many as it was not generally known that Cupid had gotten in his good work with the Chief.

Cupid has been at work elsewhere in the police force. Through a strange coincidence, Patrolman Florance McCarthy has set today as his wedding day. He will be quietly married to Miss Nellie Motley, of West Second street, in the rectory of St. Mary's church this afternoon.

QUIET WEDDING.

Miss Ellen Potts Becomes the Wife of Charles Kenney.

The marriage of Miss Ellen Potts and Charles Kenney, of this city, was quietly celebrated last evening at the home of the bride, 540 West Third street, last evening. Rev. J. W. Mitchell, of this city, performed the ceremony in the presence of a few relatives and intimate friends. The bride was attended by Miss Carey, of this city, as bridemaid, and her brother, John Carey, was the best man. The bride and bridemaid were both gowned in white, with trimmings of lace and ribbon, and carried bouquets of flowers.

A reception followed the ceremony, and after a short honeymoon trip the bride and groom will reside at 540 West Third street. The groom is employed as a coachman for Rev. Dr. Yerkes, of West Seventh street, and both he and his wife were handsomely remembered with many tokens of esteem. During the reception appropriate music was furnished by an orchestra and a bountiful collation was served.

Big News Via. Westfield.

If President VanBuren had died, and Vice-President Richard M. Johnson had succeeded him, the mistress of the White House would have been the negress wife of the Vice-President. There were several mulatto Jonhson children, and the son of one of them recently died in Plainfield.—Westfield Republican.

Capitulates in the Union.

P. Ballantine & Sons, the Newark ale brewers, have, after five years' struggle, agreed to recognize the claims of the trades' unions, and hereafter will pay their employes the uniform schedule of wages. The brewery is now a union concern and entitled to affix the union stamp to its output.

Linden — John R. VanDevort, Thomas Gallagher.

Union—William H. Dockstader.

POLICE ARE VIGILANT.

Chief Kiely and Subordinates Ready to Act Quickly in Case of Race Riots.

"No," said Chief Kiely to a Press reporter last evening, "I do not believe that there will be any race riots in Plainfield. I am quite confident that there will be none. We will be able to prevent any."

He spoke in answer to a question regarding the chances of any trouble between the whites and the colored men in Plainfield. He admitted, however, that the feeling was quite high and that a gang of negroes had tried to provoke a fight on several occasions. The Chief was quite certain that the police would be able to prevent any demonstration. They were on the lookout, he said, and would act at the first sign of trouble without waiting for the factions to come to blows. The chances of trouble were lessening now and he thought that the affair would pass by without any fracas. He denied the statement, credited to him, that the story of the troubles between whites and negroes was an outrageous fake. He had made no such statement, he said.

Rev. J. W. Mitchell called at The Daily Press this morning and said that he had been misrepresented as urging the colored people to hold a meeting to take action with reference to possible race riots. Rev. Mr. Mitchell says that at first he agreed to such a plan, but later concluded that there was no need of holding a meeting, and that it was on his advice that the proposed meeting was called off.

HOWELL RENOMINATED.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, Sept. 5—The Republican convention for the Third Congressional district was held in this city today. It was attended by a full proportion of delegates and was called to order by Former Mayor Charles Place, of North Plainfield. As was expected, Congressman Howell was renominated by acclamation. Among the prominent figures at the convention was Senator Charles A. Reed.

ARTHUR SEWALL DEAD.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bath, Me., Sept. 5—Arthur Sewall, once nominee of the Democratic party on the same ticket with Bryan for Vice President, died at 8:30 a. m., today.

He was stricken with apoplexy Sunday last and never regained consciousness.

Bought 6,000 Trees.

J. B. Duke, the tobacco millionaire, has bought of James VanSickle, of Lebanon, the entire lot of young Norway maple trees, 6,000 in number, of about eight years old. They are to be transplanted on his 1,200-acre estate at Somerville, Colonel Sickle affected the sale one day last week.

ACKERMAN WILL BE A CANDIDATE AGAIN.

Plainfield Delegates will Strive to Have Him Named as One of the Electors.

ALL OF UNION TO HIS AID.

CHAIRMAN GOURLEY WORKING HARD FOR DEMOCRATS.

Many Naturalized at Elizabeth—Bob Davis Says He was Not Invited to Conference—Other Political Notes.

The Republican State convention, to choose the candidates for the ten electors to run on the National ticket, will be held at Taylor's Opera House, Trenton, tomorrow. The delegation from Plainfield will go ready to present the name of one of its prominent citizens, Ernest R. Ackerman, as candidate for elector from the Eighth district.

Four years ago Mr. Ackerman represented the Eighth district in the Electoral College so the choice this year would naturally go to the Essex part of the district. But Essex has not put forward any candidate of prominence thus far, so Mr. Ackerman's name may be proposed. He is very satisfactory to all Union county, and will undoubtedly have the support of all of Union if his name is presented to the convention.

The delegates from this city, elected at the primaries last spring, are: First ward, Chas. Sminck and James F. Buckle; Second ward, John E. Keely, and John B. Dumont; Third ward, Robert Rushmore and Ernest R. Ackerman; Fourth ward, Frank H. Smith, James Stewart and William Newcorn. John E. Keely is out of town and may not be back in time, in which case William N. Runyon will probably be the delegate from the Second. James Stewart is also away, and his place will be filled by Andrew McCardell.

A sub-committee of the Republican city executive committee has been appointed to look after those who desire to become citizens of this country. County Clerk Howard will keep his office open Friday evening to enable those who work during the day to make their application for naturalization papers that evening. The committee will meet all who wish to go down at the 7:03 train Friday evening. The committee is composed of Horace G. Adams, of the First ward; John E. Keely, of the Second ward; Roger F. Murray, of the Third ward, and William A. Westphal, of the Fourth ward.

A meeting of the Republican city executive committee will be held tomorrow evening in Republican headquarters on Park avenue. The committee will then make arrangements for the big mass meeting in Music Hall Thursday, Sept. 13th, which is to open the active campaign in Plainfield.

A meeting of the Republican county committee will be held at county headquarters, Dix building, Elizabeth, this evening, when the tickets for the clambake of the county committee will be distributed among the members. There are some details of the opening of the campaign in Union county next week, which will be completed at the meeting.

The Republicans of Elizabeth have organized a "Rough Rider" cavalry company for the campaign. It is expected that the company will participate in the political parades there and in other cities.

The Democratic delegates to the Eighth Congress convention to be held at Bayonne on September 19th will be elected on Friday night, at which time delegates will also be elected to the State convention at Trenton on September 12th.

Thirty new citizens were made at Elizabeth yesterday by the court, all but two of whom announced their intention of voting the Republican ticket.

Democratic State Chairman Gourley reached headquarters in the Hotel Washington today with more than the usual amount of sprightliness. "We are in for a busy week," he remarked as he laid aside his hat and rolled up his sleeves, figuratively speaking, in anticipation of a lively week's operations. John Kennel of Passaic was one of the callers at Democratic State headquarters. He has been listed as one of the speakers by the State Committee. Mr. Kennel, in discussing the latest political gossip of Passaic county, said the Democrats are trying hard to get Senator Braun to consent to a renomination. The Senator does not care to run again.

Robert Davis, the Hudson county Democratic leader, denied yesterday

JOTTINGS OF THE DAY

ENTERPRISINGLY GATHERED AND CONCISELY TOLD BY REPORTERS.

Newsy Notes of More or Less Importance Bunched Together for the Ready Reference Press Readers

—You will never find any other pills so prompt and so pleasant as DeWitt's Little Early Risers. L. W. Randolph.

—A most commendable example is being set by many Plainfielders who are having their trees trimmed. There should be a general trimming about the city.

—The contract case of Alexander A. Phelps against Mary A. Codwise will be tried before Justice Mattison Saturday morning, September 15th, at 10 o'clock.

—The State Firemen's Relief Association will meet at Atlantic City next week in annual session, and the usual number of delegates will go from Plainfield.

—When in search of choice cuts of fresh, salt and cooked meats, or fine poultry, do not forget Drake & Mundy, 153 West Front street. They can supply you at reasonable prices.

—The Primary and Junior Teachers' Union will hold its annual institute early in October, at which time several prominent Sunday-school workers will be present and make addresses.

—An Italian orchestra from New Brunswick visited Plainfield Monday and made a tour of the city. They were well rewarded for they collected quite a sum from those who enjoyed the selections.

—The wolf in the fable put on sheep's clothing because if he traveled on his own reputation he couldn't accomplish his purpose. Counterfeiters of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve couldn't sell their worthless salves on their merits, so they put them in boxes and wrappers like DeWitt's. Look out for them. Take only DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It cures piles and all skin diseases. L. W. Randolph.

Arthur P. Miller, of North Carolina, is visiting his brother, Dudley Miller, of Orchard place, for a time.

Howard T. Lewis, of Ashaway, R. I., is a guest at the home of his aunt, Mrs George Babcock, of West Eighth street.

Stood Death Off.

E. B. Munday, a lawyer of Henrietta Tex., once fooled a grave-digger. He says: "My brother was very low with malarial fever and jaundice. I persuaded him to try Electric Bitters, and he was soon much better, but continued their use until he was wholly cured. I am sure Electric Bitters saved his life." This remedy expels malaria, kills disease germs and purifies the blood; aids digestion, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, cures constipation, dyspepsia, nervous diseases, kidney troubles, female complaints; gives perfect health. Only 50c at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

A Night of Terror.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham, of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she would die from Pneumonia before morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night, "but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, which had more than once saved her life, and cured her of Consumption. After taking, she slept all night. Further use entirely cured her." This marvellous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

J. T. Baker and family, of Stelle avenue, have returned home after a delightful summer at Jefferson, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred MacDonald, of East Front street, entertained company from out of town over Labor Day.

—Chinese are dangerous enemies, for they are treacherous. That's why all counterfeits of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve are dangerous. They look like Dewitt's, but instead of the all-healing witch hazel they all contain ingredients liable to irritate the skin and cause blood poisoning. For piles, injuries and skin diseases use the original and genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. L. W. Randolph.

THE DOLLIES' PIC-NIC.

A number of sweet little dollies
Were lying close by on the shelf,
Contented to lay there together,
And not thinking at all of theirself,
When up jumped one bright-looking dollie
And cried out in a manner most gay:
Oh, dollies, let's have a real pic-nic!
And have it this day, right away!
So they got up a wonderful pic-nic,
And played till they could play no more.

MR. BRYAN IN MARYLAND.

Democratic Campaign Opened In Two States.

CUMBERLAND, Md., Sept. 5.—The opening of the Democratic campaign for the states of Maryland and West Virginia at this place last night was rendered memorable by the appearance on the same platform of the Democratic national standard bearer, Hon. William J. Bryan, and United States Senator George L. Wellington, who was elected as a Republican. Both these distinguished gentlemen were in good voice, and both spoke with their accustomed force. Senator Wellington's speech marked his formal renunciation of party ties on account of the issues growing out of the war with Spain. He had for this reason prepared his speech with care, and he read it from typewritten manuscript.

Mr. Bryan spoke without notes, and he appeared at the meeting almost immediately after the arrival of the special train which had brought him across the state of West Virginia and thus far into the state of Maryland. The journey had been an arduous one, covering, including the trip from Chicago, about 24 hours of railroad riding. Still Mr. Bryan appeared in excellent form, and he spoke with his customary vim and vigor.

The journey of the presidential candidate across the state was not devoid of labor for him, for while he left the train but once on the journey he made a number of brief addresses from the rear platform of the hindmost car.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

One more plague case was reported at Glasgow.

A cargo of American cotton was burned on a quay at Genoa.

Ex-Governor Lewelling of Kansas died at Arkansas City, Kan.

Nineteen of the alleged rioters at Akron, O., have thus far been arrested.

Two railroad men were hurt in a collision on the Long Branch division of the Pennsylvania railroad.

No improvement was noted in the condition of Hon. Arthur Sewall, who was reported dying at Bath, Me.

Sept. 14 was set as the date for argument of the ice trust case before the appellate division at Saratoga.

All the ratifications of treaties and agreements made at the peace conference were deposited at The Hague.

Five British warships reached Bar Harbor, Me., for the joint naval celebration with the American vessels.

Campaign Opened In Missouri.

SEDALIA, Mo., Sept. 5.—The opening of the state campaign took place here yesterday, with 10,000 people attending the various meetings. The speakers in the afternoon were Joseph Flory, candidate for governor; Governor Leslie M. Shaw of Iowa and J. R. Burton of Kansas. Overflow meetings were held at night. The speakers included R. O. Gardeau of Wisconsin, T. P. Ray of New York, Colonel Patrick Dwyer of St. Louis and J. R. Davidson of Illinois.

Negroes to Leave North Carolina.

ATLANTA, Sept. 5.—A special from Asheville, N. C., says: George C. White, the only negro congressman in the United States, has announced that he will give up his residence in North Carolina if the recently adopted amendment to the state constitution is upheld by the higher courts and will begin the practice of law in New York. He says: "I am not only going myself, but I am going to take 50,000 negroes with me."

Outbreak of Fever In Havana.

HAVANA, Sept. 5.—The yellow fever outbreak in Havana, although serious, is confined to a large extent to the Spanish colony. The best quarters of the city are affected, the lower portions being almost exempt. The authorities contend that cleanliness is of effect in preventing contagion, and local conditions seem to substantiate this. Eighty-five cases are under observation.

Coal Mine on Fire.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Sept. 5.—Fire broke out in No. 10 vein of the Neilsen shaft yesterday and at a late hour last night had become so serious that it is feared the entire mine will have to be flooded. The origin of the fire is unknown. Twelve hundred men and boys are rendered idle. The shaft is owned by J. Langdon & Co. of Elmira, N. Y.

Drowned In Kirk Lake.

CARMEL, N. Y., Sept. 5.—Miss Muriel Agor, daughter of former School Commissioner Millard F. Agor, and Miss Pearl Hadden, daughter of George C. Hadden, were drowned in Kirk lake near the summer resort of Lake Mahopac yesterday. They were in bathing with Miss Alice Cole, who alone of the three could swim.

New Hampshire State Fair.

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 5.—The first annual state fair opened here yesterday, the formal dedication of the grounds being through an address by Governor Frank W. Rollins, president of the association. The grounds and buildings represent an expenditure within the past ten weeks of $30,000.

FORGED ULTIMATUM.

Caused Antiforeign Wrath of Empress Dowager.

PRINCE TUAN DEMANDED ABDICATION

Other Sweeping Concessions Were Asked—Japan Said to Be Ready to Pursue Course Favored by Majority of the Powers.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—The empress dowager's antiforeign frenzy in June, according to a special dispatch from Shanghai, was due to the presentation to her by Prince Tuan of an ultimatum which is now known to have been forged, in which the powers demanded her abdication in favor of Emperor Kwang Su, the removal of the seat of government from Peking, the placing of Chinese finances under European control and other sweeping concessions. Regarding the evacuation of Peking, says the correspondent of The Times at Tokyo, the Japanese government will pursue the course approved by a majority of the powers. "Six months' rations for the British force," says the Tien-tsin correspondent of The Standard, wiring Aug. 27, "are being forwarded to Peking. Newspaper correspondents are seriously handicapped by the bad arrangement of the Chinese telegraphs. Messages have been detained and tampered with, and nothing has been safe unless mailed to Shanghai."

Today's dispatches from Shanghai and Tien-tsin refer to the hopeless confusion and mismanagement of the Chinese telegraph system, which may probably account in part for the delay in getting news from Peking. Another reason for the delay, doubtless, is the anxiety of the Chinese authorities to procure the evacuation of the capital. No effort is being spared by them to bring this about. Their idea is that should the foreign ministers in Peking be allowed free communication with their governments the full extent of the complicity of the Chinese government in the antiforeign outrages would be revealed and would lead the allies to decide to remain until retribution had been exacted. All telegrams have to be conveyed by courier from Tsi-Nan-Fu to Peking, and probably all cipher dispatches have been stopped.

According to Shanghai advices Li Hung Chang wired the Chinese minister in London, Sir Chih Chen Lofengluh, as follows: "Our St. Petersburg minister has persuaded Russia to leave Peking. You are useless if you cannot persuade England."

It is asserted that Earl Li has promised Russia three Manchurian provinces if she secures the withdrawal of the allied forces from Peking and favorable peace terms from the powers. Both the empress dowager and Li Hung Chang are said to be lavishing money to attain these objects.

There is no sign as yet of any decision on the part of the powers regarding the Russian proposals.

Germany Gets No Chinese News.

BERLIN, Sept. 5.—The German foreign office announced yesterday afternoon that no further news from China had been received and that nothing was expected until the ministers in Peking could formulate an opinion regarding the question of withdrawing the international troops from the Chinese capital. "It is doubtful," said a foreign office official, "whether the foreign ministers have yet received instructions from their governments as to this matter. The question of withdrawing the troops will meet with greater difficulties than that of withdrawing the ministers, for if the troops are withdrawn all the foreigners must go also, because the natives would murder them and claim it as a triumph over the powers, thus creating a bad impression upon the Chinese. In various countries the newspapers are exaggerating the situation. There is no question of disagreement yet, for Russia's proposition is merely under discussion. It has neither been accepted nor rejected."

Protest Against Evacuating Peking.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 5.—Li Hung Chang, Yung Lu, Hsu Tung and Prince Ching, whom an imperial edict has appointed peace commissioners, constitute a radically antiforeign commission. Hsu Tung, guardian of the heir apparent, is especially obnoxious. Three of the commissioners are Mantchoos. The American association, whose membership includes all the foremost business men at Shanghai, met yesterday and adopted a protest against the evacuation of Peking until a final settlement has been reached. The meeting also resolved to urge President McKinley to insist upon the appointment of satisfactory commissioners and the recognition of the emperor as sovereign.

Connecticut Republicans.

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 5.—Without a flutter of excitement and with practically no enthusiasm so far as it appeared on the surface the Republicans of Connecticut assembled in state convention in this city last night to prepare by temporary organization for the session of today, when candidates for state offices will be nominated and presidential electors named. There was not a whisper at this preliminary session of the bitter factional contest which has made the canvass of candidates in its preparatory stages one of the most striking in the history of the party. The delegates were detained less than an hour and a half, and Congressman Charles A. Russell, in his capacity as the temporary presiding officer, occupied 60 minutes of the 90 with his address. This finished, various committees were appointed, county and district caucuses were called, and the convention adjourned to meet today.

Vermont Elections.

RUTLAND, Vt., Sept. 5.—The state has given at least 31,000 plurality for W. W. Stickney, the Republican candidate for governor, according to Chairman Allen of the Republican state committee, who bases his opinion on the fact that 200 towns out of 246 give the Republican candidate 42,232 against 14,898 for John H. Senter, the candidate of the Democratic party. The same towns in 1896 gave Grout (Rep.) 46,878 and Jackson (Dem.) 12,798. Returns from the smaller towns in this neighborhood are coming in slowly.

Arnold Waits For His Papers.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 5.—Judge De Haven in the United States circuit court held Julian B. Arnold, the English lawyer, son of Sir Edwin Arnold, accused of embezzlement of funds of clients, for extradition. The prisoner will be detained pending the signing of the papers by President McKinley.

CONVENTION MEETS.

REPUBLICANS IN HARMONIOUS MOOD

Lieutenant Governor Woodruff Temporary Chairman—Senator Stranahan For Permanent Presiding Officer—Nominations Today.

SARATOGA, Sept. 5.—The practical work of the state convention was completed yesterday with the adoption of the platform. There only remains the formal naming of the candidates, and these have already been agreed upon and known for several days. Today will be devoted to oratory, and some of the greatest masters of this art will contribute to the demonstration. The ticket will be: For governor, Benjamin B. Odell of Newburg; for lieutenant governor, Timothy L. Woodruff; for secretary of state, John T. McDonough of Albany; for comptroller, William Morgan of Buffalo; for state treasurer, John P. Jaeckel of Cayuga county; for attorney general, J. C. Davies; for state engineer and surveyor, A. E. Bond of Jefferson county. From this prearranged programme there can now be no deviation. The oratorical display will be opened immediately when the convention convenes, when former Governor Black will formally present the name of Mr. Odell as a candidate for governor. Senator Chauncey M. Depew will follow, when the convention has ratified this nomination by acclamation, with a speech nominating Timothy Woodruff for lieutenant governor.

This nomination out of the way, there will follow the renomination of the present state officers by resolution, and then will begin the ratification of the ticket nominated in a speech by Governor Roosevelt, which will doubtless be the event of the day.

The first real demonstration of the convention was that which greeted Chairman Odell's announcement of the selection of Timothy L. Woodruff as temporary chairman. The applause was continued for several minutes. An enthusiastic Kings county delegate shouted, "Three cheers for Timothy L. Woodruff!" and these were given most heartily.

When the cheering subsided, Chairman Odell named Congressman James Sherman and Senator Frank W. Higgins to escort Mr. Woodruff to the platform.

Mr. Woodruff was received with what must have been to him very gratifying enthusiasm. His allusions to a possible victory in the fall and to Mr. Odell's strength were applauded. McKinley's name caused an outburst of applause.

Sound money, independence of Cuba and the Philippine policy were given good receptions, but a climax came when Mr. Woodruff said, "Out of their bitter experiences the people believe in the rescue of New York city from the clutch of the organization which exists only to barter every public privilege and blackmail every private right." For a time the delegates and audience gave noisy approval.

The declaration that the Republican party purposed to pursue a policy which will guarantee "that our representatives and people will be protected as recently in China" called forth a burst of applause, as did Mr. Woodruff's dramatic assertion, "We will not haul down the American flag."

Resolutions were then offered for the appointment by the temporary chairman of the usual committees, permanent organization, credentials and resolutions, and Mr. Woodruff announced L. E. Quigg of New York as chairman of the committee on permanent organization, M. J. Dady of Kings chairman of the committee on credentials and John Raines of Ontario chairman of the committee on resolutions, with a member from each assembly district on each committee.

Adjournment was then taken.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The delegates gathered slowly but the audience rapidly at the afternoon session. There was an evident idea among those who held spectators' tickets that the nominations would take place in the afternoon and that Mr. Roosevelt would speak. This was not, however, part of the programme.

The convention was called to order at 4:16 o'clock, and there was an outburst of applause when the chairman on credentials, Mr. Dady of Kings, said, "There are no contests in the entire state."

The committee on permanent organization reported the name of Nevada N. Stranahan for permanent chairman, and he was escorted to the chair by Congressman Sereno E. Payne and Senator White. He spoke clearly and forcibly.

The sentiment of the convention found expression in the most prolonged demonstration of the day when Mr. Stranahan declared that the span of life would never see the day when the people would relinquish one single inch of the territory secured at the sacrifice of the blood and life of citizens of this peerless republic. Mr. Stranahan finished at 4 minutes of 5 o'clock, and Senator Raines was recognized to present the platform. At 5:35 the convention took a recess until 10 o'clock this morning.

THE PLATFORM.

Following are the more important planks of the platform:

"The Republicans of New York, assembled by their representatives in state convention, declare the following facts and principles, upon which they appeal to the voters to support the Republican national ticket and the candidates of this convention at the approaching general election:

"The continued prosperity of the country and of the individual citizen is the "paramount" issue before the people. Why vote for a change which, tested by experience, is bound to be for the worse?

"The country was never so prosperous as it has been since the inauguration of William McKinley, capital has never been so actively occupied, the volume of money in circulation was never so great, labor never so fully employed, wages never so high, prices never so generally good.

"There was a period of great prosperity between 1889 and 1893, when the Republicans were in control, but the voters listened to Democratic plaints and promises and in the election of 1892 installed a Democratic president and a Democratic congress. The policies then put into execution and from which resulted such universal distress are not abandoned by the party that learns nothing and forgets nothing. On the contrary, just as such policies were maintained in 1896 in the face of the havoc they have caused, so now they are insisted upon in spite of present prosperity. The Chicago platform is still the Democratic programme.

"But conscious of the weakness of relying on the theories that have been exploded and of ignoring facts that are self evident the Democrats are undertaking to push into conspicuous position before the people an issue which they describe and stigmatize by the word "imperialism." In this course they are characteristically dishonest—first, because there is no sentiment in the United States that deserves to be called "imperialism," and, second, because the Democrats do not come from clean hands into a discussion of popular sovereignty and the "consent of the governed."

"Neither in the Philippines nor elsewhere will the cause of human liberty look for its champion to a party whose only hope of obtaining power lies in the suppression of human rights and in an organized conspiracy to nullify the guarantees with which the constitution endeavors to surround the citizen. From thousands of polling places in this election, in which the Democratic party is so much concerned about the "consent of the governed," the negro citizen will be excluded by laws so contrived as to keep out the negro Republican while admitting the white Democrat, though both present themselves with similar qualifications except as to color. The party which will not allow the constitution to follow the flag through the Carolinas, through Mississippi and Texas has no occasion to distress itself about the constitution's journey 4,000 miles across the ocean.

"There is no middle course between responsibility for the government of the Philippines and abandoning them to be seized by some other power. The Democratic plan of conferring sovereign rights upon the Filipinos and at the same time establishing a protectorate over them is impracticable; it is responsibility without authority. The reasons which have enabled the United States, though with constant difficulty, to exercise influence for the protection of Central American countries against European aggression cannot be made to apply to an Asiatic country. As a matter of duty, because we are responsible; of right, because our title is perfect, and of interest, because they are valuable to our commerce and necessary to our just influence in the east, we are bound to regulate and provide for the government of the Philippines, and the policy of the Republican party concedes to the native inhabitants of the islands every measure of self government consistent with the maintenance of American sovereignty. The situation in China, where it is evident that our interests require that the integrity of the empire should be maintained, completely justifies the course of the administration with regard to the Philippines and supplies a new reason for their retention.

"We indorse the administration of President McKinley and urge his re-election as the sure pledge of four more years of development and prosperity at home and of honorable influence and renown abroad. We congratulate the people upon the nomination for vice president of Governor Roosevelt, whose high place in the admiration and confidence of his countrymen, achieved by long public service and especially by his valor and success on the field of battle, has been distinctly advanced by his splendid record as the governor of New York.

"The Republican party has been in control of the state for the last seven years. During that time the state has increased greatly in population, thereby causing a relative annual increase in expenditure for many public purposes. This is illustrated in the increased appropriations for the common schools, which in ten years have grown from $4,000,000 to $5,000,000.

"Within the period of Republican control, moreover, the state has assumed the expense of caring for the indigent and insane. That item of expense seven years ago, when the maintenance of charitable institutions was principally a charge upon the counties, amounted as against the state to only about $2,500,000. The great reforms inaugurated by state control, which have done so much for the improvement of the condition of the helpless and unfortunate, compelled an expenditure in 1899 of nearly $9,000,000. Notwithstanding these great and increasing burdens, Republican legislation and administration have brought about a gradual lowering of the tax rate until this year it has reached the amazingly low point of 1 96-100 mills on the dollar of the equalized valuation of real and personal property.

"Every reform which has been accomplished in the state of New York to secure to the lawful voter the right to cast his ballot freely, to have it counted as cast and to keep out of the ballot boxes illegal and fraudulent votes is of Republican origin. We charge upon the Democratic party, especially in the city of New York, an organized conspiracy to defeat the purpose of the election laws and to carry the elections by fraudulent practices.

"The Republican party is not opposed to the natural and legitimate combination of productive forces, whether of capital necessary for the conducting of large enterprises or of labor looking to the profitable development of resources and to securing to industry its due share of the rewards earned by its own efforts, but it is opposed to all combinations seeking to control prices and to prevent competition, and it specifically denounces criminal conspiracies between public officials and corporations by which such corporations design or are enabled through the favor and protection of officials to exact unjust tribute from the people.

"The proper policy to be pursued with respect to the canals of the state is a subject of grave concern to the people. Thirty years ago, when the capacity of the canals was less than it is today, there was moved over them twice as great a tonnage. In proportion as their capacity has increased and as the amount of possible business has grown and developed their use has decreased. The last Republican legislature appropriated the sum of $100,000 to be expended in a thorough and scientific investigation of the cause of this decline in canal traffic and of the character and expense of all the numerous projects that have been proposed for the betterment of the canals and to bring about their greater use. It is the policy of the Republican party, if any further expenditure of public money is to be made upon the canals except for maintenance, to place before the people the assured facts, together with estimates the accuracy of which can be relied upon.

BAR HARBOR'S GREAT DAY.

American and English Warships Exchange Greetings.

BAR HARBOR, Me., Sept. 5.—Yesterday was eventful for Bar Harbor. Seven American and five British warships lay at anchor, sheltered by its great mountains, and the 4,000 officers and men of the two squadrons were entertained by the thousands on shore in a manner that made them refer more than once to the old truism, "Blood is thicker than water." Bright and early the residents, cottagers and others were up to see Vice Admiral G. D. Bedford, K. C. B., bring his five ships into port. With the American ensign at the main a national salute of 21 guns was fired at once, the Crescent's band playing "The Star Spangled Banner." After it the United States flagship New York answered with the same number of guns, the British ensign at the main and the band playing "God Save the Queen." Vice Admiral Bedford and his officers in full uniform then received the visit of Rear Admiral Farquhar of the United States flagship New York. In the evening Admiral Farquhar entertained Vice Admiral Bedford and the captains of all the warships at dinner in the wardroom of the New York.

The public reception to meet the two admirals began at 3 and lasted until 5 o'clock. It took place at St. Sauveur, one of the leading hotels here. The large music room was draped with the flags of England and the United States. At least 1,500 persons came to pay their respects to Admiral Bedford and Admiral Farquhar. The two officers stood side by side before an immense cluster of union jacks mingled with the stars and stripes. The reception was under the auspices of the board of trade. First Selectman Charles Wood introduced the visitors, and they came from everywhere. Society was not alone represented. The people came from Sauges and Calias, the potato fields of Aroostook and the hidden dales of Goshville. The roads to and from the hotel were jammed with vehicles, and about the porches the English middies were well taken care of by scores of pretty girls.

The reception was a tremendous success, and Admiral Bedford said afterward that it was one of the heartiest receptions he had ever had.

President Clark Returns.

BOSTON, Sept. 5.—Rev. F. E. Clark, D. D., president of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, reached Boston yesterday on the steamer Cestrian after an eventful journey around the world. His purpose in making the journey was to attend national Christian Endeavor conventions in Japan, China, France, Spain and Germany, which were all very successful, and also the great world's convention in London, which was attended by more than 50,000 people. Dr. Clark left north China only a week before the trouble broke out and barely escaped being shut up in Peking with the other foreigners. He declares that the foreigners were living in utter oblivion of the coming disasters.

Latest News From Peking Five Days Old.

CHAFFEE AND CONGER HEARD FROM.

Contents of the Latter's Dispatch Not Published, but General Chaffee Reports Favorable Military Conditions.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—A very interesting dispatch was received yesterday at the war department from General Chaffee. It described the military situation as eminently satisfactory and would have been of greater value but for the omission common to all of the other official dispatches from China—namely, the date line.

However, taking into consideration the fact that a cablegram was received by the state department dated five days ago from Mr. Conger, the conclusion was reached that General Chaffee's dispatch also was sent from Peking about Aug. 29 or 30. General Chaffee asks a very important question as to the withdrawal of the American troops. The answer to that question, it is said, might have been found in the state department's answer to the Russian evacuation proposition. But that answer, or rather a synopsis of it, was not cabled to General Chaffee until the 30th ult., and it is assumed that, allowing for the same time in transmittal as was consumed by General Chaffee's dispatch received yesterday, the synopsis has just reached him. When the American answer to the Russian proposal was made public, it was stated here that General Chaffee had been instructed some time before by telegraph just what course to pursue in the matter of retiring from Peking in the event of the emergency that afterward arose. This being so, this application for instructions might be regarded as an indication that he had not received the original instructions when he sent his message.

It is stated that no order has been sent to General Chaffee to leave Peking as the result of any recent development. In fact it would seem that the war department is not able to instruct him more specifically on this point until the decision of the powers relative to general evacuation is known. It was stated at the war department that our position was unchanged. If Russia withdraws her troops, then General Chaffee will do the same. Meanwhile it is gathered that conditions are still disordered and foreign life and property are still unsafe.

The dispatch received from Minister Conger was gratifying to officials in that it contained the date of Peking, Aug. 30, as an integral part of the message and this part cipher. Aside from bringing the information up to a recent day it satisfied the officials that the minister at last had received the instructions to include the place and date of each message as an integral part of it. This promises to do away with the great confusion caused thus far in dateless messages.

The text of the Conger dispatch was not made public, but it was authoritatively stated that it did not change the situation and was devoted somewhat to expressions of opinion. It was authoritatively stated in this connection that Minister Conger will remain at his post until further orders. Up to this time he has expressed no wish to be relieved, and the state department holds that since he has passed through the perilous ordeal of the siege he is not likely to desire a relief under the present more favorable conditions.

In view of the statement of Count Lansdors, Russian minister of foreign affairs, in the Official Messenger that orders already had been issued to M. de Giers and to the army to leave Peking the statement was made at the state department that no such determination had been communicated to Washington. Probably nothing short of an official statement from Peking to the effect that the Russians have moved would be regarded by our government as sufficient basis for such important action as the withdrawal of our troops.

Dr. Jackson's Work in Alaska.

DULUTH, Sept. 5.—Dr. Sheldon Jackson, chief government educational commissioner for Alaska, who is convoying across the continent 25 Laplanders sent by the government to Alaska, is here. These Laplanders were sent to Alaska early in the Klondike excitement with reindeer to be used as beasts of burden and food. The deer were not used for food, but were permitted to increase naturally, and now they are growing rapidly and have become thoroughly acclimated. The Alaskan herd now numbers nearly 3,000. Dr. Jackson is founding schools as fast as the means at his command will permit. There is one at Point Barrow, another at Cape Clarence, another at Cape Prince of Wales and others at Nome, St. Lawrence island and elsewhere.

Steel Mills Resume.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 5.—Three mills owned by the American Steel and Wire company in this city which were closed down June 1 have resumed operations, giving employment to between 500 and 600 men. It is stated by the employers that there has been a general cut in wages, amounting in some cases to as high as 23 per cent, and also that the hours of labor have been increased. Local officials of the company refuse to deny or confirm the statement.

Minneapolis' Flour Output.

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 5.—The official figures compiled by The Northwestern Miller show that the flour output of the Minneapolis mills the past year was 15,308,160 barrels. The output in 1898 was 15,318,415 barrels. Foreign shipments increased 344,460 barrels.

Democratic State Nominees.

SARATOGA, Sept. 5.—Republican politicians claim to have most positive assurances that the leaders on the Democratic state ticket will be John B. Stanchfield for governor and William F. Mackey for lieutenant governor. Inquiry among Democrats here rather confirms the statement.

Wife Shooter Commits Suicide.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Patrick Skelly, a brass molder of Newark, N. J., after a quarrel with his wife, shot her and then cut his own throat. He died shortly after, but his wife is not seriously hurt.

Noted Stallion Dead.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 5.—Fonso, a famous thoroughbred stallion, 23 years of age, a Derby winner and the sire of McMeekin, First Mate and other good racers, is dead.

Election of U. S. Senator.

It is a fact not generally known among those who follow political matters quite closely in New Jersey that the next Legislature will perform the duty of electing a United States Senator to succeed William J. Sewell. Legislatures that elect members of the highest legislative body in the United States are regarded with very great importance, and usually the strife to secure a majority of the members is very vigorous. The Democrats will be unable to secure control of the State Senate at the next session even should they elect all their candidates in the counties which choose Senators this year. And they will have to make extraordinary gains in the House of Assembly to get sufficient Democratic members to outvote the Republicans on joint ballot for United States Senator. But the prospective election of such an official will invest the legislative nominations with an interest that will make it worth the while of both parties to devote more attention than usual to the campaign for members of the Upper and Lower House.

Membership in the United States Senate is an honor sought after as most desirable and exalted by public men in this country. To be a United States Senator is regarded as second only to occupying the Presidential chair. So far as the New Jersey Republicans are concerned there is only one candidate in mind to succeed Senator Sewell. That is Mr. Sewell himself. The Camden statesman is held in high regard by the Republicans of his State, and no honor that they are able to bestow on him is considered too good.

Up to the present time there are no names mentioned with enthusiasm by the Democrats for the honor of being their candidate for United States Senator. This is undoubtedly so because of the fact that the Democratic chances are considered inferior to Republican. Even to receive the minority vote of a Legislature for United States Senator is no mean recognition, but where the election is not assured there are not many who care to receive such a perfunctory "empty honor." Should the Democrats be able to carry with them the majority of members of the Legislature this fall there would be plenty of Senatorial timber on the ground without delay.

Need of Harmony Here.

If one is to believe all that appears in the Jersey City newspapers anent the political differences between State Chairman Gourley and Robert Davis, the Hudson county leader, there is need for some harmonizer to get into that city with both feet.

These two gentlemen are the most prominent Democrats of New Jersey at the present time, but it appears that they are at logger-heads over party affairs of importance. The selection of the State convention date for September 12th conflicts with the outing of the Robert Davis Association. Mr. Davis is piqued at this arrangement and blames Chairman Gourley for having selected a date for the convention that comes at the same time that the outing was arranged for. It has been said that as a result of this mix-up Hudson county's seats in the State convention would not be filled. Mr. Davis stated yesterday that his bailiwick would be represented at the State convention, but by what proportion of the full number of delegates it is entitled to he would not venture to say. As for himself, Mr. Davis says that he will not be there. He intends enjoying himself on the outing.

Mr. Davis explained that Hudson county was not represented at the conference last Saturday in the State Committee's headquarters, because it had been ignored in other State affairs. He also said that some new and younger Democrats than Colonel E. L. Price should have been selected for temporary chairman of the State convention, and named ex-Senator Pfeiffer and ex-Judge Howard Carrow, of Camden, and Prosecutor Stryker, of Warren, as men who would probably have filled the place with greater satisfaction to the party.

In the Third District.

Congressman Howell was renominated for the fourth term by the Republicans of the Third district today. Two years ago Mr. Howell was elected by the narrow margin of less than 300 majority. This year the Democrats of his district will make a desperate effort to turn that vote into a Democratic victory. With such a small adverse vote confronting them there is every inducement for the Democrats to put up a thorough and vigorous campaign, and they will undoubtedly take advantage of it.

There have been several Democratic names associated with a nomination for Congress in the Third district. The district is made up of Somerset, Middlesex and Monmouth counties, and at various times some "favorite son" of each county has been brought forward by enthusiastic friends as just the man for the honor. Several such prospective candidates have declined to enter the race, however. Now the names of James D. Deshler, of Middlesex county, and Colonel Myer Zulick, of Monmouth, are prominently associated with the candidacy to oppose the re-election of Mr. Howell. Both men are old hands in the political business, and if either one should consent to take the nomination they will inject vigor and skill into their campaign.

It is now possible to make a fairly accurate estimate of the total population of the country. The census officials at Washington place it at about 75,578,000—an increase of 12,956,000, or more than 20 per cent. However, until the returns from the thousands of smaller cities and towns shall have been canvassed it will be impracticable to make trustworthy estimates as to the relative gains of different States, comments the Philadelphia Record.

It is expectad that the Republican State convention at Trenton tomorrow will be presided over Senator Sewell. Senator Sewell is beloved by his party associates and in the position of chairman of the convention he will have a chance to advance his ideas of the campaign under auspicious circumstances.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

So far as the personnel of the Republican electors, who are to be in Trenton Thursday, is concerned, no one can name the entire ticket today, for the ten gentlemen to compose it are not yet slated. Either John F. Dryden or Dr. Leslie Ward will be chosen from Essex. Possibly Colonel William Barbour may be included from Passaic or Colonel Edwin Stevens from Hudson. David Baird, of Camden, is a popular choice in South Jersey. So is Barker Gummere, of Trenton, and ex-Senator Hoffman, of Atlantic. Others mentioned are Colonel Samuel Dickinson, of Hudson, and Matthew Suydam, of Somerset.—"Freeholder" in New York Press.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Sept. 5—The article appearing in The Daily Press under date of August 23d, headed "Important Road Making," has had a tendency to cause quite a feeling among those who are interested in road building in this vicinity. A representative of The Daily Press has had an opportunity to investigate the criticism made concerning the construction of roads at this place, and can state that the change will be made according to State Supervisor R. A. Meeker's recommendation, and no clay will be used. The fact is that there has been no change in the plans of the contractor; he is now building and expects to finish the road according to his specifications, and he has an inspector that considers himself competent to see that the intent of the specifications are carried out. It is not understood why Mr. Meeker should want to throw reflections upon the work at Scotch Plains and at the same time allow the New Providence work to pass without mention. All that is asked is for any fair minded person to inspect both jobs and see for themselves which contractor is living up to the specifications—Contractor Weldon or Contractor Meeker. It is very plain that both are not.

A meeting of the boys in town who are interested in organizing a football eleven to represent Scotch Plains on the gridiron the coming season, was held last night. A number of the members of last year's eleven were present, besides several others who are interested in the game. It was decided to organize a team and to begin practicing at once, so that by the time the season is opened a strong team can be organized from among the candidates.

The Township Committee met in the township rooms last evening to receive claims for damage done by dogs in the township during the past year. Fortunately for the taxpayers the claims made were very few.

George Schick has resigned his office as Justice of the Peace. Mr. Schick expects to leave town shortly to take up his residence in Bordentown where he will engage in business.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Emery and daughter, of Bayonne, were the guests Sunday and Monday of Mr. Emery's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Emery.

David R. Clark, who has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Clark, has returned to his home in Montclair, this State.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grant, of Plainfield, have been visiting at the home of Mrs. Grant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. M. Paff, Sr.

The members of Fanwood Bucket and Engine Company will hold their regular monthly meeting in their rooms this evening.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

Six years of consecutive success in the principal theatres of the United States, supplemented by an equal amount of popular favor in Great Britain, Australia, Germany and France, is the record attained by that masterful melodrama, "The Span of Life," and no other play except those of Shakespeare has ever been so widely played or so universally popular. Strong heart interest, exciting climaxes, thrilling situations, natural dialogue, genuine humor, fine stage settings and competent acting, are the features that have made this play the best of modern times. It will be presented at Music Hall Friday night by the strongest company ever seen in a melodrama and with an entirely new equipment of scenery and effects. A great feature of the production will be the marvelous Donazettas, the most skillful and daring acrobats of the country, who will form themselves into a bridge 30 feet above the stage, and three people will pass across their interlocked bodies.

* * * * * *

There are some plays that will never grow old, and one of those is Frank Mayo's "Davey Crockett," which will be seen at Music Hall next Monday night. E. M. Gardner, who managed Mayo for a number of years and made a fortune for him out of "Davey Crockett," is on the road this season with a New York company of his own in a grand scenic revival of this popular play. The picturesque "Log Cabin" scene, the "Snow Storm," "Wolves at the Door," and other realistic stage effects will be produced. Frank Cleaves, the noted California actor, who in real life is a typical "Davey Crockett," and who is the only actor that has ever equalled Mayo in the part, plays the title role, ably assisted by a Philadelphia girl, Miss Helen Ray, in the part of "Eleanor Vaughn," and a carefully selected New York cast of players.

Oesterreich.

Wien. Der tschechische Agitator und Korrespondent eines russischen Blattes, Dr. Zivny, wurde von dem hiesigen Landesgerichte wegen Majestätsbeleidigung, die er bei einer Rede in einer tschechischen Volksversammlung in Wien begangen hatte, zu sechs Monaten schweren Kerkers verurtheilt.—Das Herrenhausmitglied Emil Ritter v. Skoda, ein hervorragender Großindustrieller und Direktor der Pilsener Gußstahlwerke, ist im Alter von 60 Jahren gestorben.

Agram. Neulich wurde hier der italienische Ziegelarbeiter Victor Cividini verhaftet, weil er im Wirthshause wüthende anarchistische Rufe gegen die Monarchen ausstieß und die Ermordung des Königs Humbert billigte. Als Cividini Abends in den Hauptpolizeiarrest überführt werden sollte, fand man ihn mit seinem Riemen erhenkt in der Zelle.

Arad. Der Notar Emerich Molnar, welcher jüngst erblindet ist und seines Amtes enthoben wurde, hat sich aus Verzweiflung darüber erschossen.

Budapest. Der frühere ungarische Ministerpräsident und Präsident des Magnatenhauses, Kronhüter Josef Szlavy, ist, 82 Jahre alt, gestorben.

Graz. Die 84jährige Inwohnerin vulgo Habakuk, die eine Hütte zwischen Roßwein und Rothwein bewohnte, wurde am hellen Tag während der Abwesenheit ihres Sohnes, der Maurer ist, von einem Unbekannten mit mehreren Messerstichen getödtet und ihrer Baarschaft von 20 Gulden beraubt.

Innsbruck. Der im Gleierschthal abgestürzte und als Leiche aufgefundene Lehrer Siegfried Kapferer aus St. Siegmund stand im 70. Lebensjahre. An 50 Jahre war er als Lehrer, Organist und Meßner, zumeist in seinem Heimathsdorfe St. Siegmund, thätig. Daneben betrieb er die Landwirthschaft und das Ausbessern von Uhren und war im ganzen Thal als „Uhrmacher" wohl bekannt.

Meran. Der 54jährige Trafoiführer Paul Platzer unternahm in Begleitung eines unbekannten jüngeren Touristen über die Stiellklepleiße den Aufstieg auf den Ortler. Beide stürzten ab und blieben todt.

Temesvar. Nach der Verübung von Wechselfälschungen in Höhe von 60,000 Kronen geflüchtet ist der Kaufmann Albert Löwinger.

Triest. Die Gattin des Arztes Dr. Wilhelm Fano brachte sich aus Verzweiflung über ein unheilbares Leiden mit einer Lanzette in der Brust und am Halse so schwere Wunden bei, daß sie trotz rascher Hilfe nach einer halben Stunde starb.

Schweiz.

Bern. Beim Edelweißsuchen auf dem Stockhorn ist der 12jährige einzige Sohn des Stockhornwirthes Buehler 1000 Fuß tief abgestürzt. Die Leiche wurde gefunden.

Zürich. Der in Zürich abgehaltene internationale Kongreß der Elektrotechniker war von etwa 120 Theilnehmern besucht. Die schweizerische elektrotechnische Industrie hatte im dortigen Chemiegebäude eine interessante Ausstellung arrangirt.

Luzern. Luftschiffer Spelterini unternahm mit drei Fahrgästen von Rigi-Kulm aus eine Ballonfahrt über die Alpen. Der Ballon stieg rasch zu bedeutender Höhe, schwebte längere Zeit über den beiden Mythen bei Schwyz und nahm die Richtung gegen die Glarner Alpen über den Glarnisch hinweg. Die kühne Fahrt endete am Fuße des Karpfenstockes. Die Fahrt gewinnt dadurch an Interesse, als damit der bis jetzt noch nicht gemachte Versuch eines Ballonaufstieges von einer Berghöhe glücklich vollführt wurde.

Freiburg. Der Landjäger Ropraz in Freiburg war im Gefängniß eingesperrt worden, weil er seinen Säbel irgendwo vergessen hatte. Er wurde sechs Tage lang nicht verhört, so daß er aus Verzweiflung sich erhängte.

Solothurn. In Folge eines starken Sturmes stürzte in Solothurn die Stromleitung des Elektrizitätswerkes auf die große Firnißfabrik Affolter u. Bohrer. Das große Etablissement brannte sofort nieder. Der Fabrikschef Affolter wurde getödtet.

Schaffhausen. Die Erben Dr. Freys in Schaffhausen vergabten für den Bau eines Museums 30,000 Francs, dem Kinderspital und dem Asyl Schönbühl je 4000 Francs, dem Töchterinstitut im Kloster 3000 Francs, dem Frauenkrankenverein Stein 100 Francs und dem Frauenkrankenverein in Schaffhausen 1000 Francs.

Genf. Kürzlich fand in Genf ein Velorennen um die Meisterschaft für die Umfahrung des Genfersees statt. Um 6 Uhr Morgens starteten von 49 eingeschriebenen Fahrern 44. Eine ungeheure Menschenmenge erwartete die Ankunft der Renner, die von 11 bis 1 Uhr vor dem Kursaal erfolgte. Als Erster ging Marforie, Genf, hervor, der die Rundreise in 5 Stunden 7 Minuten machte.

QUEER DOINGS OF THE SMART SET.

Some Silly Freaks of the Idle Born, All For Fun's Sake.

BY MAUD ROBINSON.

The latest fads of the ultra smart set are certainly of a nature to make one raise one's eyebrows or agree with the rather ambiguous remark of the old woman: "It takes all sorts of people to make a world. I'm proper glad I ain't one of them."

When you read of dinner parties which are prolonged well into the night and are followed by bathing parties which extend almost into the morning, you are apt to wonder not only where the sense of it comes in, but where the fun of it is. You and I would prefer to get a little sleep and postpone our surf exercise until the following day, but probably we fail to grasp the humor of the thing.

It appealed to the guests of a prominent society woman at Newport last week, however, when the amusing Harry Lehr proposed it at the close of her dinner. There was immediately a wild scramble for automobiles and carriages, and a hilarious crowd rushed to the beach and woke up the startled attendants. The greatest joke of the occasion was a little woolly toy dog which Harry Lehr persisted in bringing, because he said it needed a bath. This was regarded as exquisitely witty. Probably it was a kindred sense of humor which made some of the male guests insist upon going swimming in their dinner suits. However, this was frowned down upon and considered "bad form."

This is mild compared with the sensation which was caused by a certain society belle who anchored her yacht off Larchmont the other day and received her guests clad in a dainty pair of white duck trousers.

"Yes, I have decided to adopt them for wear on board of my yacht," she said, blushing a trifle; "and I know several of my friends who are going to do the same. It is all very well for the fluffy girl to wear long sweeping skirts. She doesn't have to do anything but sit on a coil of rope and look pretty. But with a sailor girl like myself it is different. You can't manage a sailboat in a stiff breeze with your skirts winding about you and tripping you at every moment, and that's all there is about it. When a girl undertakes a man's work nowadays, she wants to do it as well as a man," she concluded with a little upward motion of her chin.

So the costume is being widely discussed among feminine yacht owners.

Among the Four Hundred there is no doubt that Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish can carry off the palm for eccentric entertaining. She is never at a loss to contrive something new. What do you think of her little harvest dance at the Crossways, for instance? Her sumptuous house and grounds were made to appear like a farm. Sheaves of wheat were stacked all over the lawn, in one corner of which a yoke of oxen stood chewing their cuds after their hard day's labor. Huge pumpkins filled with calcium lights made effective jack o' lanterns, and these confronted one on all sides with their grinning faces. Hoes, rakes, plows and other farming utensils decorated the drawing room, and Indian corn, poppies and sunflowers, en masse, formed the floral decorations. Each guest was required to bring some harvest offering to lay at the feet of his host, and there followed a mirth inspiring procession of society men and women with carrots, cabbages, live chickens, ducks and even sucking pigs under their arms.

"The most terrible thing in the world is to be bored." So argued society at Asbury Park recently. To use a very slang phrase, there was absolutely "nothing doing." In despair the guests of the big hotel appealed to the landlord and begged him to come to their rescue. After a few moments' thought he looked up with a quizzical smile and invited them to a Trilby party. When the nature of this was explained and it was found to be really a bench show for feet, a warm discussion followed. Some of the more conservative guests objected; but, then, as a pert miss explained, "the trouble was with their feet and not with their scruples." The idea was triumphantly accepted and carried into effect. It was a great success and will be still talked of when next winter's snow covers the famous board walk.

After all, society people are vary much like children.

A washerwoman living in South Bend, Ind., had for a long time suffered from dyspepsia, until one day she gave Ripans Tabules a trial. Her own statement of the result will be of interest to other dyspeptics: "From the very first day," she said, "I felt less misery in my stomach, and when the first supply was gone, I went to the druggist and got more, and have been using them ever since, and very thankful I am to know about them, for I had tried so many things and herbs and doctors without getting any better. I had about given up getting anything to help me, but to-day I can eat quite a large meal and feel no distress, but before, if I took two or three mouthfuls, I must wait two or three hours before eating more victuals, or suffer in agony."

BICYCLES and MOTORS

NOTES ON AUTOMOBILES.

Dangers to Be Anticipated from Nervous Horses and Destructive Gasoline Explosions.

The horseless carriage is of interest to many people besides the man who owns it. Inasmuch as it is liable to be encountered on the highway by all who drive or walk there, it is coming to be commonly observed all through the better settled portions of the country, more particularly in the neighborhood of large cities and fashionable resorts, like New York, Newport, Narragansett Pier and Long Branch.

Those who are liable to meet automobiles on the road have occasion to view such vehicles with something more than mere curiosity. Now and then an automobile makes such a racket as to alarm a nervous horse. An animal that will stand serenely near a puffing locomotive is not likely to view an automobile calmly. The electric automobile makes rather less noise than one whch uses gasoline or steam for propulsion, but nearly all of them, regardless of the power employed, clank more or less. Now and then one is as noisy as a mower or reaper; and if, in addition to having this fault, they also emit a lot of steam and makes a hissing noise, it will be well to keep on one's guard while driving past them. Caution is the more desirable, since automobiles often run over a good road at a rate of 20 or 30 miles an hour.

Automobiles which use gasoline, either as fuel under the steam boiler or to be exploded inside the cylinder of a regular gas engine, are obliged to carry a supply of liquid in storage tanks, just as so-called naphtha launches do; and if the tanks should leak and the escaping and rapidly vaporizing stuff should take fire there would be an explosion. An accident of that kind occurred in New Rochelle harbor on a naphtha launch, and the owner's son and wife were instantly killed. The man himself was badly injured, but may survive. In like manner an automobile at Lenox, Mass., blew up while standing in the stable. A man standing near by was hurt, and the building was set on fire. The farmhands rescued six horses and nearly all the other carriages in the stable before it was destroyed. Eventually, when people acquire habits of greater caution the automobile will be as safe as a locomotive engine, but while it is a novelty and is not controlled by law there is some danger of accident both to owner and to other people.—N. Y. Tribune.

NEW BICYCLE TRACK.

An Ingenious Device Possessing Some Advantages, Among Them Distinct Novelty.

A very ingenious bicycle track has been newly invented by two southerners. While not a circle, nor an oval, nor kite-shaped, it has neither beginning nor end, and the arrangement of it is such that a rider may travel on it for an infinite distance without ever encountering another bicycler coming in the other direction.

One advantage of this style of track, a diagram of which is shown herewith, is that a long stretch of bicycle path is condensed into a very small space. At the same time the continual rotary movement in one direction is avoided, thus preventing dizziness. As will be observed from the diagram, the rider moves in steadily decreasing curves toward the center, and then returns over increasing curves until he reaches the outer termination of the track. The word termination, however, is properly speaking a misnomer, because a loop at that point carries the bicycle back to the place of starting.—Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post.

A Family Chain Cleaner.

A good family chain cleaner can be made by fixing an old sprocket wheel on an axle attached to a post or other upright. A small tin pail should be placed beneath the wheel, so that the chain, when placed on the wheel, will hang down in the pail. To clean the chain the pail is filled with kerosene and the chain is passed rapidly through it by revolving the wheel until clean. It is then wiped dry and may be lubricated by being run through a bath of lubricating oil in the same manner. By this method there is no danger of soiling either the hands or the clothing, no matter how soiled the chain may be.

Motor Cycles and Railroads.

Motor cycles may have to be shipped as express and not as excess baggage. The union of baggage men has taken action against the big boxes in which these machines are shipped and threaten to go on strike if, it is said, the railroads insist upon the baggage men handling the machines.

Things One Sees and Hears in America's Second City

It is to be feared Chicagoans are in the habit of treating almost every celebration which comes their way somewhat in the nature of a huge joke. They are inclined, as a rule, to take this opportunity to point out and laugh at what they consider the foibles of their "country cousins" who have come to the city to witness the display, and, incidentally, to do the bit of shopping they have had in mind since the last previous excursion rates made a visit to the city practicable.

When the Countryman Is King.

There is one event, however, in which this general tendency is reduced to a minimum. There is one occasion when the most snobbish of the city critics, if not gifted with a capacity for appreciating the import of the scene, has at least sense enough to keep his observations to himself—and that is when one of the old boys of '61 goes marching by. At this time the conceited funpoker is conspicuous by his absence, and there are only cheers. The men with the blue coat and the G. A. R. hat may have a grizzled beard and may hail from the very center of "Podunk county"—no matter, he is the acknowledged king of the hour.

The other day an aged couple could have been seen driving in Michigan avenue. The carriage in which they were seated was old and worn and presented a strange contrast to the elegant rubber-tired equipages which haunt the avenue. The horse seemed on its last legs and its pace was slow. The man appeared to be a cripple, but his face was lit with pleasure as he viewed the G. A. R. decorations. Frequently the horse stopped while the occupants of the carriage feasted their eyes on the growing wonders. Some one in the crowd started a laugh at the aged couple, but the mirth died almost before it was born, and some one was heard to say:

"You loons! can't you see he's an old soldier?"

Schemes of the Pickpockets.

Now that the political campaign is occupying the attention of the Chicago public, those mercenary individuals, the pickpockets and confidence men, have come again into their rightful heritage. Really they have been through a period of depression and have been suffering from ennui; no class of citizens welcomes the return of festivities more than they.

The Pickpocket's New Scheme.

The newest scheme by which that portion of Chicago's well-groomed and neatly-dressed populace known as the "light-fingered fraternity" extract from the masses the substance by which they live is to start a spirited political argument. People who are too cautious to spend their time gazing after airships and other aerial possibilities just because they see some one else doing so will join in a political controversy without the slightest hesitation or suspicion.

When one of these street corner debates is well under way it is not difficult, to say the least, for a member of the fraternity mentioned, who is not a disgrace to his calling, to subtract from the crowd fees sufficient to recompense him for his pains. The new method is far and away ahead of the old stargazing one for the reason that the latter has been too widely exploited. Many people are still willing to gaze skyward, but they have become suspicious and generally hold tightly to their valuables while making this concession to their curiosity.

We are informed by depot masters and policemen doing duty at the various great railway terminals in Chicago that the other kind of professional swindler—the confidence man—is employing no new methods. The old ones are not by any means worn out, and seem to serve the purpose quite as well as the new ones possibly could.

Old Methods Still in Vogue.

"No," said one of Chicago's depot masters, in reply to an inquiry concerning the new methods employed by confidence men, "there's nothing new. The 'cons' are playing their old games — and with just as much success as ever. The three things they use most are the 'explosion,' the 'padlock' and the bogus 'gold bond.' They've played those three for years. A few days ago they got another man on the 'gold bond' for something like $300. They work it this way:

Taking Him to See the Explosion.

"The 'con' approaches a traveler, and the two pass a few pleasantries while they wait for their trains. In the course of the conversation the 'con' learns the man's name and address. Then he excuses himself, looks up his victim's town in Dun's report, and sends in a confederate. The latter approaches the unsuspecting traveler, calls him by name and inquires after a good many of the folks at home. When the two are well enough acquainted he springs his 'gold bond.' Sometimes he is just buying a farm up in Jonesville and needs about $40 to complete the deal—this part varies according to circumstances. When he has borrowed the necessary amount from his victim, he gives the latter the bond, for security, and sets him to watching a pile of baggage—belonging, as a rule, to someone else.

"The 'cons' usually try to get their 'marks' away from the depot to fleece them—take them out to see the 'explosion' or to buy some cheap clothing. Sometimes, by seeming accident, they stumble upon a padlock. The 'con' opens and shuts it with ease, and then makes a bet that his companion can't repeat the operation. When the bet is made a confederate with a star comes along and arrests them for gambling in the streets. Of course, they escape only by paying a big sum.

To Burn Chicago River.

Chicago will soon add another sprig of laurel to her already large and promising collection of sweet-bay leaves. Alexander Jones, a sanitary trustee, is sponsor for a project which, if carried out along the lines suggested, is likely to make Chicago the admiration and envy of the world and, incidentally, to settle a score of vexatious problems which have confronted the sanitary board. The scheme is no less a one than the making of fuel from river mud. We have always been of the opinion that there is more in the Chicago river than appears upon the surface, and now we learn that our most extravagant estimates are tame as compared with the real wealth of the river bottom.

Mining for the New Chicago Fuel.

Mr. Jones' idea is not entirely new, for we are told that London capitalists have already formed a company for the avowed purpose of scooping inflammable briquettes from the bottom of the Thames. Chief Swenie is credited with the statement that "if London briquettes will bring four dollars a ton, fuel with the Chicago mark on it ought to command double that price." The new scheme is good enough to have been wholly American; and the thought that Londoners must share the credit for the new discovery is humiliating; but—pshaw!—Trustee Jones says the Chicago river mud is "richer in oils and grease, coal dust and animal carbons than any stretch of Thames bed the London capitalists will have to work on."

It is encouraging to note that President Boldenweck is interesting himself in the new project. He is an authority on novel departures of this kind. It will be remembered that President Boldenweck was the first to point to the drainage canal as the cause of Chicago's agreeable change of climate and to prophesy the city's future fame as a summer resort. Chicagoans may always be depended upon to back up honest investigators like Mr. Jones and President Boldenweck.

A New Dissipation.

The penny-in-the-slot machine has come to take up its permanent abode in Chicago. Its introduction has been so gradual that it has been accepted as a matter of course. It has wormed its way into the affection of the public to such an extent that its expulsion is not to be thought of even to save the city itself from becoming one big automatic machine. Like the proverbial wolf, the penny-in-the-slot machine gained first entrance by thrusting "one paw in," and it has continued this stealthy process until it has landed, as it were, in the very middle of the best room, on all fours.

The Latest Dissipation of Chicago.

The very latest device in the way of a machine to catch the stray pennies of the public is a directory holder. It will no longer be necessary to hunt up a drugstore when one wishes to consult the city directory. The only exertion required will be that of dropping a penny in the slot and pushing a button—the machine does the rest. Penny-in-the-slot machines have become so numerous in Chicago and are so well patronized that they are a distinct feature of metropolitan life. Every elevated railway station has from one to a half dozen of these devices, and there are few public nooks where they are not to be found.

Things have come to such a pass that the person who undertakes to escort a Sunday afternoon party about the city and does not take the pains to provide himself with a pocketful of pennies will be poorly appreciated, indeed. MILTON B. MARKS.

FALL FASHIONS
as Seen in Gotham Shops

A Variety in Sleeves Seems to Be an Assured Fact for the Coming Season

QUESTIONS in the fashion world that are hard to answer arise with each rising sun in these closing days of the summer season. It seems to but add to the discomfort of the stifling days when the mercury hovers about the top of the tube and the rays of Old Sol scorch the leaves of the drooping trees, to think of the heavier materials of the fall season. As yet nothing but the lightest of the summer materials are seen, but their days of usefulness will soon be over, and society will don again the materials which fashion dictates shall be worn when the days and nights grow cooler; when bathing, yachting, golf and tennis gowns have given place to those of the ballroom and the carriage, and when the seaside resorts have been deserted for the more fashionable mountain retreats.

What will the fall materials be? What will be the prevailing styles in cut and trimmings? These are but two of the many questions that are agitating the fashionable mind at the present time, and as yet there is no satisfactory answer to either of them.

Nearly every new season starts out in the same way. The greatest variety both in materials, cut and trimmings are offered, and it is predicted that the variety will be a permanent feature of the season. But gradually it all simmers down to a few favored materials and a few favored styles, and of course the trimmings suitable to these predominate. The present season is not an exception to this rule. There are materials innumerable on the shelves, though of course in comparatively small quantities, and model gowns are already being shown in all manner of styles. Out of this vast collection will come the favorites, and the world of fashion asks: "What will they be?"

But from out of all the vast variety that one is beginning to see there are several things that are apparently of value as suggestions of what the fall fashions will really be. In the matter of sleeves, for instance, the variety that is now offered promises to increase rather than decrease as the season advances, and should this be the case there is hardly a form of sleeve that will not be correct in style. The fashions of the past few seasons of following but one or two forms in the construction of sleeves will certainly not hold during the fall and winter.

The present clinging, tight sleeve, with its extended cuff over the wrist, falling well over the hand, is still likely to maintain its position, especially with plain garments to be worn under wraps. This, however, is one of the few ideas which will be taken over from the summer and spring seasons. The new gowns will have new sleeves, and they promise to be the most important change. Very full sleeves, falling from close folds at the shoulder, the fullness being around the elbow, are finished just below the elbow by folds of the same goods drawn tightly around the arm.

These sleeves are constructed in soft fabrics, and long silk, lisle or mousquetaire kid gloves meet the short sleeve. Elbow sleeves, tight from the shoulder, are worn with the berthas and basques finished in bertha style, made of elaborate brocaded fabrics. Long gloves are also worn with these costumes. Then there is the leg-of-mutton sleeve, cut full from the shoulder, broadening a trifle at the elbow and drawn in at the wrist by a close-fitting cuff, more or less wide. The bishop sleeve, which starts from the shoulder, usually under a cap of lace or handsome filigree, the material growing full from a point three inches below the shoulder and being drawn in again just below the elbow with a tight fitting lower sleeve from that point to the wrist, is another style.

These are but a few of the many forms which are apt to increase in variety as the season advances.

Another feature of the fall styles that give promise of great variety is the trimmings, and to give a little idea of both these and the sleeves I will describe and illustrate a few of the new models.

One of these, designed for afternoon and evening wear, is of a tea rose yellow cloth, as soft and supple as satin, and made up with white guipure insertion. The skirt has wide plaits all around, with a space between. In the space are two striped Vs of insertion half-way up the skirt, while at the hem are three Vs of insertion. The bodice has a full front of white shirred chiffon, with a jacket effect of tea rose yellow cloth and guipure insertion. The upper part of the sleeves is of the cloth, with large cuffs at the elbow, while the lower portion is of the guipure insertion, strapped with the cloth in Vs.

Another is a delicate blue silk trimmed with black French lace and insertion. The skirt of this model is a most novel affair with bands of the insertion forming Vs in front, with a space of some four inches between. A circular flounce of silk just below the knees, with the insertion put on this in diamond shape, edged and headed with rows of narrow black velvet ribbon. The bodice has a tucked V front with insertion trimming.

One of the new tailor-mades that will figure prominently in the fall styles is of satin faced cloth in a pastel shade of fawn. This has one of the newest skirts with a plain panel front and side gores, and a tucked back that opens out at the hem. The foot of the front is trimmed with black mohair braid in deep scallops. It has a pretty vest of tucked and folded ivory satin, with a coatee of the cloth, having a high collar and rounded revers, softened with a filmy yellowish lace. The coat sleeves are trimmed with lace.

A Lesson in Natural History for Month of SEPTEMBER

To the microscopist or student of nature there is always present a feeling of sadness and regret when it is necessary to leave that subject upon which his thoughts have found utterance and listeners, and so it is with the writer of these simple expositions of lowest life.

Fig. 1.

It has not been his aim to present any new or startlingly original remark or discovery, but rather to endeavor to bring forth in the plainest and most simple language a few—a very few, of the facts regarding the early beginnings of life in this sphere and pass on untroubled, for, as a mountain, when viewed from a distance, shows not the many difficulties of its ascent in the form of crevices and bowlders until we actually come nearer and begin that ascent, so with the trail of life from the lowest to the highest. There are many gaps, but even as the mountain side presents indisputable evidence of its upward slope in spite of the valleys, we may have to climb down in the march to its top.

We speak of the beginnings of life on this planet, and it must not be supposed that although our world is "hoary with antiquity" and "life" is an "old, old story," having its "beginnings" countless ages ago, that the same forces are not at work now in the present day as then. Truly "life is a cycle," having no beginning and no ending—the circle is undoubtedly expanding, but the same course is being followed, each being propagating its kind, and although there are many gaps which science cannot fill out, yet the seeker of truth can bridge them.

Fig. 2.

Of the countless things that the fall season suggests to the student of natural history as worthy of his best efforts, let us take up the common housefly before the frosts of winter put a stop to his cheery song. One of the most interesting features of the housefly is the way by which he holds fast to the window pane while he eats. If you will direct your eye to Fig. 6 of this article you will see a fairly good representation of the fly's foot with its two giant claws and its "pads" behind them, covered with minute hairs which it presses against the glass and by the discharge of a gummy, sticky fluid supports itself even in an inverted position.

Fig. 3.

Again, speaking of "hairs," who does not know what a "hair" is like, and suppose that, excepting the difference in color, all have the same structure; but how many know that the individual hair of the deer, caterpillar, man, etc., are all so vastly different in appearance under the microscope that they can be classed at once and beyond question by the student. Direct your attention to Figs. 2 and 3. In Fig. 2 you see the "stem" and "root" of a human hair, while in No. 3 you see the hair of a caterpillar. A human hair is never "branched" and always carries the transverse markings which may be seen upon it.

Fig. 4.

Then, again, when we looked upon the transverse section of the stem of a rose, with its delicate lace-work pattern, one must not suppose that the stem structure of all the plants is identical. In Fig. 5 may be seen the section of a small palm plant, seen in almost all homes where flowers are kept, and known commonly as an "umbrella plant."

In fact, the student who is possessed of a microscope feels himself armed with a magician's wand, by which he has the power to transport himself into another world at will. Nor does he have far to seek, for the commonest objects around him take on new and fuller beauties and meanings when examined, and well repay the time spent.

Fig. 5.

Nothing is too common to be a source of wonder and delight, for in Fig. 1 we see the microscopic enlargement of a flake of rolled oats, while in Fig. 4 is a transverse section of a kernel of wheat, so who shall say that such and such an object is too mean or "common?" Truly it is sometimes borne in upon us the meaning of the old saying: "Familiarity breeds contempt." Even although our "familiarity" has not been sufficient to give us more than an idea as to the outward shape of the object we have been familiar with.

In the Public Eye Abroad

Semi-Newsy Items of Interest Gathered by Foreign Correspondents

The Ice Habit in England. The ice habit is making rapid progress in Great Britain, due largely to the incessant clamor for ice in hotels and public places by the thousands of traveling Americans. Not very long ago the attendants of public places in England, where nearly everything except ice was provided, would be insulting if one complained because ice could not be had. To-day all first-class places have a few small lumps swimming in a glass dish, and you pick these out with sugar tongs; and in country inns and even in second-class public houses they apologize for not having it.

Though very few saloons and restaurants have refrigerators, many private residences now own them; and there would be far more general use of ice if companies were organized to distribute it from house to house. As it is, one must secure it almost by favor from the fishmonger.

A recent issue of the London Daily Mail had an article on ice. In this the yearly consumption of ice in England was estimated at 450,000 tons (long) and in London at 160,000 tons, and the paper added: "The demand is rapidly increasing, now that the public have awakened to an intelligent appreciation of the cheapness and usefulness of the commodity." One London ice company is credited with having a permanent storage of 10,000 tons to meet unusual hot weather demands, daily supplies being taken direct from ships which bring it from the mountain lakes of Norway; and, of course, a good deal of ice is manufactured.

Manual Training in Germany. There exist at present in Germany, distributed in 605 places, 861 schools and institutes wherein manual training is carried on in 1,514 workshops. Of this number 836 schools and institutes conduct the training on a pedagogical basis. Prussia has 570 manual training schools. The 1,514 pupils' workshops comprise 286 independent manual training schools and 238 public schools, of which 16 are auxiliary schools where the work is obligatory, 17 are middle-class schools, 41 are high schools (made up of 8 gymnasiums, 6 technical gymnasiums, 12 technical and technical high schools and 15 boarding schools), 7 are preparatory institutes, 26 are teachers' seminaries and 93 are boys' asylums; while the remainder consists of various kinds of private educational establishments.

Five hundred and thirty-five workshops are devoted to wood carving, 527 to working in cardboard and 356 to the carpenter's bench. Of these, 68 are closely connected with wood carving, 77 with preparatory roughing-out work, 35 with metal work, 28 with country timbering, 11 with wood and metal turning and 11 with modeling in clay.

Over 2,200 German teachers have been taught to become instructors in manual training. Of these, 954 were taught in Leipzig and 1,250 acquired training in 33 places in other parts of Germany.

Commercial Travelers in Switzerland. During the year 1898 23,585 commercial travelers were on the road in Switzerland. In 1899 the number was increased to 25,691. Of these, 20,065 were Swiss, 3,828 German, 1,176 French, 350 Italian, 173 Austrian, 49 Belgian, 28 English, 18 Dutch, 8 Spanish, 1 Swede and 1 American. From these figures it is not surprising that Germany, France and Italy should have captured the lion's share of the Swiss import trade.

Watermelon Cake.

Red Part—One cup red sugar, half cup butter, one-third cup sweet milk, two cups flour, whites of four eggs, one teaspoonful of baking powder, and one cup seeded raisins.

White Part—Two cups white sugar, one of butter, one of sweet milk, 3½ of fluor, whites of eight eggs, and two teaspoonfuls baking powder. Use a cake tin with a tube in the center. Put the red batter around the tube and the white around the edge of the tin. It requires two persons to fill the tin properly.—Good Housekeeping.

The Biggest Savings

are not infrequently made on items on which most people never think a saving possible. "All coons look alike," and all different grades of coal look alike to some. That's the trouble. The impurities are the same shape and just as black as the coal, but they give out no heat. Our coal is all coal, honest coal. Its use will make a big saving for you, if you have been buying any other kind.

SPORTING.

GOLF

An approach and putting contest was to have been held on the links of the Park Golf Club Monday afternoon but it was postponed until some future date. It will probably be held some Saturday afternoon this month.

The course of the Park Golf Club was never in better condition than it was Monday. The green committee has used every effort this season to give the club members a pleasant place on which to play and their efforts have been admirably successful. The attendance Monday was one of the largest of the season. There was a big force of caddies on hand, but they were all given employment and many of them made quite a little sum caddying for the entire day. Many of the players made six rounds during the entire day and some made as many as seven or eight.

The fact that there are now three teams in the East Jersey Golf Associa- has served to greatly increased the interest in the team matches which still remain to be played. The team from the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club will play next on Saturday afternoon, September 8, on its own course with the team from the Madison Golf Club as opponents. The Madison players will have little chance indeed of winning the game. The Hillside players feel that an overwhelming defeat for the Madison is needed to wipe off the stain of their victory over the Hillsiders at Madison. The players from Glen Ridge went up against Madison on the Madison links last Saturday and they discovered, as the Plainfielders discovered before them, that the ways of the Madison course are strange and devious. The poor team from the Newark Athletic Club doesn't seem to be in the race at all. One would ordinarily expect that a city the size of Newark ought to have some pretty good golfers among its inhabitants. They may be there all right but they don't seem to congregate on the course of the N. A. C. So far, the Newarkites haven't managed to win a single game in the tournament.

Prefers Beer to Blood.

Robert Hart was arraigned before City Judge Runyon this morning on the charge of being drunk and disorderly Saturday night. He was arrested by Patrolman Lunger. He assured the Judge that he would rather drink beer than he would shed blood. The Judge agreed with him perfectly on that point but didn't see what that had to do with the case. He fined Hart $2. Hart's little daughter accompanied him to court and stood by his side through the hearing.

ACKERMAN WILL BE A CANDIDATE AGAIN.

the report that he had been invited to meet the chairman of the Democratic State committee, Wm. B. Gourley, in conference. It was said, however, that an effort would be made to bring these two Democratic leaders together some day this week. Mr. Davis said that he could give no information as to the probable Democratic candidate for Congress in the Seventh district to succeed the late Wm. D. Daly. In fact, Mr. Davis said he was not yet prepared to express any opinion on the political outlook either in Hudson county or in the State. Many Democrats in Jersey City thought Mayor Edward Hoos was the coming Democratic candidate for Congress.

As called attention to in the advertising columns of todays's Press, the Democratic primaries will be held in the various wards of this city Friday evening. Delegates will be elected to the State and Congressional conventions. The First, Second and Third wards will be entitled to two delegates each, and the Fourth to three in both conventions.

NEW IDEA PROPOSED FOR SEWAGE BEDS.

sary he favored the calling of a special meeting to consider plans to dispose of the leaves, and this was agreed to by Mr. Tolles, chairman of the street and sewer committee, as well as by the other members. It is quite likely that a special session will be called soon, and the question decided at an early date before the leaves begin to fall.

Peaches and Ice Cream.

Tomorrow evening a peach and ice cream festival will be held on the lawn at the residence of Manley Giles, of Park avenue. The proceeds will be used to assist in paying for carriage sheds in the rear of Marconnier chapel. Music will be a feature of the affair and all who attend are promised a good time. Attentive young ladies will be present to serve you with lemonade, cake, peaches, ice cream, etc.

Brick the Cause of it All.

Somebody threw a brick on Somerset street Saturday evening and it landed on John Scott's head, cutting a deep gash in it. Scott took several drinks to recover his equilibrium, but they proved too much for him and Patrolman Lunger found him fast asleep on West Front street, near the Dunellen line. City Judge Runyon heard the circumstances of the case this morning and suspended sentence.

SOMERSET'S TAX RATE

COUNTY RATE IS .56 AND STATE STATE SCHOOL RATE IS .26 1-2.

The Total Valuation is $18,593,673, Which is an Increase Over That of Last Year.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Sept. 5.—The Somerset County Board of Assessors, composed of thirteen assessors, met yesterday at the Court House and considered matters pertaining to the assessments for the present year. All the assessors were present.

The increase of valuation throughout the county amounts to $137,000 for 1900. Last year the total valuation was $18,563,673, and this year it is $18,718,061. The increase was made in the thickly settled portions of the townships. In the farming communities there has been a decrease. Very little change was made in North Plainfield and the township, the valuation being about the same as last year.

The county rate was fixed at .56 and the State school tax was fixed at .20½. There was a very few changes made in general about the county, and the meeting was a most harmonious one throughout. In the election of officers for the coming year, Elston M. French, of the borough, was again chosen chairman of the board, and Charles L. Voorhees, of Somerville, was reelected secrelary. They fill their positions so satisfactorily that there was no desire for a change.

IS THIS THE RING?

One Found on the Hand of Bella VanNest That Corresponds With a Stolen Ring.

The theft of a gold ring from the home of James Seaders, corner of Spooner avenue and West Fourth street, was reported to the police Monday. The ring had disappeared several days before, and Seaders suspected Miss Bella VanNest who had called at the house on an errand for her mother. The ring had been left on a table and was not to be found after Miss VanNest departed.

Patrolman Vanderweg stopped Miss VanNest yesterday afternoon and took her to police headquarters. A ring was found on her finger which corresponded with the description of the missing ring. It was taken from her and she was released. A complaint will probably be made in one of the justice's courts.

SUIT OF CLOTHES STOLEN.

J. H. Pope is the Victim—He Suspects William Roy, Colored.

J. H. Pope, manager of the stables at Hotel Netherwood, is minus a new suit of clothes, and he says that William Roy, colored, of Brooklyn, who until a week ago, was employed at the stables as an assistant, took the suit while he was away from the stables yesterday. Mr. Pope was stung on the left hand with a bug, and he went to see Dr. Robert R. Sinclair, of Westfield, who is treating the hand. It was while away that Roy visited the stables and is believed to have taken the clothes. The loss was discovered this morning by Mr. Pope who reported the matter at once to Chief Kiely. An effort will be made to capture Roy.

This afternoon Dr. Sinclair will perform an operation on Mr. Pope's hand. The hand is very sore and prevents Mr. Pope from attending to his duties. No serious results are looked for and it is believed that the use of the hand will soon be restored.

Walsh Acts Obstinate.

Martin Walsh, the motorman, who is detained at the hospital as the result of serious injuries received on Saturday last, remains about the same. Since yesterday afternoon he has been conscious more frequently than before, and has had something to say regarding the accident, but nothing for publication. His condition is as serious, however, as at any time. As yet Walsh does not know that his leg has been taken off, and as he is very obstinate in his disposition it is expected that he will make a fuss when he learns of his loss.

Colored Cyclist Hurt.

William Ransom, a colored man living on Cottage place, is lying in the General hospital in Elizabeth from injuries received in a bicycle accident Monday afternoon. Ransom and a stranger were sprinting along the county road, when the latter made a quick turn and struck Ransom, throwing him to the ground. He was rendered unconscious by the fall. He was picked up and taken to the hospital, where his injuries were examined. They were not serious, but he will be detained for three or four days.

Beautiful Fruit.

Rev. Mr. George Opdyke, of Martinsville, Somerset county, yesterday sold Neuman Bros., several baskets of very large fine flavored peaches, the finest yet offered for sale in Plainfield. They were of the Elberta variety and were grown on Mr. Opdyke's "Fairview Farm." They soon found ready customers after they were placed on the stands.

—Edward White has been appointed trustee to settle up the affairs of Demarest & Son.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

One of Plainfield's robust and most healthy citizens is Lawyer Charles Matthews, of 49 Grove street. Mr. Matthews walks about eight miles every day, taking in many beautiful places in the vicinity of Plainfield. He abstains entirely from the use of meat and feels much better for the exercise taken and abstaining from meat. Labor Day he walked over Johnston's Drive both ways.

A swallow met its death the other day in a rather peculiar manner on the tennis court of J. Hervey Doane, of LaGrande avenue. Mr. Doane and several of his friends were playing tennis. Harold Nomer, who lives next door, returned a ball with considerable force. A swallow was flying by at the time and the ball struck the swallow on the side of the head bringing it to earth. It was cared for, but was nearly dead when picked up and its little life soon ended.

A great many Plainfielders played golf Labor Day who were comparatively new to the sport. Many of them spent the entire day on the golf course without realizing how much they were exercising. Although the summer is nearly over, the sun was very bright and many of these men who were not used to such lengthy exposure to its rays, were badly sunburned. Others found themselves decidedly lame and foot-sore the day after. There was a general exchange of experiences at the station and on the trains Tuesday morning.

Immediately after the wreck which occurred near Berckman street Sunday night, the train crew began searching the debris for the tramps which were supposed to be under it. Their search led them to a car which was balanced on top of the heap almost thirty feet in the air, in the bottom of which a man was found soundly sleeping. On being shaken by the conductor he woke up and inquired what was the matter. The brakeman told him there had been a wreck whereupon the sleeper exclaimed, "Well, I wish you had called me sooner." The man had slept through the entire wreck which had made noise enough to be heard for blocks.

Although the bootblacks of this section of the country have never been organized, there has been a regular scale of prices from which they have not deviated. Each new comer in the business promptly adopted the regular scale of prices and that scale has been maintained. Louis Randolph, the well-known colored bootblack, of this city, is the first in Plainfield to buck up against the "trust" of bootblacks and introduce a new scale of prices which are below those usually charged. It has been the custom of bootblacks to charge 5 cents for the old style of black polish. Russet and patent leather polish cost 10 cents. The cost of polishing box-calf and vici-kid shoes was also 10 cents. Randolph has now decided to polish all kinds of shoes for 5 cents a shine. It remains to be seen whether the other bootblacks in town will conform with his rates.

A Thirteen-Year-Old Boy Narrowly Escaped Meeting a Horrible Death.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, September 5.—Rocco Sebelaiem, thirteen years old, climbed to the top of the trestle work of the iron bridge that spans the Raritan River at Raritan last night, balanced himself on one of the slender cross pieces and walked nimbly across the structure.

As he neared the end of the bridge he stepped on the electric feed wire which runs through the trestle and supplies the hundreds of lights on the estate of James B. Duke. His body writhed, and he wavered between falling down among the rocks in the river and dropping to the floor of the bridge, twenty-five feet below. He fell on the bridge.

He was badly burned about the body and was picked up apparently lifeless and carried to the electric light plant near by, where a number of electricians applied water to his body for twenty minutes until respiration was restored. The physicians believe he may recover.

Spark Fired a Railroad Bridge.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Sept. 5—The bridge which spans the Central Railroad tracks at Roselle caught fire yesterday from sparks for a locomotive. The woodwork blazed briskly, and for a short time it looked as though the structure would be considerably damaged, but the Roselle Fire Department was quickly at the scene and did effective work, soon getting the fire under control.

Wheel Stopped, Rider Kept On.

While riding down Park avenue last night the lamp on George Smith's wheel became entangled in the spokes. The wheel stopped suddenly, but Smith kept on and he landed on the hard macadam. His hands and knees were cut and his clothes torn. Smith lives on Westervelt avenue.

HOW TO DARKEN THE DAWN

A Simple Device by Which the Eye May Be Protected from the Light.

Here is a discovery: A thin, black India silk handkerchief tied over the eyes is the best remedy for the annoyance of the early morning glare to which in their bedrooms most persons are now subjected, says the Chicago Chronicle.

This is an army trick, commonly practiced on the plains and in camp by those desiring to sleep after dawn, but never before divulged to the effete easterner. Some officers scorn this expedient, others like it, and the army woman resorts to it always. It often happens, however, that she does not possess a black silk handkerchief, in which case she pins a black stocking over her eyes instead. And frequently her husband is not above begging the other stocking. This solves the problem of shutting out the light in a most simple and effectual way.

But the army woman says there is no reason why every woman living in proximity to shops should not have a black India silk handkerchief. Blinds and awnings, in addition to window shades, are all very well to darken a room if they are on a house, but frequently they are not, more particularly in the country, where they are most needed. Then, even in the event of having these luxuries in hot weather many persons object to using them because of the amount of air these things shut out from a room.

Everyone knows in the migration from town to country how annoying the early morning light is to the city bred, particularly the women who do not have to rise at the first crow of the cock in order to catch a train to business. Those people who are summering in hotels and boarding-houses commonly occupy rooms with white-washed or very light papered walls, and this reflects the strong light, which by four o'clock these summer mornings begins to turn the light sleeper into a wakeful, restless creature, who, if he or she have blinds, gets up and closes them, but is forced for lack of air to at least leave the shutters open, whereby too much light enters. And frequently there is so little air that to bar out any of it, even by drawn blinds with open shutters, is out of the question.

A Domestic Incumbrance.

Mrs. Elia W. Peattie is as happily gifted in disposition as in literary talents. Not many persons are able to turn the official vistation of the census taker into a delight, but this is what Mrs. Peattie did. Mr. Peattie, who was attempting to sleep in an adjoining room, heard the intelligent census taker ask: "Do you own your home?"

This was answered in the affirmative, and then came the question: "Is there any incumbrance on it?"

Without a moment's hesitation Mrs. Peattie answered: "None—excepting my husband!"—Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post.

It Does Not Follow.

OUTDOOR SPORTS AT HOTEL NETHERWOOD

Tennis Tournaments Were the Chief Features of Labor Day at the Big Hotel.

MANY NEW GUESTS THERE.

W. C. FABER AND HAROLD RICHARD TO PLAY FINALS IN TENNIS.

Putting Contest and Athletic Games Will be Held on Hotel Lawn Saturday Afternoon—Some of the New Arrivals.

The tales from the various summer resorts concerning the scarcity of young men do not apply to the big hotel on the hill at Netherwood. Ever since The Netherwood opened early in the season there has been a goodly proportion of men of all ages at the hotel. As a result outdoor athletics are now taking quite a prominent place among the amusements at the hotel. Labor Day there was both baseball and tennis, and both sports were watched by an interested audience of women from the hotel.

The tennis tournament was played Monday morning. There were eleven entries and the first, second and semi-final rounds were played off leaving the finals to be completed Saturday. Harold Richard and William C. Faber, both of New York, will meet in the finals. The results of the other rounds was as follows:

First round—Walter Richards, of New York, defeated Harry Ostermoor, of Plainfield, 6 2, 6-2; Harold Richard, of New York, drew a bye; Charles Vaughn, of New York, drew a bye; William C. Faber, of New York, defeated Lieut. Patton, U. S. N., 6 1, 6-2; Acton Poulet, of New York, defeated O. L. Richard, of New York, by default, Richard spraining his ankle during the first set; Dr. Beasley, of Brooklyn, drew a bye; William A. McClure, of Plainfield, drew a bye; Richard Clark, of New York, drew a bye. Second round—Harold Richard defeated Walter Richard, 6-1, 6-1; Faber defeated Vaugn 6-2, 63; Paulet defeated Clark 6-4, 9-7; McClure defeated Beasley 6-1, 6-3. Semi-finals—Faber defeated McClure 5-4, 6-4; Richard defeated Poulet 6-4, 3 6, 6-4.

Labor Day afternoon the baseball game between the Blues and the Grays was played. Fred Squires, of Williams College, pitched for the Blues and Edward J. Kline, of the Alis A. A., caught him. Dodd, Jones and Fuller covered the bases. Fuller was captain. Harold Richard was captain of the Grays. Ditmar and McClure were the battery, with Spaulding, Richard and Vaughn on bases.

The greatest play of the entire game was the very first one. A high fly was batted to Wm. Mercer at centre field by a Blue batter. It was his first game of ball, but he opened his hands and the ball fell in. It was a star catch and captured the crowd. His base running was also above reproach. The Blues finally won the game by a score of 11 to 5.

A putting contest will be held on the front lawn Saturday afternoon. It is also expected that some other athletic contests will be arranged for that day.

A number of the guests left for their homes with the close of August and after Labor Day but others were waiting to occupy the rooms thus left vacant and the house is now as full as ever, two hundred and fifty being accommodated at the Netherwood. Among the new arrivals are a number of charming young women. Miss Bertha Aukam, a striking blonde, comes from Washington, D. C., where she is very popular. Her father is one of the prominent real estate men of the National Capital. Miss Alice Fuger, although not so distinctive a type of blonde, is very pretty. She is the daughter of Major Fuger, now quartered at Fort McHenry. Among the Brooklynites is Miss Louise Dickson, a light-haired young woman of attractive ways who has already made many friends among the young people.

Among the latest arrivals at the hotel are Charles H. Parsons and family, A. B. Robertson, Everett W. Brook, W. W. Battie and family, Mrs. F. A. Tremier, J. K. Tillotson and family, Mrs. Fabris M. Clarke, Miss Hazel M. Clarke, W. P. Drewey, William Charles McLean, W. W. Kiple, F. Lloyd Kane, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Thornton N. Motley, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Zackery, all of New York, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Cary, Mr. and Mrs. John Rae, Mrs. Margaret Wilson and daughter, of Brooklyn, and Lieut. J. P. Patton, of the U. S. S. Montgomery.

FIRST WARD POLITICS.

REPUBLICAN AFFAIRS ARE NOT AS SERENE AS THEY SEEM.

Andrew McCardell, the Fourth Ward Boss, Will Reside Temporarily in the First.

The First ward promises to be the scene of some lively factional fights during the campaign preceding the city election this winter. The fight is going to be between the two factions in the Republican party who have battled for the last two years for supremacy. While the so-called MacMurray faction has come out ahead, they did not win by broad enough margin to completely down their opponents. The result will be a hotter fight than ever this year. One significant thing has been noted and is the subject of conversation in local political circles. Andrew McCardell has given up his residence in the Fourth ward and will take up his residence at the Hotel Kensington for the winter. The Hotel Kensington happens to be in the First ward. Now Mr. McCardell says that there is absolutely nothing of a political nature in the move. He and his wife were tired of housekeeping and decided to try hotel life for a time. But every act of a political leader is bound to be watched and commented on, and so there are many who believe that the prominent Fourth ward leader has gone into the First to help out his friends in the fight which they have before them this winter.

BURGLARS CAME TWICE.

AN EXCITING NIGHT IN A SCOTCH PLAINS HOUSEHOLD.

George Albert's Family Given a Fright, but They Made it Hot for One of the Intruders.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, Sept. 6—The family of George Albert, living on Montague avenue, received a double visit from burglars Tuesday night, and on the second call the marauder or marauders received such a warm reception that it is hardly probable that they will repeat the call very soon.

Mr. Albert is employed as watchman at Seeley's mills and this calls him away from his home during the night. But two grown sons are ample protection for the family, as one of them proved upon this occasion. Anthony Albert, the oldest son, returned from Plainfield, where he had been attending the play at Music Hall, at about 12 o'clock. The back door had been left open for him.

When he arrived home and opened the door he heard a noise in the pantry just off from the kitchen but in the darkness thought it must be one of the family, and called out. As soon as the burglar found out his presence had been discovered he made a dash for one of the windows and jumped to the ground. By this time Mr. Albert began to realize he was dealing with a burglar instead of one of his family. By the time he had recovered from his astonishment the man had got a good start and was gone. So the window and door was fastened and he retired for the night without alarming the other members of the family. But the thief had been so fortunate upon the the first visit that it was decided to make another call later. About 3 o'clock Nicholas Albert was awakened by a slight noise in the room. He looked up and by the dim light recognized the outlines of a man standing nearby. As soon as the intruder saw he was discovered he made tracks to escape. Nick awoke his brother, who had had the first encounter earlier in the evening. He reached for his revolver lying close at hand and threw open the window and blazed away at a retreating figure going out of the front gate. Mr. Albert's aim was not good enough to hit the man but he thinks it came so close that he will give their place a wide berth in the future.

The second entrance and escape was made by way of the front door, which must have been left unlocked by some member of the family, as there was no signs of the door being forced.

BOROUGH TAX RATE GOES UP 17 POINTS.

The Increase Will Cause Great Dissatisfaction to Citizens of the Local Canada

RATE WILL BE ABOUT $2.45.

NO INCREASE IN PROPERTY VALUATION OVER LAST YEAR.

Assessor French Has Been Compelled to Scale Down Valuations $40,000 Owing to a New State Law.

At the September meeting of the Mayor and Borough Council tomorrow evening there promises to be a lively time over a subject that is of vital importance to every taxpayer in the borough, the tax rate for the coming year. It has just been learned that the rate will be about $2.45, a raise of nearly seventeen points. When this is known there is sure to be a howl about the supposed economical administration. The administration, however, cannot be blamed for the increase. This is due to a new State law that a number of persons owning property in the borough have taken advantage of.

This law allows a property-owner a reduction on personal and real estate, where he is carrying notes in the bank, and the borough will lose this year about $40,000 as a result of this new law. The individual amounts range from a few hundred dollars to $7,000 and $8,000, and on these notes Assessor French has been compelled to make a deduction according to law. A number took advantage of the law last year, but several have since learned of their privilege and the result is that the borough has received a hard blow.

The increase in the points of the tax rate are accounted for in this way. There will be an increase of about 9 points owing to the improvements being made at the Somerset street school which necessitated the borrowing of money. The balance of the 17 points will be due to the fact that a $1,000 Watchung avenue bond is to be paid off and there will be no increase in the borough valuation. The fact that there will be no increase is wholly due to the deduction allowed those who have notes in the bank and upon which they are entitled to a reduction.

There have been many improvements in the borough by the erection of new houses, the macadamizing of streets, new lights, hydrants, and in many other ways, but these are all offset by the $40,000 allowed by deduction. For this reason there will be no increase in valuation, which is something that has not occurred in many years if ever in the history of the borough.

The borough appropriation for this year was fixed at $20,100, and out of this is to be paid the $1,000 Watchung avenue bond, also the cost for street sprinkling. Comparing this with the appropriation under the last administration, $20,000, the present administration has been more economical than the previous one. This increase of 17 points will be a sad blow to the borough, and will work more disastrously than first consideration shows. As a remedy a strong effort will be made to have the law repealed which allows the reduction, as this is the only way out of the present difficulty.

M'CARTY-MOTLEY NUPTIALS.

Popular Member of the Police Force Joins the Benedicts—Wedded in St. Mary's.

In the presence of a few of their most intimate friends and relatives, Florence S. McCarty and Miss Nellie Motley were married in St. Mary's church at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Smyth. Miss Katherine Carty acted as bridesmaid and Daniel Shea as best man.

The bride looked very charming in a dress of blue granite cloth with white trimmings. She carried a white prayer book. The bridemaids dress was blue silk with white trimmings.

Immediately after the ceremony, the newly married couple proceeded to their future home at 444 West Second street, where a collation had been prepared. A short reception was held after which they took a coach to the Netherwood station and left for Asbury Park where they will stop at 211 Taird avenue for one week. The popularity of Mr. and Mrs. McCarty was shown by the large number of presents received consisting of silverware and cut glass.

G. O. P. MASS MEETING MAY BE CALLED OFF

Local Leaders Want Some More Noted Man Than V. B. Dolliver to Address Them.

WILL BE DECIDED TONIGHT.

STATE LEADERS CONFER WITH NATIONAL MANAGERS.

Republicans Will Pilot Naturalization Party to Elizabeth Tomorrow Night—Political Notes From All Over the State.

There is a possibility that the Republican mass meeting planned to be held in Music Hall Sept. 13th, may not be held after all. Some of the members of the city executive committee are not much in favor of a meeting here unless some big speaker can be secured. Congressman J. P. Dolliver was satisfactory to all parties, but some of the members think that Plainfield is entitled to a speaker of greater National reputation than the Congressman's brother, Victor B. Dolliver, of Iowa. The latter made a good speech here once before, but the committeemen feel that Plainfield should have some particularly strong speaker as the drawing card for its opening mass meeting.

A meeting of the city committee will be held this evening when the question of the mass meeting will be considered. It is quite likely that the offer of the county committee of Mr. Dolliver as a speaker will be declined with thanks and that the opening of the campaign in this city will be delayed until later.

Those who are desirious of securing naturalization papers will have the opportunity tomorrow evening when the County Clerk's office at the court house, Elizabeth, will be open during the evening for the convenience of those who wish to apply for such papers. A sub-committee from the Republican city executive committee will go to Elizabeth on 7:03 train to look after those who want to obtain their citizenship in this country.

Democratic State Chairman Gourley went to New York Tuesday afternoon to confer with ex-Governor Stone, who has charge of the Eastern branch of the Democratic National Committee. Mr. Gourley outlined the work in New Jersey, asked for speakers and received assurances that the National Committee would do what it could to help along the campaign in New Jersey. The State chairman said that ninety-five per cent. of the Gold Democrats in New Jersey intend to vote for Bryan this year.

The Hudson spellbidders who have been asked by the Democratic State Committee to stump New Jersey for the State organization have concluded to help out the Hudson County Democracy first and let the State Committee wait. They will place themselves at the disposal of the County Democratic Committee and confine their oraory to Hudson. They will do this at the suggestion of Collector Davis. This action is regarded as another sign of the latest dissensions in the party.

State Chairman Murphy and Senators Sewell and Kean had a conference with Senator Hanna, the national chairman, in New York Tuesday. The quartette of leaders discussed New Jersey affairs principally. Mr. Murphy said that the talk was of a general nature about the campaign in this State. Nothing of public interest developed, he said, though the local situation was pretty thoroughly discussed.

John V. L. Pierson, of Glen Ridge, State organizer of the People's party, has issued a call to all the producers of wealth and all the laborers in the State to attend a mass meeting and convention in the Court House in Camden Saturday next, at 11 a. m. The purpose of this convention is to take political action for reducing taxes, correcting abuses and stimulating business activity to the benefit of the farmers, mechanics and tradesmen of the State, their wives and families. These objects, the call says, can be attained through the organization of the People's party and a full ticket will be placed in the field. Wharton Barker, the Presidential nominee of the party, will attend the convention.

From Stage to Pulpit.

William Francis Ireland, the converted actor, will address the Y. M. C. A. rally on Sunday at 4:15. The subject will be, "From the Stage to the Pulpit." There will also be vocal and instrumental music, free lemonade and fans.

—Neuman Brothers would urge all housewives who intend canning fruit to make their selection now, as the quality and prices are just right.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION MEETS.

Delegates Gather in Trenton in a Temperature That Is Wilting.

FREEMAN FOR ELECTOR.

ACKERMAN UNABLE TO SECURE THE HONOR A SECOND TIME.

Proceedings of Union County Caucus—Few of the Somerset Delegates Present—Senator Sewell Chairman of State Convention.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Trenton, Sept. 6.—In a wilting temperature the delegates to the Republican State convention gathered here today. The intense heat made it impossible to arouse much enthusiasm, but notwithstanding there is considerable interest in the proceedings. Like all the other Republican State conventions during the past two years, harmony prevails in large doses.

The convention was called to order in Taylor's opera house at noon by Franklin Murphy, chairman of the State committee. United States Senator William J. Sewell, the recognized State leader, was made chairman of the convention. The appearance of Senator Sewell was the signal for an enthusiastic demonstration in his honor. He delivered a rousing Republican speech.

At 11 o'clock this morning the Union county delegates held a caucus in the Trenton House. Hamilton Kean, of Elizabeth, brother of Senator Kean, was made chairman of the delegation; H. W. Fink, of Westfield, vice chairman, and William Newcorn, of Plainfield, secretary. The committee honors were apportioned as follows: Rules, C. S. Sminck, of Plainfield; resolutions, Frank Bergen; credentials, Alvin A. Buckley, of Summit; permanent organization, J. W. Morton, of Rahway.

A canvass of the situation showed that Ernest R. Ackerman, of Plainfield, stood a good show of being named as elector for the Eighth district, notwithstanding that it would be the second time he had been so honored. A committee, consisting of Andrew McCardell, of Plainfield; George D. Parrot, of Rahway, and C. N. Coding, of Westfield, were named to confer with the Essex delegates in reference to a choice for elector.

After the conference of the Eighth district committee it was decided that Wilberforce Freeman should be selected as the nominee for elector for that district. Mr. Freeman resides in Orange. The decision was acquiesced in without opposition.

There were not enough Somerset county delegates to hold a caucus, but it was decided that W. K. Olcott, of Bernardsville, would be named as elector from the Third district. Senator Francis, of Monmouth, will be chairman of the Third district delegation.

The electors-at-large will be Sheriff David Baird, of Camden, and J. F. Dryden, of Newark.

A Terrible Odor.

The garbage and ash wagon owned by Peter Robinson, and in charge of his son, broke down on Watchung avenue, near Second street, Tuesday night, and allowed all the refuse and ashes to be dumped on the street, causing an unbearable smell. Residents who were sitting on their porches were driven indoors for a time. The attention of Health Inspector Addis was called to the accident, and he hastily secured another horse and wagon and had the refuse carted away. He then flushed the street and gutter with city water, after which he used chloride of lime freely to kill the terrible odor. Mr. Addis' quick action was greatly appreciated by the residents in that vicinity and they thank him very much.

County Republicans.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Sept. 6—The county Republican executive committee held a meeting last evening, and in the absence of Chairman Coding, F. H. Smith, of Plainfield, was made temporary chairman. It was reported that at present about 90 per cent. of the foreigners are naturalized. It was also stated confidently that the majority of those who cast their first vote this fall will cast it for the Republican ticket.

Married Newark Girl.

David B. Gray, a popular West End young man, who formerly resided on Grant avenue, was married to a Newark young lady at that place last Sunday. They will make their home in Easton, Pa., where Mr. Gray is now employed.

AWARDS ARE DISPUTED.

JUDGE SWAYZEE HEARS LAND-OWNERS' OBJECTIONS.

Many Lawyers Interested in the Matter — Judge Swayzee Reserves Decision.

Justice Swayzee, of the Essex county circuit court, sat yesterday in a special session of the court of this county, held in the room of the chosen freeholders, and the matter of the confirmation of the report of the Westfield avenue commissioners, was brought before him.

There was a large attendance of lawyers and property owners interested in the awards the commissioners had made for land to be taken for the proposed widening of Westfield avenue in a boulevard of 100 feet width, from Orchard street, Elizabeth, to the Cranford township line.

County Attorney Codington and Frank Bergen represented the county commissioners and Senator Kean's interest. Among the lawyers representing the property owners were Surrogate Parrot, ex Judge Gilhooly, Judge Atwater, Robert Davidson, Theodore C. English, Charles T. Glenn, James C. Connolly, Joseph Hague, Jeremiah D. Kiernan, Senator Joseph Cross, C. Addison Swift.

Justice Swayzee said that he would hear the arguments of the counsel, and he would listen first to those who represented the property owners, leaving the county attorney to close the argument.

There were many arguments. Judge Swayzee took the testimony and papers, reserving his decision in the matter of the confirmation of the report.

KICK AGAINST TROLLEY.

A PROTEST AGAINST THE PERTH AMBOY-METUCHEN FRANCHISE.

Senator Reed Represented Objectors Who Own 5,300 Feet of Frontage.

Protests of property owners against the granting of a franchise to the Raritan Traction Company, of Perth Amboy, for a road along the New Brunswick turnpike between Metuchen and Perth Amboy were presented to the Middlesex Board of Freeholders yesterday by Senator Reed, of Somerset county, representing John and Edward Pheiffer, and J. Kearny Rice representing Marcus Schantz.

Senator Reed declared that many consents had been secured from property owners on condition that the road be built on the side of the turnpike opposite to the property the consent was meant to cover. He declared that out of the 18,000 feet of property represented by signatures of consenting owners, only about 8,00 feet were properly covered. He presented a remonstrance signed by men representing 5,300 feet of frontage.

Former Judge Rice protested against the building of the trolley road because of the damage it would do the property of his client, especially to a large number of young trees recently set out.

Mr. Wight, representing the company, declared that all of the consents had been obtained in a perfectly legal way.

Mr. Correja, of the Board, thought that the township committees were officious and presumed upon their privileges in giving rights of way over county roads.

The matter was finally adjourned to October 3d, when there will be another hearing.

FELL SIXTY FEET.

Telephone Lineman Lost His Hold on Top of Pole.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Sept. 6—Geo. J. Hartman, of Bound Brook, a lineman in the employ of the Bell Telephone Co., fell from a 60 foot pole on Main street yesterday afternoon, his hook giving way, and struck the back of his head on the curb, peeling the scalp off and knocking him unconscious. He was carried to Dr Swinton's office, across the street, and the doctor took 28 stitches in the wound. He was then sent to his home in Bound Brook. Hartman cut one of his big toes off on Monday and he is wondering what will happen to him next.

Another Watermelon Party.

The social success of a previous watermelon party given some time ago by William Hartpense, of North avenue, induced him to give a second one to a number of friends last evening. There were about twenty present in all and everyone had a most enjoyable time. Besides indulging in watermelon and other delicacies of the season, the evening was spent in listening to volunteered songs and recitations.

GOURLEY CLAIMS STATE FOR BRYAN.

Chairman of Democratic State Committee Denies Jersey City News' Conclusions.

LARGE GAINS EVERYWHERE.

"REPUBLICAN DESERTIONS NOTABLE AND WILL APPEAR IN GOOD TIME."

Contributions Encouraging—General Donations to National Committee From New Jersey May Reach the Sum of $50,000.

State Chairman William B. Gourley, of the Democratic State committee, scoffs at the prophecy of the Jersey City News, a Democratic organ, that the electoral vote of New Jersey will go to McKinley by from thirty-five thousand to fifty thousand plurality. Surrounded by the braves of the Passaic county organization at the Jackson Club, in Paterson, Tuesday night, Mr. Gourley sounded an alarm of "breakers ahead" in Hudson county.

"Hudson county will undoubtedly give us a majority of at least eight thousand," declared the State chairman. "The canvass is in good hands and those in charge have the complete confidence of the committee. Such harmony prevails that Mr. Davis, the leader, can be relied upon to furnish an old time majority."

"The canvass of the State shows tremendous gains everywhere for the Democracy. The lines have closed up in every county, while the desertions from the Republican rankes are notable and will appear in good time. The Democracy will redeem New Jersey."

Mr. Gourley later declined to make his statement more specific. He said his remarks had not been made for publication, but he knew of no reason for secrecy. The Jersey City fulmination would fall as flat as the declaration that "good times followed McKinley's election and the mills and workshops are running full time."

Chairman Gourley's confidence is said to be based on generous contributions to the Democratic National committee collected by Colonel Budd, of Iowa, who, armed with credentials, is still engaged in a tour of the State. Contributions have been seat in which promise a total of at least $50,000 from New Jersey. Colonel Budd is accompanied on his travels by former Representative Cornelius A. Cadmus, of Paterson.

Northern New Jersey counties have been visited, with brilliant promise for the future and solid cash returns. Passaic county alone yielded $1,500, with John A. VanWinkle, a Republican candidate for Mayor of Paterson five years ago, at the head of the list.

Prominent converts under cover were uncovered in the canvass and promised material aid in the State campaign. Former Representative Cadmus patrols the country districts while the Iowan canvasses the cities. South Jersey is now under inspection. New Brunswick, Perth Amboy, Newton, Morristown and Paterson were banner districts.

Mr. Cadmus who was a prominent Gold Democrat four years ago, is enthusiastic over the outlook. A shrewd politician and keen observer, his sanguine reports with the proof that money talks have given warrant in a measure at least for Democratic confidence that the reflex tide of public sentiment is strong and certain to sweep aside all political safeguards.

Ruinous Work of a Horse.

For some time past a stray horse has been making himself very objectionable by running over the lawns on Codington avenue. The property-owners are getting tired of the practice, and unless the borough authorities take some action compelling the owner of the horse to look after his destructive beast, he will be liable for a damage suit before long. The horse has almost ruined some of the lawns and he has trampled down many choice flowers.

Newsy Notes of More or Less Importance Bunched Together for the Ready Reference Press Readers

—The Unitarian church in Park avenue will be opened next Sunday for the fall and winter months.

—A special programme of interest will be presented at the meeting of the Reform Club this evening.

—You will never find any other pills so prompt and so pleasant as DeWitt's Little Early Risers. L. W. Randolph.

—Patsy Christmas is now engaged in replacing the old ties with new ones along the line of the Plainfield trolley road.

—There will be an important meeting of the Building Trades' Council this evening and every member is urged to attend.

—The handsome decorations at the Negus-Frech wedding yesterday afternoon were in charge of Mrs. Denton, the West Front street florist.

—Arrangements are gradually being completed for a Republican mass meeting in the borough at an early date. There will be good music and several good speakers.

—The Morey-La Rue Laundry Company, 19 Somerset street, claim is not a mere boast. It is a fact that that they do up-to-date laundry work. You should give them a chance to prove it by sending your bundle to them.

—The See property located at the corner of Somerset street and Manning avenue that was to have been sold yesterday at public auction, will not be disposed of until Wednesday, September 26th. The sale was adjourned to that time at the request of one of the subscribers who could not be present.

—Chinese are dangerous enemies, for they are treacherous. That's why all counterfeits of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve are dangerous. They look like Dewitt's, but instead of the all-healing witch hazel they all contain ingredients liable to irritate the skin and cause blood poisoning. For piles, injuries and skin diseases use the original and genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. L. W. Randolph.

William B. Mosher and family, of New street, are spending a week at Asbury Park.

Justice E. D. Moffett, of Orchard place, has returned from a short visit with his brother, Gilbert Moffett, of Flemington. Mrs. Moffett will remain for a few days longer.

Stood Death Off.

E. B. Munday, a lawyer of Henrietta Tex., once fooled a grave-digger. He says: "My brother was very low with malarial fever and jaundice. I persuaded him to try Electric Bitters, and he was soon much better, but continued their use until he was wholly cured. I am sure Electric Bitters saved his life." This remedy expels malaria, kills disease germs and purifies the blood; aids digestion, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, cures constipation, dyspepsia, nervous diseases, kidney troubles, female complaints; gives perfect health. Only 50c at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

—The wolf in the fable put on sheep's clothing because if he traveled on his own reputation he couldn't accomplish his purpose. Counterfeiters of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve couldn't sell their worthless salves on their merits, so they put them in boxes and wrappers like DeWitt's. Look out for them. Take only DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It cures piles and all skin diseases. L. W. Randolph.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Drayton, of Franklin place, have been spending a few days at Belmar.

Samuel Pettit, of Brooklyn, has returned after a brief visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Henry, of Watchung avenue.

A Night of Terror.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham, of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she would die from Pneumonia before morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night, "but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, which had more than once saved her life, and cured her of Consumption. After taking, she slept all night. Further use entirely cured her." This marvellous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

Miss Mabel Farlee, of Jackson avenue, is enjoying a visit with Pennsylvania friends.

Mrs. D. J. Yerkes and daughter, Miss Ida Yerkes, of West Seventh street, have returned from Mt. Pocono, Pa., where they have been spending several weeks.

—Millions will be spent in politics this year. We can't keep the campaign going without money any more than we can keep the body vigorous without food. Dyspeptics used to starve themselves. Now Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and allows you to eat all the good food you want. It radically cures stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

THE DOLLIES' PIC-NIC.

A number of sweet little dollies
Were lying close by on the shelf,
Contented to lay there together,
And not thinking at all of theirself,
When up jumped one bright-looking dollie
And cried out in a manner most gay:
Oh, dollies, let's have a real pic-nic!
And have it this day, right away!
So they got up a wonderful pic-nic,
And played till they could play no more.

Home endorsement, the public expression of Plainfield people should be evidence beyond despute for every Plainfield reader. Surely the experience of friends and neighbors, cheerfully given by them, will carry more weight than the utterances of strangers residing in faraway places. Read the following:

Mr. Richard Day, of 134 East Front street, says:—"I had a miserable pain across my back and a sort of lame feeling over my kidneys. Standing any length of time or walking any distance aggravated it greatly. I was never sick much in my life and consequently never took much medicine, so when I first began having these attacks I paid but little attention to them. They however grew worse instead of better so I had to look about for a remedy. I read quite frequently in our papers about cures brought about by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills so I got a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store and after taking them I felt greatly relieved. I have recommended them to my friends and those who have used them speak very highly in their praise."

CONNECTICUT REPUBLICANS.

Fessenden Men Were Beaten by the Organization—A Ticket Named.

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 6.—The greatest political battle in the history of the Republican party of Connecticut was fought to a bitter end yesterday when in the long awaited state convention the candidates for the various state offices were nominated and the party presidential electors were chosen. The palms of victory went to the state organization and against former National Committeeman Samuel Fessenden of Stamford.

O. R. Fyler, the chairman of the state central committee, succeeded in securing the nomination for governor for the organization man, George P. McLean of Simsbury, while Hon. Donald T. Warner of Salisbury, Mr. Fessenden's candidate, was defeated by a margin of 49 votes.

The complete Republican state ticket nominated is as follows: Governor, George P. McLean of Simsbury; lieutenant governor, Edwin O. Keeler of Norwalk; state secretary, Charles G. R. Vinal of Middletown; treasurer, Henry H. Gallup of Norwich; comptroller, Abram Chamberlain of Meriden.

The convention was in continuous session for five hours, meeting at 10:30 a. m. and adjourning at 3:30 p. m. Two hours sufficed for the nomination speeches. There were but two candidates, Mr. McLean and Mr. Warner. The voting for governor was by ballot and occupied over an hour and a quarter. Out of a possible full convention of 504 delegates there were but two absentees, 502 votes being deposited on the vote for governor.

Of this number McLean received 274 and Warner 225, thus giving the Simsbury man a majority of 49.

ASLEEP AT HIS POST.

Engineer Unconscious While Engine Takes a Mad Flight.

QUINCY, Ills., Sept. 6.—A wild engine, rushing over the rails at a terrific speed and endangering scores of lives in a heavily laden passenger train, created a panic in the yard of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy road.

The driver of the runaway locomotive slept peacefully with his hand on the throttle all through the wild ride. He was worn out from lack of rest and had fallen asleep at his post. On reaching the station the fireman jumped off, supposing the locomotive would come to a standstill, but the engine went rushing on over the viaduct, finally plunging out on the bridge spanning the Mississippi.

The fireman hastened to the train dispatcher's office and gave the alarm. A message was sent to the operator at Moody, seven miles from Quincy, requesting him to turn the engine on to the siding at Moody and to hold the St. Louis passenger train, north bound, which was then about due there. The Moody operator barely had time to catch the St. Louis train, which was switched out of harm's way. A few minutes after the switch to the side track had been opened the runaway engine came slowly up the grade and stopped in sight of the station.

The conductor of the St. Louis train climbed into the cab and found Arnold still fast asleep, with his head out of the window.

Voted to Admit Women.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Previous to the opening of the annual meeting of the British Association For the Advancement of Science at Bradford the general committee debated the motion of Professor Hartop that women should be admitted to membership in the association. Sir Henry Roscoe, vice chancellor of the University of London, and others supported the proposition, and Sir John Evans, former president of the association, counseled caution. It was decided to admit women, making membership of the general committee a precedent to election to membership of sectional committees.

New British Training Station.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Sept. 6.—Governor McCallum and Commodore Giffard are maturing plans for stationing a British naval reserve training ship in colonial waters within the next few months. The headquarters are likely to be Placentia bay, on the south coast of the island, within easy striking distance of St. Pierre.

Captain Tuttle Reports on Alaska Coast Conditions.

GREAT MORTALITY AND SUFFERING

At Teller Station Fully One-half of the Natives Have Died—Relief Needed at Once to Prevent Starvation.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Captain Tuttle of the revenue cutter service, in command of the steamer Bear, reports to the treasury department from Nome on the operations of his vessel since July 6. The report relates principally to the condition of the natives along the Alaska coast and adjacent islands. At Sinrock the surgeon of the vessel, who was sent ashore, reported that measles was epidemic and that pneumonia was prevalent and fatal. At Teller station, where the government has a reindeer station much sickness and many deaths among the natives were reported. At Cape York the same fatal sickness was found among the natives. Going on to Cape Prince of Wales practically the same desperate condition was found to exist as at other places. From that point the Bear proceeded to East Cape Village, Siberia, and thence to St. Lawrence bay and Port Clarence. Everywhere the vessel touched officers were sent ashore to investigate the conditions and reported that the natives never had been in worse condition. At Teller station affairs were desperate. Fully one-half of the natives around the station have died. In some cases whole families have disappeared, and in others the parents have died, leaving helpless children.

The salmon are running, but there is not a sufficient number of well people left to catch them and thus provide food for the present and the coming winter. The ravages of the disease have been so great that a panic has seized the natives, and the dead are left unburied in their houses. In their distress the natives in the vicinity of Teller are collecting there for food and medical attention. The Rev. T. L. Brevig, although not a physician, has set up a few tents and is running a temporary hospital, having 12 sick and 12 orphan children under his care, furnishing them with food as best he can. He is said to be in great need of pilot bread, flour and clothing for the natives in extreme distress. There is said to be no record during the last 50 years of the degree of destitution that now prevails along the whole Bering seacoast.

Captain Tuttle concludes his report as follows:

"At a conference with Governor Brady of Alaska J. F. Evans, special agent of the treasury, and Dr. Sheldon Jackson and myself in reference to the deplorable condition of the natives north of Unalaska it was decided that relief must at once be afforded them or they would perish from cold and starvation during the coming winter. I offered to fill the Bear with whatever could be procured to distribute north of Cape Prince of Wales. Special Agent Evans at once ordered a load, which was put on board. I steamed to Unalaklik to get some stores to be put on board."

Captain Tuttle says he is going to make another trip north to distribute the few things that were received and to attend to the government business. He reports that the natives are thoroughly demoralized through their condition and fright and superstition.

Corrected Returns From Vermont.

WHITE RIVER JUNCTION, Vt., Sept. 6.—The Republicans of Vermont elected their state and congressional ticket yesterday by a plurality of at least 32,250 and a majority over all of 31,000. If the towns yet to hear from give a vote corresponding relatively to the vote of the towns reporting yesterday, the figures mentioned will be about right. The senate is solidly Republican, and the Republican representation in the general assembly will be substantially 200 out of a membership of 246. Returns from 238 cities and towns out of 246 cities and towns in the state give the vote for governor as follows: William W. Stickney of Ludlow (Rep.), 47,785; John H. Senter of Montpelier (Dem.), 15,822; all others, 1,273.

Big Blaze In a Connecticut Town.

DANIELSON, Conn., Sept. 6.—A fire which started in a barn in the rear of The Observer office, Railroad square, Dayville, late yesterday afternoon resulted in the total destruction of The Observer building, the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company's freighthouse, four tenement dwellings and considerably damaged the Dayville hotel and other buildings. The total loss is over $50,000. It is thought that the fire was started by children playing in the barn, and owing to an inadequate water supply, on account of the dry weather, the flames quickly acquired considerable headway.

Siege of Ladybrand Raised.

MASERU, Basutoland, Sept. 6.—The Boers left Ladybrand Tuesday evening. They looted the stores and took all the horses, including the cavalry mounts. The British casualties were five wounded. The Boers who attacked Ladybrand are estimated to have numbered more than 2,000 men. The British were summoned to surrender Sept. 2 (Sunday), but refused, and from that time on were subjected to continual cannon and rifle fire. The burghers twice tried to rush the British position. Probably the approach of a relief force saved the little garrison.

Jersey Street Cars to Carry Mails.

JERSEY CITY, Sept. 6.—A contract has been closed by the United States government with the North Jersey Street Railway company for the transportation of the mails. Under this arrangement a letter mailed in Hoboken and addressed to Jersey City will not have to go to New York, but will be put on a car at Hoboken and taken directly to Jersey City. Later the service is to be extended to the Essex county lines of the company.

Programme as Arranged Carried Through Without a Hitch—Governor Roosevelt Stirs the Convention With an Address.

SARATOGA, Sept. 6.—The convention, which adjourned at 12:32 yesterday, while remarkable in some respects was yet devoid of the interest engendered by strife and uncertainty. The closing session was in reality a ratification of what had already been accomplished. The real and practical work of the convention had already been finished. Yesterday there remained but the spectacular, but this was sufficiently attractive to produce an attendance far in excess of Tuesday's. The announced appearance upon the platform of such men as former Governor Black, Hon. Chauncey M. Depew and Governor Roosevelt insured such a feast of oratory that every available seat in the great convention hall was occupied when Chairman Stranahan's gavel fell. A great majority of the spectators were, however, women, and the scene presented by the gorgeous summer gowns and bright hued millinery as revealed through the maze of moving fans was indeed fascinating.

The political features of the convention were the return of former Governor Black to the organization fold, the demonstration accorded Abraham Gruber by his colleagues of the New York delegation and the general prominence given to those who have at times opposed the organization.

Much was expected of Chauncey M. Depew, and he realized every expectation. His speech was thoroughly characteristic. He was particularly happy in his humorous strains and most impressive in his forceful presentation of the issues involved.

Hardly was the convention adjourned when the exodus of delegates began. Governor Roosevelt left early in the afternoon in his private car to resume his western speaking tour. Mr. Odell went to his home in Newburg. Lieutenant Governor Woodruff went to Chatham today, and the other candidates returned to their duties at Albany. All have made way for the influx of Democratic leaders which will begin in a day or two in anticipation of the Democratic state convention of next week.

Shortly after 10 o'clock Senator Stranahan, the permanent chairman, stepped forward from the rear of the platform and announced clearly, "The convention will be in order, and the first order of business will be the presentation of candidates for governor."

Immediately the tall, slim form of ex-Governor Black arose in the center of the floor, and Chairman Stranahan said:

"The chair recognizes the gentleman from Rensselaer, Governor Black."

A wild shout burst from the audience. The delegates jumped to their feet, waved hats and handkerchiefs and cheered the Troy statesman to the echo. The brass band struck up some rousing air that nobody could identify because of the roar of applause.

Governor Black remained standing a minute and then proceeded to the platform, where his appearance was the signal for another demonstration. As he stood there, straight as an arrow, neither bowing nor raising a hand, it was observed that he wore a gray business suit, with black waistcoat and black string tie. A large Odell button was fastened to his coat lapel. He said in part:

The time for speeches has passed. If there had been no speeches until this convention, the ground would still have been covered and the Republican case stated by the chairman of this body.

But the issues now before the American people were discussed and settled four years ago. There is not a new one here. The ghost of anti-imperialism, which stalks to and fro between Lincoln and Bloomington, with occasional manifestations in Boston, is not and cannot be made an issue. This country is and has been committed to the policy of growth, and it cannot be swerved from that policy by new scarecrows erected along the way. In that policy are involved the causes of civilization and American progress, and the Republican party stands for both.

The issues now are as they were in 1896. They were then met and understood, and, as completely as the Spanish fleet at Santiago, they were sunk or run ashore. The Democratic party since then has been engaged in prying some of them off the rocks and trying to make them float. That will never be done. Those issues will never be seaworthy again, and if they are the American people will not embark on them while they have fluttering at their masthead flags with the Democratic inscription of disorder, disappointment and despair.

But it is not by principles alone that the success and the power of the Republican party have been achieved. The best of causes may fail if they have not also the best of representatives. The successful advocate of a cause is so faithful that he would die for it, but so strong that he does not have to, and the rare and almost unbroken fortune of the Republican party has been that whenever the emergency has arisen, no matter how tempestuous the course, there was always a pilot who could steer it and bring the ship to port without throwing the cargo overboard.

We have already selected the pilot for the national craft. He has been over the course once. He has steered with success and skill, and even in the turbulence that has surrounded him he has gained the confidence of his fellow citizens and increased his own renown to a degree almost without example.

The duty of this assembly is to select a pilot for a shorter course, but over waters which are never smooth and often dangerous, and I regard it as a sign full of encouragement, and hope that the man to whom, with general accord, the Republican party is about to turn is one who combines in his character the elements of stability and courage which make the successful leader.

I believe that politics should be as honest as the church. I believe that the level of political action should be so high that corrupt influences can neither break it down nor defile it. But I believe, too, that honesty does not consist in profession alone. Profession without fulfillment is as dead as faith without works.

Mr. President and gentlemen of the convention, I present to you a man who has carried the colors; who has done much and received little; who has been fearless, constant and upright; who stands as a true and acceptable type of the militant Republicanism of New York; who on many fields has borne the burden of the party's conflicts and is now worthy to bear the standard of the party's faith.

I present to you as a candidate for governor of New York Benjamin B. Odell, Jr.

This announcement was followed by the most enthusiastic demonstration thus far in the convention. The nomination was then seconded by J. S. Whipple. The roll of the convention was then called, and the entire 971 votes were cast for Mr. Odell.

Mr. Stranahan then recognized Senator Depew, and amid renewed cheering he advanced to the front of the platform to present the name of Timothy L. Woodruff for the nomination for lieutenant governor.

Mr. Depew created much mirth and enthusiasm, and when he mentioned his candidate's name the convention went wild for a time. The vote was then taken, with the same result as before. Mr. Odell was brought before the convention and briefly expressed his thanks for the honor conferred.

When Mr. Odell had concluded, Senator Hobart Krum arose and offered a resolution that the secretary be instructed to cast one vote each for John T. McDonough of Albany for secretary of state, for William J. Morgan of Erie for comptroller, for John P. Jaeckel of Cayuga for treasurer, for John C. Davies of Oneida for attorney general, for Edward A. Bond of Jefferson for engineer and surveyor, and that they be declared the candidates of the convention for those offices.

This resolution was adopted by a roll call of delegates and thus completed the state ticket.

Governor Roosevelt was then escorted to the platform and formally presented by Chairman Stranahan. As he stepped to the front of the platform he looked down upon a frantically waving mass.

For several minutes Governor Roosevelt stood with impassive features, but as his frequent attempts to speak were drowned in the continued shouts he smiled his recognition of the demonstration, raising his hands and rapping upon the table to quiet the enthusiastic crowd. When, however, Governor Roosevelt began to speak, the earnestness of his manner commanded absolute quiet, and the great audience listened with the closest attention.

Governor Roosevelt, though frequently interrupted by applause, spoke with such impressiveness that these outbursts of applause were of brief duration, the convention being absorbed in its interest in his ringing words.

When he had finally concluded, the great assemblage again broke into cheers, and spectators were on their feet preparing to leave the hall.

In the confusion a motion to adjourn was offered, and Senator Stranahan released the convention.

MR. ODELL'S CAREER.

There are few men in the state of New York better known than Benjamin B. Odell, Jr. He was born in Newburg Jan. 14, 1854. His father has been in business in that city for a great many years. Mr. Odell studied at Bethany college, West Virginia, after he left the public schools of Newburg and later took a course at Columbia. He began to take an interest in politics before he reached his majority, and when he was able to vote he was recognized as a power in the Republican politics of Orange county. At first he was opposed to the so called organization. In a short time he became the center of the organized Republicans of his county.

In 1881, when the appointment of State Senator Robertson as collector of the port of New York brought about the resignation of Senators Conkling and Platt, Mr. Odell took sides with the Conkling and Platt wing of the party. His activity in that struggle won the friendship of Senator Platt, and they have been on intimate terms ever since. One of the chief characteristics of the Republican candidate is his unswerving loyalty to his friends.

In 1886 Mr. Odell became a member of the state committee. During the ensuing 16 years he has taken a prominent part in every campaign, and much of the success of his party during that period has been due to his wise advice and admirable leadership. He became chairman of the state committee in 1898. Mr. Odell has served two terms in congress. He has been twice married.

Mr. Bryan In Maryland.

DEER PARK, Md., Sept. 6.—Mr Bryan doubled on his tracks yesterday He made only two speeches during the day, the first at Morgan's grove, near Shepherdstown, and the second at Keyser. At both places the crowds greeted him with enthusiasm, and both speeches were vigorously applauded. There were large audiences at both meetings, but that of the grove was exceptional in size. The attendance there was immense, people having come in not only from West Virginia, but from Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania to hear the speech while they attended the fair that is being held in the grove.

Killed In a Freight Wreck.

CLEARFIELD, Pa., Sept. 6.—Engineer James Barrett, Fireman Edward Schearer and a brakeman whose name was not learned were killed last evening by the wrecking of a freight train on the Beech creek division of the New York Central railroad at Forge Run. A number of cows were crossing the track, and the engine dashed into them, jumped the track and rolled over an embankment, carrying several cars with it.

A Viaduct Accident.

RICHMOND, Sept. 6.—A ten ton iron cross girder strained the heavy 65 foot wooden boom on the temporary traveler just at the river's brink, in use in constructing the Chesapeake and Ohio railway viaduct at the foot of Belvidere street, and with a sudden crash the heavy boom fell yesterday, killing one man and injuring three other employees of the contractors.

DEATH OF ARTHUR SEWALL.

Prominent Ship Owner and Builder. A Leader Among Maine Democrats.

BATH Me., Sept. 6.—Hon. Arthur Sewall is dead at his summer home, Small Point, about 12 miles from this city, of apoplexy, the stroke having been sustained last Sunday. He was 64 years of age.

Mr. Sewall had not been in good health for some time, although he was not considered to be seriously ill. He had been advised by his physician to rest as early as last June, and he attended the Democratic national convention in July against the advice of his doctor.

He appeared to have suffered no ill effects from the journey, however, and was passing the summer quietly at Small Point when the fatal stroke seized him. The unconsciousness which followed the attack continued until death came.

Arthur Sewall was born in Bath in November, 1835. His father, W. D. Sewall, for years was prominent as a shipbuilder, and the son fitted himself for the same trade. So thorough was his training that today few men in all the maritime world are known either by name or as a factor in the marine carrying trade of the United States better than he was known. In 1855, by forming the partnership of E. & A. Sewall, he continued the calling of one of the oldest shipbuilding families in Maine.

Upon the death of his brother, Edward Sewall, the firm of Arthur Sewall & Co. was formed, and the company now controls one of the largest of American sailing fleets.

Mr. Sewall was also one of the prominent railroad men of New England. For nine years he was president of the Maine Central, and he was president of the Eastern railroad until it was absorbed by the Boston and Maine.

For many years he was the Maine representative on the Democratic national committee, and in 1896 his business and political prominence made him the choice of his party for vice president.

Mr. Sewall is survived by two sons, Harold M. Sewall, who was stationed by the government at Hawaii, and William D. Sewall, one of Bath's most energetic young business men and who was recently elected president of the Bath Savings institution.

A New Trotting Record.

HARTFORD, Sept. 6.—The big event of the racing in the grand circuit yesterday was the trial of Cresceus, owned by Ketcham farm, Toledo, to beat the world's stallion record by Directum of 2:05¼. Cresceus was driven by George Ketcham and was urged by Joe Patchen, runner, driven by Dickerson, and by Jupe's runner, driven by Walker. Dickerson coached the horse to the half alone, when Walker came in with his runner, both pushing him at the flank to the wire. Cresceus did not make a skip the mile, and the time by quarters was 31¼, 1:02¾, 1:33½, 204¾, beating the record with apparent ease, finishing very strong and not the least bit blowed. Cresceus was brought back to the stand amid the greatest enthusiasm. The track management gave $1,000 for the performance.

Squadrons at Bar Harbor.

BAR HARBOR, Me., Sept. 6.—Yesterday was reception day for the officers of the British and American squadrons and a play day for almost all of the jackies. In the early morning a dense cloud of smoke from forest fires enveloped the warships, but soon after 10 o'clock a southwest breeze drove the smoke away, and the officers came ashore. The feature of the day was the reception during the afternoon on board the United States flagship New York. Steam cutters from all the American ships took the invited guests out from shore, while the British launches took their officers to the New York. That ship's quarter deck was a surprise to the visitors. Under the awning scores of flags had been prettily festooned and draped, British emblems being fastened to many of them.

Another Presidential Ticket.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Senator Donalson Caffery of Louisiana was nominated as the candidate of the National party at its convention in Carnegie lyceum yesterday. The convention was called to order with about 100 delegates present. Before the convention there was an informal conference at the Plaza hotel, at which all the delegates attended. The adoption of a platform occupied a considerable time of the convention. The chief planks in the platform were anti-imperialism, sound money, civil service reform and antispecial privileges. Mr. Caffery's name was presented to the convention by Professor Francis P. Nash of Hobart college. John J. Chapman put in nomination for vice president Archibald M. Howe of Cambridge, Mass

SITUATION CLEARING

Our Government Gets Important News From Abroad.

INTERNATIONAL CLASH UNLIKELY.

The Powers Seem Inclined to Treat Russia's Proposal In Regard to Chinese Question Seriously.—A Compromise Scheme Probable.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Within the last 24 hours the United States government has received from its representatives at foreign capitals much material information in regard to the attitude of the powers on the Russian proposal to evacuate Peking. These give the general nature of the responses made to Russia by certain of the powers. It is stated authoritatively that if there was at any time a prospect of a serious international clash this has been very largely if not entirely removed by the harmonious character of the communications the several governments are making.

The exact nature of the responses is not made public by the state department, for there are yet some replies to be transmitted, and until all of them are in the negotiations are considered in such an incomplete form that they will not be made public. It is said, however, that the answers go much beyond the tentative character of those heretofore referred to and are of a conclusive nature, so far as showing the purposes of the governments, although they may not be regarded as conclusive in accepting or rejecting the particular proposition advanced by Russia.

The responses are understood to be rather long and somewhat argumentative, similar in this respect to the American response. This very fact is a cause for congratulation among officials, as they point out that there is no disposition to treat the proposal with terseness or in any manner to give offense, but rather to bring the powers together on a common basis. On the whole the general tendency of the responses is such as to give entire satisfaction here as to the course of the negotiations.

The satisfactory progress of the negotiations along these lines has had the effect of directing attention to the personality of the envoys who probably will represent the powers and China in the final settlement. The impression prevails here that Mr. Conger is eminently fitted for such a task on the part of the United States, supposing that each of the powers interested in the Chinese problem is to have a separate and individual representative. Mr. Rockhill's name is mentioned as an alternate in case Mr. Conger does not care to remain in Peking or to participate in the settlement. These suggestions, however, are all speculative, for up to this time the state department has not conferred the necessary special powers upon any person to represent the government in the final negotiations.

The German foreign office appears to be active in furthering the negotiations, and quite a number of messages have passed between Washington and Berlin. Those recognized as having a correct understanding of Germany's attitude look for the suggestion of a compromise, or middle course, which will be neither an acceptance nor a rejection of the Russian proposal, but will be such a satisfactory middle ground that all the powers, including Russia, can agree to it.

THROUGH FORBIDDEN CITY.

General Gaselee's Dispatch the Only Chinese News Received In London.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—General Sir Alfred Gaselee, commander of the British Indian troops at the Chinese capital, wires as follows from Peking Aug. 29 to Lord George Hamilton, secretary of state for India:

"The allies marched through the forbidden city yesterday (Aug. 28). The British had third place in the procession, the Russians and Japanese being in greater strength."

Sir Alfred's dispatch, showing that the situation in Peking was unchanged on Aug. 29, is the only Chinese news this morning. The cancellation of the order holding back the Fourth Indian brigade is regarded as important. It shows that, whatever the outcome of the Russian policy, the British government is determined to have sufficient troops on the spot adequately to protect British interests. Considerable significance is attached to the statement by the Journal de St. Petersburg as possibly indicating a modification of Russia's policy. This paper is the organ of the Russian foreign office, its editor being a councilor of state. It is noted that while the Journal de St. Petersburg announces Russia's determination to maintain the solidarity of the powers it only mentions the withdrawal of the ministers and not of the troops to Tien-tsin. It is believed that the powers might agree to such a modification of the original Russian proposal.

The British admiralty has issued Vice Admiral Seymour's detailed report of the experiences of the first Peking relief expedition. It is good reading, but embraces nothing not previously known.

Chicago's Gas War.

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—Forty cent gas, a cut of 10 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, was announced by the Municipal Gas company yesterday afternoon as a reply to the action of the Ogden Gas company in meeting its cut to 50 cents on Tuesday. Dwellers on the North Side expressed confidence that before the end of the week they would be enjoying house illumination without cost.

Albany and Hudson Railway Ready.

HUDSON, N. Y., Sept. 6.—The Albany and Hudson railway, operated by the third rail system, was thrown open to passenger traffic this morning, when cars were run every hour between Hudson and Niverville, a distance of about 20 miles. The northern part of the railway entering Albany is almost completed and will be ready for passengers in about two weeks.

New Mexican Volcano.

GUADALAJARA, Mexico, Sept. 6.—A new volcano has made its appearance in the Sierra Madre range about 30 miles southeast of Colima. The new volcano is believed to be an offshoot of the old Colima volcano. Owing to the fact that the country around the volcano is sparsely settled no damage was done by its activity.

Weather Probabilities.

Partly cloudy and cooler; fresh southerly winds, becoming variable.

A Republican Mistake.

The Republicans of New Jersey are making a serious mistake if they are seriously counting upon the opinions or judgment of the Jersey City News as a political barometer of the State. Posing as a Democratic newspaper. The News has been saying some scathing things about Democratic principles and candidates and predicting fine results for Republicans. Of course, the G. O. P. people regard this as all grist for their mill, and are quoting The News as "the leading Democratic newspaper of the State." This may be a fine compliment for The News, but it scarcely does credit to the astuteness of Republican editors and leaders. Every newspaperman in the State knows that the Jersey City News is one of the most erratic and illy edited papers in the State, without prestige, character or following. We have no desire to take away any of the Republican thunder, but our advice to Republicans is not to pay much attention to what the Jersey City News has to say. A good index of how the Jersey City News is regarded in its home city is the fact that, notwithstanding that that municipality is overwhelmingly Democratic, The Journal, one of the most bitterly partisan Republican papers of the State, does three times the business in every way that The News does. The Republicans are making a mistake to devote so much consideration to the Jersey City News.

After several years of agitation for the city to assert its authority and effect a plan by which the municipality can care for the disposition of dead leaves during the autum months, in order to prevent the burning of them by private persons with the consequent clouds of smoke and dirty smut that floats from bonfires blazing in every section of the town, it appears that the Council intends taking some action in the premises this year. The matter was brought up by Councilman Mellick in the suggestion that action providing a remedy for the disagreeable custom should be taken by the Council. This idea was concurred in by the other Councilmen. The ill-effects of burning leaves during the late fall season are wide-spread not only to the comfort but to the health of residents of the city, and if the Council will devise some way in which to obviate the trouble it will receive unstinted praise from all the people.

When you talk with a Republican about the way New Jersey will go in the Presidential election he quotes with great gusto the fact that McKinley got 84,000 majority in this State four years ago, and that it will require a change of something like forty-three votes in each of the 1,044 election districts in the State this year to carry it for Bryan. On the other hand when you meet your enthusiastic Democrat now he leaves the election of four years ago to the dismal past and he quotes the figures of two years ago in the Gubernatorial contest, when Union's favorite son—Gov. Voorhees—got only a little over 5,000 majority. He argues, of course, that it will require only a change of three votes in each of the election districts to carry New Jersey for the Democrats this fall. With claims so far apart it is a difficult job for the ordinary man to strike an average that will offer a fair estimate of what is really going to happen.

Referring to the report that he was a candidate for Congress in the Seventh district, Assemblyman Abbett said yesterday frankly and without reserve: "I am not a candidate for Congress and have decided to keep out of the race. I have no ambition at present to go to Congress, but have frequently been urged to be a candidate. I would like, however, next year, to receive the Democratic nomination for State Senator." It is understood that the Democrats will renominate Mr. Abbett for the Assembly. It is also understood among well-informed Democrats in Jersey City that Senator Allan L. McDermott has positively declined to be a candidate for Congress in the Seventh New Jersey district. He is quoted as saying that he cannot afford to accept a seat in the House of Representatives at this time.

Business men differ as to when "ads" are the most productive of results. One heavy advertiser makes a special effort to attract custom in September, when so many people return from the seashore, mountains and country with new energy, ready to take up neglected enterprises; when the children are to be got ready for school, and when preparations are to be made for winter occupations and pleasures, says the Philadelphia Record. His purpose is to induce people to get into the habit of dealing with him.

Speech-making has never been considered as a natural attribute of the make-up of Senator Kean, but according to the "Trenton" of the New York Herald he "is now in great demand as a speaker at political gatherings in New Jersey. He talks with ease and fluency, and expresses himself in good English. Being a thinker and philosopher, he also has something to say which is worth hearing."

A political club to be known as the "Rough Riders" has been organized in Elizabeth. If the members do much riding around the streets of Elizabeth their title will be a fitting one.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The following conversation was heard recently where a dog was barking violently at a passerby.

"Call your dog off!" shouted the stranger.

"Off! off!" called the owner in a loud tone.

When the dog paid no heed, the stranger shouted again, "Why don't you call your dog off?"

"I did," replied the owner; "but his name is Rover and he isn't going to mind any old name you call him."

The Daily Press this morning received a postal card from Miss Rachel G. Mair, the missionary, who is on her way home from Africa, where she has been engaged in work for the past two years. It was mailed at Cape Palmas, Liberia. More than half the card is taken up with pictures representing scenes in Liberia. Miss Mair says: "Through your paper please let my friends know that I am turning my face homeward." Miss Mair has received copies of The Daily Press while in Africa and she says that she appreciated them very much.

To prove that life is really worth the living William J. McDede took a New Brunswick Home News representative out in his automobile the other night. A trip was made from New Brunswick to Plainfield and return. At 6:45 the start was made from Albany and George streets, and at exactly 7:35 o'clock, just 50 minutes later, the automobile was spinning along Park avenue right in the heart of the town. The trip was made without a single stop or the slightest hitch. In speaking of the expense of keeping an automobile Mr. McDede said it is cheaper than to keep a horse. For instance, he said, the actual cost for gasolene on on that evening's trip was less than thirty cents, as he had in the tanks but two gallons of gasolene, which costs fifteen cents a gallon, and only part of that had been used.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, Sept. 6—As yet no agreement seems to have been made between the Central Railroad and the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company regarding the erection of the poles on Washington avenue. The poles are still lying in the gutter, just as they were taken down some weeks ago. There are but six of them and when these are erected the residents of New Market will have their long-promised 'phone. As yet, however, they are as far off from it as they ever were.

An eastbound coal train was delayed near the Prospect avenue crossing for some time last evening by the pulling out of two draw-heads. The first one pulled out and the car was thrown on the siding. On attempting to start again the second one pulled out, causing further delay.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

That old but ever popular play "Davy Crockett" will be the bill at Music Hall Monday, September 10th. The company is under the management of E. M. Gardner, who managed Frank Mayo in "Davy Crockett" for eight years. The company carries scenery for a first-class production, with the picturesque log cabin scene, wolves at the door, the snow storm, etc. Mr. Frank Cleaves, the California actor, who is a typical frontiersman as well as a great actor, heads the company, supported Miss Helen Ray and a New York cast.

The famous athletes, the Donazettas, who are a strong feature and mainly responsible for the lasting popularity of that sterling melo-drama, "The Span of Life," are not only the most skillful and daring acrobats of the present time but are all good actors and quiet gentlemen. They have been seen in their wonderful feats of gymnastics in all parts of the world, and have created a furore wherever they have appeared. It was from them that Sutton Vane, author of the "Span" received his idea of having the hero and heroine of his play make an escape from savages over a bridge of human beings. The Donazettas accepted the responsibility of creating this scene and their success made the play the great popular favorite that it has been during the past six years. They will be seen in this season's production which will be given at Music Hall tomorrow night, and they will add to the past sensation of the scene by the addition of some new acrobatic feats never before attempted on any stage.

"Ben Hur" re-opened the Broadway Theatre, New York, last Monday evening. It repeated the great hit it scored last year. The auditorium was crowded to its capacity. Considerable interest centered in the work of William Farum, the new "Ben Hur," who scored a marked personal hit. Mr. Farum is a young actor but 26 years of age, of splendid physique and handsome personality. He made an ideal "Ben Hun." His reading of the part was especially commendable. In the pathetic scenes he displayed deep feeling. In the stronger situations he gave evidence of dramatic power which surprised even his most ardent friends and admirers. The great feature of the play, the chariot race, was received with applause and cheers. Every detail worked perfectly and new effects added to the remarkable realism of this incident. W. S. Hart again scored a hit as "Messala," the cynical Roman enemy of "Ben Hur." Of the old cast Habel Bert, Adelice Adler, Mary Shaw and Emmett Corrigan were well received. The latter part of last season Mr. Corrigan played "Ben Hur." This year he is cast as "Simonides."

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. McKee, of Watchung avenue, left today for Asbury Park, for an extended visit.

"Nat" Astfalk, of Elizabeth, was in Plainfield yesterday enjoying himself among his many friends.

Mrs. Andrew Saffron, of New street, has returned home from a pleasant visit with relatives at Hoboken.

A Shocking Calamity

"Lately befell a railroad laborer," writes Dr. A. Kellett, of Willford, Ark. "His foot was badly crushed, but Bucklen's Arnica Salve quickly cured him. It's simply wonderful for Burns, Boils, Piles and all skin eruptions. It's the world's champion healer. Cure guaranteed. 25c. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

T. A. McCarthy and family, of West Front street, are visiting relatives at Kearney.

Robt. Robinson, of New York, has returned home after a visit with his mother, Mrs. David Robinson, of East Fifth street.

—In India, the land of famine, thousands die because they cannot obtain food. In America, the land of plenty, many suffer and die because they cannot digest the food they eat. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat. It instantly relieves and radically cures all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

Luscious Fruits.

Some are home grown, some are from California and Florida and some are imported. Among the first are berries, grapes, apples, delicious muskmelons, etc.

The second lot includes peaches, plums, pears, pineapples, bananas, etc. The foreign fruits are lemons, oranges, bananas, etc.

The fruits we offer are of delightful flavor and in perfect condition.

Berlin. Wie im internationalen telegraphischen Verkehr, so ist auch in dem unlängst vollständig eröffneten deutsch-französischen Fernsprechverkehr die französische Sprache die Dienstsprache. Für den Dienst im Fernzimmer des Stadtfernsprechamtes I in Berlin, das diesen Verkehr vermittelt, sind neun Gehilfinnen bestellt, die zum Theil als Lehrerinnen oder Erzieherinnen in Frankreich oder der französischen Schweiz gelebt haben und sämmtlich der französischen Sprache vollkommen mächtig sind.—Die längste Straßenbahnlinie Groß-Berlins, die verlängerte Linie Britz-Tegel, hat kürzlich den Verkehr aufgenommen. Für die Fahrt auf der 22 Kilometer langen Strecke werden 30 Pfennige berechnet.—Der 49 Jahre alte Dachdecker Wilhelm Michel wurde in seiner Laube als Leiche aufgefunden. Der Tod war anscheinend durch Erdrosselung eingetreten. Als Thäter ist der 39 Jahre alte Kutscher Leschinski verhaftet worden.—Im Alter von 65 Jahren starb der königliche Kammersänger Franz Betz. Er gehörte dem Berliner Opernhaus seit mehr als 40 Jahren an.

Rathenow. Neulich ist das 100-jährige Jubiläum der optischen Industrie in Rathenow festlich begangen worden. Die optische Industrie wurde im Jahre 1800 in unserer Stadt durch den Prediger Dunker eingeführt, dem ein Denkmal gesetzt wurde. Die Rathenower Industrie hat sich einen Weltruf erworben.

Soldin. Im April d. J. wurde der Modellsteher Max Wolf aus Bernstein zu sieben Monaten Gefängniß und fünf Jahren Ehrverlust verurtheilt. Er sollte einer Gräfin eine kostbare Taille unterschlagen haben. Unlängst ist das Kleidungsstück wieder zum Vorschein gekommen. Ein Dienstmädchen hat das Objekt gefunden. Das Verfahren wurde wieder aufgenommen und Wolf auf Antrag des Staatsanwalts freigesprochen.

Im Jahre 1900 waren bis vor Kurzem schon 313 Stück abgeliefert worden.

Demmin. Im Wüstenfelder Gehölz wurde vor circa 20 Jahren im Lebeler See ein Forstlehrling des Wüstenfelder Forsthofes als Leiche aufgefunden, ohne daß es trotz eifriger Nachforschungen gelungen wäre, den Schleier des Geheimnisses zu lüften. Kürzlich wurde nun von dem Arbeiter Lunau aus Grömitz zur Anzeige gebracht, daß ihm vor mehreren Jahren der Arbeiter Köster aus Sulsdorf erklärt habe, seinerzeit von dem Jägerlehrling im Wüstenfelder Gehölz beim Wildern betroffen worden zu sein. Um nun nicht ertappt zu werden, habe er den jungen Mann erdrosselt und alsdann die Leiche in den See geworfen.

ALL ABOUT WOMEN.

News and Notes Concerning the Unquiet Sex.

Miss Phœbe Meeks might well be the heroine of one of Mary Wilkins' romances. Fifty-six years ago, after a quarrel with her lover, she shut herself up in her house and has never been seen by the outside world since.

Although before her marriage she managed to support herself and her child on $5 a week, it has only taken seven years for Mrs. O'Neill to run through the enormous fortune of her husband, Henry J. O'Neill, "the barley king." He has filed a petition of bankruptcy, and she has fled to Paris, where she recently held a sensational sale of her effects. Among her weaknesses were 50 parasols, 150 pairs of silk stockings, 75 hats, besides gowns innumerable. Quite a modern Queen Elizabeth!

Mining pays better than acting. So decided the Misses Browning, who two years ago threw up their engagement in a Dawson City theater and took to prospecting on their own account. To-day they are in a fair way of becoming rich.

Here is a stenographer who is appreciated. Miss Mamie Muldoon has been appointed state auditor of Nebraska at a salary of $1,800 a year.

Although they had only $1,000 left of their little fortune, Mrs. Edward M. David did not despair when physicians in Los Angeles said that her husband's life depended upon her removing him to a certain mountain peak. Putting on a workman's blouse and overalls, she built with her own hands a frame house on the desired spot.

The latest fad of the Newport cottagers is to serenade one another with brass bands.

Why is the ordinary waitress so absentminded and why does she wear such an indescribable air of hauteur? These have been mysteries so far. Perhaps this may serve as an enlightenment. A young waitress in a well known Baden-Baden restaurant has published a book of poems. Her name is Grete Balduf and she is just 22. She has been "discovered" by several rich residents, who propose to give her the means to devote herself entirely to literature. Still it is to be hoped she may have few imitators on this side of the water, where there are more bad poets than good waitresses.

Mrs. James P. Kernochan is giving an example of how spiritualism can be used for practical purposes. A couple of years ago her husband was killed in a carriage accident on Fifth avenue. Since then he has appeared frequently to his wife, so she says, and guided her in her dealings on the Stock Exchange. Be this as it may, the results, far from being spiritual, have been most substantial.

The distinction of being Queen Victoria's greatest enemy belongs to Mme. de Bacharatt, wife of the Russian envoy to Morocco. Years ago, when she was a divorcee of doubtful reputation, she married secretly the Grand Duke of Hesse, whose wife, Queen Victoria's favorite daughter, had died a short time before. The marriage was only a few hours old when the queen heard of it. She immediately compelled the duke to divorce his wife, which the latter has never forgiven.

The saying that a woman never can hit anything is forcibly disproved by Miss Sonia Wright of Lafayette, Ind., who is one of the most remarkable dead shots in the United States.

The most coolly composed and best dressed woman at Lady Randolph Churchill's wedding is said to have been Lady Sarah Wilson. She is a striking example of Churchill daring. After unheard of adventures in South Africa, where she went as war correspondent, and after narrowly escaping being shot as a spy, she managed to reach London just in time for her sister-in-law's wedding.

An example of the new woman in business is Mrs. Mary Clark Avery. At the death of her husband she took his position as vice president and general manager of a large brass and copper mill. Under her able management profits have increased nearly 5 per cent.

There is a bright young descendant of Marshal Ney, who is making a reputation as an archæologist. Her name is Miss Alma Ney, and she has recently unearthed near her home at Fort Marble some fine specimens of the prehistoric gods of Texas.

One of Chicago's most successful politicians is Mrs. Minona Stearn Fitts. During a campaign she is untiring, and no man in her division stays home on election day.

It is the fad now to have cavies as pets. The cavy is a little South American animal of the guinea pig variety. Mrs. Edith Kingman of Woodstock, Ills., is the only woman in the United States to raise these animals.

Mrs. William Astor's niece, Miss Margaret Astor Chanler, has been sending complaints to the war department. She is a nurse in Manila, where she says there is a lack of supplies in the hospitals.

Lord Clandeboys has been appointed second secretary to the British embassy at Washington. Lady Clandeboys was a Miss Davis of New York.

A clever New York sculptress, Mrs. Clio Hinton Bracken, devotes her talent to producing the most tiny and at the same time the most artistic bronze statuettes.

AMEER COURTS WAR.

Afghan Troops Reported Ready to Invade Russian Soil.

Abdur Rahman Holds the Balance of Power in Asia and May Seek to Ruin Russian Plans in Northern China.

[Special Correspondence.]

ALTHOUGH Europe is always prepared to hear of startling military operations, and usually pays but little attention to them, yet every foreign office was thrown into genuine consternation a few days ago when the news came from Afghanistan that the ameer was mobilizing his forces on the Russian frontier.

There is no doubt that the completion of the Trans-Siberian railroad, which makes Afghanistan easily accessible to Russian troops, has aroused the jealousy and hatred of Abdur Rahman, the warlike ruler of the Afghans, and the actual outbreak of hostilities between the czar's frontier guards and the ameer's troops may occur at any moment.

Much light has been thrown on the causes which led to the present crisis by Dr. Lillias Hamilton, late medical adviser of the ameer's family, who left Herat in June, and has recently arrived in London, and whose opinions, as epitomized in the following paragraphs, are entitled to respectful consideration.

Dr. Lillias Hamilton was at Abdur Rahman's court more than ten years. As medical adviser to the ameer the English physician naturally learned much of the man. Consequently, his knowledge of the prince's private prejudices and probable action under contingency is second to none. Dr. Hamilton details a conversation he had with Abdur Rahman when the latter first heard of the proposed Trans-Siberian railroad and realized what such a line of communication between Russia and Siberia might mean for Afghanistan, Baluchistan, Khiva, Bokhara and those other minor states which have during the entire century played grain to the Russian-English millstones, and while slowly disappearing between the steady encroachments of both, have retained their liberty only because neither felt sufficiently strong to absorb them without the consent of the other.

"What every country wants nowadays is the sea," the ameer said on this occasion, "but a navigable sea, not one that is icebound for eight months out of the 12. That sea, that navigable sea, is what Russia wants. Where is she to get it? Away south, through Afghanistan and Beluchistan. Then, again, what every country wants is bread—bread for its people. From whence are the Russians from the snow-covered plains of the north to get wheat and grain of all sorts? From Herat, from Bamian, from Kandahar, Cabul and then India. It is the law of nature—every living thing turns toward the sun."

SCENE ON TRANS-SIBERIAN RAILROAD NEAR AFGHAN FRONTIER.

In other words, Abdur Rahman, who has had 20 years of active fencing with the statesmen of both countries, is "onto" both, and will not be caught napping by either.

But if the ameer fears Russia he has had an intimate acquaintance with the Briton also, and will not be snared into an entangling alliance with that empire.

"When my difficulties with Russia commence, as they assuredly will," he has said on being approached by a British ambassador recently with a proposal to make an alliance offensive and defensive against Russia, "I know exactly what the reply of your government will be when I apply to you for help. 'We are sorry for you, and would gladly help you,' you will say, 'but you have not allowed us to make railways in all directions through your country, so now, although we are quite aware that we made a treaty promising to give you every assistance against any invader, we are unabe to send you either men or arms. We have not any means of transport.'

ABDUR RAHMAN.
(Ameer of Afghanistan and Enemy of the Czar.)

"I am," he said, "like a gnat in a case, in a net. I see before me nothing but ruin, for at each entrance to my home there stands a foe—a wolf, a bear, a lion, all ready to devour me. But Afghanistan will not go down without a struggle, and when the opportunity is afforded I shall demonstrate in such manner as to 'stagger humanity' the power of the Afghans." The ameer is up on the news of the world. He must have read Oom Paul Kruger's defiance of Great Britain with interest, and doubtless had his own reflections on the ultimate outcome of the world-struggle now impending, in which Asia, from the Holy Land to Hong-Kong, will probably be made the battle ground of the nations.

The British government officials, adds a commentator in the Cincinnati Enquirer, take great interest in the ameer's attitude, as such a blow he might deal Russia would be of far-reaching effect in the Asiatic situation. There appears to be little doubt that the czar means ultimately to absorb all Manchuria. It is said that the Russian forces in China, now estimated at 45,000 of all classes, may be increased to the fabulous number of 240,000. The czar and the kaiser have openly declared war against China. While the remainder of the powers might be induced to withdraw, it is certain that both Russia and Germany contemplate forcing large concessions from Li Hung Chang. England, the United States and Japan are openly and avowedly against partition. In the world war is acknowledged on all sides to be imminent. The ameer of Afghanistan could easily make such a flank attack on the Trans-Siberian railway as to prevent reenforcements from reaching Manchuria. Moreover, the winter season is drawing on in Asia. Many of the Siberian rivers freeze up in September. Lake Barkal and the Ameer and Shilka rivers, important waterways forming part of the great trunk system, will soon be navigable only by great labor. If the Afghanistan troops could push on through Turkistan and invade Ferghana, the larger part of the reenforcements ready for China would have to be turned aside to meet them, and Russian schemes on Manchuria, for this year, at least, would be completely frustrated. The ameer thus holds the balance of power in Asia, much the same as the emperor of Abyssinia does in Africa, and is courted accordingly by all parties concerned.

Abdur Rahman has a regular army, variously estimated at from 50,000 to 80,000 troops of all classes. The system is based on European models and the soldiers drilled by both Russian and English officers. In addition to this the ameer's forces are greatly supplemented by local levies of horse and foot, corresponding to English and American militia systems. These forces have been increased 100 per cent. in the past four years. In 1896 Abdur Rahman introduced a levy of one man in every seven and issued arms and ammunition for practice free of cost to the various volunteer organizations. Cannon, rifles and ammunition of the most approved type are manufactured in the royal arsenal at Rabul. The Afghan cavalry is perhaps the most formidable branch of the regular service, as British and Russian veterans of former wars testify. There are 80 squadrons of regular horse, drilled into efficiency since Roberts marched to Kandahar by British officers, who seem to deem it no dishonor to train a possible future enemy of their native land. From his 4,000,000 subjects the ameer can easily raise 100,000 effective men, and may suddenly take such a part in the Asiatic chess game as will surprise both the lion and the bear, both of whom at present watch his movements with the keenest anxiety.

The Afghanistan troops are barracked in times of peace at Herat, Mazar-i-Shorif, Kandahar, Zelalabad and Kabul. The British foreign office has private information that these towns are bare of troops, and that the greater part of the ameer's army is at Balkh and Faizabod, on the Russian frontier. The maneuver may merely have been made for practice, after the method of the kaiser, whom Abdur greatly admires, and whose military ideas and systems he endeavors to emulate; but both Great Britain and Russia have officials who know better, and who will doubtless take action accordingly.

Apples Without Pips.

A fruit tree propagator has at last produced a seedless apple, and the fruits have been seen by many interested in pomology so that in a few years' time a good supply of these pipless apples will be found upon the market. It is said, too, that these new apples are superior in flavor to the ordinary kinds, announces the London Globe. Already high prices are being paid for the trees, which for some time yet will be bought up by rich amateurs.

CAMPAIGN OF 1900.

Twenty-Five Millions Will Be Spent to Carry It On.

An Army of 66,000 Spellbinders Will Invade Every Township in America—Partisan Literature by the Carload.

[Special Chicago Letter.]

THE other day I spent an hour or two at the campaign headquarters of the republican and democratic national committees. A few years ago one had to go to New York to get an insight into the workings of complicated election machinery. To-day Chicago is the center of partisan activity, just as it is the hub of American social life. Time was when the west was neglected by political manipulators, when millions were spent in the east and petty thousands west of the Alleghanies. Now expenditures are pretty evenly divided between the two sections, the difference, if any, being in favor of the central states.

Campaign headquarters inspires one with admiration for the men selected by the party chiefs to lead their nominees to victory. In no other calling, business or professional, must a man possess more Protean qualifications than in that of winning adherents to a political party. He must be a student, else he cannot answer the arguments of the opposition logically; he must be a diplomat, else he will offend members of his own party; he must be a Chesterfield and cordially welcome individuals of every persuasion, whether he likes them or not. He must, in short, be everything to everybody; must subdue the demon of pride, and offer himself as a sacrifice on the altar of partisan fealty.

Back numbers and fossils cannot be utilized by the managers of national campaigns. They must have about them men in sympathy with the idea of the hour, conversant with the plans of the opposition, and physically and mentally capable of undergoing the severest strains. Supersensitive persons would be as disastrous to a campaign committee as the bull of the story was to the china shop.

Four months is the duration of life of a national compaign organization. Within this short space of time its managers have to build up a business machine which, directly and indirectly, spends millions of dollars, supervises a house-to-house canvass in every township of the United States, sends out an army of 66,000 speakers and distributes thousands of tons of printed matter among the voting population.

Four years ago the republican and democratic national committee expended $2,500,000 each. This year the same sum will be raised by the financiers of the two great parties. Each state committee, it is estimated, will spend four dollars for every dollar spent by the national bodies, so that the cost of electing a president will amount to $25,000,000, not including the cost of election machinery, printing of tickets and other expenses borne by the taxpayers. The queen of Great Britain and Ireland receives an annual allowance of $1,925,000, or $7,700,000 in four years; and from this some pessimists jump to the conclusion that it is cheaper to maintain a monarch permanently than it is to elect a president every four years. They forget that the vast amount contributed by capitalists and officeholders for the conduct of a presidential campaign finds its way directly into the pockets of the people, not necessarily in the form of "blocks of five," "mules" or other historic quadrupeds, but in the payment of party workers, printing bills and headquarters' employes. Illegitimate expenses are never paid out of the public party funds, an account of which has to be rendered to the public through the national and state committees. Should money be needed for any sort of shady transaction it is always subscribed on the quiet and never appears in the official accounts of party treasurers.

The work of national campaign committees is divided into departments. Perhaps the most important of these is the one in charge of the preliminary canvass of voters. Its duty is to secure from every voter an expression of opinion of how he intends to vote and whether he is willing to take an active interest in the campaign. For the purpose of securing this information the national committee establishes communication with the various state committees. The latter instruct the county committees within their jurisdiction to complete the desired count within a given time. The county committees divide the work among the ward and township organizations, and the latter parcel it out to their precinct captains. In this manner the national committee is placed in possession of facts of vast importance. If it is found that a certain state is overwhelmingly on one side or the other, systematic efforts to carry it are dropped by the minority party. If a state is reported as being nearly evenly divided, money and men are poured into it by both parties. To make a successful house-to-house canvass requires judgment and nerve, and the precinct captains and county committeemen who come closest to a correct report are usually marked for political preferment. Just prior to the election a second canvass is made, and upon this are based the predictions made by the official prognosticators of the two parties. The preliminary canvass already is under way in all parts of the United States, and as soon as the returns are complete the campaign orators will sally forth to persuade doubters to court wealth and prosperity by voting the ticket for which they may happen to spout.

As a creator of slang the American has no equal. Our forefathers spoke with respect and admiration of "campaign orators;" we of this generation call them "spellbinders," and are inclined to look upon their forensic efforts with amusement rather than reverence. Yet, the spellbinder has his uses. He tickles the vanity of his hearers and occasionally drops a pearl of wisdom. At the national headquarters it was stated that by the first of October 66,000 individuals gifted with more or less oratorical talent would be in the field, appealing to the intelligence and patriotism of the American people. There will be genuine Yankee spellbinders, German spouters, Irish orators, Scandinavian persuaders and talkers in languages whose very existence is unknown in ordinary circles. Up in Wisconsin speakers must be able to harangue with equal facility in English and German; in Minnesota they must orate in the vernacular and in Swedish and Norwegian. Stars of the first magnitude—United States senators and representatives, governors and judges—will be chosen to address large gatherings in cities and at state fairs. Orators of local reputation will be assigned to localities within the radius of their renown. Hyphenated Americans of note will travel from the Atlantic to the Pacific to bring their countrymen into line. In addition to the animated spellbinders, both parties will make use of phonographs loaded with choice extracts from the speeches of Gov. Roosevelt, William J. Bryan and other idols of the hour, so that every voter can hear the voice of his favorite son and give expression to his pent-up enthusiasm by yells such as are heard only during presidential campaigns. Rural communities will be enlivened by picnics of a political nature and treated to speeches by men familiar with farming and the needs of farmers. Industrial centers will be visited by workingmen who not only know how to talk but how to arouse the self-interest of their audiences. And so all along the line. Every interest must be considered, no class or faction must be neglected; and he who thinks it is an easy thing to assign an army of 66,000 spellbinders—each to his proper sphere—had better try it before exposing his ignorance.

Even more important than the oratorical department is that intrusted with the dissemination of campaign literature. Fully 100,000,000 documents relating to the issues of the year will be sent out under the direction of the chiefs of these divisions, entailing an expense of $500,000 for each party. During the closing days of the last congress, it will be remembered, members on both sides indulged in eloquent partisan flights. These speeches, products of congressional brains, can be sent through the mails free of charge, and millions of copies will be utilized to influence doubtful voters. Lithographs of the candidates will be sent to every post office in the union, and 5,000,000 buttons have been ordered by each side to decorate the coats or vests of the faithful. Stereopticons will also be used by these departments for the purpose of displaying cartoons to emphasize the methods of speakers. Country newspapers are already being supplied with party supplements and stereotype plates—and city papers, whose income forbids the employment of editorial writers, can have all the arguments they want, free of charge. In its various ramifications the campaign department of publicity and promotion is perhaps the most influential, although it is by no means the most expensive.

The number of men employed by the committees of the two great parties is estimated at 75,000; but this, of course, includes employes of state and county committees as well as those of the national bodies. G. W. WEIPPIERT.

FURNISHING NOTES.

Suggestions Regarding the Most Suitable Articles for the Household in Summer.

The newest furniture for the porch is made of old hickory in very substantial and comfortable forms. This furniture, it is claimed, is almost indestructible, says the Ladies' World.

Something new and airy in summer window drapery is colored mull. This material is full a yard wide and fast in color.

Madagascar cross stripe curtains have recently been selling for about $1.50 per pair. These curtains are light in weight and very decorative in effect.

Something dainty and cool looking are the ruffled organdie bed sets in delicate colors on white grounds. Window curtains come to match them; both are of the finest quality and would dress the bed and windows in a guest chamber very acceptably.

India rockers are picturesque and delightfully comfortable for the porch as well as for the house. Their frames are made of bentwood; the seats and backs are composed of red and yellow splints gayly interwoven. The bentwood gives restful curves to the back and sides of these chairs.

Housewives may now find bargains in thin, summery curtains to make home look cool and inviting during the hot month of August, and during the heats of early September. There are bobbinets, with insertion and wide ruffles, edged with pretty laces; fancy muslin curtains with lace stripe and coin-spot design and ruffled borders.

Linen couch covers are a seasonable novelty. They come in three sizes and cost from $1.75 to $2.50.

Never was wicker furniture more attractively gotten up than this summer. Red, green and royal purple are the favorite colors. Chairs, rockers and settees in these colors are comfortably provided with loose cushions covered with dainty textiles.

Japanese jute rugs are charming for summer and early autumn use in rooms with a north light, or rooms shaded by vine-covered porches and galleries. They do not keep their colors in strong sunlight, but as a set-off they are not liked by moths.

The ordinary crash toweling, that can be bought every summer at such low prices, makes excellent summer portieres for country houses. The crash may be used crosswise or lengthwise sewed together, and ornamented by herring-boning in gay colors.

The shops are full of quaintly beautiful bits of furnishing for the table, mantel and cabinet. Notable among these are articles of glass, reproductions of ancient art, the glasses of Cyprus and Crete.

Pompeiian glass appears in beautiful forms in a dark bronze color.

Very charming for flowers, such as violets and carnations and other small and medium sized blossoms are the small vases in crystal and gold and green and gold.

HOW SHE CAUGHT HIM.

He Tried to Deceive His Bride, But Gave Himself Away in the Effort.

"Well, my dear, what is the trouble now?"

It was Mrs. Eastlake who spoke, and she addressed her query to Mrs. Perkasie, says the Detroit Free Press.

Mrs. Perkasie was her daughter, and the mother, who lived near, had dropped in, as was her wont, to note how matters were going in the new household, for Mrs. Perkasie had been married but a short time.

"It's — Charles — Augustus — boo-hoo!" sobbed the bride.

"What's about Charles?" demanded Mrs. Eastlake. "Has he been mistreating you, dear?"

"Yes—cruelly—boo-hoo!"

"What has he done?" asked Mrs. Eastlake, as she sat down on the sofa, where her daughter was sobbing in the pillows.

"He has de-de-deceived me!"

"In what way, child?"

"Why, he was out late last night—boo-hoo—and at the breakfast table I asked him what had kept him—boo-hoo—and he said he was detained at the office because there was some trouble with the books!"

"Well, my dear," said Mrs. Eastlake, soothingly, "that is something which is likely to happen to any business man, and you must not mind it. He did not deceive you, daughter."

"But, mamma, he did. It was just one of those excuses that married men always have ready to explain a night's spree or something. I've read of such things in the paper."

"But what makes you say that he deceived you, daughter?"

"Oh, I caught him smartly enough. He thought I didn't know anything, and that I was a little baby to be imposed upon just as he chose."

"But how, my dear? What did you discover? What did he confess?"

"Well, when he said he had been working with his books, I asked him what particular book he had been working with; and what do you suppose he replied?"

"Oh, I don't know; the ledger, probably."

"No, mamma, not the ledger. It was the daybook, he said. Just as if it were possible for him to be working on the daybook at night. That's how I caught him. Oh, I can never, never trust him again, and wish I had never been born."

Whereupon the afflicted young woman burst into a fresh paroxysm of tears.

FLAG FOR CHURCHES

Devised by Bishop Leighton Coleman of Delaware Diocese.

He Thinks the Followers of Christ Should Float an Emblem of Their Own—Has Some Relation to National Flag.

Bishop Leighton Coleman, of the Episcopal diocese of Delaware, is a churchman of original and progressive ideas. He is full of resources for the extension of church work, and the centralization of its interests. His latest device to advance both purposes is a project to introduce a general church flag, about which all forces can rally and be stimulated to renewed endeavors in the interests of the mutual work. He has, therefore, adopted a suitable emblem for his own church, and hopes to see a general flag ultimately chosen, says the Philadelphia Times.

This is how he views the flag and the good it will accomplish:

"We all know the power of a flag. How it appeals to our better nature, and bestirs us to a lively remembrance and to heroic deeds. For ages the state all over the world has its flag of various hues and designs, according to race and nationality. Indeed, it is one of the first things which a new government adopts.

"Why should the church be without a flag? For some time I have been thinking over the matter, and at last, with the valued aid of two friends, who are experts in heraldry, determined upon a design which has been thoroughly well executed in bunting by a widely known Philadelphia firm.

"I wanted something which, while it had a relation to our national flag, should have about it something essentially ecclesiastical. The cross in the white field is in shape what is known as a bishop's cross, its arms florented.

AMERICAN CHURCH FLAG.
(Designed by the Patriotic Bishop of Delaware.)

Its color is, of course, purple, as being the bishop's color. It is surrounded on the right and left by seven bars, the number seven being the mystical number of perfection. My chief idea in having this flag is that it may serve as an object lesson to all who pass by and see it.

"It will be unfurled only on special church days. Those will include all the chief festivals of the church, saints' days, great ecclesiastical anniversaries, etc. So that when people see it flying they will be led to inquire why it has been raised on that particular day, and will find out what the festival is, or what prominent event is commemorated.

"It flies from a fine pole over 50 feet high, erected at the exterior extremity of my beautiful little chapel. The harmony and effectiveness of the various colors will be at once acknowledged by those who see this handsome banner.

"Its size is nine feet six inches square. This shape rather than the oblong was preferred as being more ancient and heraldic, and as being more serviceable in the wind."

The bishop first displayed his flag on St. Bartholomew's day, when it was swung out to the breeze from the high pole situated in beautiful Bishopstead, along the banks of the picturesque Brandywine creek, at Wilmington, Del.

Since then it has waved continuously and has served to attract attention to the place and to its occupant. Such attention has aroused inquiry and developed new interest in the organization of the church and in its work and has undoubtedly served to stimulate the members of the church to renewed efforts and endeavors.

Not only this, but it has given them something tangible to take hold of and defend. It is the symbol of their work and represents something real and personal to every individual churchman. The natural result is the unification of the membership and a more determined and concerted body standing ready to confront and combat opposition.

There is little doubt that a similar result would be brought about with the general church if adopted. The same rule would hold good for it as for the individual institution.

At any rate, this is Bishop Coleman's idea. It has proven plausible enough to attract the attention of a number of other prominent churchmen, with the result that the plan will be seriously considered. If they decide that it is practicable it will undoubtedly be adopted.

A Monster Match Factory.

The biggest match factory in the world is the Vulcan match factory, at Tidaholm, Sweden. It employs over 1,200 men and manufactures daily 900,000 boxes of matches. The yearly output requires 600,000 cubic feet of wood, 250,000 pounds of paper and 40,000 pounds of rye flour for pasting the boxes. Three hundred of the most complete and ingenious pieces of machinery, all of Swedish invention, are used in this factory.

PRETTY HOME WEDDING.

ONE OF THE FIRST NUPTIAL AFFAIRS OF THE AUTUMN SEASON.

Miss Virginia Negus the Bride—Groom From Buffalo—Wedding in Bride's Aunt's Home.

One of the first weddings of the fall season was that of yesterday afternoon, when Miss Virginia Negus, and John Frech, of Buffalo, N. Y., were married at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Susan Negus, at 917 Madison avenue, in the presence of the relatives and intimate friends of the couple. It was a green and white wedding, and the home was made as beautiful as the season's flowers could make it. The color white prevailed in the parlor, where the ceremony took place.

The ceremony took place at 5 o'clock, and was performed by Rev. N. Dunham VanSyckel, rector of St. Mark's P. E. church, Philadelphia, a cousin of the bride. He was assisted by Rev. William Harris, of Somerville, an intimate friend of the family. The regular service of the Episcopal church was used, and the bride was given away in marriage by her uncle, James E. Negus, of Greenville, Miss.

The bride, gowned in chiffon over white silk, trimmed with point lace, was attended by her cousin, Miss Carrie Belle, of Greenville, Miss., who wore a gown of organdie over white silk. The former carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley, while the maid-of-honor carried pink roses. The best man was Theodore Frech, of Bound Brook, a brother of the groom. The ushers completed the bridal party. They were: Horatio Negus, brother of the bride, and Thomas VanSyckel, of Bound Brook; Harry A. Smith, cousin of the groom, and John Watt, of Somerville.

As the bridal party entered the parlor a favorite wedding march was played, and following the ceremony, a delightful reception was given Mr. and Mrs. Frech. After supper was served, the bride and groom departed from the relatives and friends to enjoy an extended honeymoon.

A handsome and costly collection of wedding gifts were received by the happy couple, showing the esteem and admiration on the part of their relatives and friends. Mr. Frech is a civil engineer at Buffalo, and both he and his wife have a large circle of friends who will extend their best wishes for a long life and a happy and successful one. They have not yet decided upon their permanent place of residence.

There were guests present from many distant points, also from this city, Bound Brook, Somerville and other nearby places.

Home From Pacific Coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Moore and son, Herbert W. Moore, of 95 Grove street, arrived home about 7 o'clock this morning, after a delightful trip of eight weeks through California. The weather during the entire trip was superb, and no excessive warm spells were experienced. Only once during the trip did they have rain and that was the day they stopped at Salt Lake City on their return. They traveled in all about ten thousand miles, going by the Great Lakes and the Northwestern part of the country, and returning by a Southern route.

Gutters Cleaned.

Under the direction of the Borough Board of Health, Inspector Pangborn washed the gutters on Somerset street between Lincoln place and Greenbrook road, last Tuesday night. This was needed very much and in consequence the air is much improved in that vicinity.

Selection of Borough Marshal.

At the meeting of the Mayor and Borough Council tomorrow evening among other things of importance to be considered will be the appointment of a marshal to take the place of Jacob Kliner, resigned. It is understood that the marshal committee has decided to recommend George Weiss for the position. He was formerly a regular marshal and performed his duty with credit. His return to the ranks would be a move in the right direction. The committee is also considering the question of creating the office of Chief Marshal, and appointing someone who is thoroughly equipped for the position.

Light Paralytic Stroke.

Isaac P. Brown, of Watchung avenue, one of Plainfield's best known and most highly respected citizens, suffered a light paralytic stroke last Tuesday evening at his home. His left leg, arm and hand were affected, and for a time his condition was considered serious, owing to his advanced age, 89 years. Dr. Probasco was called and through the application of electricity the stricken parts are much improved. Mr. Brown is able to sit up today, and it is hoped he will soon be able to go out.

Chief Dined Wedding Party.

The wedding of Chief of Police Patrick Kiely took place last evening at 6 o'clock just as it was planned. There wasn't a hitch and the Chief and his bride were properly married in the presence of a little party. After the ceremony the Chief took the party to a cosy little French restaurant in the neighborhood where the wedding dinner was served. Then Chief Kiely and his bride departed on their bridal tour, the destination of which is unknown.

Horse Afraid of Trolley.

William VanCourt, of Oak Tree, and his sister, Mrs. Randolph, of West Fourth street, were returning from Boynton Beach Monday afternoon and passed a trolley car near Seawarren. The horse became frightened and ran away, throwing both the occupants of the carriage into the ditch. Neither was seriously injured. The horse was caught after it ran some distance.

Died After Short Illness.

After an illness of only a few days, Miss Louise Kuenlen, aged 27 years, daughter of Mrs. Marie Kuenlen, of 912 West Front street, died this morning. Death was due to an attack of appendicitis. Miss Kuenlen, together with her mother and sister, Miss Helena Kuenlen, moved to Plainfield from Dunellen about five years ago.

To Repair Somerset Street.

The borough street committee held a meeting last evening and decided to repair Somerset street from Jackson avenue to the end of the borough line. The plan is to fill in all depressions and holes and dress it up. One-third of the expense is to be paid by the trolley company. The work will be started next week.

Past Four Score Point.

The death of Mrs. Elizabeth Becker, wife of Christaph Becker, occurred last evening. She was eighty-one years old, and had been ill for some time past. The funeral services will held from the house, 312 East Fourth street, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment at Hillside cemetery.

Pocketbook Looted.

Mrs. J. R. Blair, of Duer street, went on the Grocers' Association excursion Labor Day. She left a pocketbook containing between $11 and $12 in a bureau drawer. When she returned the money was gone. Mrs. Blair has her eyes on the suspect and expects to be able to discover the thief.

Pilger Fined $3.

Wm. Pilger, of the borough, for being disorderly on Somerset street last Saturday evening, was arrigned before Mayor Smalley last evening. The complainant was Marshal Fred Emmons, who made the arrest. The prisoner was fined $3.

Reception for Mrs. Westphal.

Iona Council, D. of P., tendered a pleasant reception to Mrs. Frederick Westphal in the council rooms last evening. The affair was in honor of her birthday and the fortieth anniversary of her marriage. Her birthday occurred last Sunday, but it was celebrated only in a quiet manner by a number of friends from Newark. The wedding anniversary occurred yesterday, and the members of the council decided to surprise her after the regular meeting was over. Dancing, music for which was furnished by Frazee's orchestra, was kept up until midnight and concluded with the serving of refreshments.

DEMOCRATS CHOOSE DELEGATES TONIGHT.

Primaries to be Held in the Wards of the City and the Borough.

MARTINE AT PERTH AMBOY.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR REPUBLICAN LEAGUE CONVENTION.

"Railroad Orator" Hired by G. O. P. Managers—Hudson County May be Represented by Only Ten at State Convention.

Democratic primaries will be held in the various wards of the city tonight at 8 o'clock for the purpose of electing delegates to attend the State convention at Trenton next Wednesday and also for the Congressional convention at Bayonne Sept. 19th. The First, Second and Third wards will be entitled to two delegates each and the Fourth ward to three to both conventions. The Democratic leaders in the city hope to have a good turnout of partisans at the primaries.

The Democratic primary in the borough will also be held this evening in the basement of the public school building to elect delegates to the State convention.

James E. Martine was the principal speaker at a Democratic banner raising in Perth Amboy Wednesday evening. The affair was attended by 1,500 people, who were enthusiastic for the Democratic candidates.

Plans for the convention of the Republican clubs of the State, scheduled for September 13th at Jersey City, have been completed, with the exception of assigning speakers for the overflow meeting, which President F. F. Meyer, jr., believes will be necessary. The programme for the event includes the convention in the afternoon, supper for the delegates, trolley rides through the county and a general mass-meeting at night. The committee on speakers, President Meyer, Mr. Higgins and Mr. Carey, have secured Senator Foraker, of Ohio, and John Barrett, formerly United States Minister to Siam, as the principal speakers of the convention.

Edgar J. Dwyer, who is employed on the Central Railroad of New Jersey as an engineer and is well known in this vicinity as the "the railroad orator," was among the speakers at the noonday meeting of the Republican Commercial Travelers' Club, New York, yesterday. Mr. Dwyer's services have been secured by the National Committee and he will stump Ohio and neighboring States after September 15th until election day.

Hudson County's Democratic organization, which is angry at the State committee because it ordered the State convention held next Wednesday, the day set apart for the outing of Leader Robert Davis's followers, decided yesterday to send only ten men to the convention. Hudson is entitled to 172 delegates.

The Hudson delegates will present the name of Peter Hauck, the brewer, of Harrison, for Presidential elector from the Seventh Congressional District. Leader Davis will go on the outing, not to the convention.

Davis declared yesterday that he would advocate next year the holding of Democratic State conventions at other places besides Trenton. He said:

"These State conventions could just as well be held at Atlantic City, Asbury Park, Newark or Jersey City. If they were held at Asbury Park or Atlantic City at this time of the year, a trip to the convention city would be in the nature of an enjoyable outing. There are no great attractions in Trenton, and that city is not in the central part of the State, either. There are other places more accessible and more suitable."

A meeting of a number of Democrats from various parts of Somerset county was held in Somerville yesterday to plan for a big party demonstration in the near future. It was decided to make a strong effort to induce Col. Bryan to address a gathering of Democrats from all over the Third Congressional district at the Somerville fair grounds while he is in the east. It is not known whether Mr. Bryan can arrange to go to Somerville, but if he does a big time will be given him. It was also arranged for a ratification meeting of the county Democrats to be held in Somerville September 29th. No Democrat representing North Plainfield was present at the meeting.

Operation on His Hand.

John H. Pope, of Netherwood Stables, underwent an operation on his hand yesterday by Dr. Robert R. St. Clair, of Westfield. He passed a very painful night, but is feeling a little easier this morning.

HUNTING SUICIDE'S BODY

NO TRACE OF OLD BLACKSMITH, MISSING THREE WEEKS.

False Identification Made—Had Headstone Erected and Raised Money to Pay for His Burial.

Villagers of Weston and Millstone organized yesterday a searching party to find the body of Enos Foreman, the aged village blacksmith, who has now been missing for three weeks and is believed to have committed suicide by drowning.

Foreman attempted to kill himself three times before his final disappearance. Over a month ago he tied a large stone to his leg and jumped into the Detaware and Raritan canal at Weston. The stone became detached and he attempted to drown by lying in shallow water until he was exhausted. He was discovered before he had accomplished his purpose and was fished out.

Dubois French, a well-to-do farmer of Millstone, afterward befriended Foreman. On August 11 he left the French residence late in the afternoon to pick blackberries in the meadow. On the following day his pail of berries was found between the Delaware and Raritan canal and the Millstone River and he has since been missing.

Two days after Foreman's disappearance the dead body of a man was found wedged under the logs of a raft in the canal several miles below Bound Brook. The body was interred in the Potter's Field near New Brunswick. The dead man was believed to be Foreman, but subsequently his friends were led to believe that it was a case of mistaken identity, and had the body disinterred, when it was discovered that the dead man was not Foreman.

The friends of the old blacksmith believe that he is still on the bottom of the canal or river with a stone tied to his neck.

Some years ago Foreman had his headstone erected in the graveyard at Millstone, and placed enough money in a bank for his burial, and his friends want to place his body, if it can be found, by the side of that of his wife in the village cemetery. The searching party, led by Capt. Ben Welsh, dragged yesterday the bottom of the river without finding the body. The search will be continued today.

Complaint Against Trolley.

A party of Westfielders who recently visited Boynton Beach on the trolley made the trip to the beach with reasonable expedition, but returning it was not so. Arriving at Picton on the way home, they were obliged to wait 25 minutes for the car to leave for Rahway junction, which usually takes but five minutes between those two points. When the conductor was appealed to he replied nonchalantly that it was not time to leave yet, which was exasperating to the last degree to the excursionists, and, as the hour was late, the delay was more annoying. The conductor insisted that he was not behind time.

Elected Officers.

The semi-annual election of officers of the Christian Endeavor Society of Hope chapel was held at the chapel Wednesday evening and resulted as follows: President, John Young; vice-president, Miss Frances Cose; secretary, Miss Marion Porter; treasurer, George Slorah. A lawn sociable was arranged for Tuesday evening, to be held on the lawn of the chapel. There will be a programme, followed by refreshments.

To Enroll Pupils.

Superintendent H. J. Wightman will be at the Borough High School building on Monday next from 9 to 11:30 a. m., and from 1:30 to 3 p. m., to enroll any pupils who wish to enter the school, and to consider with parents and pupils courses of study for the coming year. Note advertisement in another part of paper.

Work of Fresh Air Camp.

The report of the work at the Westfield Fresh Air Camp shows the number at the camp during the summer to have been 1,054. There were 133,963 meals furnished to the campers. The total cost per capita per day, all expenses included, was .0916. Treasurer A. N. Pierson finds himself with a deficiency of $220 to meet.

Improving East Front Street.

Street Commissioner Gavett is now directing his attention to East Front street, between Watchung avenue and Rihmond street. It will be levelled and resurfaced and put in first-class shape. The curb line and gutters will all receive a general overhauling.

To Merge Departments.

After this week the construction departments of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway will be merged, for a time at least in the maintainance department, as all the work of construction has been completed.

BACHELOR-BENEDICTS

These of the Park Club Will Meet on the Golf Links Tomorrow Afternoon.

The Bachelor Benedict matches on the bowling alleys of the Park Club have long been famed for interest and excitement. Now many of the same men, who are members of the Park Golf Club, are going to meet tomorrow afternoon for a contest at golf. This Bachelor-Benedict golf match will be played tomorrow afternoon on the Park Club course if the team from the Morristown Golf Club fails to put in an appearance. A return match was scheduled with the Morristown players for tomorrow afternoon but it is quite likely that the match will be laid over. Members wishing to play in the Bachelor-Benedict match must be at the clubhouse at 2 o'clock in order that they may be selected by respective captains and paired off for playing. There will probably be ten men on each team.

RESISTED ARREST.

Special Officer Gorman Had to Use His Club on Willie Kiss Last Evening.

Willie Kiss came into police court this morning minus one tooth, with a cut lip and a swollen head. He had an interview with Special Officer Gorman last evening and the two were having a lively setto when Patrolman Higgins arrived on the scene. Kiss is a young man. He went to the picnic last night and when he returned home late Gorman says that he was drunk. At any rate, Kiss wandered up East Second street to his home singing and shouting all to himself.

Gorman heard the noise and found Kiss in front of the latter's home. He refused to go or cease his noise. The officer attempted to arrest him and Kiss put up a fight. Gorman then went home after his club and used it on Kiss' head and face. Kiss used his fists with effect.

Patrolman Higgins was attracted by the shouts of Kiss who yelled and swore roundly at Gorman. Higgins took the young man by the collar and shook him into peacefulness in a brief space of time.

Kiss was arraigned before City Judge Runyon this morning and was fined $3 for his misconduct.

PLAN TO UNITE SIX TOWNS.

Scheme to Consolidate Hoboken and Others as West New York.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, Sept. 7—Residents of West New York, Hudson county, who number less than 10,000, have made what appears to them to be a generous proposition to the inhabitants of their neighboring cities and towns in North Hudson county, which includes Hoboken, West Hoboken, Union Hill, Weehawken, North Bergen and Guttenberg, with a total population of 200,000, to join with them and establish the city of West New York. If such a consolidation should be effected, all that West New York will insist upon is that the new city shall take its name.

Captain William H. Schmidt, who long has been identified with West New York's municipal affairs and who is its present treasurer, is enthusiastic over the project, and he says the consolidation is bound to come within a short time.

"Already," he said, "our town has many miles of taxable railroad property within its limits. Now that the new $60,000,000 bridge to connect this town with the great metropolis is assured, nearly every one of the great trunk railroads running from the west will be obliged to enter the town to gain access to the bridge. There will be additional property worth millions to assess.

W. C. T. U. Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held in their room 100 Madison avenue next Thursday, September 13th, at 10 a. m. The President's address and the election of officers will take place during the morning and State President Mrs. Bourne and others will make addresses during the afternoon.

Noted Singer to be Heard.

J. Harry Hamilton, baritone soloist at the Church of the Ascension, Fifth avenue, New York, will sing morning and evening next Sunday at the First Presbyterian church. He will probably sing "The Holy City" and "Calvary." While in this city he will be the guest of Walter A. Clark, of West Front street.

Origin and Status of Colored Race.

Pastor Jackson, of the Mt. Olive Baptist church, will preach a sermon next Sunday evening on the origin and true status of the colored race. It will be of a historical and Biblical nature. The public is cordially invited.

BOROUGH SCHOOLS OPEN NEXT WEEK

Work May Be Hampered Somewhat Until Improvements Are All Completed.

MANUAL TRAINING SCHOOL.

MR. M'CUTCHEN SPENDS $500 MORE THAN ORIGINAL OFFER.

He Wants to Have That Department as Perfect as Possible—Only One Change in the Corps of Instructors.

The borough public schools will reopen for the fall and winter next week Tuesday morning. As was expected, there will be an increase in the attendance at both schools. The improvements now being made at the Somerset street school will, in a measure, affect the school. It will be necessary to hold one session in a portion of the school, but this will only be for a short time or until the improvements are completed. The work of installing the new heating and ventilating system is progressing favorably, and it should not require a great deal more time to finish it.

The work of building the addition on the rear of the High School, for the manual training department, will be started in a few days, and then will be pushed rapidly toward completion. The plans for the addition have been altered somewhat making it more elaborate and desirable. Chas. W. McCutchen, who contributed the money for this building, has increased his contribution $500 to allow for the changes which he himself suggested making. The borough is, indeed, fortunate in having a person who interests himself so largely in matters of education.

When all improvents are completed the school will be in condition for superior work, and all friends of the schools will not begrudge the little extra it costs to have them made. The new heater and the closets arrived at the school yesterday, but unfortunately some of the marble work for the sanitary appliances were broken while on the cars. This will have to be paid for by the railroad, and it will occasion a little delay while waiting for other parts. The heating and ventilating fines are in position, and as soon as the heater is installed the connections can be made. The change has made it necessary to transpose of the electric light wires and fixtures and this work is about completed.

With one exception the corps of teachers at the schools will be the same as announced just before school closed last June. The one change is made necessary by the resignation of Miss Maude Acock, of Trenton, who, owing to the illness of her mother, was compelled to give up teaching. While all will regret that Miss Acock is not to return, they will be pleased to learn that a thoroughly competent teacher has been secured to teach the fifth grade. Miss Annie L. Holcomb was engaged yesterday for the position. She has had a wide experience as a teacher during the past few years, and comes highly recommended by Prof. Green, superintendent of the State Normal School. Miss Holcomb was in Plainfield yesterday and arrangements were completed for her engagement.

By tomorrow all of the school teachers will have returned from their summer outing, and ready to commence work next Tuesday morning. A bright and prosperous year is predicted by the Board of Eductation and all teachers, and no doubt that at end of the school year the results will be fully up to the expectations of all.

Roads Kept Free of Weeds.

Constable William Pangborn, of the borough, had occasion a few days ago to make a trip a distance of fourteen miles through the upper part of Somerset county, and he was impressed with the satisfactory working of Senator Reed's new law compelling the cutting down of weeds along the highway. The entire distance traveled showed that the roads are now kept free and clear of this nuisance, which heretofore was a blight on the county's fair name.

Shot a Valuable Horse.

Upon request of the owner Patrolman Saunders shot a valuable horse Wednesday night belonging to R. H. Keenan, of East Fifth street. The animal had been suffering for sometime with paralysis of the throat which had been declared incurable.

Plans Modified.

The plans for the new Westfield schoolhouse have been so modified that the building can be erected for $45,000, the amount of the appropriation.

BOYS AND MATCHES.

They Proved a Combination That Came Near Starting a Bad Fire.

Two small boys and a box of matches was the combination which came near resulting in a serious fire on West Front street yesterday afternoon. The boys were Jabob Abrams and John Staats and they procured the matches from the former's mother on pretext of getting them for a man. They then went to the rear of Mr. Abrams store and set fire to a pile of rubbish which was piled againt the building. After doing this they went away but the fire kept on burning. The clerks were first made aware of it by a dense smoke pouring into to it and on rushing out the woodwork was found to be burning in a dangerous manner. It was put out with pails of water. But a few minutes more and the blaze would have gained such headway as to nessitate calling the apparatus.

COULDN'T SAVE LIFE.

Operation Performed for Appendicitis, But Patient's Heart Proved to be Too Weak.

Miss Louisa Kuenlen, who died at her home in West End Park, was taken ill a week ago yesterday while engaged in some work about the house. At first the distress was thought little of, but soon afterward the attack became so severe that the family physician, Dr. Zeglio, was called. He pronounced it a very bad case of appendicitis, and he told the patient that she could not live without an operation, whereas an operation would give fair chances for recovery. It was decided to operate and this was done by Dr. Zeglio and Dr. Endicott with other assistants. The operation was very successful, but an exceedingly weak heart, which was more pronounced after the operation, made recovery impossible.

Miss Kuenlen was conscious to the last and was able to make every arrangement for her funeral which will be held from the house next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be in the family plot at Bound Brook.

GYPSIES DID NOT COME.

But the Elder Harrison Promises to Have Them Here.

Contrary to expectation William Harrison and his wife, the Gypsies, accused of cruelly treating Clara Jackson, did not appear in Justice Nash's court yesterday. A letter was received this morning by Lawyer George Moy from Nailor Harrison, the head of the band, in which he stated he was unable to locate them in time to bring them to Plainfield. They are now in Nyack, N. Y., and will be brought to this city at an early date. The elder Harrison is sincere and is anxious to do all he can to clear up the matter.

Still Holds His Own.

Martin Walsh, the injured trolley motorman, who is detained at the hospital, continues to hold his own remarkably well. He is conscious most of the time and no unfavorable symptoms have thus far developed. The depressed fracture of the skull is directly over the left eye, and so far as can be learned by the physicians it appears to be a small one. Both eyes are very black as a result of bruises received in the accident. Walsh has discovered that his leg was amputated and contrary to expectations he acted in a mild manner. The physicians cannot yet tell whether he will recover or not, but so long as he holds his own the chances are favorable.

The Somerset Courts.

On Friday Judge Schenck naturalized 65 persons. Walter Vandervoort, Frank Hall and John Hall, on a charge of assault and battery and resisting an officer, pleaded guilty. The first two named were fined $25 each, which they paid. The latter was given one day in jail.

Handsome Country Home.

Plans will be out soon for a handsome country residence to be erected at Warrenville by Peter Williams, of that place. John Skellinger, of Elmwood place, is the architect. The work will be started about October 1st.

Want Trolley Extended.

The Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway company will shortly be asked by many of the citizens to extend its road from Elizabeth along Staten Island sound to Cartaret.

Stone Sidewalks.

Persons intending to lay stone sidewalks should consult W. E. Bartle, whose yard is at 302 Park avenue. He has made a big cut in the price. See his ad in today's Press.

To Fat Up Third Building.

The Aeolian Organ Company at at Garwood has commenced work on a third large building.

MEETING CALLED OFF.

REPUBLICANS WILL NOT HEAR VICTOR B. DOLLIVER.

City Executive Committee Decided That Way Last Night—Want a More Noted Speaker.

There will be no Republican mass-meeting in Plainfield next week. It will be remembered that the county executive committee of the G. O. P. assigned Victor B. Dolliver, of Iowa, to speak in this city Thursday, September 13th, and that the Plainfield members of the county committee were very glad to accept the date at that time, supposing that it was Senator J. P. Dolliver who was to speak here. The mistake was afterwards discovered. A meeting of the city executive committee was held in Republican headquarters last evening, when the committee decided not to accept the date given by the county committee but to wait until the banner-raising, as was originally planned, before opening the local campaign.

There was not a majority of the committee present at the meeting, only five out of twelve being there, so it was really impossible to arrange for the mass meeting. The matter had been informally discussed before the meeting, however, and was the opinion of many of the committee that, as the county committee had not provided a speaker of unusual prominence, it would be just as well to follow the plan of campaign originally set down by the city committee and open the campaign in Plainfield with a banner raising later in the month.

So far there has practically nothing been done politically in this city and the committee preferred to wait a few weeks before trying to start the enthusiasm with any big rally. So the minority at the meeting last night voted to decline the offer of the county committee with thanks.

SHOOTING SQUIRRELS.

Game Law Makes Open Season Commence November 1st and Not September 1st.

Several complaints have been received of late concerning the hunting of squirrel by persons who either are ignorant of the law, or who have no regard for it. At one time the law for squirrel was up September 1st, but it was changed to November 1st, and a fine of $20 can be imposed for every squirrel shot or captured before that time.

During the past few days several persons have been shooting squirrel in the vicinity of Mt. Bethel, and it might be well for the game warden to make an investigation. Last Monday a person was seen near the Passaic river with several squirrels and when told that the law was not up, insisted that it was. Other persons have been seen hunting them in the moonlight in the same vicinity. It is quite easy to capture squirrel in the full of the moon as they come out to feed at that time, and when they run about the trees they are easily detected.

Secretly Married.

Secret marriages seem to be all the go this summer. Several have just been announced which took place at various times and they are still coming. The latest couple to surprise their friends by informing them of their marriage were Richard Ayers, of West Second street, and Miss Beatrice Meaghan. They were married by Rev. Father Miller at the rectory of St. Joseph's church early last month. They will for the present take up their residence on West Second street.

Relatives Fought.

James McCartney and his brother-in-law had a tussle in the yard in the rear of their joint home on West Second street last night. Patrolman Weinzenreid arrived on the scene. The brother-in-law fled but McCartney remained and defied the representative of the law. The officer's warnings were unheeded and Weinzenreid finally put McCartney under arrest. He was haled before City Judge Runyon this morning and fined $5.

Hurt at a Quarry Blast.

John Felix, aged 40 years, an employe at a stone quarry at Chimney Rock, sustained a slight injury to his head last Wednesday by being struck with a stone. They were blasting at the time and stones flew in all directions. The injury is not at all serious, and Felix will leave the hospital soon.

To Observe Lord's Supper.

Services will be resumed at the Congregational church Sunday when the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed. The Sunday-school will meet in the afternoon and the usual Endeavor meeting will be held in the evening.

WHY E. R. ACKERMAN WAS NOT NOMINATED.

There Were Votes Enough to Win—Name Withdrawn in Interests of Harmony.

AT THE STATE CONVENTION.

ESSEX COUNTY INSISTED ON WILBERFORCE FREEMAN AS ELECTOR.

Refused to Allow Him to Withdraw in Favor of Mr. Ackerman—Mr. Ackerman Would Only Accept Unanimously—Essex Pleased.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Trenton, September 7—Ernest R. Ackerman was not nominated by the Republicans as Presidential elector from the Eighth Congressional district at the Republican State convention yesterday afternoon, although he possessed enough votes in the district delegation to give him the nomination without trouble. It was in the direct interests of harmony that the friends of the well-known Plainfielder withdrew his name just previous to the convention and allowed the choice of Essex county, Wilberforce Freeman, of Orange, to be nominated without opposition.

Four years ago Mr. Ackerman was chosen as Republican candidate for Presidential elector from the Eighth district. He was approached again this year and said that he would accept the nomination if there was no opposition to him. Otherwise he did not care to stand. As the Eighth district includes all of Essex, except the city of Newark, and that part of Hudson county contained in the city of Bayonne, it was not surprising that the Essex people should want the nomination this year. Until recently, however, Essex had no name to propose and it looked as if Mr. Ackerman would be the choice.

The Essex county delegation came down to Trenton Wednesday night and demanded the nomination. Meanwhile the Union county leaders had been doing some quiet work and secured the pledges of the Bayonne delegates to support Ackerman. The matter was broached to Senator Kean Wednesday night at the Trenton House.

"If you insist," said the Senator, "you can have it." And he further said that the nomination would logically go to Essex unless that county had no candidate. Pressure was immediately brought to bear on Freeman, and he stated his willingness to withdraw from the contest in favor of Ackerman. The Essex leaders would have none of it, however. It was their turn to get something, they said, Union had the Governor, the United States Senator, the Congressman and other important offices. They refused to accept Freeman's withdrawal, and declared that they would fight for the nomination on the floor of the convention.

"You have got the delegates," declared one of the Essex county leaders, "and you can have Ackerman nominated but you can only do it by force. We want the nomination for Freeman and we are going to fight for it." That was the position of Essex and all the argument used didn't make any change.

When the Union county delegation held its caucus at the Trenton House yesterday morning, there was still the same uncertainty about the candidate. The nomination might be had but it would be at the cost of seriously antagonizing Essex. So Charles N. Codding, chairman of the county committee, suggested that a committee be appointed to confer with Essex and Bayonne and settle on a candidate. Andrew McCardell, of Plainfield, Surrogate George Parrott, of Elizabeth and Mr. Codding were appointed the committee.

A conference followed in Gen. Sewell's room, No. 100, at the Trenton House. Essex had made its stand and there it remained. It was up to Union to fight or give up the nomination. At the request of Mr. Ackerman's friends it was decided to withdraw his name as he had expressly stated that he did not want the nomination if there was any question of opposition. So the Union county leaders agreed on Freeman and it was understood that he should be nominated by Assemblyman Benj. F. Jones, chairman of the Essex delegation.

When the call for nominations came Mr. Jones, who was Speaker in the House last winter, said that he presented the name of Wilberforce Freeman in behalf of the Essex county part of the Eighth Congressional district. Everybody looked sur-

MINE WORKERS MEET.

National Board to Consider Situation In Anthracite Regions.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 7.—The national board of the United Mine Workers met here yesterday.

"The condition in the anthracite region of Pennsylvania was not considered," said President John Mitchell last night. "As a matter of fact, I have not placed the matter before the board," he continued, "but it has been made a special order for tomorrow's session and will be taken up the first thing in the meeting. I said some time ago that in my opinion there would be a big strike unless the operators agree to meet us in a wage conference. I have no reason to believe otherwise now. This is my own opinion. I have not talked with the other members of the board about it. Information from the anthracite region indicates that the operators will not meet us, and from this you can draw your own conclusion as to what the outcome will be."

While the refusal of the anthracite operators to meet the miners and their ignoring of demands made upon them for an advance in wages was not directly considered by the board, the members were placing themselves in possession of information that will be useful in the final consideration of the important matter.

Approximately over 1,000,000 people will be directly affected by a strike in the anthracite region. It not only means that nearly every coal miner in the immense field embraced in the Lehigh, Wyoming, Schuylkill and Lackawanna valleys will lay down his tools, but it means that a very limited supply of bituminous coal will be shipped into that field from other parts of the United States.

Trying to Settle Differences.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 7.—T. D. Nicholls of Scranton and Thomas Duffy of McAdoo, members of the committee appointed to present the demands of the United Mine Workers to the operators, and Father Phillips were in session here all yesterday afternoon and last night. The object of the meeting was to bring about a settlement of existing differences without resort to a strike. The committee, according to the statement of one of its members, has hopes of approaching the operators and securing some concessions. This hopeful view, however, is not shared in by Mr. Nicholls, who believes a strike is inevitable.

Big Strike Seems Certain.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Sept. 7.—A general strike throughout the anthracite region is now unavoidable. The United Mine Workers have pledged the union to order it out if the operators refused to grant their demands, and the operators have refused decisively. The men will some time before Saturday night receive orders to quit work on Monday next.

BIG EXPORT SCHEME

Iron and Steel Interests Place Orders For Freighters.

FROM LAKE ERIE TO FOREIGN PORTS

Carnegie and Rockefeller Companies Behind the Project, Which Will Involve an Outlay of Many Millions.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 7.—The Commercial Gazette today says that Pittsburg and associate interests have taken costly and determined steps to insure the development of an export business in iron and steel. For them a hurried order has been placed for the construction of a fleet of ten great freighters that will ply from Lake Erie ports via the Welland canal and gulf of St. Lawrence across the Atlantic. The fleet will cost something like $3,500,000.

Orders for this extensive water transportation equipment have been divided among the Globe, Cleveland and Detroit Shipbuilding companies, and the work of construction has begun at the yards of these companies at Lorain, Cleveland and Detroit. Various interests have placed the orders, but the notable purchasers are the Carnegie and the Rockefeller interests.

For the canal boats the orders were placed within the past fortnight, and attending them orders of even greater magnitude have been placed with the same shipbuilding interests for freighters to ply over the great lakes in the ore and coal trade. In all the contracts are for 19 vessels, and the lake freighters will be built to carry a tonnage of 7,000 or 8,000 tons. The lake carriers will cost on an average of $50,000, and the obtained orders will aggregate an expenditure of $8,000,000. Construction of the craft is to be hurried to completion.

The fleet of canal and ocean freighters which will take on consignments of iron and steel for export at the harbors at Cleveland and Conneaut will stand as a formidable factor in the freight situation in this district. One of the boats of this fleet will load a tonnage which, while small compared to the capacities of the lake freighters, will take care of the tonnage of 60 of the heaviest freight cars in use on any railroad and which loaded would make a train over a half mile in length. With the entire canal and ocean fleet loaded, 600 of the heaviest freight cars will be deprived of tonnage, and these would form a string of trains nearly five miles long.

Proof is furnished in the placing of the tremendous contract that the iron and steel interests of Pittsburg have not been simply agitating in the matter of the necessity of an export freight rate to enable them to enter the foreign markets. It is one of the methods that this interest has held in reserve to insure trade development, while the railroad interests have shown their disposition to stand in the way by procrastinating in relation to lower iron and steel rates. There are other plans in abeyance. The iron and steel men of this district have for some time doubted that they would be favored in rates so that they could move products for export, hence the present movement.

Justice For This Negro.

MACON, Sept. 7.—Twenty-one of the representative business and professional men of Wilkinson county came into Macon yesterday to see that a negro, Napoleon Anderson, did not lack friends if the United States commissioner should bind him over on a charge of interfering with United States officers. Anderson had taken out a warrant for larceny against two revenue officers passing through the county charging them with stealing his sugar cane. The officers gave bond and then arrested the negro, saying he had sought to interfere with the discharge of their duties. The white men of the county rose up in arms and refused with force to allow the negro to be taken away without due process of law. The officers gave up the negro and came to Macon, obtaining warrants for many of the white citizens. These citizens came in and brought the negro with them and announced that as the negro had lived an exemplary life in their midst every dollar in the county would be used to see that he was not imposed on.

The Facts About Colombia.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—The United States vice consul general at Bogota, Mr. Zalamea, who has just arrived in the United States from Colombia, called at the state department, bearing upon his person dispatches from Mr. Hart, the United States minister to Colombia. According to the vice consul, there has been a coup d'etat in Colombia, and the vice president, Marroguin, has seized the reins of power, imprisoning the president, San Clemente, and the minister for foreign affairs, General Palacio. Great confusion exists in government affairs, several branches of the government refusing to extend recognition to Marroguin. The diplomatic body at Bogota is said to have adopted a similar course. A rigid censorship makes it difficult to get the truth out of the capital, and this was one of the reasons why Mr. Hart's dispatches were brought to Washington by the vice consul instead of being intrusted to the ordinary mail bags.

A Flurry In Cotton.

MANCHESTER, Sept. 7.—The greatest interest is felt in today's meeting of the Lancashire spinners, convened by the Federation of Cotton Spinners, at which a proposal will be brought forward to discontinue buying American spot cotton. Since the announcement was made that such a conference would be held there has been such a rush upon the smaller stocks of cotton in the hands of Liverpool brokers that yesterday's sales advanced from 3,000 to 15,000 bales, with the result that not more than 100,000 bales are left. Cotton has not been so scarce before since the days of the American civil war.

Shot and Killed by Twin Brother.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Sept. 7.—Emmet Dalameter, 16 years old, died last night at his home in Titusville from injuries received by being accidentally shot by his twin brother, John. The boys, who were sons of William Dalameter, a farmer, went squirrel hunting. They became separated in the woods. John saw an object moving in the bushes and, thinking it was a squirrel, aimed and fired. There was a scream, and John saw that he had shot his brother, inflicting a fatal abdominal wound. The boy is almost crazy with grief.

Chinese Negotiations Proceeding Satisfactorily—The Cable From Shanghai to Taku Completed. Messages From Chaffee.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—The latest expression as to the attitude of the powers on the evacuation of Peking comes from the United States embassador at Paris, General Horace Porter, who has advised the authorities here that the attitude of the French government is favorable to the position taken by Russia. Almost simultaneously with this dispatch from General Porter came another from the American charge d'affaires at Berlin, giving the attitude of Germany on Russia's proposal. This in substance states that Germany, while anxious to avoid friction between the powers, regards the conditions at Peking such as to require the continued presence of German forces there. Neither General Porter nor Mr. Jackson gives the text of the answer, but only the substance of the positions taken by the two governments.

These two highly important communications bring the Chinese negotiations to a very advanced stage, though they are not yet concluded, as all of the answers are not yet in. The German and French answers, however, clearly indicate the alignment of the powers. It is generally accepted that Germany's attitude in favor of remaining at Peking will be concurred in by Italy and Austria, as these two countries act with Germany on political questions of a general nature. However, definite word has been received here which clearly foreshadows Austria's position in favor of remaining at Peking.

As to the purposes of Great Britain, there is an absolute lack of official information, though little doubt is entertained that since Germany has taken the initiative Great Britain will follow suit in favor of remaining at Peking. The position of Japan likewise is lacking in definiteness, although it is believed in the best posted quarters that if other nations remain at Peking Japan will deem it expedient to remain there also.

It would seem from this that France is the only government to give concurrence to the Russian proposition, although the United States has expressed a purpose of following Russia's course unless the other powers brought about a modification of Russia's position. Thus far Russia has not expressed any purpose of modifying her original position. It was stated authoritatively yesterday that Russia has not ordered the departure of her minister or troops from Peking up to this time, so far as the United States government is advised. It is stated also that no new proposition has been presented, but that the question is practically the same as when first presented—namely, as to whether the troops will remain or be withdrawn from Peking.

The receipt of the communications from Berlin and Paris brought about numerous conferences between the president, Secretary Root and Acting Secretary of State Hill and also between Mr. Hill and Mr. Adee. It was gathered from these meetings that another note was being prepared by the United States, but the authorities did not feel disposed to give any inkling as to its nature, and it is quite probable that its final form will await the consideration of the cabinet today.

The announcement from the cable companies that the offshore cable from Shanghai to Taku had been completed encouraged the officials here in the hope that at last it would be possible to communicate with Peking the same day that a message was dispatched. It appeared, however, from General Barry's report that the Boxers are still cutting the wires between Tien-tsin and Peking, and the messages received yesterday from the Chinese capital show no improvement in the rate of transmission over those received before the completion of the new cable.

The war department has received the following from General Chaffee:

"Peking, 28.—The officers and soldiers of the China relief expedition send thanks to the president and secretary of war for message of congratulation.

"Formal entry of the palace grounds made today at 8 o'clock, salute of 21 guns being fired at the south and north gates. Troops of all nations participated, the United States by a battalion 350 strong, composed of details from each organization present at taking of city.

"Place (palace) vacant, with exception of about 300 servants.

"General Barry for Manila today. Danish cable, Shanghai to Taku, open for business, connect with our wire."

The war department also received the following cablegram from General Barry, no date:

"All quiet Peking. Supplies promptly unloaded, forwarded when dispositions determined. All supplies received; troops comfortable winter.

"No communication Chinese official after Aug. 28. James H. Wilson, brigadier general of volunteers, goes Peking tonight. Rockhill Shanghai.

"Telegraphic communication Peking Tien-tsin bad. Extreme heat ended. All conditions satisfactory. Go Nagasaki tomorrow, take first transport Manila."

The Japanese legation was informed by telegraph by the foreign office at Tokyo of the receipt of a dispatch from the Japanese consul at Amoy stating that the riots against native Christians in Chang-chow and Lung-chi have assumed serious proportions. The city gates in six adjoining districts have been completely closed, and Yung, taotai of the locality, having been disgraced on the ground of unpopularity, has been succeeded by Chen, taotai of Amoy, who will proceed to Chang-chow as soon as the present troubles at Amoy are settled.

A COMPROMISE POLICY.

England Would Hold Peking With a Reduced Garrison.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—Germany's polite refusal to withdraw from Peking is commented upon with keen satisfaction in London, and the hope is expressed that Lord Salisbury will show similar firmness. The British reply has not yet been formulated. Lord Salisbury desires to consult with his colleagues and has notified the foreign office of his intention to return to London from the continent early next week.

There is little doubt, however, that Germany's reply is the outcome of the discussion carried on during the last few days between the European cabinets and that the compromise policy of maintaining the occupation of the capital, but withdrawing the greater part of the troops to Tien-tsin, will be found to have met with general concurrence.

From Shanghai it is reported that Japan has notified the powers of her willingness to withdraw her troops provided an adequate guard is left for the legations and on condition that China formally requests evacuation and opens genuine negotiations for peace. Altogether appearances are more hopeful, and it is likely that when Field Marshal Count von Waldersee arrives a fortnight hence at Taku he will find the allies agreed upon some common policy.

Shanghai is full of conflicting rumors regarding the movements of Li Hung Chang. It is asserted that Marquis Tseng and 30 officials remaining in Peking have appealed to Li Hung Chang to repair immediately to the capital to save the situation, since nobody is there to assume authority, Prince Ching being detained in the province of Shansi by illness.

Chang Chi Tung, the Wu-chang viceroy, has telegraphed an urgent appeal to the British consul in Shanghai urging Great Britain to institute peace negotiations. He emphasizes the magnitude of British trade interests and refers to the activity of the secret societies and the decline of trade, citing these as vital reasons why England should take the lead instead of, as in 1894, allowing Russia to usurp her power and prestige. His final ground of appeal is that Great Britain, the United States and Japan have shown anxiety to promote commerce and to befriend China, and he implores these powers to appoint plenipotentiaries authorized to open peace negotiations with Li Hung Chang.

Rockhill Gave No Interview.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—The state department has issued the following: "A cablegram has been received from Mr. W. W. Rockhill, dated at Shanghai, Sept. 5, in which he authorizes the department emphatically and categorically to deny the statements made in certain newspapers relating to an interview alleged to have been given by him. The only interview he has ever given related strictly to the circular of July 3. He states that no merchant vessel will be sailing from Shanghai for several days."

Germans Land at Shanghai.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 7.—The first battalion of German troops landed here yesterday from the steamer Batavia. The foreign consuls and detachments of French and Russian troops received them and escorted them to camp, the bands playing German airs.

Fusion In Minnesota.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 7.—Fusion was effected between the Minnesota Democrats and Populists yesterday, and a full state ticket was named, headed by Governor John Lind. An electoral ticket was also indorsed by the two conventions. The Democrats held their convention in this city and the Populists in Minneapolis. Following is the composition of the full ticket: Governor, John Lind; lieutenant governor, T. J. Heighan; secretary of state, M. E. Nearey; state treasurer, H. C. Koerner; attorney general, Robert C. Saunders; railroad commissioners, P. M. Ringdahl and T. J. Knox for four years, S. M. Owen for two years; chief justice, Frank C. Brooks. The Democratic convention was one of the most enthusiastic gatherings of the party ever held in Minnesota. Nearly every one of the 1,140 delegates was in his seat when Chairman L. A. Rosing rapped for order. Captain W. H. Harris was made both temporary and permanent chairman of the convention.

Major Smith Makes Another Move.

ALBANY, Sept. 7.—Major Clinton Smith, who seeks reinstatement in the Seventy-first New York regiment of the national guard, has made another legal move. Attorney General Davies has been served with a notice of appeal by the major to the appellate division from the decision of Justice Giegerich which quashed the writ of certiorari issued by Justice McAdam permitting a review of the findings of the court of inquiry appointed by the governor, which body found that Major Smith was unfit to serve the state in the capacity of an officer of the guard.

De Wet Will Fight On.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—The Cape Town correspondent of the Manchester Guardian says that General De Wet has informed friends that he will fight to the end. His sons have been killed in the war and his wife has died of a broken heart. Official returns to Sept. 1 show that the Boers have captured during the war 281 officers and 7,288 men, of whom 235 officers and 6,196 men have escaped or been released. One officer and 85 men died in captivity. The number of British remaining in the hands of the Boers is 1,052.

Massachusetts Prohibitionists.

WORCESTER, Mass., Sept. 7.—The Prohibitionist state convention in this city was attended by 176 delegates from 73 cities and towns. They had a parade from Union station to the hall, with a drum corps and wore badges showing canteens turned upside down. The speakers denounced President McKinley as a backslidden Methodist, traitor and anarchist. All other Republican and Democratic candidates were referred to as ruled by rum.

Killed In a Storm.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Sept. 7.—Mrs. George G. Kitchum of Castle Creek and her 2-year-old grandchild, Lucy Abbott, of Lisle were killed by a falling tree on the Broome county fair grounds at Whitney Point. The tree was blown down during the terrific storm that passed over this section. Considerable damage was done by the wind on the fair grounds, tents being blown down, carriages untopped, etc.

Returns From Vermont.

MONTPELIER, Vt., Sept. 7.—Returns from 241 out of 246 cities and towns in the state give the governor's vote as follows: Stickney (Rep.), 38,102; Senter (Dem.), 15,919; all others, 1,275. In 1896 the same towns gave Grout (Rep.), 53,288; Jackson (Dem.), 15,024; all others, 1,636. The returns from towns reported give Stickney a plurality of 32,183 and a majority over all of 30,908.

COMPTROLLER MORGAN DEAD.

Passes Away Suddenly Soon After His Renomination.

ALBANY, Sept. 7.—State Comptroller William J. Morgan, who had been ailing for the past two weeks, is dead. Heart failure was the immediate cause of death.

Comptroller Morgan had just been honored with a renomination by the Republican party in convention at Saratoga.

He returned home from the convention Wednesday morning. During the afternoon he complained of pains about the heart, and Dr. Milbank was called. He grew rapidly worse, however. At his deathbed were his three daughters and Deputy Comptroller Theodore P. Gilman. His two sons are in Europe, one of whom is convalescing in a London hospital from a long and serious illness.

The funeral services in Buffalo will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Richmond Avenue Methodist Episcopal church.

Colonel William J. Morgan, the deceased Republican comptroller of the state of New York, was born in Canada in 1840 and came to this country with his parents ten years later. He was educated in the public schools of Buffalo and at the opening of the civil war enlisted as a private in the One Hundred and Sixteenth New York volunteer infantry.

He participated in all the battles in which his regiment took part, including those of Cedar Creek and Port Hudson, in the latter of which he was wounded four times. His escape from death was almost miraculous, and he was brevetted lieutenant colonel for gallantry.

He returned from the war in 1864 and became a member of the editorial staff of the Buffalo Commercial and saw service with that paper for 20 years, being an intimate friend and adviser of the late James D. Warren, who so successfully managed the affairs of that great journal and who has been succeeded by his son, William C. Warren, the present state committeeman from Buffalo.

Colonel Morgan was appointed a canal appraiser by Governor Cornell and served as chairman of that board. He was also appointed collector of the port of Buffalo by President Harrison, and in January, 1894, came to Albany with the Hon. James A. Roberts, newly elected comptroller, as his deputy.

In 1898 the Republican convention sealed with its approval Mr. Morgan's promotion to the head of the comptroller's office.

State Commission of Prisons.

ALBANY, Sept. 7.—At the annual meeting of the state commission of prisons Commissioner William J. Mantanye, who inspected Clinton prison on Aug. 14 last, submitted his report, in which he recommends Dannemora as an ideal place for the proposed state hospital for consumptives, a site for which is about to be recommended by a commission or trustees under a law recently enacted. He suggests that it be erected by convict labor, to be built of stone taken from the nearby quarries of the state like those used in the State Hospital For Insane Criminals. In dwelling upon the advantages to be derived from the erection of such hospital at Dannemora the commissioner says that from a climatic point of view no better place could be found. The air is pure at all times, and the water is pure and the supply ample from works already established in connection with the prison.

Mr. Bryan In West Virginia.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. Sept. 7.—The Democratic presidential candidate was entertained here for a few hours yesterday. Mr. Bryan was received at the fair grounds. The announcement of his coming had been made throughout this section of the country, and in consequence his admirers had come from far and near to see and hear him. The crowd was large and enthusiastic. Mr. Bryan had been advertised to speak at 10 o'clock, but he did not appear until 11. This delay was due to the fact that the special train was held for an hour beyond the appointed time at Deer Park in order to give the visitor and his traveling companions an opportunity to prolong their rest at that spot.

Albertos Still Eludes Police.

CLINTON, Mass., Sept. 7.—The game of hide and seek which has been going on here for several days between the police of Clinton and Carlos Albertos, who, it is alleged, murdered his wife, Nathalie, at Holyoke last Saturday night, is still being energetically carried on. Albertos has been sighted several times, but in each instance he has eluded the police. They are still confident, however, that he soon will be taken.

Storm Rages In Florida.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 7.—For three days heavy rain and wind storms have prevailed here, being the forerunner of the usual September equinoctial gale. While the wind so far has not been over 25 miles an hour, yet the signal service reports indications that the storm is coming north. In the southern part of the state and on the east coast the gale has been heavy, blowing at the rate of 40 miles an hour.

Jubilee Festivities Spoiled.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 7.—Abdul Hamid's enjoyment of the jubilee festivities, which began Sunday on the completion of his twenty-fifth year as head of the Ottoman empire, has been spoiled by the discovery of a plot against his life. One hundred and eighteen arrests, including several high officials, have already been made, and a secret inquiry is proceeding.

PORTO RICO AFFAIRS

Governor Personally Secures Accurate Information.

NO ANTI-AMERICAN SENTIMENT FOUND

People Anxious and Ready to Work. The Island Capable of Wonderful Development—Political Divisions Create Dissension.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Sept. 7.—Governor Allen has returned to San Juan after a week's tour through the mountainous regions of the island. Having been in receipt of a great variety of reports concerning the condition of the people of those sections, he determined to secure accurate information personally, and, accompanied only by an interpreter and a pack train, he visited Aibonito, Barranquitas, Barras, Utuado, Ciales and Jayuya, going from that point to Ponce. His route took in some of the worst districts.

He found considerable crops on the rice and corn plantations, but little coffee. The people expressed themselves as anxious for work and as ready to build roads. No anti-American sentiment was encountered, and Governor Allen returned with the conviction that if properly encouraged the portions of the island that he visited are capable of wonderful development.

The executive council recently adopted a plan of dividing the island into districts for political purposes. The Federals now claim that the Republicans have been favored at certain points, and they threaten to resign and to protest to Washington against the alleged unfairness of the division. The American members of the council say the arrangement is a fair one, as the Federals get three districts, the Republicans three, and one is left in doubt.

Miss Bertha Allen, daughter of the governor, will be married to Lieutenant Logan of the United States navy next month, the ceremony taking place at the palace.

TO SEEK NORTH POLE.

E. B. Baldwin Will Try if Present Expeditions Fail.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Evelyn B. Baldwin, who has participated in various arctic expeditions of recent occurrence, in conversation with a press representative, commenting on the return from the arctic regions of the Italian expedition, said:

"The achievement of the young Duke of Abruzzi in exceeding Dr. Nansen's highest north is a matter of deep interest. It proves that a 'dash' to the pole is as feasible as an effort to reach it by the long continued 'drift plan' or by the establishment of relay stations if well equipped and properly conducted, as appears to have been the case with the Italian expedition. The young duke has, moreover, clearly demonstrated that it does not require 'a physical giant' to achieve success in the field of exploration."

Upon being asked whether, in the event of the failure of the other Peary and Sverdrup expeditions to attain the pole, he would again undertake such a voyage, Mr. Baldwin replied:

"Yes. In that event the year 1901 will again find me within the arctic circle. My plans are being carefully matured, and through the generosity of Americans whose names are well known in the financial world I shall be in a position to enter the race, with the pole merely as a goal. Science and art are also to bear no small part in the effort. The expedition will be thoroughly equipped."

Roosevelt In Detroit.

DETROIT, Sept. 7.—The initial meeting of Governor Roosevelt's western tour, which was held in the big assembly room of the Detroit Light Guard armory last night, was all that the governor's most ardent partisans could have desired in point of attendance and enthusiasm. The floor and galleries of the great hall were crowded. Many were on the outside, unable to obtain seats or standing room within hearing distance. The vice presidential candidate received a tremendously enthusiastic greeting as he made his way up through one of the side aisles. A large proportion of the audience stood upon chairs and yelled frantically for "Teddy." The governor's speech occupied about an hour in delivery and was listened to throughout with thoughtful attention, and the telling, sarcastic and witty points were quickly caught and applauded.

Mr. Odell Talks to School Chiefs.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Sept. 7.—At the forty-sixth annual meeting of the New York State Association of School Commissioners and Superintendents in progress here the following officers were elected yesterday: C. Edward Jones, Pulaski, president; Edwin F. McDonald, Massena, first vice president; S. L. Strivings, Gainesville, second vice president; Cora A. Davis, Whitesboro, and Carlos J. Coleman, Madison, secretaries; Albert D. Sheffield, Nelliston, treasurer; Henry R. Sanford, Penn Yan, transportation agent. By invitation B. B. Odell, Jr., the Republican candidate for governor, addressed the convention in the afternoon.

Reduction For Iron Workers.

BLOOMSBURG, Pa., Sept. 7.—Notice was given yesterday by the Reading Iron company of Danville that a general reduction in wages would be made after Sept. 16. The puddling base will be made $3 a ton instead of $4, the price which now prevails. Proportionate reductions in the wages of the other departments will be made. This action is due to the fact that the market price of iron is below the cost of production. It affects 600 men.

Sold Her Child.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Sept. 7.—The authorities have been notified of a strange case of barter at North Wilna, near here. Mrs. Sprague sold her child to an Italian for $5. The latter grew tired of the little one and sold it to another family. Now this family wants the authorities to care for the child.

Popularity of Senator Sewell.

The selection of United States Senator William J. Sewell as chairman of the Republican State convention at Trenton yesterday undoubtedly met with the approval of the majority of Republicans, and was recognized as an honor that Mr. Sewell might well consider as a high one. There is no man in New Jersey today whose judgment and will in politics is regarded with such approval and acquiescence by a great organization as Mr. Sewell. He is trusted implicitly by both Republican leaders and by the Republican masses in his control of party affairs. A Republican estimate of his character is furnished in the following from the column edited by "Trenton"—that venerable newspaper man, Editor Cloke, of New Brunswick—in the New York Herald:

It is a remarkable and almost unprecedented circumstance that although the time for electing the Legislature which will choose a United States Senator is only two months off, no Democrat has yet appeared as a candidate for that distinguished office. Next to the Presidency itself the position of United States Senator is regarded as the most exalted and desirable under the Government, and is most sought after by ambitious men. Generally long in advance of the time for making the choice this high prize becomes the object of the scheming manœuvres of several great leaders in both parties. This year there is only one candidate in sight—Gen. Wm. J. Sewell, the present Senator. There is nowhere any doubt or question that he will be re-elected. And this result will give almost equal satisfaction in both parties, and especially among the politicians. The General is held in great respect by leading Democrats of New Jersey, as well as by the leading men in his own party. This feeling of regard has grown steadily for years, and is founded in the sterling qualities which make Gen. Sewell a rare character among the modern politicians. He is not all things to all men. He does not commit or pledge himself hastily, or with the glib insincerity which characterizes some men, but when he passes his word it is his bond. And he is a friend of the staunchest and most loyal character. He is also a man who thinks for himself, and forms his own conclusions, which are not always in harmony with those that control. And yet he is no stiff-necked egotist, who cannot bow to the logic of events. He is, in short, in many respects an ideal Senator and American statesman. He is now in the ripeness of his powers and influence, and there is not a man in New Jersey who would feel otherwise than pleased to see this veteran public servant honored by a re-election. It is not at all probable that anybody in either party will seriously enter the field against him.

It Fits to a Dot.

Noting that the owners of the trolley system known as the Riker-Hine syndicate are considering the selection of a corporate title that will do to apply to all the various lines that they control, instead of having a distinctive name for each separate line, the Cranford Chronicle comments that "the name finally chosen should be big enough to contain the roads now built, and also be capable of letting in others not yet constructed. It should, moreover, appeal to the æsthetic sense."

And then the Chronicle adds this sprightly and truthful observation:

Eureka! We have it, as the old Greek philosopher shouted. Call it the Noah's Ark Street Railway Company.

The appositeness of the name may not appear at the first blush, but the following considerations will show why it should be chosen in preference to all others. Applying the first test of comprehensiveness, what could better meet the requirements than Noah's Ark? The original ark contained, in its time, every human being and every warm-blooded animal living on the face of the earth; and if Mr. Riker's company grows until its lines gridiron the globe the name would still be big enough to comprise them all.

But there is another reason for the name, and this reason is found in the following notice which has just been posted by the company: "Commutation tickets for dogs on this trolley 25 cents a year."

No other trolley company in the world carries dogs, and therefore none can so appropriately call its cars arks. For did not our ancestor Noah transport dogs and cats and other quadrupeds as well?

The animals came in two by two,
The elephant and the kangaroo.

No other name will answer. Let it be the Noah's Ark Street Railway Company.

By all means let the Chronicle's suggestion be accepted. "Noah's Ark Street Railway Company" will cover a multitude of sins, and it is certainly true that this trolley system possesses about all the satanic attributes that trolley roads are capable of developing!

It was a little more than practical politics could countenance that Ernest R. Ackerman, of this city, should be selected in two successive Presidential campaigns to represent the Eighth Congressional District as a nominee of the Republicans for a member of the Electoral College. And so it is that the Plainfielder's candidacy for this high honor a second time did not materialize at the State convention yesterday. While Mr. Ackerman was a candidate for the honor he was not seeking it as earnestly as he would have been had he not filled the position four years ago. He undoubtedly appreciates the practical political side of the question and acquiesced cheerfully in the final determination of the delegates to nominate Wilberforce Freeman.

North Plainfield citizens have received a sad blow to their cherished ideals of an economical municipal administration in the announcement that the tax rate will jump seventeen points, bringing it up to $2.45 on every $100 of valuation. Boroughites have long prided themselves on the fact that they were paying smaller taxes than the property owners in this city. But this year the "local Canada" distances Plainfield's tax rate at one bound. By the city's rate falling twelve points and the borough's rising seventeen points, as compared with the figures of last year, the city people will pay three cents less on every $100 than their neighbors "across the brook."

The area of China is 4,468,750 square miles, or rather more than one-twelfth of the whole land surface of the globe. Her population is given in round figures at 300,000,000. "If," says the Philadelphia Times, "we add the population of the North and South American continents, white, red, black and brown, to that of Great Britain, France, Germany, Austria, Turkey, Italy, Norway, Sweden, Spain, Greece and Denmark, we still have place for the five million people of Australia and New Zealand before a sum is reached equaling this vast nation.

The enterprising Westfield correspondent for the Elizabeth Journal who failed to get the story at the Westfield Fresh-Air Camp concerning the attempt on the part of Mrs. Noonan to take her life, recently, was very anxious to inform his paper that the story was untrue, and thus save himself. However, The Daily Press knows whereof it speaks when it says that the story was true, and the facts were obtained from those who know the circumstances.

The instrument with which Luther LaVere will render the solo at the band concert this evening is called a euphonium and is very uncommon. It is a baritone and trombone combined, with two bells. By throwing a valve down it can be changed from one to the other. It is a very hard instrument to play and performers upon it are scarce. Mr. LaVere, however, is an adept and no one should miss hearing him tonight.

Gentlemen:—I must say in regard to GRAIN-O that there is nothing better or healthier. We have used it for years. My brother was a great coffee drinker. He was taken sick and the doctor said coffee was the cause of it, and told us to use GRAIN-O. We got a package but did not like it at first, but now would not be without it. My brother has been well ever since we started to use it.

OPPOSE "CHAIN" PRAYER

LOCAL W. C. T. U. RESOLVE AGAINST INDIANIA WOMAN'S SCHEME.

Say They are Not in Sympathy With the Action and Aver That it is an Unwise One.

The movement of an Indiana member of the W. C. T. U. in starting an endless chain of prayer to bring about the defeat of President McKinley November 6th, was a topic that caused a lively discussion at the meeting of the local W. C. T. U. in this city yesterday afternoon.

The matter was brought up by one of the members, who discountenanced such action being taken in the name of the W. C. T. U. The idea was opposed on the ground that the Union had no business mixing up in political affairs. The subject was discussed for some time and it appeared to be the sentiment of the members that the "endless chain prayer" scheme was not in accordance with the well-being or success of the organization.

A resolution was then introduced stating the substance of the matter sent out by the Indiania woman, which contains an expression of hope for "a better man for President for the next four years," and then concluded as follows:

"Therefore be it resolved, that we of the Plainfield Union are not in sympathy with the action taken by the Indiania woman, as we consider it very unwise. We believe in leaving all things to Him to whom we can pray 'Thy kindgdom come, Thy will be done on earth as it is in Heaven.'"

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

The highly realistic and successful melodrama, "The Span of Life," will be seen at Music Hall tonight. The story of the play is familiar to theatregoers, and the piece with its wonderful human bridge and great lighthouse scene has become the talk of four continents, with all the scenery of the original production. The company is a very strong one and contains many well-known artists. The famous Donazettas, who stand at the head of the acrobatic profession, will form the wonderful human bridge. This astounding feat has never failed to to arouse the enthusiasm of the audience. The scene represents a rocky gorge in the heart of Africa, the bridge over which has been destroyed. The heroine, who is pursued by a band of Arabs, reaches the gorge, finding the bridge gone, she is going to kill herself rather than fall into the hands of the slave dealers, when three of her friends appear on the opposite side of the chasm, the smallest gets on the shoulders of the second and he upon the shoulders of the third, and then this human tower, some 15 or 16 feet high, fling their interlocked bodies across the ravine, thus forming a living bridge over which the heroine passes to safety. It is a marvelous feat and no doubt the "Span of Life" owes much of its longevity and success to this and its great lighthouse scene.

As "Shore Acres" and Old Homestead" tower above all other effects in representing New England life and will never grow old, so "Davy Crockett," which will be seen at Music Hall next Monday night, stands prominently alone in depicting a phase of frontier life. There is but one actor in the country that has ever rivaled Frank Mayo in the part of "Davy Crockett," and that is the noted frontiersman and sterling actor, Frank Cleaves, of California, who Mr. Gardner has engaged for the part. Mr. Cleaves is a true "Davy Crockett" in real life, and his protrayal of the part is said to be one of the most realistic bits of acting to be seen on the stage. Mr. Cleaves is ably supported by Miss Helen Ray, a handsome and vivacious Philadelphia girl, and a clever cast of specially selected New York artists. The picturesques "Log Cabin" scenes, "Wolves at the Door" and the "Snow Storm" will all be seen as in Frank Mayo's production.

SHE WENT FLOATING ON A LOG.

The Log Rolled Over and Miss Buckelew Had Narrow Escape From Drowning.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, Sept. 7. — Ethel Buckelew had a narrow escape from drowning while bathing in the south branch of the Raritan River at Neshanic, yesterday. She was the only one in the party of young folks who couldn't swim, so in order to have as much fun as the rest of them and to get out in midstream she got astride a log and drifted out. The log turned over and the girl lost her hold and rolled into the river. She was rescued by her cousin, George Williamson.

A Shocking Calamity

The young son of Superintendent Wightman, of the borough public schools, has returned from his summer vacation greatly improved in health.

Sunday-school Convention.

The twentieth annual convention of the Union County Sunday-school Association will be held Thursday, Oct. 25th, in Trinity Reformed church. There will be three sessions, morning, afternoon and evening. Arrangements are being made for addresses by Miss Harlow, of Philadelphia, on "Primary Work;" Wm. Macgeorge on "Graded Schools;" Rev. Henry A. Bomberger, of the Pennsylvania Sunday-school Association; Chas. D. Meigs, late State Secretary of the Indiana Sunday-school Association, and other interesting speakers. The committee in charge of the convention consists of Rev. Geo. H. Buckle, Mrs. Alonzo Pettit, of Elizabeth; George H. Krause, of Cranford, and G. E. Hall, of Plainfield.

Member of Board of Education of Cranford Resigns Because of Unseemly Language of Colleagues.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Cranford, Sept. 7.—L. P. Naylor, who was elected to the Board of Education in March 1899, has sent his resignation as a member of that body to District Clerk Brundage.

Mr. Naylor is quoted as having given as his reason for taking such a course that he no longer wishes to be identified with a body where so much unseemly language is indulged in at the meetings.

Efforts are being brought to bear upon Mr. Naylor to induce him to change his mind. Since his election to the board he had taken great interest in its proceedings and he has labored assiduously in furthering its objects and in helping to advance the cause of education in Cranford.

APPLIED TO PREACHER FOR DIVORCE

Mrs. Leslie Claims That Her Husband Has Another Wife.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, Sept. 7.—Declaring that she had been deceived and that her husband had a wife in Philadelphia before he married her, Mrs. Georgiana Leslie, of South Orange called upon Rev. M. E. Snyder, by whom she was married, and wanted him to grant her a divorce. She said he had performed the cermony, and she did not see why he could not grant her a divorce with equal facility.

On December 17th, 1899, Charles Leslie and Miss Georgiana Anscombe, aged thirty-one and twenty-four respectively, called at the St. James M. E. church and asked to be married. They had Miss Lucy Whenham with them for a witness, and as all of the required questions were answered satisfactorily Mr. Snyder married them. In talking with the preacher yesterday Mrs. Leslie said her husband was a postal messenger, and that she had just discovered that he had a wife and two children in Philadelphia. She did not remember the address. She will bring suit against him for bigamy as well as for divorce.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Provinz Ostpreußen.

Königsberg. Bei den diesjährigen Flugübungen der Militär-Brieftaubenstation in Königsberg sind in etwa sechs Wochen rund 200 Brieftauben verloren gegangen. Dieser Verlust ist, wie die häufigen Verwundungen zurückgekehrter Tauben beweisen, durch die in diesem Jahre besonders zahlreich vorhandenen Raubvögel verursacht worden.

Lötzen. Ein Blitzstrahl fuhr in das Haus des Schuhmachermeisters Nanjoks in Schwiddern und traf ein im Bette liegendes Kind desselben, welches auf der Stelle todt war, während zwei andere in derselben Stube befindliche Kinder nur eine augenblickliche Betäubung erlitten.

Provinz Westpreußen.

Danzig. Nach Verübung von Hypothekenschwindeleien in Höhe von etwa 1,500,000 Mark ist der 50jährige Schuhwaarenfabrikant und Grundstücksspekulant W. Berlowitz flüchtig geworden. Wegen betrügerischen Bankerottes hat Berlowitz bereits 2½ Jahre Zuchthaus hinter sich.

Dirschau. In dem benachbarten Dorfe Baldau hat sich durch Niederlassung einer Schaar von mehreren hundert Störchen, die auf den nahe dem Orte gelegenen großen Wiesen und auf den Feldern reiche Nahrung fanden, eine wahre Landplage herangebildet. Fast auf jedem Strohdach des Dorfes befinden sich mehrere Nester mit alten und jungen Langschnäbeln.

Rheinprovinz.

Essen. Der Gemeinderath von Altendorf hat den Eingemeindungsvertrag mit Essen einstimmig angenommen. Altendorf ist die größte preußische Landgemeinde, es hat 65,000 Einwohner, von denen 18,500 den Krupp'schen Kolonien angehören.

M.-Gladbach. Unlängst wurde das städtische Elektrizitätswerk eingeweiht. Im Anschluß hieran ist eine umfangreiche Ausdehnung des Netzes der elektrischen Straßenbahnen im M.-Gladbacher Industriebezirk geplant. Schon jetzt hat sich der Verkehr auf den elektrischen Straßenbahnen des Bezirkes gegenüber demjenigen auf den früheren Pferdebahnen um 90 Prozent gehoben.

Remscheid. Geheimer Kommerzienrath Karl Friedrichs hat aus Anlaß seines 70. Geburtstages für gemeinnützige und wohlthätige Zwecke 20,000 Mark zur Verfügung gestellt. Davon sollen 6000 Mark für bedürftige Veteranen aus den Feldzügen von 1864, 1866, 1870 auf 1871 und deren Hinterbliebene verwendet werden. Seitens der Stadt wurde Friedrichs das Ehrenbürgerrecht verliehen.

Provinz Sachsen.

Erfurt. Auf Veranlassung des Kaufmanns Philipp Heinrich in Karlsruhe wurde dort der Eisenbahnsekretär Thiemeyer verhaftet. Letzterer war an der Hauptkasse der Eisenbahndirektion Erfurt angestellt, hatte 92,000 Mark unterschlagen und war dann durchgebrannt. Für die Festnahme Thiemeyers war eine Belohnung in Höhe von 3000 Mark ausgesetzt.

Wernigerode. Der Kellner Mantzschke brachte durch drei Revolverschüsse seiner Braut schwere Verletzungen bei und tödtete sich selbst durch einen Schuß in die Schläfe.

Provinz Schlesien.

Breslau. Die endgiltige Feststellung der Entwürfe zum Umbau und zur Höherlegung der alten Breslauer Verbindungsbahn ist nunmehr in der Ministerialinstanz erfolgt. Die Verdingung der Arbeiten soll demnächst vor sich gehen.

Grünberg. In der Braunkohlengrube Krug von Nidda wurde der 30jährige Bergmann Heinrich von herabfallenden Kohlenstücken so unglücklich getroffen, daß er bedeutende Quetschungen und innere Verletzungen erlitt, denen er bald erlag.

Radzionkau. Anhier brach durch Funken eines vorüberfahrenden Eisenbahnzuges Feuer aus, durch welches 35 Häuser und Nebengebäude in Asche gelegt wurden.

Provinz Schleswig-Holstein.

Flensburg. Im Dorfe Hoirup brach im Hause eines Arbeiters in dessen und seiner Frau Abwesenheit Feuer aus. Drei in der Wohnung zurückgebliebene Kinder im Alter von einem halben bis vier Jahren erstickten, bevor Hilfe kam.

Provinz Westfalen.

Bochum. Der Prokurist der hiesigen Filiale der Essener Kreditanstalt, Lauffer, schoß sich aus einem Revolver zwei Kugeln in den Kopf und blieb auf der Stelle todt. Lauffer hatte in Folge von Ueberarbeitung in letzter Zeit wiederholt Spuren von Geistesgestörtheit gezeigt.

Lüdenscheid. Der Bürgermeister Dr. Jokusch überreichte der Frau Wilh. Schröder, die seit 60 Jahren in der Fabrik von Wilhelm Berg thätig gewesen, die von der Kaiserin verliehene goldene Verdienstbrosche. Der Gatte der Jubilarin hat das gleiche Jubiläum bei einer anderen Fabrik gefeiert, und sein Bruder steht ebenfalls 50 Jahre bei der erstgenannten Fabrik in Arbeit.

What constitutes a well dressed woman? It depends on the aim sought to be accomplished by dress. The girl who prides herself on the possession of three dozen shirt waists, with a different one to wear every day, considers that this makes her a well dressed woman.

Again, you go sometimes to a woman's club meeting. You listen to the reading of anywhere from six to a dozen papers, but when you come away you find that you remember the ladies' clothes much more distinctly than the contents of their essays. These clubwomen have dressed themselves so richly, fashionably and conspicuously that their clothing rather than their intellectual attainment has stamped itself on your brain and memory.

For this sort of a woman's club, when the fame of it spreads away from home, the comment will be: "Oh, yes, I've heard of it often. Awfully swagger club, isn't it?" So that for members of a woman's club the question of being well dressed depends wholly on whether they wish to attract attention to their clothes or their brains.

The same principle holds good throughout. When a woman lecturer or speaker is reported in the newspapers as having worn a "stunning" costume, it is evident that she has more confidence in the drawing power of her dress than of what she has to say. The girl who devotes her thought chiefly to what she is going to wear gives strong presumptive evidence that in her secret heart she regards herself as rather shallow and stupid and that accordingly she seeks to attract attention away from herself and toward her clothing.

Being well dressed, then, resolves itself into a question of what one wishes to dress for. If you are something in yourself, if you strive to cultivate the graces of temper, heart, brain and soul, which never go out of fashion, dress so that your clothing will not attract attention one way or the other. Wear as good clothes as you can afford to pay for, have them made moderately in the prevailing fashion, get a few at a time and wear them out and then without any fuss get new ones. Find what sort of dress is becoming to your style of beauty, stick to it, then worry yourself no more over clothes.

The French are the best dressed women in civilization. They apply the national artistic talent to costuming themselves, and the result is a pleasing picture. A generation ago nearly all Frenchwomen dressed in black for the street. Now they do so no longer, but manifest a beautiful and judicious blending of colors in their outdoor toilets. The effect is most pleasing—like a garden of harmoniously assorted flowers.

Beauty is a royal gift from the gods; hence a handsome woman may wear anything she likes and be lovely in it. But other women should choose the colors that are becoming to them. A little experimenting will always determine this. Black is a saddening, depressing color, both to the wearer and the beholder, hence should be worn as little as possible, for it is every woman's duty to shed about her a bright, cheerful atmosphere.

For this reason mourning should be worn as lightly as possible and put off as soon as conventionality will allow. We mourn always for our beloved lost ones in our hearts, but we have no right to constantly remind others, even strangers in the street, of death, no matter how becoming mourning is to us. Moreover, hear ye, hear ye, black always makes a woman look old!

I was never done admiring the costumes of elderly women in Paris. Their gowns were as fashionably made and every whit as carefully considered as those of a woman between 20 and 30. Indeed, if possible, they are at more pains to dress themselves becomingly than young women, rightly arguing that the older a woman is the more care she needs to take of her body and her dress. In particular I observed that these French grandmothers wore no big, rusty black bonnets tied with stiff, ugly ribbons under the chin. Their head coverings were the daintiest, freshest, of little toques, black and white or lavender or any other quiet tint they fancied and stringless.

Most women make the mistake of wearing too many clothes and skirts, even in hot weather. Fresh air is as good for the skin as for the lungs, and we should clothe ourselves in such a way as to let this beneficent air circulate as much as possible over our bodies. Air baths are only less necessary for the body than water baths.

Mrs. L. A. Flanegan is proving in southern Ohio that a good living, and something more, is to be made in agriculture, even in these times. A large farm came under her management some years ago. She studied the situation, then wrestled with it boldly. By careful experimenting she discovered what her land was adapted to. She has succeeded admirably with mixed farming, fruit raising, grazing and dairying, at the same time constantly improving the land.

"As a gentle, pleasant laxative I consider Ripans Tabules superior to any medicine I ever used." This is the declaration of a well-known New York advertising agent, who goes on to relate that on one occasion in company with a newspaper publisher and another gentleman, he spent a most pleasant evening. They all freely indulged in refreshments of so many kinds, that next morning the agent in question had "a double coating on his tongue that was almost sea green." "I was bilious," he continued, "and was advised by one of my companions, who had been through the mill before, to try Ripans Tabules which I did with most pleasant and surprising results. The distressed feeling in the pit of the stomach speedily disappeared after taking two Tabules." When a copy of this testimonial was shown to him, so as to make certain that there was no mistake about it, he read it carefully through and said: "Well, that was just exactly the way it was."

Golf Championships That Will Take Place This Fall

THERE is a prospect of the greatest golf ever witnessed since the golfing days of Tom Morris, when the annual open championship of the United States is decided this fall. It is a certainty that former British Open Champion Harry Vardon will be a starter. He told me the other day that he had beaten the most prominent of the professionals who would participate in the big torunament, and felt that he had a good chance to win. From some private correspondence from the old country received by a well-known golfer who narrowly missed being champion of the United States, I learned that it was the intention of British Champion J. H. Taylor to enter and compete in the U. S. G. A. tourney at the Wheaton links.

FRED HERD,
Former Open Golf Champion.

Should Champion Taylor pit himself against Vardon, it might seem at first glance that the professionals engaged with clubs in the United States might just as well stand at the pond tent and watch the Britishers when they used their irons to carry over the water and then cast sorrowful glances toward the eighteenth green as the two foreigners came in with all the honors. But the Scotchmen are not made of the quitting material. They will welcome the entry of Vardon and will be more than pleased if Taylor enters and plays. To be beaten by the two best players in the world would be no disgrace. In fact, such a contingency would be secretly well received by some of the professionals, who would scarcely like to bow down to a professional from a neighboring links in the United States.

In other words, if it is in the cards for Champion Taylor, of Great Britain, to claim the title of champion of the world, the beaten men will be the first to cheer the victor. If, however, both Vardon and Taylor were to be nosed out by some player who had been away from the other side quite a time, then the new champion could get himself interviewed in all the public prints and go out and order clothes several sizes larger than those he is now wearing. And it goes without saying that no matter how Vardon or Taylor may play, the medal scores that will be turned in for the rounds at the Wheaton course will be the best on record.

Why do I say this? it may be asked. Well, for the reason that the quality of golf being played by the Scotchmen this year is phenomenal, for the reason that the Chicago Golf club's beautiful 18-hole course near Wheaton is in better shape than ever and the professionals have agreed that the links are really in excellent trim for a hard and closely contested championship. When the professionals had to play on a course like the one at Baltimore where Willie Smith won his spurs, they took "pot luck," for the course was inadequate for the requirements of good golf. Championships have been won and lost on the Wheaton course, and since those days the links have been improved, the holes have been lengthened and the putting greens have been made as near perfect as hard work and a great expenditure of money can make them.

HARRY TURPIE,
Who Will Compete for Championship Honors.

One man will always be a factor in the championship on his home links, no matter how many world's famous golfing experts may start—James Foulis. He is former open champion and to-day he is golfing better than he did when he won the medal. Right close up to "Jim" is his brother David, who showed in the Belmont open tournament that he was far from being a candidate for the slow division. Dave knows the Wheaton course as well as Jim Foulis does and thinks nothing of beating the redoubtable Col. Bogey several times a week. The colonel is rated at two 41's at Wheaton and an 8- would be poor golf indeed for Dave. The latter was taken clear to Morris county in 1898 by C. B. Macdonald, the first amateur champion of the United States Golf association, because of his fine qualities as a judge of the use of clubs at a time when the principal in the match might be disposed to press from excitement. I had to smile while Dave was using up 11 strokes in the slough at Belmont during the open tourney, which went to Dave Bell. He had a no less distinguished gallery than Miss "Johnny" Carpenter, the grand young golfer who has come close to western championship honors, and Miss Bessie Anthony, the new western woman champion, to remind him that his chief injunction to amateur pupils is "take it coolly and don't press." But I never knew an amateur golfer that did not dance a jig whenever he saw an expert getting into plebeian difficulties while trying to make a good score.

Champion Willie Smith, the little gentleman who hails from Carnoustie's famous links and who took the Western Golf association championship as a preliminary flyer for the national honor, will be a hard man to deprive of his title. About the only man in the United States who could beat him on a course like the Wheaton links is Vardon. True, Lawrence Auchterlonie, the Glen View professional and former great amateur at the Scotch St. Andrew's links, topped Willie by one stroke in the Belmont tourney, but I followed Smith for 27 holes that day and can say that he actually threw away eight strokes by the most reckless, careless and indifferent putting he ever exhibited.

David Bell, the Midlothian assistant to Willie Smith, had "Edgewater Harry" Turpie as a partner when he beat Vardon. He uncovered his golf at that match and I predicted then that he would be formidable for the national and for the Belmont.

DAVID BELL,
Winner of Belmont Golf Tourney.

He had one bad round in the latter, but took away the medal and first money with a grand 168 for the 36-hole journey.

Young, strong as a wild horse, impulsive yet a close student of the game, able to drive as far as Vardon any day and approach with deadly accuracy with his little Taylor mashie, a club he uses as well as Champion Taylor, Bell is at all times a factor for the eastern professionals to figure against in the approaching national open tourney. He tried hard to steady up Willie Smith when the latter had his heart-breaking match with Vardon at Wheaton, but good as the sturdy young Scotchman is his principal was up against something that had never been equaled on the course. The pair was all square at the thirteenth hole of the afternoon round, which hole they had halved in five or one below bogey, and Vardon to win the match had to take two holes in three and three holes—one a bye hole, it is true—in four each to beat Willie. No golfer could have stood off the pace of a player who makes five holes, aggregating 2,200 yards, in a total of 18 strokes. It has seemed that the man who was always up in the deserving list of open championship winners was Harry Turpie. Harry manages to show up so strong that nothing short of some untoward circumstance cuts him out of the championship. Watch his work this time.

Former Open Champion Fred Herd is scarcely to be figured as a hard proposition unless he improves his game. But Alexander Smith, brother to Willie, is always a factor, as he has demonstrated by getting to be Herd's runner-up. Auchterlonie has gained prestige from that magnificent battle he put up against Vardon, who had him four down at the end of the first 18 only to be forced to let the little St. Andrew's man have him one down at the twenty-seventh hole. Willie Anderson, of Oconomowoc, and William Marshall, of Onwentsia, are two other western entries that will be well up, but they are not selected as first or second winners. The west will outplay any field of professionals that the country east of the Alleghanys will not beat if the westerners keep up their present games.

E. G. WESTLAKE.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Sept. 9—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—Our simple duty.—Luke xvii, 7-10.

THE PARABLE.

The parable of the plowing servant is not a very familiar one. In some books on the parables of Christ it is not to be found at all. Yet it teaches Christians a very important lesson and warns them against a very grave danger, peculiar to Christians only. If you have a servant, says Christ, who has been plowing or feeding cattle, doing his work faithfully, when he comes in from the field you do not say, "Sit down to meat," but "Make ready wherewith I may sup, and afterward thou shalt eat and drink." So likewise Christ adds when we have done all that we have been commanded, we shall be unprofitable servants, having done simply our duty.

THE INTERPRETATION.

What does this parable of the plowing servant mean? It must be studied in the light of its surroundings, and the one lesson that it is intended to teach must not be lost sight of, nor must it be taken to teach too much. Christ's disciples have asked for an increase of faith. Christ replies that a little real faith would accomplish what seemed to them impossible, that faith as a grain of mustard seed would remove trees and plant them in the sea. Then follows this parable, and what for but to warn the disciples against the danger of being unduly proud of what they could do as a result of their faith and of thinking that in what they did there was personal credit and merit. Suppose they did do great things? Would merit be attached to it? No. Because in all they might do they were only doing what was their duty and doing it by the power of God Himself.

A servant does his day's work faithfully. He comes in from the field. Does the master say, "You've done well; sit down and eat?" No. The servant had but done his duty. The master owned him. There was still work for him to do, other duties to be performed—the master's meat must first be prepared. Thus Christ warned the disciples against attaching merit to their personal works. They were God's servants. Their service belonged to Him as a result of ownership. The fulfilling of it in this relation would give them no claim to merit. Simple duty demanded it of them, and after all was done no man could claim to be more than an unprofitable servant. Let us remember that this is only one phase of our relation to God. We are His sons as well as His servants, and in this relation God is love and not simply just.

THE APPLICATION.

An emphasis needs to be placed upon duty in religion. There is too much of a tendency today to emphasize sentiment and personal inclination. There are too many who serve God when they feel like it and neglect it when they feel otherwise. Duty has its place, and an important place. We are God's and should serve God as a result of this ownership and not for rewards that may be attached to the performance of duty. Feelings change; duty is unchangeable. Christianity is opposed to natural personal inclinations, and hence we cannot give them the supreme place in our religion. Men ought to obey God, though obedience may conflict with personal inclination, and if by God's grace we do accomplish something let us not be puffed up, for, do what we may, we only do our duty.

THE PRAYER MEETING.

Have the parable explained and applied, followed by an open voluntary service.

BIBLE READINGS.

Eccl. ix, 10; xii, 13, 14; Job, xxii, 1-3; Math. xxv, 30; Acts v, 29; Rom. xii, 1, 2; I Cor. vi, 19, 20; ix, 16, 17; x, 31; Col. i, 17.

Enthusiasm.

We need more enthusiasm. The more we have the better. I have a great admiration for Garibaldi, though I cannot, of course, approve of all his acts. When put in prison, he said, "It is better that 50 Garibaldis should perish than that Rome should not be free." This was the cause getting above the man. That's what we want. We want to forget ourselves. There are 100,000 men waiting now to be brought to Christ, to be invited to come to Him, and shall we hang back?—Lutheran Observer.

A Solution.

Love is the solution of most human problems. That is why Christ said, "Love your enemies." It may be a hard saying, but it will work out the solution unerringly if we are willing to try it.—American Friend.

The Shadows of Life.

Shadows are the unusual, and because of this we dread them. But customs explain nothing. Should an eclipse occur every day it would create no more interest than the sunset.—Presbyterian Journal.

A Wrong Name.

It is a sorry day for Christian faith when we call things religious that have become so cruel that they cease to be human.—Rev. E. L. Rexford, D. D.

Nothing More So.

Is there anything more uncommon than common sense—even sanctified common sense?—Christian Standard.

Three Gates of Gold.

If you are tempted to reveal
A tale some one to you has told
About another, make it pass,
Before you speak, three gates of gold.

These narrow gates—first, "Is it true?"
Then "Is it needful?" in your mind.
Give thankful answer, and the next
Is last and narrowest, "Is it kind?"

And if to reach your lips at last
It passes through these gateways three,
Then you may tell the tale nor fear
What the result of speech may be.

—Evangelist.

SCIENCE AND INVENTION.

ARTIFICIAL DIAMONDS.

Detailed Account of Experiments by Which Microscopic Stones Have Been Obtained.

In the production of small crystals of carbon (diamond) in the electrical furnace it has been a matter of dispute whether the enormous pressure exerted upon the interior of the molten mass had anything to do with crystallization. Experiments carried out by Majorana show that in all probability it does. As described by Mr. F. Mallowo Perkin in Nature, these experiments were carried out as follows. Says Mr. Perkin:

"It is well known that synthetical diamonds have been obtained by means of the electric furnace; charcoal obtained from sugar is rammed into a wrought-iron cylinder, which is then closed with a plug. The cylinder so filled is placed in a bath of molten iron kept at a high temperature in an electric furnace, after which the crucible which contains the iron is rapidly cooled by immersion in melted lead. On dissolving the iron in acid minute diamonds are obtained. It was a question whether here we had a case of simple crystallization of the carbon from the molten metal on cooling, or whether the enormous pressure which was exerted upon the interior of the mass by the rapid cooling of the outside acting upon the carbon at a high temperature caused the formation of crystals of diamonds. An exceedingly ingenious experiment which has been carried out by Majorana shows that at any rate the influence of high pressure and high temperature combined is sufficient to convert amorphous carbon into crystalline variety. Majorana's experiment is as follows:

"A cylindrical chamber, A (Fig. 1), is hermetically closed at the top by a solid block of iron (E), the bottom by a solid piston (S). The sides of the chamber are made of tempered steel, and to further strengthen it the chamber is surrounded by 15 iron rings, one centimeter thick, which are bolted together. The whole system is placed within a hexagonal frame (K), also made from iron plates. The piston (S) has a small solid iron cylinder about one centimeter in diameter attached to it, at the end of which is fastened a small piece of carbon (c), about two grams in weight. Directly below the piston a thick block of iron (p) is fixed, into which a hole exactly the size of the small end of the cylinder has been drilled. In carrying out the experiment the carbon is heated by means of two carbon poles (D, D), with a current of 25 ampheres and 100 volts. When the carbon has become white-hot 70 grams of gunpowder contained in the chamber (A) is exploded, the piston being driven down, carrying the heated carbon before it and compressing it with enormous force. On taking the system to pieces the carbon is found to have been partially converted into microscopic diamonds, which, when freed from unchanged amorphous carbon, are found to possess all the characteristics of natural diamonds."

BIOXIDE OF SODIUM.

Experiments Made in Paris Have Proven That It Renews Oxygen in the Air.

Highly interesting demonstrations of the properties of bioxide of sodium are being given before the French Academy of Science. Bioxide of sodium is found to possess the property of renewing the oxygen in air that has been breathed and in absorbing carbonic acid gas given off. Thus, with an apparatus containing the sodium, shown by Desgrey and Balthouard at the academy, a diver can remain under water and walk about without having the air renewed by the pumping apparatus at present employed.

Moreover, by means of the new apparatus miners will be able to penetrate into poisonous gases and foul air and firemen into smoke without fear of asphyxiation. It will also render practicable submarine boats.

Ample proofs of all that is claimed for it were given at the academy. Two men put on diving dresses from which all air was excluded and remained inclosed two hours. Afterward the same men remained under water in the Seine during half an hour. The experiments are creating the greatest interest in scientific circles.

What Ginseng Looks Like.

Gingseng is parsnip-shaped, and when freshly dug is of a white, creamy color. The root is bitter to the taste, but not unpleasant, and is highly valued in China for its supposed medicinal properties in combating fatigue and old age. In that country it can only be gathered by permission of the ruler.

THE DOLLIES' PIC-NIC.

A number of sweet little dollies
Were lying close by on the shelf,
Contented to lay there together,
And not thinking at all of theirself.
When up jumped one bright-looking dollie
And cried out in a manner most gay:
Oh, dollies, let's have a real pic-nic!
And have it this day, right away!
So they got up a wonderful pic-nic,
And played till they could play no more.
If you want to see this fine pic-nic,
Look in the window of Harker's finestore.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning Sept. 9, "Our Simple Duty." Text, Luke xvii, 7-10.

"When ye shall have done all those things which are commanded you, say: 'We are unprofitable servants. We have done that which was our duty to do.'"

It is profoundly humbling, but very helpful, to a just estimate of ourselves to take this thought home to our hearts. Most people are apt to overestimate their own importance and to feel, even if they do not express it in words, that the performance of religious duties of any kind should be recognized as deserving of praise.

It is by no means easy to find those who will consent to do the work needed in the church. To teach in the Sunday school, to act as an officer, to take a department in the league and put time, money and hard work into it and then find others apathetic or contrary, is very trying to patience and Christian sweetness. Some keep on year after year, in disregard of all obstacles and lack of appreciation, because they realized their deep indebtedness to God and cheerfully do the little service possible for them out of full affection to Jesus and for love of His needy ones. It is enough that God knows their hearts. It never moves them to hear others say, "No one will appreciate it." They are not seeking applause, not even appreciation. In glad companionship with the Master, with songs in the heart, they are glad to do a little. When they look at it all, they feel very little, because so much needs to be done and strength is so small to do anything.

What a mistake to think we confer a favor on God by serving Him! Who can merit anything by the strictest observance of His laws? In flying, the birds must obey the laws of motion and of atmospheric resistance, gravitation and muscular exertion. But all they get out of it is ability to fly. Every command of God is simply the stating of a necessary law of spiritual life. If we observe in strictest fashion every injunction, we simply come to ability to live rightly. The half fledged robin fallen from the nest in the first attempt at flight is not less skillful than are we in many of our crude attempts to help ourselves.

After repeated failures and much danger of injury the bird learns to poise on outstretched wing, to speed through the air, to seek food, shelter, safety, companionship, to alight and rest and rear its young.

So should we learn that patient doing the known duties will give us proficiency in living justly and rightly and that after we have done all we are but common men—just what God intended us to be. Others may be better or worse; but, as for us, we have done only our simple duty and have gained the full compensation for all our efforts in being able to do as God would have us do.

Bishop Parker of India.

India is an immense aggregation of peoples of most diverse types, languages and governments. Our church began missionary work in the northwest provinces in 1857. Dr. William Butler was the pioneer and founder of all our work in that vast peninsula. In 1859 several men went to his assistance, among whom was Rev. Edwin W. Parker, who after all these years of continuous service was elected by the general conference at Chicago in May last as missionary bishop of India. Bishop Thoburn has been overburdened with the duties of his office and suffered in health until it became necessary to give him additional help. Dr. Parker, though advanced in years, was manifestly one of the best equipped men in the world for this place. With him was elected Rev. Frank W. Warne of Calcutta, a much younger man, but one who has seen enough of missionary life and demonstrated by his grasp of matters his ability to fill the requirements of the position.

Bishop Parker was born at St. Johnsbury, Vt. He joined the church in 1853 and Vermont conference in 1857. He was educated at Newberry seminary and Concord Biblical institute. He has been presiding elder since 1864 with the exception of three years. He is president of the Epworth Leagues of India, which enroll nearly 12,000 members.

Strange Banners.

On the walls of the general conference platform in the Chicago Auditorium were hung a score of banners such as never before decorated any American meeting place. They were the silk shields, squares and pennants from faroff India and had been secured from the Epworth Leagues which used them in the great gathering in that country while Bishop Foss and Dr. Goucher were on their missionary tour of the land.

SPORTING.

GOLF

In the four ball match last week on the Park Club course between Thiers and Townsend of the home club and Reinhart and Talmage of the Hillside Club, Reinhart succeeded in beating the Bogey score for nine holes. He made the round in 39. Townsend has done the same, but Reinhart is the first visitor to come out ahead in a contest with Col. Bogey.

The third and deciding match between two of the crack players of the Hillside Club and two from the Park Club in a four ball contest was played on the Park Golf Club course last week and resulted in a victory for Frank Reinhart and Frank Talmage five up and four to go over W. J. R. Thiers and Morgan T. Townsend. The other two matches were played earlier in the season.

There will be the usual play at the Park Golf Club links tomorrow afternoon for the president's cup. William C. Faber is still in the lead, but Edgar I. Serrell, Morgan T. Townsend and Allan B. Laing are so close behind that a point or two may change the entire arrangement of the competitors for the trophy. W. J. R. Thiers will also play the next challenger on the list for the green committee challenge trophy.

On the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course next Saturday morning there will be play for the VanHerwerden cup. This is a handicap, ladies' competition, open to all women whether active, associate or junior associate members, 18 holes medal play. The final play will take place on October 27th, match play, open only to those women who have made one or more wins for the same cup. In the afternoon of the same day at 2 o'clock there will be a match between the Hillside and Madison teams in the East Jersey Golf Association tournament.

A match in the New Jersey Golf Association, which will be watched with interest, is scheduled at the links of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club tomorrow afternoon. The team from the Madison Golf Club, the first team in the league to defeat the Hillside players, will come here for a return match. The Madison Club course is peculiar and an acquaintance with it is desirable when a player wants to make a good score there. The Madison players will have to put up a stronger game indeed to defeat the Hillside players and it is not at all likely that they will do it. The Hillside team isn't counting on probabilities any more and will put a strong team into the field against Madison. It will probably include Frank Reinhart, Frank Talmage, W. J. Glenney, Morris Dumont and one or two others.

The showing made by Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers, of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, was exceedingly gratifying to her many friends in this city. There were a number of Plainfielders who were summering on Long Island, who were enabled to witness the matches in the women's national tourney and also see Mrs. Rogers play. During the last year Plainfield has been coming rapidly to the front in golfing circles. In the men's national championship, Plainfield had several competitors. In the interscholastic and intercollegiate contests, Plainfield was represented among the leaders. Then came the ladies' championship contest in which the champion of last year was defeated by Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. Rogers herself only put out of the tournament by the young woman who eventually won it.

Justice Mattison's Court.

Justice Mattison, has just issued a summons in the contract case of Edward Terry against Charles Jester, which is returnable Thursday afternoon, September 13th, at 2 p. m. In the landlord and tenant case of Miles against Stiglitz, Justice Mattison has given judgment for the plaintiff, and after three days' grace an execution will be issued.

He Acted Strangely.

A stranger, who appeared to be demented, visited several stores on West Front street this noon in search of collar buttons. When the articles were produced he would declare he had not asked for them, but wanted a suit of clothes or some other article. He became very noisy in Woodhull & Martin's and was finally asked to leave the store.

A Pleasant Festival.

The peach and ice cream festival at the residence of Manley Giles, Park avenue, near the Lehigh Valley Railroad, last evening, for the benefit of Marconnier chapel, was not as largely attended as was expected, but a sociable evening was enjoyed by those in attendance. The grounds were illuminated with Chinese and other lanterns, and looked very pretty and attractive. Tables for the sale of candy, lemonade, cake, peaches, ice cream, etc., were placed about the lawn, but the patronage was lacking. A stage-load of people from Trinity Reformed church were in attendance, which was very pleasing to those in charge.

WHY E. R. ACKERMAN WAS NOT NOMINATED.

prised as it intimated a split. Hamilton Kean, chairman of the Union county delegation, grasped the situation, however, and was on his feet the next instant to second Mr. Freeman's nomination in behalf of the Union county delegation. This evidence of harmony was received with cheers.

It was too warm to display any great amount of enthusiasm, but the delegates exhibited a lot of it nevertheless. The business of the convention was hustled through with, however, as fast as possible as Taylor's Opera House, where the convention was held, was a warm place.

Franklin Murphy, chairman of the State committee, was a few minutes late in calling the convention to order. After a little speech, he introduced United States Senator Sewell as the chairman. Senator Sewell talked briefly on the political situation. Then came the call for the committees. The honors for Union county were noted in yesterday's Daily Press. Somerset county held a little caucus in the convention hall allotted the honors as follows: Chairman, B. B. Hegeman, Jr., of North Plainfield; secretary, Charles H. Bateman, of Somerville; vice-president, Senator Charles A. Reed, of North Plainfield; committee on permanent organization, George A. Wolff, of Franklin; committee on rules, Assemblyman E. E. Cooper, of Warren; committee on resolutions, Charles McMichael, of Bernards; committee on credentials, A. M. Beekman, of Bridgewater.

At a caucus of the Third Congressional district delegates Somerset was given the nomination for elector, Frederick B. Olcott, of Bernardsville. Monmouth was given the chairman of the delegation, Senator Francis, and Middlesex received the secretary.

After the appointment of committees a recess of fifteen minutes was taken when the committees met. They reported. The temporary organization was made permanent. The following ten Presidential electors were then unanimously nominated:

Electors-at-Large—John F. Dryden, Newark; David Baird, Camden.

District Electors — First district, John M. Moore, Clayton; Second district, Washington A. Roebling, Trenton; Third district, Frederick P. Olcott, Bernardsville; Fourth district, Luther Kountze, Morristown; Fifth district, William H. McKenzie, East Rutherford; Sixth district, Geo. E. Halsey, East Orange; Seventh district, Ernest Rappelye, Jersey City; Eighth district, Wilberforce Freeman, Orange.

Senator J. C. Burrows, of Michigan, was then introduced as the speaker of the afternoon and addressed the convention. He held the attention of the delegates which was a difficult thing owing to the decidedly high temperature. There were a few other less important speakers and then the convention adjourned.

Working Night and Day.

The busiest and mightiest little thing that ever was made is Dr. King's New Life Pills. These pills change weakness into strength, listlessness into energy, brain-fag into mental power. They're wonderful in building up the health. Only 25c per box. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

—In the vicinity of Fairview avenue a number of stray canines have, for sometime past, been making lots of trouble for the residents. If the nuisance continues the dogs will be on the missing list before long.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Murray Burtis, of Fairview avenue, has returned from a southern business trip.

John Rittenhouse, the old veteran, of New street, is failing and no hopes are entertained of his recovery.

Health Inspector William Addis, Sr., will leave tomorrow evening for Beverly, Mass., where he will visit his daughter, Mrs. Clarence N. Mundy. This will be the first vacation that Mr. Addis has had in the four years he has held his present position.

WHY THE BOROUGH TAX RATE WENT UP.

Mayor Smalley and Members of the Council Give Their Reasons for the Raise.

COULD NOT BE AVOIDED.

STATE LAW ALLOWED EXEMPTION FOR MANY THOUSANDS.

Mayor Smalley Admits That He is a Beneficiary Under the Law, But He Tells Assessor French to Cut Our Such Exemption.

The question of the large increase in the tax rate for the borough during the coming year was discussed in a lively manner at the September meeting of the Mayor and Borough Council last evening. Mayor Smalley introduced it and in his customary frank manner related a few facts about the condition of affairs. He mentioned the various appropriations that go to make up the $20,100, the total appropriation for the year, and showed how each was fixed on an economical basis. He cited the fact that Watchung avenue has been opened four years and this year for the first time one of the bonds for the improvement was to be paid off. This, he said, would cause a raise of a trifle over four points in the tax rate. He also spoke of the opening of Duer street to the brook and said that the $500 subscribed would barely cover the expense for this work of macadamizing and laying sidewalks and keeping the same in repair.

Continuing, the Mayor said: "With all the improvements made in the borough an increase in valuation is expected. There has been, but why does our tax rate go up? An explanation is in order. While the payment of the $1,000 Watchung avenue bond accounts for one-half of the raise, the other half is due to a law which has been taken advantage of. This law allows a man a deduction of his personal and real-estate taxes for notes in the bank, and we find that there is about $40,000 to offset the increase in valuation. The only damaging admission I have to make is that I am a beneficiary of that law. I am disgusted in finding myself in the list with others who have acted in a similar manner. I asked for a deduction on $400 and got it, but I want you, Mr. Assessor, to cross my name off that list and I will pay my taxes in full.

"In some cases this law has cut out the whole assessed valuation. The business of this Council is conducted in the open, and I want the people of this borough to know just why this rate has gone up. I have had hopes of the establishment of a bank in the borough and I believed that with the establishment of a postal sub-station the borough would at no distant day have a full-fledged postoffice, with a postmaster getting a salary. We have no bank in the borough, and the city of Plainfield is daily benefitting from us through business transacted in their banks."

Mr. Valiant was the next speaker and he said that wile he opposed Mr. Smalley when he ran for office, he was glad to state now that no one can charge the increase in the tax rate to him. In many cases he has lessened the burden on the people, and he frankly admitted that the better he became acquainted with the Mayor the more he liked him. He thoroughly appreciated his efforts and believed that the administration is an economical one.

Mr. Rogers added a few words and dwelt on the necessity of having proper people as commissioners of appeal. He believed that many are entitled to reductions made by the commissioners, while there are many who are not entitled to any reduction. He agreed with Mr. Valiant in what he had said and complimented the Mayor for his efforts.

Mr. Clark asked for an explanation of affairs from Assessor French, and the latter readily responded. He said that there is an increase of $2,000 on account of school improvements, and an increase of $1,600 on account of Watchung avenue bond. The increased valuation, he said, is offset by the deduction allowed on account of notes in bank. The increase, he said, would be eighteen points, making the rate $2.46 on the $100.

Mr. Rogers stated that he had heard the law allowing deductions was a new one, and he asked for information. Mr. French informed him that the law, while an old one, was changed two years ago allowing deductions on personal property and real estate both.

At this time Senator Reed took a hand. He said that the law assesses a man for what he has and in one way it is all right. He considered it only

DEMOCRATIC DELEGATES

PRIMARIES HELD IN THE CITY AND BOROUGH LAST NIGHT.

They Will Attend the State Convention and Help to Choose Nominees for Electors.

Democratic primaries were held in all the wards of this city and in North Plainfield borough last night to elect delegates to the State convention. In the city primaries delegates were also elected to the Congressional convention to be held in Bayonne Sept. 19th. The delegates to the State convention will aid in the choice of two electors-at large and one elector to represent the Eighth Congressional district. The results were as follows:

FIRST WARD.

The First ward primary was held at 140 East Front street and was called to order by Former Councilman W. L. Hetfield, who was afterwards made chairman of the meeting. Andrew J. Nolan was secretary. M. J. DeCourcy and Henry Mollison were elected judge and inspector respectively. Those elected as delegates to represent the ward at the State convention were John Rafferty and William T. Banks. Walter L. Hetfield and Andrew J. Nolan were named as the delegates to attend the Congressional convention.

SECOND WARD.

The Democratic primary in the Second ward was held at the Bryant school. The meeting was called to order by J. E. Martine. He was made chairman; William K. McClure secretary, and Hezikiah Hand judge of election. J. E. Martine and Alfred Cox was elected delegates to the State convention. W. K. McClure and J. B. Guttridge were chosen alternates. The delegates to the Congressional convention were Edward M. Tomlinson and Frank E. Stover. The alternates were Sylvester Sharkey and H. W. Marshall.

THIRD WARD.

The Democrats of the Third ward held their primary in the High school building. The meeting was called to order by James Hibbits, a member of the county committee. F. M. Bacon was elected chairman and Frank McInerney, secretary. The following delegates were then elected: State convention, Wilbur Pennington and Martin Galbraith; Congressional, F. M. Bacon.

FOURTH WARD.

The primary was attended by the usual large number of Democrats that always turnout in the Fourth. M. R Flynn was made chairman of the meeting. The other officers were: Secretary, Clinton A. Shannon; judge, Lewis Niles; clerk, Ira Hulburt. The following delegates were elected without opposition: State convention, W. W. St. John, Clinton A. Shannon and Ira Hulburt; Congressional, Thomas Carty, Edward McCue and James R. Phillips.

NORTH PLAINFIELD.

The Democrats of the borough held a primary last evening in the basement of the Somerset street school house to elect delegates to attend the State convention at Trenton next week Wednesday. Elston M. French was chosen chairman, and William Kiely, secretary. The delegates selected are Andrew E. Kenney and Augustus Mobus. The executive committee of the party, consisting of Dennis Gavin, Walter Linbarger and William Demler, with the addition of Levi Kline, were appointed to organize a Democratic club in the borough. The committee will go to work at once and arrange for the opening of the campaign in the borough.

Important Link in Good Roads.

A communication was received by the Rahway City Council from the Middlesex County Board of Freeholders giving official information of the completion on their part of the macadamizing of the road from Carteret to Rahway City line, and stating also the agreement by which the portion of road along the city line, connecting Carteret road and Hazelwood avenues. This completes a continuous macadamized road system from Newark, Trenton and return via Bloomfield.

To Resume Church Service.

The Congregational church will resume its services tomorrow after being closed since the last Sunday in July. The morning service will be held as usual at 10:30 o'clock, when the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed. The Sunday-school will resume its sessions at 2:45 o'clock in the afternoon. The Christian Endeavor Society will hold a consecration meeting at 7:30 o'clock in the evening.

—Dolls' hospital at Harper's, 411 Park avenue.

—A few baskets of peaches and Bartlett pears will be sold at Neuman Brothers this afternoon and evening at reduced prices.

COUNTY LEADER MAKES GREAT G. O. P. CLAIMS

Chairman C. N. Codding, of Republican County Committee, Talked on Situation.

HE WAS VERY CONFIDENT.

DECLARED THAT ALL TOWNS WOULD GO REPUBLICAN.

Places McKinley's Plurality in the County at 4,000—Position of the Gold Democrats — First Preliminary Canvass Made.

There isn't to be a single majority for Bryan and Stevenson in all Union county, according to the claims of Charles N. Codding, of Westfield, chairman of the Republican county executive committee. That is what the county committee is going to work for and Mr. Codding is very confident in his belief that such will be the case.

Concerning the situation in Union county, Mr. Codding was interviewed yesterday by a Daily Press reporter.

"What of the political situation in Union county?" remarked Chairman Codding. "It is absolutely pleasing from a Republican standpoint. The first preliminary canvass has already been made and it shows the party active and party managers in line all through the county.

"The position of the gold Democrats is practically the same as it was four years ago. Very few of them have swung into line for the nominees of the Kansas City convention. There is little enthusiasm on the other side as there is nothing in this county to elect except the President, Congressman and three Assemblymen, and no local issues at all. The Democrats in Union county can vote the straight Republican ticket and not injure their local party interests. With the absence of local issues their vote will only take effect on national questions.

"Do we expect to carry the county? Of course," continued the chairman. "The Republicans will have a majority for McKinley and Roosevelt in every city, borough and township in Union county. Just mark my words and see if they do not come true. The county will go Republican by about 4,000.

The active campaign in Union county will begin Monday when the county committee will open headquarters in the Dix building, Elizabeth, under the personal supervision of Chairman Codding. The headquarters will be kept open morning, afternoon and evening and there will be an abundant stock of campaign literature, buttons and other campaign supplies.

The county committee will also look to the booking of speakers for a series of mass meetings in the county. The opening meeting of the campaign was to be held Thursday evening in this city but the refusal of the city committee to accept the date will result in the transferring of the meeting to Rahway or Summit. Friday night a mass meeting will be held in Elizabeth. Victor B. Dolliver, of Iowa, a brother of the new Senator, will address the meetings Thursday and Friday evenings.

COUNTY LEGISLATORS.

Springfield Avenue Macadamizing Delayed—Bridge Work and Minor Matters of County Interest.

At a meeting of the Board of Freeholders held Thursday afternoon a communication was received from Contractor Meeker, employed in grading and macadamizing Springfield avenue from New Providence to the Passaic river. Mr. Meeker informed the Board that owing to circumstances over which he had no control the work had been somewhat delayed, and he asked for an extension of time until November 1st, in which to complete the work. The request was granted.

Freeholder Wahl offered a resolution to the effect that the bill of W. T. Kirk, of $500 for furnishing iron work for the bridge on Springfield avenue, in New Providence township, be paid when properly audited. The resolution was adopted.

Mr. Wahl moved that a committee of five be appointed with power to replank and repair the bridge over Salt brook, in the township of New Providence. The motion was adopted.

On resolution offered by Freeholder Westphal, a committee of three was appointed to build a bridge over Cedar brook, on Johnson avenue, Plainfield, the cost of the bridge not to exceed $400. The committee appointed were Freeholders Westphal, Robison and Bonnell.

HOUSE AND MONEY BURNED

Lamp Exploded That Was Kept Lighted So That Burglars Could Be Detected.

By the explosion of a lamp left burning in the hallway, the house occupied by P. J. Haines, an Oak Tree farmer, was totally destroyed by fire at an early hour this morning, and Haines and family had a narrow escape from being cremated.

The house was in flames when Haines was awakened by the heat and smoke. He aroused his wife and then ran into the bedroom where his three children were sleeping. The stairway was cut off by the fire and the family was forced to escape through a window to the kitchen roof and then to the ground. Secreted in a room on the first floor was $300 in cash which was burned. Haines had a fear of banks and always kept his money in the house.

The lamp that exploded was kept burning so that in case burglars should try to get the money Haines would be able to see them. The house and all its contents were totally destroyed, entailing a loss of $3,000, with but small insurance.

MUST KEEP TO THE RIGHT.

Heavy Loaded Wagons Have Been Using the Left Side of Somerset Street.

Through the efforts of Mayor Smalley and the street committee from the Borough Council, all wagons carrying heavy loads over Somerset street will hereafter be obliged to keep to the right of the road at all times. Drivers of stone and ice wagons, as well as other heavy wagons, have for some time past made a practice of taking the left side of Somerset street in coming to the city from the mountains and the right side in returning. This is due to the fact that the chosen side is in a little better condition than the other side. From this one-sided traffic the street is bady worn and official action was necessary.

In view of the above all owners of teams pulling heavy loads have been given notice to use the right side of the street always, and if they do not stronger measures will be adopted. This bad practice has more than once been the cause of a mixup and serious accidents have narrowly been averted. The drivers of heavy loads often refuse to turn out for people going in the opposite direction and this is contrary to all precedent.

Bridge Foundation Finished.

Contractor Wm. Farrier has completed the work of laying the foundations for the new bridge that is to be built across Green brook to connect Madison avenue and Duer street, and the job is in every respect a satisfactory one. The foundations are substantial and have been built in the best possible manner. Everything is now in readiness for the iron work for which W. T. Kirk has the contract. The iron is expected in a few days and this part of the structure will be put in position as soon as possible. It is expected that the bridge will be opened for travel within a few weeks.

Stubborn Chimney Fire.

The most stubborn chimney fire that the firemen have had to contend with in a long time, occurred at the residence of Randolph Marsh, of Plainfield avenue, yesterday. The chimney caught fire about noontime, and Mr. Marsh worked for some time trying to put it out, but without success. He was finally forced to send in a still alarm and hose companies Nos. 1 and 3 responded. The firemen worked for three hours and used fire extinguishers before it was finally gotten under control. It did not go out entirely until late last night.

Will Defend Filipino Prisoners.

A letter received from Lieutenant Fred W. Coleman, son of Major and Mrs. F. W. Coleman, of the Hotel Netherwood, tells of his experiences in the Philippines. He is now quartered at Daugapan, on one of the islands of that group, and has just been appointed as counsel for several Filipinos who will be tried by a military court for the murder of an American soldier.

Hung Head Downward.

A child of two or three summers was left alone in a carriage standing in front of the Elkwood building, West Second street, last evening. The little one fell out and its clothing caught on the axle and wheel and there it hung head downward. Charles E. Vail, of Orchard place, was passing and rescued the youngster from its uncomfortable and dangerous position.

Formed a Partnership.

H. J. Talford, founder of The Daily Bulletin, which has at once jumped into popular favor with the citizens of Plainfield, has sold a half-interest in the paper to Nathan R. Titsworth. Mr. Talford will be the editor and Mr. Titsworth the business manager. The firm name will be Talford & Titsworth.

LIVE WIRE LOOSE ON FRONT STREET.

Trolley Wire Fell During Interval of Quiet on One of City's Busiest Thoroughfares.

NO ONE INJURED BY IT.

PROMPT ACTION BY MANAGER RUNYON OF TELEPHONE COMPANY.

He Ended Danger Period in Short Time—Many Narrow Escapes From the Live Trolley Wire for People and Horses—Break is Repaired.

When a sudden break in the stream of traffic left West Front street, opposite Randolph's pharmacy, free for a moment this morning, the overhead trolley wire to the west bound track of the Plainfield Street Railway Company snapped and fell down on the street. The wire squirmed and wriggled to the profound consternation of everybody who happened to be in the vicinity. There were a score of narrow escapes from the live wire but no one was injured. There was great excitement, however, for a few moments.

The accident happened at 10:17 o'clock, just as an open car had passed along going west. As the car passed by there was a noise like the report of a revolver and the next instant the live wire was dancing about the street while horses plunged and people screamed.

One of Fred Endress' delivery wagons was standing in front of Crosby & Hill's big store. The wire, after striking the ground, banged against the horse's legs but did not shock it. The animal started to bolt, but Frank Vail, of LaGrande avenue, caught it by the head and held it until the driver reached there.

A huckster from New Market, named Higgins, had the wire squirm right before his eyes. Both he and his horse narrowly escaped an intimate acquaintance with the wire by a very small margin. One of Hedden's carriages with a woman and several children in it just missed the wire by a few inches. There were a number of other narrow escapes.

Charles W. Runyon, manager of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company, was in the vicinity and was one of the first to venture near the live wire. With the aid of a lineman of the street railway company, who was nearby, he fastened the wire to the guy-wires with rope to get it out of harm's way until the arrival of the repair wagon of the company.

The wire happened to break just at a moment when the middle of the street was free from traffic. Had it occurred a few minutes before a fatal accident would have undoubtedly resulted. It was also a fortunate circumstance that Mr. Runyon was there, as his prompt action put an end to the danger without delay. The repair wagon of the telephone company was telephoned for and arrived quite promptly. The damage was then repaired. The schedule of the cars was considerably disarranged, however, and it was not until afternoon that the cars were running on regular schedule again.

TROUBLE FOR TROLLEY CO.

Raritan Traction Company Up Against It — Metuchen People are Kicking.

The Raritan Traction Company, of Perth Amboy, is "up against it" in its effort to secure from the Raritan Township Committee and the Board of Freeholders the right to lay a trolley line from its present system in Perth Amboy to Metuchen.

On Tuesday night at a meeting of the Committee the company's application was considered. Allan Strong, of New Brunswick, was present in the interests of William Orton, et. als., owning considerable frontage along the proposed line, who desired to withdraw their consent. There were other protests against the granting of the franchise. Lawyer Wight, for the traction company, argued against the Ortons being permitted to withdraw their consents, and finally the whole matter was adjourned to September 18th.

Wednesday the company ran up against a snag at the meeting of the Board of Freeholders. As the company wishes to lay its tracks along a county road and over culverts and bridges owned by the county, a county franchise is necessary. Two protests were filed with the Board Thursday, one from E. Pheiffer and others, and one from Marcus Schantz. That of Pheiffer was presented by Senator Reed, and was a copy of a similar protest that had been filed with the Township Committee.

A SYMPATHETIC STRIKE.

UNION PLUMBERS REFUSE TO WORK FOR D. J. GALBRAITH.

The Action Taken Because Galbraith Tries to Carry on Work With Non-Union Carpenters.

Acting in sympathy with the union carpenters of the city, four master plumbers employed by D. J. Galbraith went out on strike yesterday. Unless Mr. Galbraith acceeds to the demands of the men he will be put at a disadvantage in continuing work on any contract, as he has only apprentices left.

The trouble yesterday was caused by the sending of an apprentice to do some work on the new residence in course of construction at the corner of Craig place and Grove street, for Mrs. Annie M. Hannigan. Non union carpenters have been employed upon the building with whom the union plumbers refused to work. As the former could not go ahead with their work until certain plumbing was done, the apprentice, over whom the union has no control, was sent to do the job.

Mr. Galbraith was asked to withdraw him but the request was met with refusal His master plumbers were then ordered by the Builders Trade's Union to quit work, which was done. The plumbers are not fighting for themselves but for the union carpenters. As it is impossible to procure a plumber to work on the house until union carpenters are employed, building operations will be suspended. The plumbers now seem to have the upper hand and until Titus & Pope, who have the carpenter work, employ union men, the contractors will be unable to complete the house.

SCHOOLS TO REOPEN.

Principals and Teachers Will be Ready to Receive New Pupils Monday.

The Plainfield public schools will reopen for the fall term Tuesday morning. All the buildings are in excellent condition and all is in readiness for the opening. While no extensive repairs have been made to any of the schools, they have all been thoroughly renovated and a number of them equipped with the new gray blackboards instead of the old ones with the black surface. The change is said to be a decided improvement, making it easier for the eyes of both teachers and pupils.

Superintendent H. M. Maxson will be in his office Monday, where parents may consult him. He is going to be very busy, however, for there will be lots to do. The principals and teachers in the schools will, most of them, be in their rooms Monday to receive new pupils. The real opening does not take place until Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock.

Printing Company.

Last week articles of incorporation were filed with the Somerset County Clerk by the John C. Knight Co., which will do business at 101 W. Main street, Somerville, with D. N. Messler as authorized agent, in the printing, publishing, advertising, engraving and lithographing line. The incorporators are John C. Knight, John E. Hull and Edwin M. Knight and the capital $50,000, with $1,000 to begin business with.

Odd Fellows Elect Officers.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Atlantic City, Sept. 8—The Grand Lodge of the New Jersey colored Odd Fellows met here yesterday. They elected the following officers: A. R. Clements, of Jersey City, district master; Ralph Hilton, of Newark, deputy master; G. S. Huggs, of Elizabeth, secretary; George H. Giles, of Salem director. Their next meeting will be held at Paterson.

Board of Education Meeting.

The September meeting of the Plainfield Board of Education will be held Monday evening. The regular meeting night was last Monday, but the meeting was postponed as that day was a legal holiday. No action is expected at the meeting Monday night on the new High School as the committee on sites is not yet ready to report.

Chorus Choir to be Heard Again.

The chorus choir of the First M. E. church, under the direction of Charles L. Lewis, will resume their work for the coming year at the services tomorrow. The choir was very satisfactory last spring but it will be still further improved this winter under the charge of Mr. Lewis.

Postal Station Opens Monday.

On Monday next the new postal substation for the borough will be opened for business on Somerset street adjoining J. K. Arnold's grocery. J. J. Stahl will be in charge.

ORDINANCE TO WIDEN STREET NOW IN EFFECT

Much-Talked-of Improvement in the Borough Authorized by the Council

ONE VOTE CAST AGAINST IT.

COUNCILMAN VALIANT NOT SATISFIED WITH SOME PROVISIONS.

Property Owners are Anxious That Benefits Shall Not Far Exceed the Damages Allowed--Other Borough Business.

Mayor Smalley and every member of the Borough Council, including Mr. Swackhamer, was present at the September meeting held last evening. His Honor was especially anxious to have Mr. Swackhamer present and sent Chief Marshal Campbell to his house to bring him to the meeting. Upon his arrival the business of the evening was taken up.

The report of Collector Brown showed the total receipts for the month of August to be $3,197.94, and the disbursements $1,743.03, leaving a balance September 1st of $1,454.94. The resignation of W. C. Smith as a member of Warren Engine Company was received and accepted. Mr. Clark, chairman of the street committee, reported disbursements for the past month to be $253.57, which includes $124 51 for street sprinkling. The total expenditure for the past six months are $3,395.67. Mr. Lee, chairman of the committee on marshals, reported that eight arrests were made during August, six for being drunk and disorderly, and two for disorderly conduct. The sum of $17 was reported as fines received.

Three resolutions were offered by Mr. Valiant. One authorizing the drafting of a warrant to pay $1,000 certificate on account of Watchung avenue improvement and the interest on same. Another provided for meeting a $1,000 note which was due September 3d, and the third provided for the borrowing of $2,500 for three months to pay bills.

Mr. Swackhamer offered a resolution authorizing the collector to mark certain names off the tax books for the years 1898-1899. Some cannot be collected and others are assessed in error. Mr. Lee offered a resolution granting a license to the Plainfield Automobile Company to operate two automobiles in the borough at the usual license rate for hackmen.

A short time ago members of Warren Engine Company took the fire engine to Charles Hyde's property and drained some of his land of water. The sum of $50 was paid by Mr. Hyde for the service, and last evening Mr. Rogers offered a resolution appropriating the $50 to the members of the company. Mr. Rogers explained that the firemen had returned the coal used at that time, and the engine had been restored to its former condition. In view of this he favored the resolution. The money will be used to give the firemen a good time next month.

In accordance with a resolution offered at the previous meeting of the Council, Chairman Clark, of the street committee, presented a report concerning the widening of Somerset street—that is, as to progress made in treating with property-owners on the street who would be affected by the widening. The committee was authorized to see the owners and ascertain the price for which the necessary property could be secured. Mr. Clark's report for the committee was that they found it impossible to come to any agreement or decision in the matter and no approximate cost for the land could be obtained.

In answer to a question by Mr. Valiant, Mr. Clark stated that the property-owners expect that if they dedicate their land the assessments for benefits ought to be such that the expense to them would be very light.

The ordinance for the widening of Somerset street was then called up by Mr. Swackhammer for its second reading, and after adoption on that reading, it was moved to the final reading. At this point Mr. Valiant made a few remarks. He thought the question of assessment for benefits and damages should be discussed, as the widening of the street depends largely on the cost of the work.

He wanted to know to what extent the adoption of the ordinance would hold the Council, and whether after its adoption and the receiving of the report of the commissioners appointed to assess benefits and damages, the proceedings could be upset if found unsatisfactory.

Corporation Counsel Reed informed the Council that no doubt the ordinance and work of the commissioners

Newsy Notes of More or Less Importance Bunched Together for the Ready Reference Press Readers

—You will never find any other pills so prompt and so pleasant as DeWitt's Little Early Risers. L. W. Randolph.

—The Misses Ida Tallamy and Etta Randolph, of West Front street, are stopping at the Hill Crest Farm, Hunterdon county, for one week.

—William Francis Ireland, the converted actor, who is to speak at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow afternoon, has spoken one evening for two weeks in succession in the Metropolitan Temple, New York. He has also spoken for the associations of Newark, Elizabeth, Orange and Jersey City.

—Chinese are dangerous enemies, for they are treacherous. That's why all counterfeits of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve are dangerous. They look like Dewitt's, but instead of the all-healing witch hazel they all contain ingredients liable to irritate the skin and cause blood poisoning. For piles, injuries and skin diseases use the original and genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. L. W. Randolph.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Neal, of West Front street, have returned home from a week's stay at Lebanon and vicinity.

Miss May Miller and Miss May Williams have returned home to Philadelphia after a visit with Miss Mamie Madden, of West Fifth street.

Stood Death Off.

E. B. Munday, a lawyer of Henrietta, Tex., once fooled a grave-digger. He says: "My brother was very low with malarial fever and jaundice. I persuaded him to try Electric Bitters, and he was soon much better, but continued their use until he was wholly cured. I am sure Electric Bitters saved his life." This remedy expels malaria, kills disease germs and purifies the blood; aids digestion, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, cures constipation, dyspepsia, nervous diseases, kidney troubles, female complaints; gives perfect health. Only 50c at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

—The wolf in the fable put on sheep's clothing because if he traveled on his own reputation he couldn't accomplish his purpose. Counterfeiters of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve couldn't sell their worthless salves on their merits, so they put them in boxes and wrappers like DeWitt's. Look out for them. Take only DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It cures piles and all skin diseases. L. W. Randolph.

Miss Florence Baker, of Chatham street, is spending a week with relatives at Rahway.

Frederick Sears, of Clinton avenue, has gone to Philadelphia in the interests of the Potter Press Works.

A Night of Terror.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham, of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she would die from Pneumonia before morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night, "but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, which had more than once saved her life, and cured her of Consumption. After taking, she slept all night. Further use entirely cured her." This marvellous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

Mrs. Josiah Brown, of Watchung avenue, has returned from Asbury Park.

Mrs. J. C. Peck and family, of Myrtle avenue, are home from their summer outing at Bridgehampton, L. I.

—Millions will be spent in politics this year. We can't keep the campaign going without money any more than we can keep the body vigorous without food. Dyspeptics used to starve themselves. KILLED BY SAVAGE BLACKS.

Massacre In New South Wales Create Reign of Terror.

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 8.—The steamer Warrimoo, which has just arrived from Australia and Honolulu, brought news of a series of massacres by blacks of New South Wales. The police were in pursuit of some who had committed fiendish crimes and killed nearly a dozen persons when the steamer sailed. The crimes had caused widespread excitement and terror.

The first massacre was reported from Berelong. Mr. Mawbey had left his home to go to a nearby village, and the women and children were alone. The blacks came to the house and battered in the doors with their tomahawks. The women and children fled, and nearly all were cut down in cold blood as they ran. They had been in bed. The killed were Mrs. Mawbey, Hildy Mawbey, Percy Mawbey, Miss Kerz, Elsie Clarke and Grace Mawbey. Some of the victims' heads were severed from their bodies.

Two days later the same blacks went to the home of Alexander McKay, and, splitting his skull with tomahawks at the fence, went to the house and called to Mrs. McKay to come out. She and the girls came out, and on seeing the blacks fled inside and barricaded the door. As she ran a tomahawk was thrown, and it badly wounded her. The blacks told Mrs. McKay that if she would come out they would not further molest her. She and the girls came out, and they entered and robbed the house. The same day they entered a house five or six miles away and killed Mrs. O'Brien with a rifle and battered the brains out of her infant child. They then continued their way into the bush, going north. A big posse of police, aided by native trackers and bloodhounds, had started in pursuit, going to Port Stephens, where the blacks have retreats.

The inspector of the New South Wales police says in a report that it would be difficult to exaggerate the condition into which the district has been thrown. Homesteads have been abandoned and women are crowding into the towns for protection.

CUBANS PETITION WOOD.

Want Tobacco Duty Removed—Yellow Fever Decreasing.

HAVANA, Sept. 8.—The tobacco growers have submitted a petition to Governor General Wood asking the removal of the export duty on tobacco. The petition is being favorably considered, as it affects only the low grade product, which is not used in the United States, but goes chiefly to Spain.

General Rodriguez, the mayor, will soon receive official notification that municipal bonds may be issued for the purpose of sewering Havana. In view of the fact that the mayor has refused to dismiss the present staff of employees a majority of the members of the council have passed a vote of want of confidence in him. Those who joined in the vote want the employees dismissed because they do not belong to the National party, of which a majority of the councilmen are members.

Yellow fever is decreasing in Havana. There have been no deaths of Americans from the disease this week. The agitation among the professors of Havana university over the new regulations has practically ceased.

BRITISH PRISONERS FREED.

Commandant Viljoen Hopes to Meet Them Later as Friends.

PRETORIA, Sept. 8.—Nine officers of the imperial yeomanry who were among the British prisoners at Nooitgedacht hid in excavations which they had made in their tents, and when the other officers were released and sent on to Barberton they were nowhere to be found. They subsequently escaped.

When the other officers were being liberated, Commandant Viljoen came among them and said:

"You are free. I am sending a small escort with you to show you the road to your lines. Keep together. Do not loot farmhouses. I know that I am speaking to soldiers of the queen, and I have confidence in you. I hope that the next time we meet we shall be friends."

The prisoners were then started for General French's lines. They state that on the day before that on which they were liberated three trains bearing guns and supplies were hurriedly brought down the line. The Boers were very disorganized and disheartened.

Reading Railroad to Blame.

LANSDALE, Pa., Sept. 8.—The coroner's jury which has been investigating the cause of the wreck on the Philadelphia and Reading railroad at Hatfield on last Sunday morning, in which 13 persons were killed and over 50 injured in a collision between a milk train and a crowded excursion train, has rendered a verdict fixing the responsibility upon the railroad company, Engineer John Davis and Conductor Thomas Shelby of the colliding excursion train, D. B. Beidler, telegraph operator at Souderton, which is next to Hatfield, and W. S. Groves, train dispatcher in the Reading terminal station at Philadelphia. The extent to which the company is held responsible is in its failure to strictly observe the rule requiring five minutes at least between trains and the absence of a block signal system. The jury recommends a strict observance of the five minute rule and the continuation of the block system to Bethlehem.

Thomson Kingsford Dead.

OSWEGO, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Thomson Kingsford, head of the Kingsford Starch company and Oswego's leading business man and manufacturer, died last night, aged 73, after a brief illness. He was born in Headcomb, England, and became the head of the big starch industry here in 1869. His numerous other business enterprises followed. He was the father of Thomas P. Kingsford, president of the National Starch company, who with a sister and his mother survive.

Bold Masked Robbers.

MARSHALL, Mo., Sept. 8.—H. H. Mowrey, night operator of the Chicago and Alton railroad, was robbed by three masked robbers. While the men were rifling the station money drawer Night Watchman Aulgur appeared and, pointing his pistol through the partly open door, commanded the men to surrender. He was immediately shot in the eye by one of the robbers and died soon after. The robbers escaped.

London Expects Important News.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—"We learn," says The Daily News, "that the government expects decisive news from South Africa within a fortnight and that parliament will be dissolved during the last week of September."

SECRET CONFERENCE

The Chinese Minister Closeted With Government Officials.

A DEARTH OF NEWS FROM CHINA

General Chaffee Makes Special Mention of Colonel Daggett and Recommends His Promotion For Bravery at Peking.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Minister Wu arrived in Washington from Cape May yesterday afternoon, and, although it was near the close of the official day, he proceeded directly to the state department. It is understood that he had received an intimation that the department officials were desirous of conferring with him, hence his return to Washington. For nearly an hour the minister was closeted with Acting Secretary Hill and Assistant Secretary Adee, the door being locked meantime and not even the messenger allowed entrance. None of the parties to the conference was communicative as to the conference, but at its conclusion Dr. Hill repaired to the White House with a portfolio well filled with papers.

For several hours preceding the minister's visit Acting Secretary Hill and Assistant Secretary Adee had been engaged in short conferences, and it was gathered that the negotiations relative to China were approaching another phase and that another pronouncement of some kind was in preparation. The fact is recalled that when the United States made its response to the Russian note on the 20th ult. the officials here expressed the belief that about a week's time would be required to determine upon the next step, and at the end of that time it would be definitely known whether or not the troops were to be withdrawn from Peking.

That period of time has now elapsed. The reports from the European chancelleries indicate that, officially at least, this important subject is being treated with the greatest deliberation and at least another week and probably even more time may be consumed in framing the last of the answers to the Russian note.

Meanwhile our government has pretty well satisfied itself as to the attitude toward this last proposition of each and all of the powers interested in the Chinese problem. It may be that this knowledge is regarded as sufficient upon which to base another forward and perhaps in this case an independent movement by the United States toward the ultimate withdrawal of the troops and the settlement with China which the government has had in mind since the beginning of the trouble.

There is a dearth of official information from China. General Chaffee got through a dispatch dated Sept. 1 at Peking, indicating that couriers are still employed to close the gap in the line of communication between Tien-tsin and Peking. This dispatch made no mention of the military situation, and it was inferred that affairs in Peking remain quiet. The message is as follows:

"Peking, Sept. 1.—Following extract my report cabled: 'I wish to special Colonel Aaron S. Daggett, Fourteenth United States infantry, for his gallantry at Yang-tsun Aug. 6 and good judgment in the attack on Peking Aug. 14 and for gallantry and excellent supervision of the attack on the gates of the imperial city Aug. 15. I recommend that he be made a brigadier general of the United States army. Colonel Daggett has nine months to serve before arriving at 64. If promoted brigadier general, he will gladly accept retirement immediately on promotion.'"

NOTHING CERTAIN.

No New Developments In the Chinese Crisis.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—The Chinese crisis presents no new feature this morning. Nothing appears to be certain. Regarding Russian action various statements are made in Vienna and Berlin with an assumed air of authority, but the balance of opinion leans to the belief that Russia is still inclined to adhere to her decision to quit Peking whatever the other powers may do.

The studiously moderate tone of Emperor William's speech at Stettin is much remarked. There was nothing of the "mailed fist" or of revenge in his utterances.

According to The Standard's Moscow correspondent Russia's programme mainly concerns Manchuria, and she needs troops from Peking to assist in the seizure of that province, which is looked upon as another Egypt. Her withdrawal from Peking is considered an attempt to pose as a sincere adherent of the principles of The Hague conference.

The Tien-tsin correspondent of The Standard, wiring Aug. 30, says:

"The Germans paired with the Americans in the march through the forbidden city. The British naval brigade and the marines of the legation guards left Peking today."

The Peking correspondent of The Morning Post, in a dispatch dated Aug. 23, says Mr. Conger has written a letter asserting that without the aid of the American missionaries the defense of the legations would have been impossible. According to this correspondent the United States minister has received congratulatory telegrams from President McKinley and others.

It is asserted that the Austrian foreign office, according to the Vienna correspondent of The Daily Mail, that Russia has agreed to a compromise, leaving a portion of the troops in Peking and sending the main body to Tien-tsin, which will be the military headquarters.

Monitor to Be Launched.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—The monitor Wyoming will be launched today at the Union Iron works. Governor De Forest Richards of Wyoming will represent the state and Miss Grace Warren, daughter of United States Senator Warren, will name the ship. The launching will be the first event in the jubilee celebration of the admission of California. The monitor contains many new features in naval architecture, including the inclined surface of the turret and an arrangement on deck for berthing the crew.

Canadian Fishermen Suffer.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Sept. 8.—Reports from northern Labrador reveal the existence of great distress among the fishermen owing to the ice remaining on the coast so long. Many vessels have been crushed in the floes, losing their supplies and fishing outfits. The others are meeting with but poor success. The Labrador cod fishery is a virtual failure.

STRIKE SEEMS SURE.

Miners' Executive Board to Give Final Decision Today.

PROBLEMS CONFRONTING LEADERS.

Members of the United Mine Workers of America Say Strike Can Be Won In Thirty Days—President Mitchell to Assume Control.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 8.—Under the constitution of the United Mine Workers of America the executive board must decide before 6 o'clock tonight on the application of the districts embraced in the anthracite region for permission to strike.

Indications are that before the time limit has expired messages will have been sent to the presidents of the three districts in question announcing that the permission has been granted. Following these messages will be others ordering the men out of the mines.

The question of ordering the strike was not submitted to a vote at the meeting of the executive board which was in session here all day yesterday.

Expressions were heard from the members of the board as to the advisability of ordering a strike, and after a day spent in discussing the situation and hearing the views of the board members, President Mitchell said:

"I said some time ago that in my opinion there would be a big strike. After talking with my colleagues I have no reason to change my opinion."

This assertion is considered very significant at this time and is taken as an assurance that unless present conditions change very materially the big anthracite strike will be a question of but a few hours.

A report has been circulated that a committee of eastern business men whose interests are vitally concerned in the outcome of the strained situation had waited upon the operators of the anthracite region in an effort to bring about a wage conference and thus avoid a strike.

President Mitchell, Vice President Lewis and other officers of the Mine Workers deny any knowledge of such a meeting and put little credence in the report. In so far as actual results are concerned the situation is practically unchanged. The deliberations were for the purpose of putting the members of the board in possession of such facts as must necessarily enter into their consideration before a strike can be ordered. The facts embraced three questions: Will all the men strike? How can the half million people be maintained during the strike? Can the bituminous districts prevent coal from being diverted to aid the anthracite operators? All have been satisfactorily answered.

If all the 143,000 men go out it is argued by Mine Workers' officials that the strike can be won in 30 days. There is, it is said, plenty of aid in sight to maintain the strikers and their families. The organizers and officials of the bituminous districts have been called here, and all report favorably on the ability to prevent diversion of coal.

Arbitration Not Favored.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 8.—The only new development in the strike situation here is the unconfirmed rumor which has gained general circulation that if a strike is declared by the national executive board of the United Mine Workers today all the operators in the region will close their collieries down for an indefinite period Sunday night. Operators and superintendents when asked about the matter professed entire ignorance of the alleged general understanding to this effect among the coal interests. If such a decision has been reached and is carried into effect, it will be impossible Monday to tell really how many men are in favor or against the inauguration of a strike. It can be positively stated that the operators will not agree to arbitration.

Shamokin Miners Ready to Strike.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Sept. 8.—The operators and the leaders of the United Mine Workers of District No. 9, composing the counties of Northumberland, Columbia, Schuylkill and Dauphin, have announced that they are in readiness for the expected strike to begin Monday. The Workers' leaders claim they will soon induce enough unorganized miners to cease work to tie up the district, while the operators assert that the [illegible] percentage of the workmen will remain at work and that they will be given the fullest protection against violence should any develop.

Fish and Game Commission.

ALBANY, Sept. 8.—The forest, fish and game commission on adjourning announced that they had appointed as executive officer of the board Mr. John D. Whish of Albany. Mr. Whish is a well known newspaper man who has had a wide experience in forest preserve work. His appointment was made on Governor Roosevelt's personal recommendation.

Cotton Spinners May Suffer.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—The morning papers comment upon the seriousness of the crisis which has arisen at Manchester by the resolution to cease buying American cotton, where suffering is likely to be caused by the enforced idleness of operatives, especially if, as is not impossible, the stoppage continues into October. The prospects of a satisfactory American crop are regarded as slender.

Postmasters Appointed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—The following fourth class postmasters have been appointed: Massachusetts—East Acton, C. J. Williams; West Stockbridge, Paul Conradt. New York—West Alden, Lettie E. Yager. Pennsylvania—Red Bank Furnace, Robert S. Fluke, Stevens Point, H. J. Andrus.

Government Collier at Singapore.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—The collier Cæsar, with coal, on her way to Taku, has arrived at Singapore. The training ship Lancaster has arrived at Havre. The Hawk, which is to be utilized by the Ohio naval militia, has sailed from Norfolk for Hampton Roads.

Ithacan Girl Disappears.

ITHACA, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Miss Ada A. Brown, 14 years old and a daughter of Eugene Brown of this city, has mysteriously disappeared. Diligent search has failed to reveal any clew as to the whereabouts of the girl. It is feared she has been abducted.

Electricians Conclude Conference.

SARATOGA, Sept. 8.—Representative electricians of the 35 Edison electric illuminating companies in America, who were in session here all week, concluded their conference last night.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

Politics Seem to Check Business. Little Change Noted.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

The volume of business does not materially enlarge at the east, and there is only moderate improvement at the west and south, but if expectations of greater activity when politics cease to disturb are realized, current operations will be found to have laid a substantial foundation. Bank clearings for the week show a loss of 24 per cent at New York compared with 1899 and 5 per cent decrease from 1898. At other leading cities they decrease 5.1 per cent from 1899, but gain 16.8 per cent over 1898. The most important event of the week in the industrial world was the agreement on the tin plate wage scale with the Amalgamated association granting about 8 per cent advance to 25,000 hands long idle. Other metal workers' disputes are nearing settlement, while the Borden purchase of 500,000 pieces print cloths at 2⅞ cents clears up the Fall River market and is believed to preclude serious wage differences there. There were also sold 150,000 pieces of odd goods.

Prices of grain are little altered, good crop reports coming in freely, but the effect being neutralized by a foreign estimate of a crop below requirements.

Cotton is strong in the face of a larger yield than expected, the New Orleans exchange reporting 9,436,416 bales, for which $81,011,833 more was paid than for the previous record breaking production of 11,274,840 bales.

Business in iron and steel products steadily increases, and mills are more actively employed. Oct. 1 is mentioned as the probable date of a general resumption. It is significant that shipyards on the lakes and the Pacific coast are full of orders for eight months or more.

Last week's shipments of boots and shoes from Boston were only 70,345 cases against 71,277 in the previous week, and for the year thus far the decrease compared with 1899 has amounted to 254,315 cases.

Failures for the week were 145 in the United States against 132 last year and 24 in Canada against 30 last year.

Arrested For an Old Murder.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Coroner Bevier of Matteawan held an inquest yesterday in the case of the skeleton found in an old well on a farm near Stormville, Dutchess county, nearly two weeks ago. The inquest established the identity of the remains as those of Charles Brower, a hand who worked on the farm when it was worked by Peter Austin and who disappeared 14 years ago. It was shown that Austin and Brower had a fight two months before the latter disappeared. In the encounter Brower's leg was broken, and as it was never properly set the broken bones were seen in the skeleton found in the well, thus establishing the identity beyond peradventure. Austin was arrested.

Fatal Fire In Pennsylvania.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Sept. 8.—Fire early yesterday morning destroyed Sempsey's hotel at Liberty, Tioga county; Jacob Kimble's blacksmith shop, Robert Reed's wagon shop, Huyler's tailor shop, Ferguson's furniture store and the Woodruff business block. George Weigand, who occupied a room in the Sempsey hotel, was burned to death. The other guests escaped, but lost nearly all of their clothing.

ROOSEVELT IN MICHIGAN.

Vice Presidential Candidate Receives a Rousing Welcome.

GRAND RAPIDS, Sept. 8.—Governor Roosevelt arrived in this city at 6 o'clock last evening and was accorded a grand street demonstration. He spoke in the Auditorium, which was crowded to its utmost capacity, and later made a brief speech in Powers' theater.

During his trip through Michigan Colonel Roosevelt made eight speeches, beginning at Bay City and ending at Hastings. The crowds at the various stopping places were large, appreciative and responsive.

The New York governor is pleased with his western reception, although he complains that he is greatly overworked. He says that while his health is robust and his strength equal to any ordinary demand, he will be glad when he crosses the Michigan state line into another state where the central committee does not work its candidates so hard.

The governor goes to South Bend, Ind., today, where he speaks at 5 o'clock in the evening. The demonstration at the Auditorium, in point of numbers and enthusiasm, surpassed anything that has yet taken place at any meeting held during the present campaign in honor of the vice presidential candidate.

Thousands were unable to obtain admittance to the hall, which was crowded to its utmost capacity. The meeting was called to order by Congressman William Allen Smith, who introduced Governor Roosevelt in a brief, patriotic and telling address in which he extolled the courage, sacrifices and patriotism of the American soldier. When Governor Roosevelt advanced to the front of the stage, the great audience broke into enthusiastic applause.

SEEKING THE POLE.

Further Particulars Regarding the Abruzzi Expedition.

CHRISTIANIA, Sept. 8.—Further particulars regarding the arctic expedition of the Duke of Abruzzi on board the Stella Polare, whose safe return was reported Thursday from Tromso, Norway, show that the expedition last year through Nightengale sound and the British canal reached as far north as 82.4, but, finding no wintering harbor, it returned to Teplitz bay, Crown Prince Rudolph's land, where the Stella Polare was frozen in about Sept. 1.

The Duke of Abruzzi's fingers were frostbitten on a trial sledge trip at Christmas, and two joints were amputated, obliging him to remain for several months in his tent.

The cold increased to 52 degrees Celsius. On March 11 the advance was renewed, and ten men started north. After ten days' marching three started to return to the ship, which, however, they never reached. Their fate is unknown.

A second party of three men passed the eighty-third parallel after a march of 26 days, and then returned to the ship.

A third party, led by Captain Cagni, with two Alpine guides and an Italian sailor, reached latitude 86.33 and was then obliged to return through lack of food. It started with six sledges and 45 dogs and returned with two sledges and seven dogs, having subsisted for 17 days exclusively on dog flesh.

On Aug. 8 the Stella Polare started homeward. She traversed the British canal in a single day and then drifted about for a fortnight in a severe struggle with drift ice before reaching the open sea.

Fusion In Nevada.

VIRGINIA, Nev., Sept. 8.—The Democratic and Silver parties effected fusion yesterday and nominated Francis G. Newlands for congress. A. L. Fitzgerald was nominated for supreme judge, J. N. Evans and W. V. Booker for regents of the university and John Dennis, John H. Weber and Richard Kirman presidential electors. The platform indorses the Chicago and Kansas City platforms, holds that the silver question is one of the important questions of the campaign, opposes trusts, condemns the administration's Philippine policy, extends sympathy and moral support to the Boers, opposes alliance with foreign nations, objects to lotteries and prizefights and favors shorter hours for labor.

American Industry Wins Again.

CAPE TOWN, Sept. 8.—American energy promises to be rewarded by securing orders for 300 large coal trucks, involving £150,000, about to be placed by gold mining companies on the Rand, in which quick delivery is vitally important. Tenders were received from British and American manufacturers, but the latter quoted lower prices and promised more speedy delivery. British financial houses fear that the English manufacturers will allow foreigners to reap the commercial benefits of the war.

Big Bryan Demonstration Planned.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Details for the big Bryan meeting at Madison Square Garden on Oct. 16 will be perfected at a general meeting of all the organizations interested on Sept. 18. Subcommittees to carry out the details and arrange for the selection of officers will then be named. Arrangements will be made to accommodate 12,500 persons and twice that number at the overflow meetings on the outside.

Canned Meat Condemned.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 8.—A corporation inspector has condemned a large portion of the beef and mutton preserved by the new sterilized air process brought by the British steamer Southern Cross, Captain Phipps, from Buenos Ayres, Aug. 5. The rest of the cargo realized about half the prices of American chilled beef.

DEMOCRATS GATHER

Early Preconvention Gossip at Saratoga.

CROKER HAS THE UPPER HAND.

It Is Predicted That the Tammany Body Will Control New York State Convention by a Safe Margin. The Probable Ticket.

SARATOGA, Sept. 8.—Richard Croker and Senator McCarren are expected here today. Congressman Sulzer and Henry D. Purroy are the latest additions to the group of politicians at the Grand Union.

Every delegate that has arrived predicts that Mr. Croker has the upper hand in the contest for control of the convention. Congressman Sulzer is predicting that there will be little or no friction and adds, "What friction there is will redound to the good of the party and will give the people to understand that the ticket is the outcome of vigorous rivalry and not like the Republicans', all stated weeks before."

It is said that out of the 450 votes in the convention Mr. Croker will control 277. This is providing that Kings county votes as a unit, which it is said it will do. There are 24 contests noted, and the First district of Niagara may have a contest. The faction controlled by Mr. Hill has to its credit 149 votes. It takes 226 to control the convention, and Mr. Croker starts off with 105 in New York, 24 in Erie, 63 in Kings, 9 in Monroe, 9 in Rensselaer, 9 in Queens and 9 in Westchester, a total of 228 absolutely certain for him.

On the contrary, Mr. Hill's largest vote from any one county is 12 in Onondaga. Mr. Hill controls the votes in 31 counties out of the 61 in the state, Mr. Croker controls the votes of but 15 counties outright, while 11 are about equally shared between the two. There are contests in Albany, Allegany, Cattaraugus, Cayuga, Chautauqua, Niagara and Oneida. If Mr. Croker controls the state committee at its meeting and names Mr. McCarren, it is fairly certain that Croker delegates will be seated from these counties. If Mr. Hill controls the committee and Mr. McGuire is named as temporary chairman, it is intimated that a motion to substitute the name of Mr. McCarren will be made in open convention and the will of the committee overturned.

If such a thing occurs, it will be rather unprecedented in Democratic annals, although such an attempt was made in the Republican convention of 1881 by those opposed to Governor Cornell. In that convention it was defeated by a majority of 12. With the overwhelming odds alleged in Mr. Croker's favor, however, the attempt could be successfully made in this convention.

It is believed that the ticket will be made up as follows:

For governor, J. B. Stanchfield of Chemung; for lieutenant governor, W. F. Mackey of Erie; for secretary of state, Colonel C. F. Rowe of Rensselaer; for comptroller, Edwin Atwater of Dutchess, and for attorney general, George M. Palmer of Schoharie.

A Harmony Conference.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—The conference of Democrats at the Hoffman House yesterday was interesting, though without special significance. It was thought that there was a possibility that the representatives of ex-Senator David B. Hill would reach an understanding with ex-Senator Murphy, Richard Croker and the representatives of Tammany Hall. Chairman Frank Campbell, however, returned to his home at Bath last night, leaving behind him the announcement that the situation was still unchanged. It was given out that the gathering was to be a "harmony conference," held for the purpose of ascertaining the views of the different leaders and arranging for a "getting together" of the Democrats in New York state for convention and campaign purposes.

Particular About His Hangman.

WILMINGTON, N. C., Sept. 8.—Rather than be hanged at the hands of a Republican or Populist, as he declared, Archie Kinsauls, a condemned white murderer who was sentenced to be hanged yesterday at Clinton, Sampson county, made two unsuccessful attempts to commit suicide in his cell, one by cutting his throat from ear to ear and another by taking morphine, the means for his self destruction having been furnished by sympathizers and secreted by him in his cell until a few hours before his execution was appointed to take place.

Hurricane Goes to Sea.

NORFOLK, Sept. 8.—The West Indian hurricane which was expected to reach this section failed to appear. Northeast storm signals hoisted on the signal stations on this coast were taken down yesterday morning. The weather is bright, clear, calm and warm, and no sign of storm is visible. Local Weather Observer Gray received from Washington in the forenoon advices to the effect that the hurricane passed out into the gulf of Mexico, and its exact position is not now known.

More Endeavorers Back.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—The steamship Trave has arrived, bringing back more of the Christian Endeavor delegates to the international convention at London. This is said to be the last contingent. Many of this party, like those who preceded them home, were stranded in various parts of Europe through the failure of the plans of the tourists' agency which conducted the trip, but nearly all its members were able to recoup their pocketbooks by cable while in Paris.

Hill Visits Herkimer.

LITTLE FALLS, N. Y., Sept. 8.—David B. Hill arrived at Herkimer last night, where he is the guest of Robert Earl, ex-chief justice of the court of appeals. It is rumored here that Hill is endeavoring to have Judge Earl become a candidate for the nomination for governor. Judge Earl's nephew, Robert Earl, second, a Herkimer banker, will head the Herkimer county delegation to Saratoga, and an effort will be made to have Hill address it.

Great Storm In Jamaica.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Sept. 8.—A terrific storm has swept over this island. The rivers are all flooded and great damage has been done to the banana plantations. Miles of the railroad tracks have been washed away. The torrential rains, which were a feature of the storm, continue. The losses will amount to thousands of pounds.

Waiting to Hear From Maine.

Maine will hold its State election next Monday. Preceding the Presidential election, Maine's action in the September election is always watched with interest, and it will be especially so this year. Of course, the State is unquestionably Republican, but just what the G. O. P. majority will be is the news that is anxiously waited for. Just as it is larger or smaller than the Republican majority of four years ago it gives confidence or disappointment to either one of the two great parties, whichever is favored by the returns.

The election of Governor, four Congressmen, Legislature and county officers will take place in that State on Monday. The campaign has been decidedly brief and rather dull, so far as fireworks and torchlight demonstrations go, but the last three weeks have been crowded with rallies. The Republicans have held the largest share of the rallies, but the Democrats throughout the State have shown a general awakening from the apathetic condition in which the last two State elections found them.

Four years ago the Republicans carried the State by 48,000, but in the Congressional election two years later the party majority dropped to 25,000. Republicans themselves say that they do not expect to duplicate their 1896 majority, and they even admit that it is probable that the Republican vote will fall below that of two years ago, or about one half of that secured four years ago.

The prediction of prominent Democratic leaders is that the Republican majority will not exceed 20,000. The present State Senate is exclusively Republican and the House is made up of 127 Republicans and 24 Democrats. It is expected that the Democrats, who are better organized and more united than at any time since the defeat of Cleveland, will elect eight members as their representation in the lower branch of the Legislature.

Why Mr. Ackerman Retired.

The Trenton True American professes to tell the "inside" business of the harmonizing that prevailed at the Republican State convention which led to the retirement of Ernest R. Ackerman, of this city, as a candidate for elector in the Eighth Congressional district after it was understood that he had votes enough in his support to win the honor. The True American tells the story in these words:

There would not have been an interesting incident in the selection of the ticket but for the foolhardiness of Major Lentz, who claims to hold the German vote of Essex county in the palm of his hand.

The Major thought to gain a point on his rival for the Essex Republican leadership, William Biker, Jr., but in his usual blustering manner he aired his plans and Biker quietly slipped in and headed him off.

It was a trivial thing, too. Ernest R. Ackerman, of Plainfield, was scheduled for the nomination as elector from the Eighth district, which embraces Union and a portion of Essex counties.

Mr. Biker lives in that portion of Essex embraced in the district, and had mentioned the name of Wilberforce Freeman, of Orange, in connection with the nomination. But Biker and Freeman agreed to give it to Ackerman.

Upon his arrival here Lentz heard of the stepping aside of Freeman and promptly going among his cohorts announced that Biker had been beaten in the Eighth district. The Major was in high glee over the matter.

But he reckoned in vain. As soon as Biker learned of the mouthings of Lentz he set to work to undo the district nomination. He insisted on Freeman remaining in the race and easily had him placed on the ticket. It's a very warm day, indeed, when Lentz cannot stir up some trouble for the G. O. P.

Another Governor.

The different men who have occupied the office of Governor of New Jersey during the last three years are so numerous that it requires considerable pondering to bring them all to mind at once. And now another new one is to be added to the galaxy of distinguished gentlemen—the youngest of the list, the Hon. Mr. Jones, of Orange, who was Speaker of the last House of the Assembly. Mr. Jones will don the Gubernatorial togs by virtue of Governor Voorhees spending a vacation period in Canada, the Speaker of the House being second in the line of succession to the Gubernatorial chair. The President of the Senate has first call on that exalted position, but as the last presiding officer of the Upper House, Senator Johnson, of Bergen, resigned the place by becoming First Assistant Postmaster-General Mr. Jones will temporarily fill the shoes of Governor Voorhees while the latter is out of the State.

Here is an observation and recommemdation from the New Jersey editor of the New York Tribune that is decidely apt and timely at the present time: "If several of the alleged political leaders in New Jersey would repeat the performance of an historic pair of cats, they would be doing a public service of which the people would gladly be relieved, but which they will sooner or later find it their imperative duty to perform. This is not an individual opinion, but is one which daily finds expression in every part of that State, and which refers with equal emphasis alike to the Republican and the Democratic party."

A large northwestern bank has cut loose from the tradition that enterprise in business is undignified, says the Philadelphia Record. This institution began by having its address printed on checks, drafts and the like; now it has its "ads" in the newspapers regularly, and finds that they pay. The idea is growing fast that newspaper advertising is a benefit, both to the business man and the people. In time every establishment will have its regular space in the newspapers, and the increased business will more than pay the bills.

If the estimates put in by the various heads of departments of New York's city government for the year 1901 are all allowed the expenses of running the town will be increased by more than $10,000,000. This will be the last year of Mayor VanWyck's administration.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Believing that there is a chance of losing a Senator in Middlesex the Democratic State commmittee will concentrate much force in Bergen to gain a successor to Senator Johnson. Bergen is debatable ground, and had not Senator Johnson been the strongest Republican in the county a Democrat would have been chosen two years ago.—New York Press.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The many Plainfielders who know Lieut. Tiaman N. Horn, a graduate of West Point and a former resident of this city, will be pleased to learn of his success in Uncle Sam's Army. During July he was stationed at Camp Woodruff, St. Augustine, Fla., the headquarters of the First Regiment Infantry. Lieut. Horn was there for the purpose of drilling the State volunteers and inspecting the same, and Col. Lovell in his general order paid a high compliment to the young army officer in the following words: "To the successful accomplishment of the object of the encampment no one has contributed more than Lieut. T. N. Horn, First Artillery, U. S. A., who acted as instructor and inspector of the camp. Never has the Florida State Troops had an instructor more energetic, more efficient, or one who more conscientiously labored to impart knowledge, to arouse interest and to encouage the troops. 'Tis to the few that is granted the faculty of clearly imparting to others the knowledge possessed by themselves; but this faculty Lieut. Horn has manifested in a remarkable degree, and it is to this that in large measure the success of the encampment as a camp of instruction has been due. On behalf of the officers and men, the commanding officer expresses to Lieut. Horn sincere thanks for his efficient services, and their good wishes for that success in his chosen profession, to which his military attainments justly entitle him."

Dear Sirs:—Some days since a package of your GRAIN-O preparation was left at my office. I took it home and gave it a trial, and I have to say I was very much pleased with it, as a substitute for coffee. We have always used the best Java and Mocha in our family, but I am free to say I like the GRAIN-O as well as the best coffee I ever drank. Respectfully yours,

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Makes the lightest most delicious and tasty hot biscuit

ROYAL Baking Powder is indispensable to the preparation of the finest cake, hot-breads, rolls and muffins.

Housekeepers are sometimes importuned to buy other powders because they are "cheap."

Housekeepers should stop and think. If such powders are lower priced, are they not inferior?

Is it economy to spoil your digestion to save a few pennies?

Alum is used in some baking powders because it is cheap. It costs but a few cents a pound whereas the chief ingredient in a pure powder costs thirty. But alum is a corrosive poison which, taken in food, acts injuriously upon the stomach, liver and kidneys.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, Sept. 8.—A horse belonging to Charles Hill furnished a little excitement in the borough Thursday evening by running away on North avenue. One of the reins broke as Mr. Hill was driving past Jefferson avenue and frightened the animal, causing it to bolt up the street. Mr. Hill retained his seat in the wagon but was unable to stop the runaway. It was finally caught opposite the depot park. There was no damage.

The condition of Alfred Cottrelly is again very serious and his relatives are greatly alarmed. He is being attended by Dr. Brakeley, assisted by Dr. Hedges.

Merle Larrabee has secured a position in the Potter Press Works and will start Monday. His place at Mr. Larrabee's store will be taken by Fred Warden.

Mr. and Mrs. Runyon Stelle, who have been spending the summer with Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Hayes, will return home to New York Monday.

Frank Smalley is spending a few days with his brother, J. E. Smalley, of Brooklyn, who is camping at Washington Rock.

A large number of wheeling parties left the borough last evening bound for the band concert at Plainfield.

A young son has arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Conley, of Reaville, formerly of the borough.

Miss Nellie Corbett, of New York, has returned home after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. John Rinehart.

Mrs. Charles Davis, of Westfield, is the guest of Miss Hannah Randolph, of Greenbrook.

Miss Blanche Giles, of Staten Island, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. George Giles.

WHY THE BOROUGH TAX RATE WENT UP.

fair that a man should get a deduction on his debts, but some persons have taken unfair advantage of the law. This was discovered two years ago and the law was changed so that a man must have a note in the bank at least three months. Previous to that time people would give notes just before the Assessor came around, and immediately afterward would take them up. In many cases no money ever changed hands. He said that it is chiefly the well to-do people who take advantage of this law purposely. They do not need the money, but by giving notes they are able to realize at least 1 per cent., and if the money is not taken up the bank can loan the money to someone else and get 6 per cent., while they may only charge 2½ per cent. to the man who gives the note. In this way the bank makes 8½ per cent. on the money.

Another thing spoken of by Mr. Reed was that $2.46 cannot be called the tax rate for the borough, for there is only one item controlled by the borough, that regarding the amount raised for borough purposes. On that basis the rate would be about 85 cents on the $100. He said that the borough is not in any way responsible for the present increase. Moneys collected for the various purposes, including the county purposes, are paid just as soon as received. These have to be paid, while the borough is compelled to get her share where she can.

Mr. Clark considered that the actual borough rate for the coming year would be 83 cents on the $100, and $1.02 for the school. His views were similar to those of Senator Reed.

Mr. French took exception to some of Mr. Reed's statement and said that he did not believe there were any people in the borough who were taking undue advantage of the law allowing deductions. While Mr. Reed was not personal he still adhered to the fact that people who do not need the money take advantage of the law and secure the reduction as well as make 1 per cent. on the deal.

It was realized that for this year there is little chance of bettering the condition of affairs, yet there seemed to be some hope that the commissioners of appeal will use judgment and act wisely in treating with taxpayers who come before them the next time.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused be catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

could be repealed up to the time that action is taken. Unfortunately, assessment for damages is made first and this has to be paid by the borough before the work can proceed. The law does not allow the possession of the land until it is paid up. The commissioners' report must be confirmed by the Council and it would not be fair to assume that the damages and benefits will be nominal. The report of the commissioners is the only thing that will bring light on the subject and give any adequate idea of what the improvement will cost.

Mr. Clark stated that in his conversation with the property-owners he learned that if the damages and benefits were about equal the owners would be satisfied.

Mr. Valiant said that he was not opposed to the widening of the street, but there seemed to be a great uncertainty as to the cost of the improvement, and when the vote was taken immediately afterward he voted against the adoption of the ordinance chiefly on that ground. Everyone else voted for the ordinance.

In conclusion Mayor Smalley called the attention of the members to the fact that all trees in the borough should be trimmed to within a point of ten feet from the ground.

Mr. Rogers introduced the question of disposing of leaves and inquired as to whether there is any ordinance prohibiting the burning of them in the street. Mr. Reed replied that there is an ordinance which prohibits the building of bonfires, and he thought that would cover the point in question, although it does not specify leaves.

One other question was briefly discussed, and that was in regard to the street signs. The Mayor favored a plan to have them placed in right positions. Mr. Rogers stated that he felt sure that the electric light company was responsible for the disarrangement of some of the signs, as their men in climbing poles have found it convenient to place the signs above the lights on the poles. He believed the company could be made to fix these signs where they had changed them.

Before the Council adjourned it adopted on the first reading the ordinance giving the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company the authority to place their wires underground in the borough. At the next meeting the ordinance will be adopted on the second and final reading.

Sachsen.

Dresden. Für das sächsische Feuerlöschwesen sind im vergangenen Jahre circa 400,000 Mark aus sächsischen Staatskassen ausgegeben worden. An Spritzenprämien und Belohnungen für Hilfeleistung wurden 30,516 Mark gewährt, an Beihilfen zu den Kosten des örtlichen Feuerlöschwesens 313,502 Mark, zur Anschaffung von Spritzen u. s. w. an 26 Gemeinden 22,800 Mark.

Bautzen. Der 50 Jahre alte Schneidemüller Dittrich, welcher erst vor einigen Wochen seine Ehefrau durch den Tod verlor, glitt in der Nacht auf der Treppe aus und stürzte 17 Stufen hinab. Der Tod trat sofort ein.

Hainichen. Der Technikumsbau, für 500 Absolventen ausreichend, ist jüngst vollendet worden. Mit dem Einrichten der Praktiken für Elektrotechnik und Maschinenbau wird in nächster Zeit begonnen.

Loschwitz. Die Bergschwebebahn von Loschwitz nach der Rochwitzer Höhe, die erste derartige Anlage in der Welt, ist jüngsthin dem Verkehr übergeben worden.

Plauen. In Folge der chinesischen Wirren befindet sich die Textilindustrie des Vogtlandes gegenwärtig in einer recht gedrückten Lage. Allerwärts stehen in den Etablissements Lohnkürzung und Arbeitszeitreduzirung auf der Tagesordnung.

Treuen. Der Maurer Schrot in Weißensand stürzte sich in die Flammen eines brennenden Hauses und wurde schwerverletzt herausgezogen. Da Schrot in dem niedergebrannten Hause gewohnt hatte, so war von verschiedenen Zuschauern des Brandes der Verdacht ausgesprochen worden, Schrot könne das Feuer verursacht haben, um Rache an den Hauswirthen zu üben. Als Schrot dies hörte, machte er den erwähnten Selbstmordversuch.

Thüringische Staaten.

Hildburghausen. Zum Direktor des Technikums Hildburghausen wurde der seitherige Lehrer der gewerblichen Fachschulen der Stadt Köln, Ingenieur Max Tolle, ernannt. Das Technikum wurde vor 14 Jahren durch den verstorbenen Direktor Rathke in Sondershausen gegründet und zählte im letzten Jahre zusammen 1486 Schüler.

Koburg. Im benachbarten Orte Tüschnitz erschlug mit einem Hammer der Korbmacher Ad. Heinrich Weißmann aus Konkurrenzneid seinen Bruder Heinrich auf offener Straße.

Salzungen. Bezüglich der schon seit Jahrzehnten schwebenden Frage der Herstellung einer Bahnverbindung Salzungen-Vacha-Hünfeld, durch welche die an werthvollen Rohprodukten reiche Nordhön dem Verkehr erschlossen wird, ist nunmehr zwischen Preußen und Sachsen-Weimar eine Vereinbarung getroffen worden, nach welcher Preußen die schmalspurige Feldbahn übernimmt und deren der Werra entlang laufende Strecke Salzungen-Vacha in eine normalspurige umbaut. Gleichzeitig stellt Preußen im Anschluß an dieselbe die gesammten, ungefähr 65 Kilometer langen normalspurigen Linien Vacha-Berka a. W.-Gerstungen, Vacha-Eiterfeld-Hünfeld und Eiterfeld-Geisa her.

Freie Städte.

Hamburg. Die Protestversammlungen in Hamburg und Umgegend gegen die Worte, welche der Kaiser in Bremerhaven über die Hamburger Werftarbeiter gesprochen, haben letzthin begonnen. In einer von mindestens 4000 Personen besuchten Versammlung, in welcher Reichstagsabgeordneter Dietz referirte, wurde mit Entschiedenheit gegen die Behauptung, als seien die Arbeiter vaterlandlos, Einspruch erhoben und dieser Vorwurf vielmehr den die Aussperrung verhängenden Werftbesitzern gemacht, welche allein die Schuld trügen, wenn die Transportschiffe hier nicht fertig gestellt werden konnten. Die Versammlung nahm eine Resolution an, die mit den Worten schloß: „Die Versammlung spricht die Erwartung aus, daß der Deutsche Kaiser, sobald er den wahren Thatbestand erfährt, den Hamburger Arbeitern eine Ehrenerklärung gibt und das gesprochene Wort zurücknimmt."

Bremen. Der neue deutsche Kabeldampfer „v. Podbielski" hat die Bestimmung nach China erhalten, um dort in Thätigkeit zu treten. Er stach letzter Tage von Nordenham in See.

Lübeck. Zwei hiesige Baufirmen halten den Auftrag erhalten, 10 respektive 20 Gebäude zur Aufnahme von je 54 Pferden für die deutschen Truppen in China fertig zu stellen. Der Auftrag wurde letzter Tage erledigt. Auf dem Kanalwege wurden die wieder aufeinandergenommenen Baracken nach Hamburg verschifft, um dort auf einen großen Dampfer verladen zu werden, der nach Taku in See ging. Insgesammt handelte es sich um die Lieferung von 140 derartigen Gebäuden. Auch in Altona waren derartige Gewerbetreibende mit Lieferung gleicher Ställe betraut worden.

FALL FASHIONS.

Sack Coats Are the Style For Children's and Women's Wear.

It seems that we are to be obliged to accept the ugly sack coat not only for ourselves, but for our children. We find the finest of materials, such as are accepted particularly for children's use, made up in these shapeless models, and, though they may be comfortable and all that, they certainly are not beautiful.

For a child of 12 there was shown me the other day a coat of light biscuit kersey in a good, heavy weight, quite heavy enough to be suitable for all but the coldest days, though it is really designed for early fall. The reason stress is laid upon this is because it is a type of so many other coats for not only little, but big girls and their mothers.

A glance at the illustration will show the general form, and as for the trimming, it can be varied to an unusual extent. The back is cut all in one piece, and there are two side pieces and two fronts. The piece in the back is almost straight, with a very slight flare at the bottom and sides barely sufficient to give free motion.

In front it is closed by one, two or three buttons, or it may be closed invisibly. For early fall there will be a fancy collar, which will give place to a collar of gray astrakhan or chinchilla or perhaps white tibet.

The coat in the illustration has a collar and cuffs of shirred taffeta to match the color of the coat. Some of them have two or three lines of castle braid, generally in narrow widths. The lining depends upon the use to which the coat is put. If it is for school or other everyday use, it should have a lining of some strong stuff, like lustral or farmers' satin; if for best, a silk or brocade lining is expected.

The reason I have been so circumstantial in describing this coat is because it bids fair to be the most fashionable of all, and it is one which mothers will find easiest to copy. Most of us have something which would answer to make one of these little coats, a coat of the best pieces of a cloth dress or perhaps the spring overcoat of one of the men folk, and it would be a sin to go and buy one when such a chance to display our economy is at hand. What does it matter if the men have to buy new coats next spring or even this fall? We have demonstrated our economical dispositions. But if one has to buy the material I may say that it requires 1½ yards of covert or other double width stuff for a coat for a girl of 12. But it must be of such cloth as has no nap. Covert, venetian, whipcord and camel's hair are all suitable and cut to advantage.

While speaking of children's wear I may say that there are many shapes of felt hats, but the best, because the most adaptable, is the flat brim and rather high crown. Large bows of taffeta or lustrous surah or, in short, any of the wide ribbons are to be made up into full, stiff bows and loops, and, if liked, a few daisies or velvet forgetmenots can be added or perhaps a quill or two, but ribbon is the proper trimming for children's hats. Plaid taffetas are more used for everyday hats than plaid, and in some cases we see a whole row of pompons around the brim. Dark and all black hosiery is the best, and few think of putting anything but black upon a girl except for a party, when the stockings may match the colors in the rest of the costume.

The liking for the black silk tailor suit grows apace, and in every one of the best houses we see from one to four or five of them, but if they were not labeled "Tailor Suits" we might lose sight of that fact, for some of them are more ornamental than we have ever expected to see in a real tailor gown.

One shown by the leading store in New York has the skirt sewed in with thick featherbone cords in waved lines, and these are graduated in length, the longest being in front and the shortest ones in the back. None of them reaches the bottom of the skirt, and around these are three rows of the cording set in in waved lines.

I should have said that the silk was black peau de soie. The waist had an undervest of the palest blue silk draped to a point in the back and also draped at the neck. There was a figaro of the black, and this was sewed around with with the featherbone cords, but rather less heavy than those in the skirt. The sleeves were also corded. A row of cream colored renaissance lace finished the figaro. An illustration of this suit is given, and that will assist any one who may wish to make one like it.

A New York journeyman printer writes: "On Saturday last I went to see one of the best if not the best physicians and surgeon in Brooklyn. After paying some money I owed, we spoke of my boy of ten years whom I had along with me. The boy was not feeling well, his stomach appeared to be out of order and he was getting thin. I told the doctor that I had given the boy a Ripans Tabule the night before. Then I told him what the ingredients were—rhubarb, ipecac, peppermint, nux vomica and soda—and he exclaimed 'What's that? What's that?' Upon repeating the formula he said, 'Good, very good. You could not give him anything better. The rhubarb is what he needs for the stomach, and the nux will tone up the system. Continue giving him one each night and he will be all right.' He gave me no further prescription for the boy and charged me nothing for the advice."

STORY OF A SONGSTER.

Since Death Took the Sweet-Throated Mocking Bird His Mistress Has Been Disconsolate.

Within a dimly-lighted room at Atlanta, Ga., where visitors trod softly, a mocking bird sang and the weary eyes of a woman turned to the songster gratefully. Age had silvered the hair of the woman, and the relentless grip of disease had fastened itself upon her, so that with limbs useless, she was helpless.

Thus she had lain for six years and thus each day the tiny songster had been her companion.

When the sun shone outside, its rays rarely penetrated to the room where the invalid lay, the mocking bird sang its merriest, and when clouds shut out the brilliancy of the sun the limpid song, uninterrupted, but with a more melancholy strain, went on and cheered the aged hearer.

The woman was Mrs. James D. Reed. For six years she has been confined to her room in the boarding-house conducted by her daughter at No. 107 Marietta street. During all that time the bird, "Bob," had been her constant companion until to-day.

Now Bob is dead, and the aged invalid, robbed of the greatest joy that was left to her, is disconsolate and losing strength day by day.

In the boarding house this mocking bird was the pet of all. Miss Reed kept house for 14 years, and during nine years of that time "Bob" had been with her.

From the moment of the beginning of Mrs. Reed's illness "Bob" was transferred to the sick room, and he rarely left it. There his duty was to cheer the weary moments of the invalid's day, and this he did well.

Mrs. Reed, the invalid, is more than 70 years old. She is unable to move about, although sometimes she is lifted into a chair and placed beside the window, where with "Bob" she was happy. "Bob's" death is a great blow to her.

"I used to sit for hours," she said, "and listen to him sing. He was the best singer I ever heard, and was a great companion to me. I will miss him sorely, I know."

Miss Maggie Reed, the daughter, who owned "Bob," is heartbroken. She wept when she asked about her pet.

"I never knew I would miss him so much," she said, "but he was great company and very accomplished. He could imitate any sound, and his notes were so soft and sweet that they took mother back to the scenes and times of her health and girlhood. I fear the results for her, for no other bird can replace "Bob."

Dainty Dessert for Supper.

A delicious dessert to serve with supper is made of pineapple jelly and whipped cream. Make the jelly in the usual way, but instead of placing it in a mold, put it into a bowl, and when it has set, take a stiff spoon and stir it till it looks like a mass of shaven ice. Place this high in a glass dish and then add the whipped cream when it has been sweetened and flavored to taste. Or the cream may be brought on to the table in some fancy dish by itself and a heaping tablespoonful of it placed upon the top of each dish of the jelly as it is served. The effect is exceedingly pretty, and it is a considerable addition to the beauty of the table as well as most appetizing.—Chicago Daily News.

Formula for Shampooing.

Melt a cake of pure olive oil soap in a quart of boiling water. When the soap is dissolved the result will be almost a jelly. Take of this jelly say two large tablespoonfuls and a small lump of common washing soda about the size of a filbert. First wet the hair thoroughly with hot water, then rub the shampoo mixture well into the roots. Rinse thoroughly in several waters.

BOXES AND BUREAUS.

How to Sweeten Them by the Use of Sachets That Are Easily Compounded at Home.

A sachet of long lasting fragrance can be made to imitate the scent of verbenas by saving the peels of lemons that come into the household and mixing them with caraway seeds.

Take half an ounce of the powdered seed and half a pound of the powdered lemon peel. The peelings can be ground in an ordinary kitchen coffee mill. Mix the two powders well together, and over it all pour a mixture of 1½ drams of oil of lemon peel and three ounces of oil of bergamot. This makes a dainty powder for sachets to use in the bureau drawers, linen closets, hat boxes, handkerchief cases, etc. It is called the verbena sachet.

A rather expensive sachet, but one that well pays for the making, is composed thus: Oil of patchouli, one-half dram; oil of rose geranium, one-half dram; attar of roses, one-half dram; oil of sandalwood, one dram; oil of lavender, one dram; oil of cloves, one-half dram; oil of bergamot, 3½ drams; extract of musk, one-half dram; mix well and add to two drams of this compound one ounce of powdered orris root, one dram Tonquin beans and two ounces sifted pine sawdust.

This is a favorite sachet for veil rolls and shirt waist boxes. The perfume can be renewed by dropping occasionally a few drops of the scented oils on the sachets.—N. Y. Herald.

STREET LIFE IN CAIRO.

Woman Traveler Considers Egypt's Capital the Most Picturesque City in the Old World.

Cairo is the most picturesque of cities. As one saunters along the native quarter about midday groups of Arabs eating the midday meal are passed at frequent intervals. They sit leaning against some garden wall, their feet drawn up till the knees are level with the chin, and brown earthen basins on the ground beside them hold the food. They delight in color—children of the tropics always do—and the basins have linings of brilliant green, purple of yellow enamel, in which the inevitable tomato gleams a vivid contrast. A favorite dish seems to be a kind of soup with finely chopped green vegetables. Into this all dip pieces of coarse bread. If the fingers go in at the same time, that is a trifle that escapes notice.

The fellah uses his home but little. He eats and frequently sleeps outdoors. He is independent of bed and covering, and sometimes, one would almost think, of sleep. The furniture is of the simplest description, the most conspicuous feature usually being a wooden box decorated with crude designs in red and yellow. In this are his copy of the Koran and other simple treasures. A large copper basin called a tisht serves a variety of purposes, both lavatory and culinary. Some of the houses, however, are heartbreakingly European, with cheap woolen carpets, gaudy cretonnes and occasionally a stroke of genius in the way of tawdry vases with artificial flowers.

A Cairene wedding among the lower classes is a frequent and always interesting sight. It takes place at night. One's attention is attracted by sounds of clashing brass and the beat of drums. The wedding procession moves rapidly, a leaping, straggling crowd, within the midst the carts that contain the household goods of the pair about to be wedded. From the number of carts a pretty accurate guess may be made regarding the worldly estate of the bridegroom. Swinging lamps and torches held aloft throw a dull glare on the faces of the throng, and jests and songs that are considered appropriate to the occasion are heard at frequent intervals.

Washing the Dish Towels.

Dish towels should be washed in lukewarm water before scalding; otherwise the grease and stains will be set.

JESTS IN WOE AND WARFARE.

Bitter Jokes and Facetious Sayings in the Very Face of Destruction.

Jests have been uttered in the most apparently unlikely situations. "Vespasian died in a jest," writes Lord Bacon, and on sick beds, in prisons and on scaffolds the inveterate humorist has given vent to witticisms. "Don't send me to Gravesend by water," pleaded Hood, when his doctor recommended hydropathic treatment; Sir Thomas Moore's last utterance in life was a jest. "Don Quixote," with all Sancho Panza's wit and humor, was composed in a prison. It is not, therefore, surprising that there should be instances of jests made amid the horrors of war. Sieges appear to have frequently furnished material for witticisms, generally uttered by the besieged, who may have resorted to jesting as a means of keeping up their falling spirits; as the late beleaguered garrison at Mafeking organized loan exhibitions and needle work competitions. It must be confessed that the jests uttered by the holders of a beleaguered fortress were often more sarcastic than courteous, sometimes even taking the form of actual insult to their foes; as in the case when, in the eleventh century, the citizens of Alencon, besieged by William the Conqueror, hung out raw hides over their walls with the inscription: "More work for the tanner's son"—in contemptuous allusion to the parentage of William's mother, Arlotta, whose father was a tanner, says the London Globe.

In 1643, when Waller, the parliamentary general, besieged Arundel castle, the cavalier garrison not only responded to his summons of surrender by a flat defiance, but, in denial of their alleged (and actual) want of provisions, hung out a white flag at Christmas, and "under cover of this parley called some of our men and gave them letters directed to our general, in which they desired sack, tobacco, cards and dice to be sent to them, to make them merry at this idle time, promising to return us for them beef and mutton;" a request Waller characterized as "very bold and insolent." The insinuation that the pious parliamentary army was so much better supplied with "cards and dice" than were the traditionally "deboshed" cavaliers was doubtless a sore offense to the staid parliamentary general, more especially as he adds: "We know them (the garrison) to be in truth hunger-bitten and lacking water."

A yet more contemptuous jest was made upon besiegers by the famous Black Agnes, countess of March, when defending the Castle of Dunbar against its English assailants in 1335. During the siege the countess and her maids frequently appeared upon the town walls armed with cloths, with which they ostentatiously wiped the spots where the huge stones cast by the enemy's machine fell, as though the only injury these could do was to raise a little dust. Irritated by this contemptuous treatment, the earl of Salisbury, then commanding the English forces, brought to the assault a machine then known as a "sow," from the resemblance of its shape to a hog's back—a strongly constructed timber erection, which, being thrust close to the walls of a town or fortress, protected a party of soldiers beneath it, who could then attack the wall with mining tools.

Beware, Montagow,
For farrow shall they sow,

Cried out the derisive countess as the machine approached, and at the same moment a huge fragment of rock was dropped from the walls upon the machine, which was almost crushed by its weight. "Behold the litter of English pigs!" cried the countess as the surviving soldiers fled from the ruins of the machine. The earl of Salisbury could jest in turn. Riding one day within sight of the walls of Dunbar in company with another knight, the latter was fatally struck by an arrow from the battlements. "That is one of the countess' love tokens," remarked Salisbury as his companion fell; "we see that Black Agnes' love shafts pierce to the heart."

A somewhat ill-natured jest upon the timidity of her male companion was uttered by Countess Von Voss to Gen. Von Kockritz as they followed the king and queen of Prussia in their flight before Napoleon in 1807. The countess and the general were delayed upon their journey by the bad weather, and the latter several times expressed his fears lest they should be overtaken by the French and be "possibly massacred, or at the least made prisoners."

"Well, at least, they will only take two old women prisoners," exclaimed the countess, impatiently. Eloquent and impassioned addresses have been made to their men by leaders of battles on sea and land, but an old admiral of Nelson's time is said to have uttered a brief but pithy "hortation," as Lord Bacon calls it, to his sailors before the battle of the Nile. "My lads," he remarked, pointing to the shore, "you see yonder the land of Egypt. Well, if you don't fight like devils you'll soon find yourselves in the house of bondage."

Africa Is Rich in Volcanoes.

Eastern Africa is said to have six active volcanoes and western Africa four; those in the Cameroons are said to have been in eruption as late as 1838. The islands westward are all of volcanic origin. The Canary islands are famous for the great peak of Teneriffe, which became quiet long prior to discovery; other vents in the islands have been in eruption at intervals during the eighteenth century, and hot vapors and smoke rise from them at the present time.—N. Y. Herald.

Within Reach of the Masses.

"Hypnotism is a wonderful thing, isn't it?"

"It used to be; but I understand you can get a book now for a dollar which teaches 40 methods."—Puck.

IN FASHION'S MIRROR.

Seasonable Finery for Feminine Followers of the Latest in Dress.

A woman who is particular about her lingerie has all her night dresses made at home and carefully fitted. She says she is as uncomfortable in a loose night dress as in a poorly fitting frock, says the Boston Budget.

Gold braid and cloth of gold, though the former is most largely used, are to be found on most of the chic yachting gowns of the season. There has been a tendency in the fashions to show a military effect in many ways which has made braid popular. It is used not only on gowns of flannel and serge, but on fine linen and duck frocks, and with excellent effect.

I women will remember to keep the skirts of their thin frocks in trunks while they are away from home or in long boxes at home instead of hanging them they will find they will keep in much better condition. They become draggled with hanging, and laid loosely in a trunk or box they retain their freshness. On the same principle if skirts are folded for packing across instead of lengthwise they will travel better. They get the long lines sufficiently in wearing, and the cross lines in packing are more satisfactory.

A recent novelty in a shirt waist is made of veiling, an admirable adjunct to a seashore outfit, as it is not made limp by the damp, salt air, and is lighter and cooler to wear than flannel. The waist is made without yoke or fullness at the neck, but is gathered slightly full at the belt, back and front. Cream lace insertion is arranged upon the bodice in the semblance of a plaid, forming large squares, while upon the sleeves the squares are made to come on the bias. A double frill of the material, lace edged, conceals the opening in the front, and a narrow frill to match trims the wrists of the sleeves.

The Directoire coat is appearing in lace as well as in silks and satins, and it is always effective. Its revival is welcomed with delight at every appearance, for it has a style all its own with the short front and long tails which make it a general favorite.

The Leghorn hat is having a decided vogue—it is so shady as well as light and droops so gracefully at will about the face. In its most fetching form it has a cluster of la France roses starting from a drapery of chiffon or lace, with stems and foliage trailing over one side. The prettiest sun hat seen this year at the summer resort has a brim of silk or muslin, knife plaited and edged with lace, forming a full jabot about the crown of straw. This is wreathed by tiny pink roses, while a full single rose nestles in the folds of the brim at the left side.

The Bulgarian strips are getting into neck scarfs now, and they are pretty and stylish. They are made up in four-in-hands and the effect of the colored embroidery on the coarse linen is very good. They are particularly pretty worn with heavy dark blue linen waists, or dark waists of any kind, and they also have a good effect with white.

The State of New Jersey to the Sheriff of the County of Union. Greeting:

We command you to summon Anna B. Pond, builder and owner, and William M. Sandford, mortgagee, to be and appear before the Circuit Court in and for the County of Union, at the Court House in said County, on the twentieth day of August, inst., that the said Anna B. Pond, builder and owner, and William M. Sandford, mortgagee may answer unto John Abbott, the claimant, in an action upon contract, to his damage, three thousand dollars, as is said, for which the said John Abbott, claims a building lien on a certain building and the lands of the said Anna B. Pond.

The said building is a two and one-half story frame dwelling house, 47 feet, 6 inches wide in front and rear, and 31 feet deep, erected on a lot or curtilage of land situate in the City of Plainfield, County of Union and State of New Jersey, being all of that certain lot of land which is known and distinguished as lot No. 26 on a map of Woodland Park, Plainfield, N. J., and is bounded and described as follows:—Beginning at a point in the Southerly side of Evergreen Avenue distant four hundred feet Easterly from the Southeasterly corner of Hillside and Evergreen Avenues; running thence Easterly along said side of Evergreen Avenue seventy-five feet; thence southerly and parallel with Hillside Avenue one hundred and sixty-two and forty-seven one-hundredths feet to a point; thence Westerly and parallel or nearly so with Evergreen Avenue Seventy-five and six one-hundredths feet to a point; thence Northerly and parallel with Hillside Avenue one hundred and sixty and fifty-six one-hundredths feet to the point or place of beginning, being the same premises conveyed by Deed of the S. D. Drake Realty Company to said Anna B. Pond of date December 15th, 1899, and duly recorded in Book 360 of Deeds for Union County, pages 218, etc., upon which said premises the said William M. Sandford holds a mortgage of record.

And have you then and there this writ:

Witness, Bennett VanSyckel, Esquire, Judge of our said Circuit Court, at Elizabeth, this sixth day of August, A. D. Nineteen Hundred.

THE DOLLIES' PIC-NIC.

A number of sweet little dollies
Were lying close by on the shelf,
Contented to lay there together,
And not thinking at all of themself,
When up jumped one bright-looking dollie
And cried out in a manner most gay:
Oh, dollies, let's have a real pic-nic!
And have it this day, right away!
So they got up a wonderful pic-nic,
And played till they could play no more,
If you want to see this fine pic-nic,
Look in the window of Harker's fine store,

GUNS FOR CHAFFEE.

Siege and Mountain Pieces to Be Used in China.

How the Latter Are Packed on Mules and Transported Over Rough and Dangerous Roads — Four Mules to One Gun.

Before his departure for China Gen. Chaffee suggested that some of the heavy artillery that had been organized for service in Cuba, but never was sent there, be shipped to China, and acting on that suggestion Battery O, Seventh artillery, Capt. Williams, has been ordered to San Francisco, whence it will be shipped on the first transport to China. The battery will have 145 enlisted men. The siege guns, carriages and platforms will be shipped from Manila, where they have been some time, and will arrive at Taku at about the same time with the men of Battery O.

A more important feature of the United States ordnance department in connection with the Chinese affair, says the New York Tribune, is the order which has been placed by the government with the Vickers Sons & Maxim company, of England, for 12 mountain guns. These guns are now being made, and will be shipped to Gen. Chaffee's command as soon as they are completed. These guns are of the 75-mm. pattern, and are in most respects like the guns which, under the command of Capt. George W. Van Deusen, of the Seventh United States artillery, did much good service in the Philippines.

These guns are made so that they may be transported on the backs of pack animals, and each gun has also a pair of shafts that fit into sockets on the end of the trail, and it may be drawn over fairly good roads. For long marches, and in mountain regions, the various parts of the equipment will be carried on the pack animals, and a field piece will be divided among four mules.

The gun, with mechanism, will be on one, another will carry the cradle, which is cast in one piece, with the recoil buffer; a third will carry the trail, complete with elevator, and the axle, wheels and tool box will be fastened on the fourth mule. It is calculated that one animal shall carry 12 rounds of ammunition, so that the number of additional animals required for a gun depends on the amount of ammunition taken. The packs, including saddle and equipment, will average about 280 pounds. The gun will use fixed ammunition, the cartridge being similar to those used in small arms, and the gun may be fired 15 or 20 times a minute.

Four kinds of ammunition are supplied for these guns—what are technically known as the double shell, ring shell, shrapnel and case shot. The double shell is a simple shell of extra thickness. The ring shell is cast in two parts, one to surround the other. The bursting charge is placed within the inner part, whose exterior surface bears projections. These fit into cavities on the inner surface of the outer shell. The surfaces are not cemented together.

The shrapnel has a base and covering of steel, a bursting charge in the rear portion and a lot of balls ahead of it, with a diaphragm separating the balls from the powder. In the point of the shell is placed a fuse, and a tube passes back through the balls to the charge, in order to secure ignition. During transportation a dummy fuse of lead is substituted for the service fuse. The latter is put in place immediately before firing the shrapnel.

NEW TRANSFER ORDER.

No Privileges for Through Passengers to Connect With Plainfield or Elizabeth Branches.

For the second time since the road has been in operation the officials of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway have issued orders to the conductors prohibiting them from issuing transfers to through passengers from Plainfield to points in Elizabeth. Passengers getting on at Roselle, or through passengers getting off and taking the next car, can procure them. This order was given some time ago and was reported by The Daily Press. The rule was then revoked and the officials denied the story.

It was true, nevertheless, and now after giving the transfers for some time, the conductor went back to the old rule a few days ago. By this order it costs a Plainfield passenger twenty-five cents to go to Newark, while the company maintains it costs but twenty. It does cost but twenty by getting off one car and taking the one following, but why there should be any discrimination is hard to see. Transfers are not only refused to Newark but to all points in Elizabeth as well. It seems as though the railway people have had time enough to get their complicated transfer system in some kind of shape that people can understand it, but instead of getting better it gets worse.

Foster M. Voorhees to Rest a While on the Banks of the St. Lawrence.

Governor Foster M. Voorhees, of New Jersey, started yesterday for the Thousand Islands, to spend a week or ten days as the guest of Supreme Court Clerk William Riker, who is also treasurer of the State Republican Committee. Mr. Riker's family have been spending the summer in the islands.

Governor Voorhees is making the trip because he has not lately been as well as usual, and believes a short rest on the St. Lawrence will do him good.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

One of the best plays ever presented before an American public was the late Frank Mayo's famous creation of "Davy Crockett," the celebrated Backwoodsman. At the time of its first production it was considered the acme of everything that was pure, and at the same time highly entertaining, and its present revival is marked with the same degree of excellence that won for it such unbounded encomiums. "Davy Crockett" will be seen at Music Hall Monday night. E. M. Gardner, who was manager for Mr. Mayo for many years, has the management of the company and in fact is the only authorized person allowed to present this beautiful play. He has equipped it with new and beautiful scenery and accessories, and a great cast of metropolitan favorites, headed by Frank Cleaves, the California actor, will interpret the several roles.

* * * * * *

The famous Brothers Royer will appear at Music Hall Friday night, 14th inst., in their acrobatic farce frolic, "Next Door." The piece is an acrobatic production on the order of the Eight Bells, Daly's Vacation and Upside Down. It is said to contain many features, prominent among them being the Royer troupe of acrobats. The funny trick bathing scene, the haunted house, the funny mule and the wonderful leaping scene, all going head first through a second story window. A feature in itself is the beautiful costumes and scenery. The piece is without a doubt one of the very best on the road.

* * * * * *

With the opening of the fall and winter season at the F. F. Proctor continuous theatres the past week, lovers of vaudeville from now on will have an opportunity of witnessing all the big headliners in rapid succession. Each week will see a recognized star heading the list of talent at the various Proctor houses in New York city, and with this object in view the Proctor "stars" next week are: Robert Hilliard at Proctor's Twenty-third street; Maurice Barrymore at Proctor's Fifth avenue; Joe Hart and Carrie DeMar at Proctor's One hundred and twenty-fifth street (Harlem); and Bert Coote and his company at Proctor's Palace. A peep at the future bookings for the Proctor houses shows that the past standard for these houses will be surpassed to a considerable degree and that means entertainments above par. The prices are remarkably low, orchestra 50 cents, and balconies 25 and 15 cents.

Discharged in Bankruptcy.

In the United States District Court in New York city on Wednesday last, on the application of Counselor Henry L. Maxson, of this city, attorney for the bankrupt, Frederick G. A. Blancke, of Linden, N. J., was discharged of debts amounting to over $19,400. The estate of Patrick Sheriden, of Elizabeth, was a creditor to the extent of about $4,300. The Union County Bank of Rahway had claims against the bankrupt for $6,700 and the First National Bank of Elizabeth, was a creditor to the extent of $1,540. All the claims are upon notes given by the firm of Blancke & Co., or indorsed by them. The bankrupt never received any benefit out of the indebtedness, being the mere nominal partner.

Mrs. H. E. Bowen and family, of Watchung avenue, have returned from Woodstock, Conn., where they have been spending the summer.

E. P. Goodwin, of the firm of Horton & Co., bankers, has rented C. Arthur Baynon's house on La Grande avenue, through the agency of Armstrong Mulford, and will take possession October 1st.

SPORTING.

ROD AND GUN.

Charles E. Faber, of Rockview avenue, has returned from a fishing trip in Columbia county, New York.

A vigorous effort is being made to revive and restore to its once prosperous condition the New Jersey State Sportsmen's Association. If this effort is to be successful it must have behind it the good will and hearty co-operation of all those interested in the aims and objects of the Association. This Association was formed—to quote from the Constitution—"for the purpose of securing and maintaining proper legislation for the protection and propagation of wild birds, game fish and game animals throughout the State, for the vigorous enforcement of the game laws and for the promotion of kindly intercourse and generous emulation among sportsmen at the trap." It will be seen that the Association has two distinct functions: one, the protection, etc., of the other, the encouragement and betterment of trap shooting. Hitherto there has always been more interest taken in the latter than in the former, but I believe there is a great field for good work in connection with the game and wild birds and animals of the State, and a very real need for such an Association, as the New Jersey State Sportsmen's Association should be, to do that work. The initiation fee for clubs is $2.00 and the annual dues $1.00. Individual initiation fee $1.00 and dues $1.00 Membership of a club which has joined the Association naturally relieves the individual from payment of any fees. It is proposed, should interest be shown in the movement, to hold at an early date a meeting to discuss the best methods for the forwarding of the interests of the Association with regard to the game of this State, and to decide upon a "plan of campaign."

Old Soldier Passed Away.

John Rittenhouse quietly passed away at his home on New street this afternoon at 12:40 o'clock, after a lingering illness with paralysis. He was nearly 80 years old and was a resident of Plainfield for a score of years. For many years he has been unable to work on account of the illness that finally resulted in his death. He was a veteran of the Civil War and a member of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R. He leaves a widow and two sons. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

BACHELOR GOLFERS BEAT MARRIED MEN

Exciting Team Match Played on Links of the Park Golf Club Saturday Afternoon.

TWO OTHER CONTESTS.

G. W. FABER WAS LOW MAN FOR PRESIDENT'S CUP WITH 89.

W. J. R. Thiers Defeated Geo. T. Rogers, Challenger, for the Green Committee Trophy Seven Up and Five to Go—Bachelors Won Match 19 to 10.

The Bachelors and the Benedicts of the Park Golf Club met on the links of that club Saturday afternoon and the Bachelors succeeded in defeating their married opponents. It was the first match of the kind to be held and aroused much enthusiasm. W. J. R. Thiers captained the married contingent while Morgan T. Townsend was captain of the single men. The captains arranged the pairing off of the players and, with two exceptions, the play was very close.

The captains played each other and Thiers won out by a single hole. They played round with George T. Rogers and Edgar I. Serrel so that, while Rogers and Serrell played in the Bachelor-Benedict match, Rogers and Thiers might count their scores, match play, for the weekly match for the green committee challenge trophy.

Rogers play a good game and in the team match succeeded in finishing even up with Serrell. For the green committee challenge trophy Thiers defeated him seven up and five to go.

The greatest victory for the Bachelors was that of William M. McCutchen over his father, S. St. John McCutchen. The son completely outclassed his father, winning easily ten up. Gustavus W. Faber was playing in fine form, making the lowest gross score of the day, 89, which enabled him to finish seven up on Alexander Gilbert.

The teams in the Bachelor-Benedict match were as follows:

BACHELORS.		BENEDICTS.
M. T. Townsend	0	W. J. R. Thiers	1
Edgar I. Serrell	0	George T. Rogers	0
Wm. M. McCutchen	10	S. St. J. McCutchen	0
Frank Rogers	2	Charles A. Reed	0
Charles B. Morse	0	Samuel Townsend	2
W. de la R. Anderson	0	H. D. Hibbard	3
Harold Richard	0	Meredith Dryden	0
Charles E. Faber	0	Edmund Rushmore	0
G. W. Faber	7	Alex. Gilbert	0
Arthur H. Serrell	0	J. O. McKelvey	4
	19		10

Some of the players who competed in the team match also registered for the weekly competition for the president's cup and turned in their scores for that trophy as well. There were also a few who played only for the president's cup. G. W. Faber was low man from scratch with the excellent score of 89. George T. Rogers was second with 91 net. His victory puts him among the leaders for the trophy, and he is now tied with Meredith Dryden for fifth place. Charles Dupee and Herbert S. Rogers tied for third place with 93 net each.

The scores turned in were as follows:

	Gross.	Hand.	Net.
Gustavus W. Faber	89	0	89
George T. Rogers	106	15	91
Charles Dupee	97	4	93
Herbert S. Rogers	113	20	93
Morgan T. Townsend	94	0	94
Charles B. Morse	119	25	94
H. D. Hibbard	103	8	95
Meredith Dryden	108	12	96
Samuel Townsend	113	15	98
W. de la R. Anderson	107	4	103
Alex Gilbert	133	30	103

The standing for the president's cup is as follows:

Wm. R. Faber	8½
Edgar I. Serrell	8
Morgan T. Townsend	7½
Allan B. Laing	7½
George T. Rogers	6
Meredith Dryden	6
S. St. J. McCutchen	5 5-6
Charles A. Reed	5½
Gustavus W. Faber	4½
W. J. R. Thiers	4
W. de la R. Anderson	4
H. D. Hibbard	3
Samuel Townsend	3
George C. Worth	3
Herbert S. Rogers	3
J. H. Simpson	3

Scattering—Henry C. Wells, Gustavus W. Faber, Donald A. McGee, Wm. M. McCutchen, Charles B. Morse, J. D. Sandford, Townsend Rushmore and Charles Dupee.

Thiers' victory for the green committee challenge trophy was his eighth for that trophy and gives him a fine chance of winning out for the trophy at the end of the season. He defeated George T. Rogers Saturday without trouble seven up and five to play. The next challenger is H. D. Hibbard.

The standing for the trophy is as follows:

W. J. R. Thiers	8
Morgan T. Townsend	4
Gustavus W. Faber	2
Fred P. Taylor	1
W. de la R. Anderson	1

A Talented Woman.

Miss Ada S. Harrison, superintendent of the Sunday schools of the Newark District, will make an official visit Thursday evening, September 20th, to the Mt. Zion A. M. E. church and Sunday-school. Miss Harrison is a writer and elocutionist of rare ability. She will make an address and the programme will conclude with selections of her own composition and that of leading authors.

G. O. P. BANNER RAISING

WILL TAKE PLACE THURSDAY AFTERNOON ON NORTH AVENUE.

Opening Gun in the Republican Campaign is to be Fired This Week—A Band Concert Will Precede it.

The campaign in Plainfield will be opened by the Republicans Thursday afternoon with the raising of the new campaign banner. This event is conditional on good weather, however. The sub committee from the city executive committee, which has the affair in charge, has decided in favor of an afternoon celebration and the new banner will probably be flung to the breeze at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

The banner is now ready to be used. It will be placed on North avenue, in front of the Daily Press office, where the banner was located four years ago. A pole was placed on the south side of North avenue and the halyards are run to it from the roof of the Hotel Kensington.

Arrangements have been made by the committee for an open air band concert to precede the banner raising. LaVere's band will be located in its band stand in front of the Hotel Kensington and will play until the time of the celebration. The committee expects to have a speaker of prominence in the county to address briefly. There will also be a grand salute for the banner when it first appear. Further details will be announced tomorrow and Wednesday. In case of rain the celebration will be postponed to the first clear day.

JOINS BROTHER IN JAIL.

Theodore Fleming Charged With Theft, While Dick is Held in Murder Case.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Basking Ridge, Sept. 10.—Theodore Fleming was arrested last Thursday afternoon by Constable David R. Moffett on the complaint of Charles H. Tunis, proprietor of a grocery store near the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad depot here. Mr. Tunis has for some time past suspected Fleming of stealing goods from his store, and Wednesday, when Fleming was in his store, he pretended to go down cellar, but instead secreted himself behind the door. He says he saw Fleming stealing merchandise of a considerable amount.

When arrested and arraigned before Justice of the Peace I. B. Bowers, Fleming was intoxicated and could give no intelligible replies to the questions of the Justice. He was committed to the county jail without bail to await the action of the Grand Jury.

Fleming is a brother of Dick Fleming, who is now confined in the county jail in connection with the murder of Simeon Whycoff, who was found dead near this place about two weeks ago. The two brothers are now locked up at Somerville.

POPULISTS NAME ELECTORS.

Seven Delegates Made up New Jersey State Convention.

The State convention of the Populist party in New Jersey met in the Court House in Camden, Saturday. But seven delegates were present, but that did not prevent the selection of national committeemen and Presidential electors.

The national committeemen named are: E. A. Wallace, Orange; John J. Streeter, Vineland; J. V. L. Pierson, Glen Ridge. The electors-at-large are: J. J. Streeter and E. A. Wallace; electors, William W. Conover, Flemington; Benjamin Flartey, Port Oram; Thomas B. Street, Vineland; John R. Burnett, Jr., New Providence; William Collester, Camden; Volney Van Guilder, Ocean View; J. L. V. Pierson, Glen Ridge; Alfred Cumberbrach, Orange.

The convention adopted the Cincinnati platform.

Over Turned Lamp.

A serious fire was narrowly averted at the residence of Frank Thorn, of East Third street, Saturday night by the promptness of Mrs. Thorn throwing an overturned lamp out of doors. Miss Francis Thorn had been playing the piano and on turning suddenly, knocked over a large lamp. It immediately caught fire, but before the blaze could spread to the carpet Mrs. Thorn pluckily seized the lamp and threw it out.

Ferryboat Burned.

The Central Railroad ferryboat Plainfield, which had been out of service for some time, was burned to the water's edge Saturday night on the Jersey side of the North river. She took fire while lying at the Communipaw coal docks undergoing repairs. Several tug boats pulled her away from the docks, but she was soon destroyed. Loss $150,000.

BRYAN IS COMING TO NEW JERSEY.

He Will Spend Two Days in This State Making Campaign Speeches.

OLIVER KELLY IS HOPEFUL.

PROMINENT REPUBLICANS ON A BIG OUTING TODAY.

Delegates to Democratic State Convention Elected in Somerset County Saturday — Other Political Notes in New Jersey.

At a conference Saturday afternoon of the Executive committee of the Democratic State Committee, it was decided to issue an urgent appeal to the voters of the party to contribute to the campaign fund, which is getting very low. State Chairman Gourley was at the conference at the headquarters in the Washington Hotel. Others present were: General H. C. Hoppenheimer, of Hudson county; David S. Crater, of Monmouth; William Lanning, of Trenton, and Senator Johnston Cornish, of Warren. It was announced that Colonel William J. Bryan would be in New Jersey two days during the latter part of the campaign. He will in that brief time deliver several speeches, but the dates and places have not yet been determined. Mr. Gourley and the National committee will make the arrangements.

The Union County League met Friday night at Republican headquarters in Elizabeth for the purpose of effecting a permanent organization for work in the present campaign. Hon. George A. Squire acted as temporary chairman, Palmer Charlock, secretary. The minutes of the former meeting were read and approved, and Mr. Charlock explained the objects and purposes of the league. A letter was sent last week to Hon. Ernest R. Ackerman, of Plainfield, inviting him to be president of the league, and Mr. Ackerman replied regretting his inability to accept the honor and responsibility. On motion a committee of three, consisting of C. Symmes Kiggins, Chas. C. McBride and Hon. E. B. Horton, of Cranford, was appointed to act as a nominating committee to recommend officers for the league. The committee recommended C. H. K. Halsey for president and Merchant Meeker for secretary. These gentlemen were unanimously elected. The committee will present their recommendations for vice-presidents, executive committee and treasurer of the league at the next meeting. On motion the chairman appointed C. S. Kiggins, of Elizabeth, and William E. Collins, of Fanwood, as delegates, and Oscar Johnson and C. G. Kuntz as alternates, to the convention of league clubs to be held at 737 Broadway, New York, on September 12th, at 2 p. m. The league then adjourned to meet on Thursday evening of this week, Sept. 13th, at 8 o'clock.

The Union county Prohibition convention to nominate candidates for members of assembly will meet on Monday evening, September 17th, at 8:15 o'clock, in the hall of the W. C. T. U., 1208 East Broad street, Elizabeth.

The county clerk's office will be open on Wednesday night instead of Friday for the accommodation of persons who desire to apply for naturalization papers.

Primaries for the election of delegates to the Democratic State convention were held in the various towns of Somerset county Saturday. In Warren township Horace Coddington was elected. In Bridgewater township the following were chosen: W. J. Keys, Nathan Weill, M. J. Homan, Joseph Phillips, J. H. Mattison, W. J. Logan and Richard Connors.

The Prohibitionists of Hunterdon county are already in the field, equipped with a full ticket and ready to go to work. Their candidate for State Senator is J. P. Bodine, of Flemington. George E. Sovereign and George W. Hockenbury are their nominees for the Assembly.

Ex-Senator David B. Hill, of New York, has written to Robert Davis, the Democratic leader of Hudson county, that he hopes that some time later in the campaign he may be able to address his fellow Democrats of Jersey City. William J. Bryan has also written to Mr. Davis, in reply to an invitation to speak in Hudson county. Mr. Bryan says that he cannot make any definite promise to speak in Jersey City. Mr. Davis is arranging Democratic political matters in Hudson county, if not exactly in opposition to the Democratic State Committee, without any aid from that

PREPARING FOR SCHOOL.

BUSY TIMES AT THE PLAINFIELD PUBLIC SCHOOLS THIS MORNING.

Few Changes in the Staff of Instructors at the Various Schools in the City.

All is activity in the Plainfield public schools today getting ready for the opening of the fall term tomorrow morning. All the principals and many of the teachers were at the schools this morning. Superintendent Maxson was on hand and was busy all day looking after a varied assortment of details.

There will be no change in the general system of instruction at the schools, except for the usual improvement in all lines which marks each year's work. The list of instructors published in The Daily Press last June is unchanged with two exceptions. Miss Baker, who taught the fifth grade in the Bryant School, has been married, and her place is to be filled Miss Martha Driesbach. A vacancy is left in the same school by the sudden death of Miss Tichnor.

At the High School Miss Cuming is back to her duties again after a prolonged absence last year on account of illness. Miss Carrie Runyon's place, as teacher of the High School preparatory grade, has been filled by Miss Katheryn Ball, who graduated from Wellesley College last June. There are a few other changes in the large staff of instructors at the other schools which were noted last June.

MAGGIE BELLE IN JAIL

SHE MADE A PUNGHING BAG OF MARIA MATTHEWS YESTERDAY.

Sent to County Bastile for Seven Days—Oscar Vaughn in Trouble Again.

"Tell 'em you saw me and I'se got seven days." These were the parting words of "Maggie Belle" Jackson, as Chief Campbell escorted her to a trolley car on Somerset street this morning to take her to Somerville.

Maggie and Maria Matthews, also colored, live on Race street, and about 1 o'clock yesterday morning the two women became very disorderly and finally engaged in a fight. From all accounts Maggie used her friend for a punching bag, and the friend objected. Maria hit back. This led to a general disturbance, and Chief Campbell, accompanied by Marshal Emmons, hastened to the place just in time to catch the two women in their disorderly performance. They were locked up and this morning arraigned before Mayor Smalley.

Maggie seemed to be the aggressor in the trouble and His Honor prescribed seven days as a good medicine for her actions. Maria, who claimed that she had to defend herself from attack, was given two days in the borough lockup to repent.

Oscar Vaughn, famous for his queer performances, was a prominent figure in court this morning. He was arrested last night on Sycamore avenue by Marshal Winn, who preferred a charge of disorderly conduct and endeavoring to get money under false pretenses. Oscar has been trying to collect money from various people in Washington Park whom he claims owe him for services as a night watchman. His Honor was inclined to believe that the defendant's actions were not what they should be, and he imposed a fine of seven days in the county jail.

There was one other case that engaged the attention of the Court. Mrs. Abbie VanFleet, wife of John VanFleet, of Grove street, was arrested this morning on the complaint of Edward Wyckoff, who said that the woman had been disorderly and had used vile and indecent language. The Mayor heard the story of both defendant and complainant, and after giving the former a good lecture, he suspended sentence with a warning.

Vail Family Reunion

About sixty members of the Vail family from this city and vicinity held a picnic at Dewey Park, Saturday afternoon. It was a very quiet affair and the hours were spent in a social manner by the old folks while the children played games. The day's pleasure concluded with refreshments at 6 o'clock.

Firemen as Delegates.

Chief W. G. Debele, William Demarest, J. M. Higgins and J. J. Stahl, of the Borough Firemen's Relief Association, will go to Atlantic City tomorrow morning to attend the annual convention of the State Firemen's Relief Association which opens 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

County Road Work.

The Union county road work for the season is rapidly nearing completion. Inspector Fink says that nearly eight miles have been put in order this season.

A POPULAR TEACHER COMMITS SUICIDE.

Miss Clara Ticknor Ends Her Own Life by Drinking Carbolic Acid.

WAS IN DEPRESSED MOOD.

FOUND IN A STUPOR IN HER ROOM BY ONE OF THE FAMILY.

Drctors Jenkins and Tomlinson Summoned, But They Were Unable to Prevent Deadly Work of Poison—Teacher Fourteen Years.

Miss Clara Ticknor, one of Plainfield's most popular and well-known public school teachers, committed suicide at her home on East Sixth street shortly after 6 o'clock last evening. Death was caused by a dose of carbolic acid, taken a short time before with suicidal intent.

She had been greatly prostrated by the intense heat of the summer and had suffered from violent headaches, which increased the melancholy to which she was subject at times. Beyond this there is no other apparent reason for her act. She had been with the family a short time before and nothing strange was noticed in her actions. Shortly after 5 o'clock, Miss Ticknor went to the attic, but for what reason no one knows. On coming down she went to her room. A few minutes later a member of the family found her lying in a stupor on the bed.

Doctors Hedges, Tomlinson and Jenkins, the latter the family physician, were immediately summoned. They sought to arouse her from the stupor but without avail. On applying the stomach pump traces of the deadly acid were discovered, but no bottle could be found which might have contained it. The doctors' efforts to arouse her were of no avail and she died a few minutes after 6 o'clock.

County Physician Westcott was notified last evening and after viewing the remains granted a burial permit.

Miss Tickner has been a teacher in the Bryant school for fourteen years, being one of the original teachers. She has always been a conscientious worker and was the assistant of Miss Shattuck, the principal. Her loss will be greatly felt by the scholars as well as her fellow teachers.

Besides her mother, Mrs. Ticknor-Page, she is survived by one sister, the wife of Clarence Goss.

WILL NOT GIVE UP.

Rev. Mr. Shott Says He Will Continue His Work of Reforming Scotch Plains.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, Sept. 10.—As a prelude to his Sunday morning sermon, Rev. G. M. Shott touched upon the work of the Citizens' League. Mr. Shott said: "I have been asked several times of late, 'What about the league and its work against lawliness in town.' I will only say I have shown my hand. Whether you have supported me or not I will not say. I leave that to you. But I will say. You are in a position now to go ahead with the work, or if you will give me the money or men I will go right on until this sin is completely eradicated from our midst. I want men who will go right into the court with me in the fight. It remains to be decided now in the near future as to what you are going to do about the work."

Gift of a Schoolhouse.

E. H. Schley, the proprietor of Somerset Inn, has built a schoolhouse upon some of his mountain land and presented the use of it to the Bernards Board of Education. There are about thirty children in the surrounding country, the greater part of whom have not been able to attend any school, as both Bernardsville and Mendham schools were too far away. A Sunday-school was also organized in the building, with thirty-seven members. The school is known as Somerset Inn School.

Appointed Inspector.

E. Victor Lorton, who was injured in the trolley accident at Westfield a week ago last Saturday morning, has gone to work again for the company, and at present is inspector at the Scotch Plains terminal, taking the place formerly held by Charles Lister.

Dr. Yerkes in His Pulpit Again.

Rev. Dr. Yerkes occupied his pulpit at the First Baptist church yesterday, and delivered two strong sermons to large congregations. The choir was also present and rendered several selections in its customary efficient manner.

SOCIALIST DIDN'T SPEAK.

ATTEMPTED TO DISREGARD MAYOR'S REFUSAL TO GRANT PERMIT.

Then Patrolman Myers Came Along and Arrested the Would-be Stump-Speaker—Hearing Tomorrow.

E. F. Wagner, a Socialist-Labor speaker from Jersey City, intended to hold a street mass-meeting in Plainfield Saturday night. But he changed his mind. In the afternoon he called on Mayor George W. Rockfellow and asked for a permit to hold a meeting at the corner of Park avenue and Second street. The Mayor refused on the ground that meetings of that kind block traffic in the streets. The Jersey City man had something to say about this being a free country and freedom of speech being permitted.

Patrolman Nicholas Myers was on duty on Park avenue Saturday night. He saw a crowd collecting at the corner of that thoroughfare and Second street. Wagner and his friends had procured a box and from the top thereof Wagner had just opened a lively flow of language. A crowd was collecting rapidly.

Myers told that little party of Socialists that they would have to move on. All except Wagner obeyed the order. Wagner refused. The officer gave him the alternative of moving on or being arrested. Wagner courted arrest. He was taken to police headquarters where he was was brought before Sergeant Frederickson.

Frederickson offered to allow the prisoner to go if he promised to appear for a hearing Tuesday. Wagner said he wanted to be locked up. The Sergeant then told him that they could accommodate him if he so desired but his hearing would not be until Tuesday morning and he could go on parole. Wagner thought better of it and decided to accept parole.

JUMPED IN FRONT OF TEAM.

A Newsboy Hurt as He Was Getting Off a Trolley Car at the Watchung Avenue Switch.

Schuyler Line, aged six years, a newsboy, living on East Front street, opposite the First Presbyterian church, jumped off a trolley car at the North avenue switch Saturday afternoon and landed directly in front of Charles Hyde's phæton, which was in charge of Edward Ryan, the coachman. The boy was knocked down and sustained a fracture of the collar bone and several bruises about the head. He was picked up by several who were standing by and carried into Mallison's drug store at the corner of North and Watchung avenues. Drs. T. H. and Rolland Tomlinson were called and made the boy comfortable, prescribing the proper treatment. Young Line was then moved to his home on East Front street.

Although the boy suffered considerable pain and was greatly frightened, his injuries are not serious. They will keep him home for a time. The fractured bone was set and the little patient is now doing well. The accident was purely the fault of the boy and the coachman was not to blame in any way. When the boy was knocked down the wheels of the wagon passed over his legs, but aside from a few bruises there were no other injuries.

An Approaching Marriage.

The many friends in Plainfield and Elizabeth of H. C. VanEmburgh, the popular civil engineer, are congratulating him on his approaching marriage to Miss Lillian Kline, daughter of Geo. H. Kline, of Maple avenue, Elizabeth, Wednesday evening, October 3d. The ceremony will be performed in St. James M. E. church on South Broad street, Elizabeth.

Cypress Commandery's Reception.

The thirteenth annual reception of Cypress Commandery, K. T., No. 6, will be held in Washington Hall, Thursday evening, November 1st. A gold watch will be presented the man or woman selling the largest number of tickets. A number of noted commanderies have been invited and will attend. There will be the annual drill and usual good time.

Expect to Have Gymnasium Apparatus.

The Young Men's Association of Hope chapel will begin their regular fall work, September 21st. By that time the members anticipate having gymnastic apparatus for gymnasium work. They also expect to give an excellent entertainment about October 1st.

Death of T. H. B. Davis.

Word has been received in Plainfield of the death at Sandusky, O., of Thomas H. B. Davis, eldest son of the late Charles S. A. Davis, of Watchung avenue. Mr. Davis died a week ago today and was due to appoplexy.

GOOD GOLF PLAYING ON HILLSIDE LINKS

The Club Team Succeeds in Easily Defeating the Madisonites by a Score 40 to 0.

PLAY FOR REIEHART CUP.

MISS HOLLY LEADS IN VAN HERWERDEN CUP COMPETITION.

The Final Contest at Match Play Will be Held October 27th—Large Number of Contestants for Reinhart Cup.

The popular course of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club was alive with enthusiasts Saturday, when there were plenty of events to attract. The fact that most all of the members have returned from their outing had something to do with the large field, and besides it was ideal day for the game. The sun's rays were absent and there was a steady breeze blowing over the course that made playing a pleasure. The course was in fine condition and proved a strong incentive for the contestantants to put up low scores, which were the rule.

In the morning the last medal play competition for women for the van-Herwerden Cup was the event. The cup was won by Miss Margaret Holly with a net score of 110. In the previous play for this cup Miss May Holly was the winner. The final contest at match play, will be held October 27th, open to those who have won the cup one or more times. Saturday's scores were fairly low. The cards:

	Gross.	Hand.	Net.
Miss Margaret Holly	137	27	110
Miss van Herwerden	117	0	117
Miss Andrews	119	0	119
Miss May Evans	132	12	120
Miss Stewart	146	22	124
Miss May Holly	138	12	126

In the afternoon two important events brought out an unusually large field. For good reasons it was decided to play for the Reinhart cup which was scheduled for next Saturday, and the entry list was one of the largest recorded. This was a handicap competition for men, open to active members only, 18 holes, medal play. This was the last play this year for the cup and W. L. Glenney and Roger F. Murray were tie for first honors, each scoring 78. In this contest the ability of the players was brought out to good advantage. With a few exceptions there were not many fat handicaps, and with the exception of the last three scores all were below the hundred mark and very close. The contest throughout was one of the most interesting held and was watched eagerly by all. The cards:

	Gross.	Hand.	Net.
W. L. Glenney	78	0	78
Roger F. Murray	90	12	78
W. F. Murray	96	16	80
J. F. Murray	95	15	80
Walter Probasco	107	27	80
Frank Talmage	83	2	81
Hoe P. Wright	83	3	81
W. L. C. Glenney	108	27	81
E. J. Patterson	109	27	83
I. H. VanBuren	97	15	82
Frank O. Reinhart	83	0	83
Walter Peterson	96	15	83
J. W. Baker	84	0	84
F. A. Clark	102	16	84
Morris J. Dumont	91	6	85
H. C. Munger	103	18	85
J. A. Machado	113	27	86
Percy H. Stewart	113	25	87
Owen H. Fleming	100	12	88
C. C. Burke	117	27	96
R. Finch	111	19	92
F. H. Andrews	112	18	92
Olaf Sangstaud	105	8	97

W. G. Wright	128	27	101
D. H. Barrows	119	15	404
H. C. Tracy	143	27	116

The next event, and one of great importance to the club, was the team match between Hillside and Madison in the East Jersey Golf Association tournament. Upon this match and the result of the other matches scheduled for the day rested the result of the home team's position in the series. Fortunately, the home team won, and by the other results they now lead the other clubs in the tournament. The visitors were defeated by the very large score of 40 to 0. From the start to finish the home players were too much for their opponents. The best players composed the team, and the fact that they did not allow their opponents to score is good evidence of the kind of a game put up. The result of the contest put new life in the home team and they were more determined than ever to hold first place for the balance of the season. When the best team is together they can give any club in the metropolitan district a close run for honors and few teams are their equal in this part of the country. The summary of Saturday's game follows:

JOTTINGS OF THE DAY

ENTERPRISINGLY GATHERED AND CONCISELY TOLD BY REPORTERS.

Teeny Notes of More or Less Importance Bunched Together for the Ready Reference Press Readers

—The Sunday-school sessions will be resumed at the Unitarian church, Park avenue, next Sunday.

—You will never find any other pills so prompt and so pleasant as DeWitt's Little Early Risers. L. W. Randolph.

—Rev. C. E. Herring, of Watchung avenue, exchanged pulpits with Rev. Mr. Cadwell, of Westfield. yesterday.

—Summons have been issued by Justice Nash in the case of Milligan against Whitlock, for possession of premises. The summons are returnable September 13th.

—Bernard Brady, of Liberty street, received a very bad fall Friday, by the slipping of a ladder under which he was standing. He was thrown a distance of about fifteen feet and was badly bruised. He was picked up by friends and taken to the house, where he soon recovered.

—Chinese are dangerous enemies, for they are treacherous. That's why all counterfeits of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve are dangerous. They look like Dewitt's, but instead of the all-healing witch hazel they all contain ingredients liable to irritate the skin and cause blood poisoning. For piles, injuries and skin diseases use the original and genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. L. W. Randolph.

AN AUTUMN OUTING

Gettysburg, Luray, Natural Bridge, Richmond, Old Point Comfort and Washington.

A nine-day personally-conducted tour of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to the Battlefield of Gettysburg, Luray Caverns, Natural Bridge, Richmond, Old Point Comfort and Washington, will leave New York and Philadelphia in a special train of Pullman parlor cars on Tuesday, October 9th. The party will be in charge of a tourist agent and an experienced chaperon. A whole day will be spent on the Battlefield of Gettysburg, a carriage drive with lectures by an able guide being included in the ticket. Ample time will be allowed at Luray and Natural Bridge to view the wondrous natural formations. Sunday, October 14th, will be spent at Old Point Comfort. At Richmond and Washington opportunities will be presented to visit all the points of interest under intelligent guidance.

The round trip rate, including all necessary expenses, is $65 from New York, $63 from Philadelphia and proportionate rates from other points.

For detailed itinerary apply to ticket agents; to tourist agent, 1196 Broadway, New York; 4 Court street, or Pennsylvania Annex, foot Fulton St., Brooklyn; 789 Broad street, Newark, N. J., or address Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street station, Philadelphia.

—The wolf in the fable put on sheep's clothing because if he traveled on his own reputation he couldn't accomplish his purpose. Counterfeiters of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve couldn't sell their worthless salves on their merits, so they put them in boxes and wrappers like DeWitt's. Look out for them. Take only DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It cures piles and all skin diseases. L. W. Randolph.

The Misses Davies, of LaGrande avenue, returned today from Round Lake, N. Y., where they spent the summer.

Sydney R. Titsworth, of West Fifth street, left yesterday morning for Alfred, N. Y., where he will resume his studies in Alfred University.

A Night of Terror.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham, of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she would die from Pneumonia before morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night, "but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, which had more than once saved her life, and cured her of Consumption. After taking, she slept all night. Further use entirely cured her." This marvellous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

Miss Alice Miller, of LaGrande avenue, returned Saturday after spending her vacation at Oswego, N. Y.

Miss Agnes B. Freeman, of LaGrand avenue, returned today after a summer trip to the Maine coast.

Mrs. Edward Gilbert, of Crescent avenue, has returned after an outing at Adamsville, R. I.

Miss Edna M. Howell, of Chester, Pa., returned home today after spending several weeks at the home of J. E. Morse, of Franklin place.

THE GREAT FAMINE.

IN INDIA there are, speaking generally, but two rainy seasons—the one in early summer and the other in the autumn. In the present case there was scarce any rain in the summer of 1899; virtually none in the autumn. The temperature also must be considered. The average temperature of the more densely populated portions of the famine district is hardly less than 80 degrees, as contrasted with New York state, with its less than 50 degrees; Virginia, with its 58 degrees, and the extreme south of Florida with its 72 degrees. When the rains fail in India, the strong sun takes all moisture from the rainless ground. Verdure disappears; cattle die; the famished people perish by the tens of thousands. For in India three-fourths of the population is agricultural; in the United States one-seventh. In large portions of India the population is 500 to the square mile, in New York state 132, and in Ohio 109. No real improvement is possible until the harvests of next October and November. The rains have come three weeks late, and, with their cattle dead and they themselves enfeebled by hunger, the small farmers cannot properly prepare the soil. That necessitates poor harvests, and that necessitates relief, not only until those inferior harvests are gathered, but also, doubless, even afterward. Clothing and shelter are needed, and tens of thousands of orphaned and deserted children must be cared for.

The great civic and national agency of famine relief is the New York Committee of One Hundred, William E. Dodge, chairman, and Brown Bros. & Co., 59 Wall street, New York, treasurers. This committee, with which similar committees throughout the country co-operate, has received over $200,000. Contributions are cabled weekly, without expense, to the Americo-Indian Famine Relief Committee at Bombay, United States Consul William T. Fee, chairman, and the veteran missionary administrator, Robert A. Hume, executive secretary. The New York committee will send illustrated literature, without charge, to all who will co-operate in its work. Correspondence should be addressed to L. T. Chamberlain, 78 Bible House, New York.

This paper gladly opens its columns for the receipt and acknowledgment of gifts to be forwarded either to the New York committee or to some co-operating committee. From 2 to 5 cents a day will save a life. Six cents a day will give food and clothing and shelter. In such a work all can have a share.

Union County Orphan's Court.

IN MATTER OF THE APPLICATION OF Jeremiah Cash, Administrator of Maggie Cash, DECEASED FOR SALE OF LAND TO PAY DEBTS. — ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE.

Jeremiah Cash, Administrator of Maggie Cash, deceased, having exhibited to this Court under oath, a just and true account of the personal estate and debts other than the mortgage indebtedness of said deceased, whereby it appears that the personal estate of said deceased is insufficient to pay his debts, and requested the aid of the Court in the premises: It is, on this ninth day of August, nineteen hundred, ordered that all persons interested in the lands, tenements, and real estate of said Maggie Cash, deceased appear before the Court, at the Court House, in the City of Elizabeth, on the seventeenth day of October next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause why so much of the said lands, tenements, hereditaments, and real estate of the said Maggie Cash, deceased, should not be sold as will be sufficient to pay his debts, or the residue thereof, as the case may require. And it is further ordered, that this order be set up and published in one of the newspapers of this State, as by the statute directed.

M'KINLEY'S LETTER.

Makes Known His Acceptance of Renomination.

ADVOCATES ISTHMIAN WATERWAY.

Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines Considered—Favors Independence For the Islanders When Capable of Self Government.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—William McKinley, president of the United States, has made public his letter accepting the renomination on the Republican national ticket. The president declares unqualifiedly for the gold standard and prophesies its approval by the voters at the polls in the coming election. He also considers the tariff question, the Boer-British war and the isthmian waterway. Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines are likewise dealt with.

Referring to the currency issue, he says:

"While regretting the reopening of this question, which can only disturb the present satisfactory financial condition of the government and visit uncertainty upon our great business enterprises, we accept the issue and again invite the sound money forces to join in winning another and we hope a permanent triumph for an honest financial system which will continue inviolable the public faith."

Concerning the tariff he says the following:

"The Republican party remains faithful to its principle of a tariff which supplies sufficient revenues for the government and adequate protection to our enterprises and producers and of reciprocity which opens foreign markets to the fruits of American labor and furnishes new channels through which to market the surplus of American farms. The time honored principles of protection and reciprocity were the first pledges of Republican victory to be written into public law.

"In the unfortunate contest between Great Britain and the Boer states of South Africa the United States has maintained an attitude of neutrality in accordance with its well known traditional policy. It did not hesitate, however, when requested by the governments of the South African republics to exercise its good offices for a cessation of hostilities. It is to be observed that while the South African republics made like requests of other powers the United States is the only one which complied. The British government declined to accept the intervention of any power.

"A subject of immediate importance to our country is the completion of a great waterway of commerce between the Atlantic and Pacific. The construction of a maritime canal is now more than ever indispensable to that intimate and ready communication between our eastern and western seaports demanded by the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands and the expansion of our influence and trade in the Pacific.

"We have been in possession of Cuba since the 1st of January, 1899. We have restored order and established domestic tranquillity. We have fed the starving, clothed the naked and ministered to the sick. We have improved the sanitary condition of the island. We have stimulated industry, introduced public education and taken a full and comprehensive enumeration of the inhabitants. The qualification of electors has been settled, and under it officers have been chosen for all the municipalities of Cuba. These local governments are now in operation, administered by the people. Our military establishment has been reduced from 43,000 to less than 6,000. An election has been ordered to be held on the 15th of September under a fair election law already tried in the municipal elections to choose members of a constitutional convention, and the convention in the same order is to assemble on the first Monday of November to frame a constitution upon which an independent government for the island will rest. All this is a long step in the fulfillment of our sacred guarantees to the people of Cuba.

"We hold Porto Rico by the same title as the Philippines. The treaty of peace which ceded us the one conveyed to us the other. Congress has given to this island a government in which the inhabitants participate, elect their own legislature, enact their own laws, provide their own system of taxation and in these respects have the same power and privileges enjoyed by other territories belonging to the United States and a much larger measure of self government than was given to the inhabitants of Louisiana under Jefferson."

Referring to the Philippines he says:

"Every effort has been directed to their peace and prosperity, their advancement and well being, not for our aggrandizement nor for pride of might, not for trade or commerce, not for exploitation, but for humanity and civilization and for the protection of the vast majority of the population, who welcome our sovereignty against the designing minority, whose first demand after the surrender of Manila by the Spanish army was to enter the city that they might loot it and destroy those not in sympathy with their selfish and treacherous designs.

"Nobody who will avail himself of the facts will longer hold that there was any alliance between our soldiers and the insurgents or that any promise of independence was made to them. Long before their leader had reached Manila they had resolved if the commander of the American navy would give them arms with which to fight the Spanish army they would later turn upon us, which they did murderously and without the shadow of cause or justification. There may be those without the means of full information who believe that we were in alliance with the insurgents and that we assured them that they should have independence. To such let me repeat the facts. On the 26th of May, 1898, Admiral Dewey was instructed by me to make no alliance with any party or faction in the Philippines that would incur liability to maintain their cause in the future, and he replied under date of June 6, 1898: 'Have acted according to spirit of department's instructions from the beginning, and I have entered into no alliance with the insurgents or with any faction. This squadron can reduce the defenses of Manila at any moment, but it is considered useless until the arrival of sufficient United States forces to retain possession.'

"In the report of the first Philippine commission, submitted on Nov. 2, 1899, Admiral Dewey, one of its members, said, 'No alliance of any kind was entered into with Aguinaldo, nor was any promise of independence made to him at any time.'

"General Merritt arrived in the Philippines on July 25, 1898, and a dispatch from Admiral Dewey to the government at Washington said: 'Merritt arrived yesterday. Situation is most critical at Manila. The Spanish may surrender at any moment. Merritt's most difficult problem will be how to deal with the insurgents under Aguinaldo, who have become aggressive and even threatening toward our army.' Here is revealed the spirit of the insurgents as early as July, 1898, before the protocol was signed, while we were still engaged in active war with Spain. Even then the insurgents were threatening our army.

"On Aug. 13 Manila was captured, and of this and subsequent events the Philippine commission says: 'When the city of Manila was taken, Aug. 13, the Filipinos took no part in the attack, but came following in with a view to looting the city and were only prevented from doing so by our forces preventing them from entering. Aguinaldo claimed that he had the right to occupy the city. He demanded of General Merritt the palace of Malacanan for himself and the cession of all the churches of Manila, also that a part of the money taken from the Spaniards as spoils of war should be given up and above all that he should be given the arms of the Spanish prisoners. All these demands were refused.

"Generals Merritt, Greene and Anderson, who were in command at the beginning of our occupation and until the surrender of Manila, state that there was no alliance with the insurgents and no promise to them of independence. On Aug. 17, 1898, General Merritt was instructed that there must be no joint occupation of Manila with the insurgents. General Anderson under date of Feb. 10, 1899, says that he was present at the interview between Admiral Dewey and the insurgent leader and that in this interview Admiral Dewey made no promises whatever. He adds: 'He (Aguinaldo) asked me if my government was going to recognize his government. I answered that I was there simply in a military capacity, that I could not acknowledge his government because I had no authority to do so.'

"Would not our adversaries have sent Dewey's fleet to Manila to capture and destroy the Spanish sea power there, or, dispatching it there, would they have withdrawn it after the destruction of the Spanish fleet, and if the latter, whither would they have directed it to sail? Where could it have gone? What port in the orient was open to it? Do our adversaries condemn the expedition under the command of General Merritt to strengthen Dewey in the distant ocean and assist in our triumph over Spain, with which nation we were at war? Was it not our highest duty to strike Spain at every vulnerable point, that the war might be successfully concluded at the earliest practicable moment?

"And was it not our duty to protect the lives and property of those who came within our control by the fortunes of war? Could we have come away at any time between May 1, 1898, and the conclusion of peace without a stain upon our good name?

"Could we have come away without dishonor at any time after the ratification of the peace treaty by the senate of the United States?

"There has been no time since the destruction of the enemy's fleet when we could or should have left the Philippine archipelago. After the treaty of peace was ratified no power but congress could surrender our sovereignty or alienate a foot of the territory thus acquired. The congress has not seen fit to do the one or the other, and the president had no authority to do either if he had been so inclined, which he was not. So long as the sovereignty remains in us it is the duty of the executive, whoever he may be, to uphold that sovereignty and if it be attacked to suppress its assailants. Would our political adversaries do less?

It has been asserted that there would have been no fighting in the Philippines if congress had declared its purpose to give independence to the Tagal insurgents. The insurgents did not wait for the action of congress. They assumed the offensive. They opened fire on our army. Those who assert our responsibility for the beginning of the conflict have forgotten that before the treaty was ratified in the senate and while it was being debated in that body and while the Bacon resolution was under discussion on Feb. 4, 1899, the insurgents attacked the American army after being previously advised that the American forces were under orders not to fire upon them except in defense. The papers found in the recently captured archives of the insurgents demonstrate that this attack had been carefully planned for weeks before it occurred. Their unprovoked assault upon our soldiers at a time when the senate was deliberating upon the treaty shows that no action on our part except surrender and abandonment would have prevented the fighting and leaves no doubt in any fair mind of where the responsibility rests for the shedding of American blood.

"With all the exaggerated phrase making of this electoral contest we are in danger of being diverted from the real contention.

"We are in agreement with all of those who supported the war with Spain and also with those who counseled the ratification of the treaty of peace. Upon these two great essential steps there can be no issue, and out of these came all of our responsibilities. If others would shirk the obligations imposed by the war and the treaty, we must decline to act further with them, and here the issue was made. It is our purpose to establish in the Philippines a government suitable to the wants and conditions of the inhabitants and to prepare them for self government and to give them self government when they are ready for it and as rapidly as they are ready for it. That I am aiming to do under my constitutional authority and will continue to do until congress shall determine the political status of the inhabitants of the archipelago.

"Are our opponents against the treaty? If so, they must be reminded that it could not have been ratified in the senate but for their assistance. The senate which ratified the treaty and the congress which added its sanction by a large appropriation comprised senators and representatives of the people of all parties.

"Would our opponents surrender to the insurgents, abandon our sovereignty or cede it to them? If that be not their purpose, then it should be promptly disclaimed, for only evil can result from the hopes raised by our opponents in the minds of the Filipinos that with their success at the polls in November there will be a withdrawal of our army and of American sovereignty over the archipelago, the complete independence of the Tagalog people recognized and the powers of government over all the other peoples of the archipelago conferred upon the Tagalog leaders."

DEATH IN GULF STORM

More Than a Thousand Lives Said to Have Been Lost.

GALVESTON REPORTED INUNDATED.

Most Destructive Hurricane In Recent Years In Texas Coast Towns. Prostrated Wires Prevent Securing Details of Disaster.

DALLAS, Sept. 10.—The following telegram has just been received from Houston by The News:

"Relief train just returned. They could not get closer than six miles of Virginia point, where the prairie was covered with lumber, débris, pianos, trunks and dead bodies. Two hundred corpses were counted from the train.

"A large steamer is stranded two miles this side of Virginia point as though thrown up by a tidal wave.

"Nothing can be seen of Galveston.

"Two men were picked up who floated across the mainland. They estimate the loss of life up to the time they left at 2,000."

The above message was addressed to Superintendent Felton, Dallas, and came from Mr. Vaughan, manager of the Western Union office at Houston.

It has been impossible to obtain reliable news from Galveston as to the full extent of the hurricane in that section. Rumors of dire disaster are flying thick and fast without being in any way authenticated. All that is known is that the disaster has occurred, but its extent is not known.

The storm center is rapidly approaching northern Texas, and its fury wrecks all telegraph lines in its path, doing vast damage and killing people in scattered localities.

A cyclone has demolished a part of the town of Smithville, on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway. A number of persons are reported killed. The railroad and telegraph companies have gangs and wrecking trains out attempting to work their way south, but the fierceness of the storm makes it impossible for them to gain any headway, having to seek shelter in order to save their lives. The conditions at Galveston and Houston are undoubtedly grave. The four immense bridges, from four to six miles each in length, connecting Galveston with the mainland are either wholly or partly wrecked.

The storm at Temple was severe, and fears are entertained that the city is badly wrecked. The railroad officials say it is impossible to move trains south of Courtney. North bound trains from Houston were from 15 to 18 hours late.

A private message from San Antonio states that a serious disaster occurred at Corpus Christi, Rockport and other coast towns, the nature of which cannot be determined.

A bulletin from Smithville at noon stated that the grain elevators and other large buildings at Galveston had been washed into the bay.

All the railroads southward from Dallas have issued a bulletin instructing their agents to discontinue the sale of tickets or accept any freight for the south until further orders. All the efforts to reach Sabine Pass and Port Arthur have failed.

The small town of Brookshire, on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas, was almost wiped out by the storm. The crew of a work train brought this information. When the train left, three bodies had been recovered, and the search for others was proceeding.

Hempstead, across the country from Brookshire, was also greatly damaged, but so far as known no lives were lost.

Without attempting to recite any of the various rumors of disaster, the conservative opinion is that the situation at Galveston is extremely grave, with no possible hope of news from that section for many hours to come.

HOUSTON HEARD FROM.

Devastation Extends One Hundred Miles Inland.

HOUSTON, Sept. 10.—The storm that raged along the coast of Texas was the most disastrous that has ever visited this section. The wires are down, and there is no way of finding out just what has happened, but enough is known to make it certain that there has been great loss of life and destruction of property all along the coast and for 100 miles inland. Every town that is reached reports one or more dead, and the property damage is so great that there is no way of computing it accurately. Galveston remains isolated. The Houston Post and the Associated Press made efforts to get special trains and tugs with which to reach the island city. The railroad companies declined to risk their locomotives.

James C. Timmins, general superintendent of the National Compress company, has just arrived from Galveston after a perilous trip. He reports that more than 1,000 people have been drowned, killed or missing and that 4,000 houses have been destroyed. He says the magnitude of the disaster remains to be told.

All sorts of rumors prevail, but with no substantial basis. It is known that the railroad bridges across the bay at Galveston are either wrecked or are likely to be destroyed with the weight of a train on them. The approaches to the wagon bridges are also gone.

The bridge of the Galveston, Houston and Northern railroad is standing, but the drawbridges over Clear creek and at Edgewater are gone, and the road cannot get trains through to utilize the bridge across the bay.

A train went down the Columbia Tap road yesterday morning as far as Chenango Junction. The town was greatly damaged, and the bodies of nine negroes were taken from the ruins of one house. The train could proceed no farther and came back to Houston, leaving the fate of the people at Angleton, Columbia, Brazora, Velasco and Quintana uncertain.

Two bodies have been brought in from Seabrooke, on Galveston bay, and 17 persons are missing there. Three persons were drowned at Morgan's Point, and others are missing. With the exception of those of Mrs. Nicholson and Mrs. Jane Woodlock the bodies of the dead have not yet been identified.

In Houston one person was killed—Henry Black, a hack driver. The property damage is great, a conservative estimate placing it at $250,000. The Merchants and Planters' oil mill was wrecked, entailing a loss of $40,000. The Dickson Car Wheel works suffered to the extent of $16,000. The big Masonic temple, which is the property of the grand lodge of the state, was partly wrecked. Nearly every church in the city was damaged. The First Baptist, Southern Methodist and Trinity Methodist, the latter a negro church, will have to be rebuilt before they can be used again. Many business houses were unroofed. The residence portion of the town presents a dilapidated appearance, but the damage in this part of the city has not been so great as in some others. The streets are almost impassable because of the litter of shade trees, fences, telephone wires and poles. Much damage was done to window glass and furniture. Many narrow escapes are recorded.

Another train has left here for Galveston, making the third. The two preceding ones have not been heard from as all wires are prostrated.

DEADLOCK IN PEKING.

The Powers Noncommittal—Germany Complicating Matters.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The deadlock in Peking apparently continues. It begins to look as if no solution would be attained at any rate before the arrival of Count von Waldersee at Tien-tsin. Germany seems to have introduced a new complication by endeavoring to organize some kind of offensive movement in the province of Chi-li.

From the plentiful crop of conflicting rumors, both as regards the actual position of affairs in China and the diplomatic aspects in Europe, it is next to impossible to extract any definite fact. A Washington special talks of a movement among the powers to appoint Sir Robert Hart as the European representative in negotiations with China.

According to the Shanghai correspondent of The Times, Li Hung Chang is awaiting the imperial edict appointing additional negotiators. Belated dispatches to The Times from Peking say that the court fled on the morning of Aug. 14 by the west gate while the Japanese were shelling the east gate. The intention of the court was not to proceed to Sian-fu, in the province of Shensi, but to turn north to Jehol and to remain there awaiting events. No high officials accompanied the court except Prince Ching.

In the apportionment of the city to the control of the different nations the Americans, in ignorance of what was being done, permitted a rectification of the French quarter, adjoining the American which transferred from American to French possession Prince Li's palace, the richest in Peking, stocked with treasures worth millions of dollars.

Dispatches from Shanghai say that 300 men of the Sixth United States cavalry defeated 600 Boxers who had arrived with spears and swords at Hunting park, 11 miles from Peking. Thirty Boxers were killed, and many were taken prisoners. The flags of the enemy and a large quantity of weapons were captured.

On Sept. 1 the Japanese and Germans were pushing troops from Tien-tsin toward Peking.

On the same date an imperial grand secretary and member of the tsung-li-ya-men, whose name is given as Kes, which is not intelligible, conferred with Sir Claude Macdonald, the British minister, with the result that Prince Ching was expected in Peking Sept. 3. This visit and that to Senor de Cologan were believed to be preliminary to the opening of peace negotiations.

SLATE MAKERS AT WORK.

Stanchfield Will Probably Lead State Democratic Ticket.

SARATOGA, Sept. 10.—For governor, John B. Stanchfield of Chemung; for lieutenant governor, William F. Mackey of Erie; for secretary of state, John T. Norton of Rensselaer; for attorney general, George M. Palmer of Schoharie; for state treasurer, Guy H. Clark of Madison; for comptroller, Martin Glynn of Albany.

This is the latest work of the slate makers. There is as much probability of it being entirely changed by the time the convention meets as there is that it will be put through. It is fairly well established that Mr. Stanchfield will be announced as the Croker-Murphy candidate and that Senator Mackey can have second place if he will take it. He declares he will not.

The platform will not be so lengthy as the Republican document, but will still be quite long. It will indorse the Kansas City platform, make a special allusion to the anti-imperialist plank, call for the absolute repeal of the Ramapo water act, call attention to the implied purchase of the election in this state and demand that decent citizens vote against the Republicans, who would debauch the ballot; indorse the Democratic national ticket and declare that the party in New York will work in harmony for its election, call attention to alleged interference by a Republican state government in the affairs of municipalities like New York and Syracuse, deprecate the alleged misuse of canal improvement money, claim that the low tax rate of the Republicans is not an indication of the real facts, because in six years the expenses of the state government have increased $9,000,000; criticise the taking away from mayors of cities the right to appoint transfer tax appraisers so as to obtain more state patronage.

It was said last night with some show of authority that Senator Hill will make the speech in the convention placing Mr. Coler in nomination.

Roosevelt Rests In Chicago.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Yesterday was spent quietly by Governor Roosevelt at the Auditorium annex. In the morning he attended the Dutch Reformed church with H. H. Kohlsaat and in the afternoon went to dinner with Henry C. Payne, vice chairman of the Republican national committee. The balance of the day he spent in his room. Between 10 and 11 o'clock he proceeded to the station of the Milwaukee and St. Paul railway, where he boarded the special car Minnesota, in which he has journeyed from New York, and went to bed. This coach will be attached to the fast mail which leaves over the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road for La Crosse, Wis., where the governor is billed to speak. Thence he will immediately proceed "to the land of the Dakotas."

Fireman Killed by Fall.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10.—James Sowney, a fireman, aged 45 years, while fighting a fire in the Dock street market building, Spruce street wharf, Delaware river, fell from an arch connecting two sections of the building, a height of 50 feet, and was killed. Another fireman also fell, but was caught in the fire net by comrades. The pecuniary loss by the fire was light.

CRIME IN THE PHILIPPINES.

Judge Advocate General Receives Military Trial Records.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The judge advocate general of the army has received the records of several cases of native Filipinos tried by military commissions for various crimes, such as murder, robbery, etc. In one case a native was convicted of murder, arson, robbery and burglary and was sentenced to be hanged. The sentence was approved by General MacArthur and carried into effect at the town of Jaro, Panay, July 17.

In another case a native was found guilty by a military commission at San Fernando de Union of "lurking about a boat occupied by the army of the United States and acting as a spy in time of insurrection against the United States." He was sentenced to be hanged.

General MacArthur disapproved the findings and sentence in this case, but directed that the accused be held as a prisoner of war. He said that the evidence of record while conclusive as to the connection of the accused with the insurgent forces does not, in his opinion, definitely establish that his presence within the lines of the American army was for the purpose of and with the intent necessary to constitute him a spy as that term is defined by the laws of war.

In another case a native was found guilty of "instigating riots" and ordering killing of Chinese residents "in violation of the laws and usages of war," also robbery, and was sentenced to be confined at hard labor for three years. On account of irregularities in the record the proceedings and sentence were disapproved by General MacArthur.

Orders in the case of two other natives are published. One was accused of robbery and murder. He was found guilty of robbery, but not of the more serious crime, and was sentenced to the penitentiary for ten years. General MacArthur disapproved the sentence in this case also on account of irregularities in the proceedings. The other prisoner was charged with violations of the laws of war in giving information to the enemy. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to the penitentiary for one year, which sentence was approved by the reviewing authority.

MRS. AUSTIN'S CONFESSION.

Paper Accusing Husband of Well Murder Charged to Her.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Sept. 10.—The following is a copy of a confession said to have been made by Mrs. Peter Austin to the effect that her husband told her that he killed Charles Brower and threw the body into an old well, where the bones were found last week. Brower had been missing 14 years:

"Sept. 8, 1900.—Peter came home the night the crime was committed. The date I do not know. I said to him, 'Where is Charley Brower?' Peter told me he had killed him. Before the crime was committed Peter told Charlie to put up a fence, and Charlie said, 'I will put it up this time, but I'll never put it up again.' Peter told this to me when he came in that night.

"After Peter had killed Brower he came home and asked me what time the moon came up, and I said, 'What do you want to know for?' He said, 'I want to throw Brower in the well.' I asked Peter where he had put Brower, and he said, 'In the well by the chestnut tree.' I said, 'For God's sake, what did you do that for?' Peter said he had killed Brower before he threw him into the well."

Charles A. Hopkins, counsel for the prisoner, says that the woman made the statement under coercion and intimidation and that she will repudiate it when the time comes.

Buller Still Advancing.

CAPE TOWN, Sept. 10.—Sir Redvers Buller continues his advance. He crossed the Mauch berg ten miles east of Lydenburg and came into action with the Boers. The occupation of Lydenburg, which took place last Thursday, is regarded as marking one of the last stages of the war. The Boers now talk of trekking into German territory. Lord Methuen is marching on Lichtenburg from Mafeking. It is said that papers seized at Pretoria show that the Netherlands Railway company in many ways actively assisted the Boers. It converted its workshops into arsenals and provided the Transvaal forces with horseshoes.

Collided With Battleship Iowa.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10.—The American ship May Flint collided with the bark Vidette in the bay off the mail dock and sank. After the collision she drifted down on to the bows of the battleship Iowa, anchored off the mail dock. After bumping the Iowa she split open, filled and sank. As far as known no lives were lost. The cause of the collision is unknown. The May Flint had arrived from Seattle with 5,000 tons of coal. The Vidette, with which she collided, had also arrived from the north with lumber. The May Flint was a four masted iron ship of 3,577 tons and was formerly the Persian Monarch.

Letter Carriers' Convention.

DETROIT, Sept. 10.—The most important action taken by the National Association of Letter Carriers in their final session was in the direction of reducing expenses. The convention abolished the committees on constitution and laws and on civil service and assigned the duties of both to the legislative committee. Two members were dropped from the executive committee, their places to be filled by the president and secretary of the association. The auditing committees hereafter won't be appointed until the annual convention shall have assembled and verbatim reports of the conventions were abolished.

Major C. P. Root Dead.

ONEONTA, N. Y., Sept. 10.—Major C. P. Root, a prominent Republican and owner of 20 butter and cheese factories in this county and well known to all produce merchants of New York city, is dead at his home in Gilbertsville, aged 69. During the civil war he was recruiting officer at Norwich, N. Y., and later commissioned by Governor Seymour to go to Vicksburg, Miss., and secure recruits among the blacks and disaffected whites. His record shows him to have been one of the most successful officers in the government service.

Fire Destroys Big Tannery.

ALTMAR, N. Y., Sept. 10.—Fire broke out late yesterday afternoon in the tannery of the Eustace Cummings company of Boston, located here. The origin is unknown. Four large buildings and 200 cords of bark were destroyed. Help from Watertown saved the village. The loss is estimated at $50,000; amount of insurance unknown.

STRIKE IS DEFERRED

Mine Workers' Board Adjourns Without Definite Action.

THE SITUATION IS UNCHANGED.

Coal Operators Given Further Time For Consideration of Demands. If They Finally Refuse, a Strike Will Be Ordered.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 10.—The national executive board of the United Mine Workers of America has adjourned sine die without promulgating a formal indorsement of the application of the miners of the anthracite districts for permission to strike. At the close of the session President John Mitchell said:

"There is practically no change in the situation. If the operators do not meet our demands within a given time the strike will be ordered upon the indorsement of Secretary Wilson and myself.

"Whether the time allowed is five days or longer I decline to say. As set out in our statement of Saturday influences are at work to bring about a settlement without ordering the men to lay down their tools. I must again decline to say what these influences are, for the reason that making this information public would at once destroy their effectiveness.

"If there are any political influences at work, I know nothing of them, and I do not think it has come to the knowledge of the board members. It would be very bad policy for the national officers of the Mine Workers to ask the intercession of any political party, and this most certainly has not been done. We are simply trying to get for the miners of our organization and those not affiliated with us honest wages."

As soon as he arrived at his office President Mitchell sent word to the telegraph offices that if any messages had been received for him they should be delivered at his office. After waiting a rasonable time for a response the board was called to order. No messages came, and this is taken as an indication that negotiations are still pending.

Up to the time the members of the board left the office of the president there had been no communication with the leaders in the anthracite regions. Summed up, the situation, according to the admissions of President Mitchell, is this:

Negotiations are undoubtedly on for a settlement of the differences without a strike. So long as these are pending the miners will not strike, for the reason that the operators would be left a loophole of escape from the position they now occupy by saying the men had gone out at a time when there was a chance that an amicable settlement might have been brought about.

Public sympathy is an absolute necessity in so far as the miners are concerned. A delay until it is seen that their wages will not be raised by the operators without a fight, that their grievances upon the powder question wherein they complain that they are paying $1 more per keg at "pluck me" stores than is asked in the open market, that they are not allowed a check weighman on the tipple and must accept the weights of companies that exact from them more than 3,600 pounds for a ton which is sold on a basis of 2,240 pounds to the ton, is bound to start a sympathetic movement that will reach over the entire length and breadth of the country.

Approximately 100,000 men are expected to go out at the bidding of the executive board. There are among the miners men who will provide for themselves through a short, sharp, decisive fight, but men who are working at wages ranging from 90 cents to $1.35 per day cannot provide for a period of idleness, hence the organization is met with the burden of taking care of not less than 500,000 people during the struggle.

Tagal Revolt Dying Out.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Supplies and commissary stores which were intended for the use of the troops in a winter campaign in China have been diverted to Manila. The forwarding of further troops to the Philippines means the relief of the volunteers and their return to this country to be mustered out in June of next year. It means more than this, for in the next few weeks there will be a force of American troops in the Philippines whose number has not been reached in the previous operations. Acting under instructions from Washington there will be unusual activity against the Tagals, and nobody here will be surprised at an announcement in the latter part of October that the troubles in the Philippines have been met and a state of revolution and brigandage no longer exists. Unless plans now under contemplation sadly and unexpectedly miscarry there will be complete pacification in the islands within six weeks.

Cannibals Kill Explorers.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—A dispatch to The Chronicle from Hermosillo, Mexico, says: "Nine of the dozen members of the Wells expedition which left Guaymas last June to explore Tortugas have been slain by the cannibals on that island. The three men who escaped did so only after a fierce fight to reach one of their boats. The Wells expedition was fitted out by Mr. Wells of Hermosillo to explore the island of Tortugas in the gulf of California. The expedition left Guaymas in a sloop last June. The Wells expedition landed on the north coast of the island in July and for three days was unmolested. The explorers had erected several strong huts which they planned to use as forts in case of attack."

Another Diving Victim.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Sept. 10.—Mary Bennett of New York is in the Long Branch hospital suffering from injuries received while bathing at the Asbury avenue grounds. She saw a young man dive from a post into shallow water and attempted to duplicate the feat. Her head struck the bottom with force enough to paralyze part of her body and render her unconscious.

Codding's Cheerful View.

As the first declaration of what he thinks will come to pass in Union county next election day, the interview in The Daily Press Saturday with Hon. Charles N. Codding, chairman of the Republican county committee, concerning the G. O. P. campaign, was read with great interest by all political observers. It is an essential quality of a political leader's make-up to always possess a cheerful and promising view of the relation of his party with the voters, and in this respect Mr. Codding gives evidence of being on the best of terms with the idea.

Chairman Codding says that he believes that the Republicans will carry Union county by 4,000 majority for McKinley and Roosevelt. This estimate is a reduction of 1,634 votes from the majority that McKinley and Hobart received in 1896. Compared with the Congressional election of two years ago, however, Mr. Codding's estimate is an increase of 1,557 votes over the plurality given Congressman Fowler when he ran against Col. Snyder, the Democratic candidate in that campaign.

In this connection it is interesting to note that the county chairman claims that the Republicans will lose but few of the Gold Democrats who supported McKinley four years ago. Just in what class he calculates the Republicans will lose the votes that the difference between the 1896 plurality—5,634—and his own estimate of the 1900 plurality—4,000—represents, he does not venture to say.

Newark has long had the reputation of being the "Birmingham of America," a sobriquet it won because of its varied industries. That it is well entitled to the name is shown in the returns of the census of manufactures, which has just been completed. The returns show that the New Jersey metropolis now has 3,500 manufacturing establishments, an increase of nearly 1,500 in ten years. This is a splendid showing for Newark, and may be appreciated somewhat better by the knowledge that while the average increase in other cities is only ten per cent. that in Newark is thirty-three per cent. Newark's particular advantage in the industrial channel of trade is that its factories manufacture hundreds of different kinds of goods, and when trade languishes in one line the other branches of its business are thriving and bringing prosperity to the city.

To represent either one of the great political parties as a nominee for Presidential elector is considered an exceptional honor, but notwithstanding this there has not yet appeared any candidates for such favors at the Democatic State convention which will meet in Trenton next Wednesday. In Presidential campaigns in the past—with possibly the exception of the one four years ago—there have been candidates aplenty for the electors. In view of the fact that many Democratic leaders believe that New Jersey will go their way in election results this fall it is odd that no aspirants for the nominations have appeared. Still, this condition will be no hindrance to securing good names when the time comes for their selection.

It is announced in Somerset county that Alex. C. Mack, of Somerville, is anxious for the Republican nomination of member of the Assembly, and that he will make a vigorous fight for the place when the convention meets. Mr. Mack is a brother-in-law of Senator Charles A. Reed, and has been active in Republican politics of Bridgewater township for sometime. Naturallly enough he is identified with the faction of the party headed by Senator Reed.

Seven counties of the State will elect Senators in November. They are Bergen, Burlington, Middlesex, Passaic, Hunterdon, Sussex and Cape May. About one-third of the Senate is elected each year.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The necessity of having some competent person to frequently inspect the trolley lines in this city was strongly evidenced last Saturday when the trolley wire broke on West Front street. Regular inspection would probably have prevented the accident which came near costing several lives.

* * * * * *

At last William has reached a decision, and a wise one, too, he very very confidently told himself. As he fondly caressed the rather scant adornment of his more or less classic upper lip, he mused somewhat thusly: "Yes, I think I shall enter the blissful wedded state. Why not? Viewed from every standpoint it seems but the logical course. I'm twenty-eight, and after having lived in bachelor apartments for several years, I'm rather weary of the life. As to the financial end of the proposition, I think my twenty-five per entities me to a little consideration. Ah! ha! This very night will I woo my lady-love, and she'll not say me nay. Although not the merest semblance of loving words have we exchanged, yet, somehow, a fellow generally knows when a girl is gone on him, and I think that's my case. So here goes." Donning his best outfit William hies himself to his sweetheart's domicile. Luck seems to be with him, for he finds Mildred seated on the vine clad piazza, all alone. After the usual preliminaries William surprises himself, by plunging headlong into his tale of love. He fully expected the bombshell of passionate eloquence so suddenly flung would, figuratively speaking, take the maiden off her feet. Whether it did or not we have but to listen to the following conversation to determine: "I love you, Mildred. I cannot, will not live longer away from your side. Will you by my ——?" Calmly the maiden gazes at the bended figure. In her deep blue eyes neither surprise nor consternation is shown, but gracefully changing her position until she squarely confronts the youth she unburdens her mind to him. "Your offer, Mr. Waffels, is exceedingly flattering, but have you seriously considered what marriage means to both of us. For you it probably means the establishment of a home you could call your own, with someone to be your slave, to a certain extent. You would be the sturdy oak and I the clinging ivy, looking to you and you alone for very existence. But do you know that idea is but a myth? The type of womanhood symbolized by the tender ivy is a relic of the past. Today we women stand independent; so fully capable of earning our living that—"

"But Mildred, dear," interrupted William. "Listen sir, must woman always remain silent while man monopolizes the entire conversation? Today we take our places in the office, the factory, even the battlefield, and stand if not far in advance of man in every respect, certainly we have no need"— Suddenly she stopped, a scream rent the air. Even by the pale moonlight William could discern her terrible pallor. In accents of alarm he asked, "Mildred, dear, for Heaven's sake what's the trouble?" "Trouble," she answered, "and you stand there staring like an idiot while this horrid big bug is crawling down my back. Ugh, its half-way down already." "Well, under the circumstances, it would be highly improper for me to—ah—now if we were engaged"— "And who said we weren't, you horrid thing?" The bug came out. 'Twas but a wee mite, but it served to shatter a false sentiment, and to unite two hearts that were intended to beat as one.

Genesee Pure Food Co., Le Roy, N. Y.:

Gentlemen:—My mamma has been a great coffee drinker and has found it very injurious. Having used several packages of your GRAIN-O, the drink that takes the place of coffee, she finds it much better for herself and for us children to drink. She has given up coffee drinking entirely. We use a package of Grain-O every week. I am ten years old.

Yours respectfully, FANNIE WILLIAMS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, Sept. 10.—A very quiet wedding took place in the borough yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, of Washington avenue. The bride was their daughter, Miss Annie Smith, and the groom was Herbert Bruch. The ceremony, which was performed by Rev. George Bowers, of Warrenville, and was witnessed by a few immediate relatives. After waiting until last evening to receive the congratulations of their friends, the happy couple left for Bangor, Pa., for a week's stay with Mr. Bruch's parents. They will afterward return and make their home in the borough.

John Gallagher has been confined to his bed for the past few days with a badly swollen foot which was caused by stepping on rusty nail. The nail penetrated the flesh for nearly an inch. The foot immediately began to swell and is also very painful.

Abner Coriell and Edward Taylor surveyed A. N. Randolph's curb line and sidewalk Saturday, as the latter is desirous of making some improvements.

Contractor Garretson expects to start the work of macadamizing Madison avenue today. The street will be finished in a very short time.

There were quite a number of borough people who attended the Vail family picnic which was held in Dewey Park last Saturday.

Miss Rose Haynes and Miss Margaret VanAradale left today for Trenton, where they will enter the State Normal School.

The Presbyterian pulpit was occupied in a very acceptable manner yesterday by Rev. Edward Mason, of Newark.

Theodore Kuldoehes' new house on Main street is nearly completed and will be ready for occupancy in a few weeks.

The usual number of bowlers gathered on Schephlin's green Saturday and indulged in their favorite game.

The scholars of the Episcopal Sunday school will hold a picnic at Dewey Park next Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Swackhamer are spending a week with relatives in Lee, Mass.

Frank Kelso, of Plainfield, spent yesterday with friends in the borough.

Harry Rindlaub, of New York, spent yesterday with George Trust.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

New Market, September 10th.—The convention of the Middlesex county Sunday-school teachers will be held in the Presbyterian church at Woodbridge next Thursday.

Silas Smith, an inmate of the Piscataway Home, died there last Friday. The funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at 3:30.

A peach festival will be held in the parsonage of the Seventh-Day Baptist church this evening.

Daniel Lienan spent Saturday and yesterday with relatives and friends in New York.

William Brokaw, of New York, is spending a few days with friends in town.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Sept. 10—Eight boys, under fifteen years, faced the starter in the boys' five-mile bicycle race over the Mountain avenue course Saturday afternoon, ready to ride for fame and glory. Nearly 800 people had gathered to cheer and encourage their favorites, many of them coming from Westfield. The course was from the liberty pole two miles and one-half out Mountain avenue and return. The race proved to be an exciting one and was won out by a spurt near the finish. Harry Embleton, of Westfield, crossed the tape first with Herbert Marsh, of this place, a close second. Then came another Scotch Plains boy, Herbert Douglass, followed closely by Dick Tice, of Westfield. The time made by the winner was fifteen minutes, which is considered remarkably fast time for boys.

The public school re-opened this morning under very favorable conditions for a successful year. A large attendance of scholars was present and both teachers and pupils gave evidence of being greatly benefited by their pleasant vacation of nearly three months. No change has been made in the corps of teachers, the same efficient corps to guide the several departments during the year.

The trolley company has placed an inspector once more at the Park avenue crossing. The company have had an inspector on the crossing for some time but for some reason the office was changed to the Rahway branch a week ago.

Wm. VanValkenburg, John Robison and Edward L. Hand, will attend the State Firemen's Relief convention at Atlantic City, Tuesday as representatives from the local association.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grant, of Plainfield, have been visiting at the home of Mrs. Grant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Paff, Sr.

Richard Robison has returned from a pleasant vacation of two weeks which was spent with friends at Camden this State.

Miss May Shott led an interesting meeting of the B. Y. P. U. Society in the Baptist church last evening.

John Hunter, of New York city, was the guest Sunday of his father, James Hunter.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, September 10.—Work on the school house is likely to be held up on account of part of the lumber having to be ordered and being delayed on the road.

The Lehigh Valley Company have men at work on their new tanks at the coaling station. The frame is up ready for the tank.

Miss Emma Faulks is attending business college in Elizabeth this fall. She is commuting at present.

Brundage & Coriell have finished painting the Lindebury house.

Geo. Rino is painting Thos. Savart's new house.

INTER-STATE FAIR.

Elaborate Arrangements to Make the Trenton Show the Best in Its History.

Both the main exhibition building and grand stand of Trenton's Inter-State Fair Association, which were recently destroyed by fire, have already been rebuilt and there is to be no delay in this year's exhibition. As heretofore, the fair will open on the last Monday in September and it is the plan of the management to have it the greatest and grandest carnival of the East.

The automobile races, held under the auspices of the wealthy and influential members of the Automobile Club of America, have been arranged for the opening day and from then through the week including the 25th, 26th, 27th and 28th, there will be such attractions as Bostock's aggregation of vaudeville features, William H. Walker's diving horses, and diving elks and his world renowned guideless pacers, secured at the cost of upwards of $3,000, together with a host of other high class standard entertainments.

In addition to the above there is to be the largest display of automobiles and accessories ever seen in this country, and an entire building with a floor space of 25,000 square feet having been secured exclusively for this purpose.

In fact, every department of the fair has been enlarged and improved this year.

Particular attention has been paid to the speed department, many of the fastest horses in the country having been entered in the races and numerous handsome prizes offered, several as high as $2,000.

—J. M. Harper has opened a dolls hospital at 411 Park avenue for restoring dolls and fitting some with heads, wigs, eyes, feet, legs, arms, hands, etc., at moderate prices.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

A dramatic production of more than ordinary merit is that of the play, "Davy Crockett," which is announced at Music Hall tonight. It is undoubtedly one of the best plays ever presented, and its sterling worth is attested by the long run which it enjoyed in the several leading cities of the United States. It is a play that will seemingly last forever, and the revival by E. M. Gardner, the late Frank Mayo's former manager, is one that will convince all who see it that it is an ideal play. It abounds in pathos and sweet sentiment, and presented as it will be by a superior cast of characters, beautiful scenic effects, cannot fail to please. Much interest is manifested in the appearance of Frank Cleaves in the title role. He is said to be the equal of Mr. Mayo in the character.

* * * * *

The famous Brothers Royer, who are to appear at Music Hall Friday night, in the acrobatic farce frolic, "Next Door," are said to be the greatest pantomimic and acrobatic actors in the world. It is difficult to class their entertainment under any particular title, but "spectacular comedy" seems to fit it best. It is a novelty in its line, and there is nothing else quite like it on the road. The pantomimic and spectacular features are prominent, but there is an abundance of farce comedy, in the line of laughable acrobatic feats and grotesque dancing. The trick scenery is wonderful.

A Shocking Calamity

"Lately befell a railroad laborer," writes Dr. A. Kellett, of Williford, Ark. "His foot was badly crushed, but Bucklen's Arnica Salve quickly cured him. It's simply wonderful for Burns, Boils, Piles and all skin eruptions. It's the world's champion healer. Cure guaranteed. 25c. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

BRYAN IS COMING TO NEW JERSEY.

organization, and he said Thursday that there would be some rousing Democratic rallies in Jersey City, Hoboken and the other cities of the county before the campaign is ended.

The outing of the Franklin Murphy Association, today, will probably be the representative Republican picnic of the season. Among those who will be in the party are United States Senators Sewell and Kean, First Assistant Postmaster-General William M. Johnson, of Hackensack; Assemblyman S. J. Meeker, of Essex; Assemblyman E. M. Wakelee, of Englewood; Judge Henry M. Nevius, Secretary of State George Wurts, Assistant Secretary of State Alexander H. Rickie, J. Hull Browning, of Tenafly; State Treasurer George B. Swain, State Controller William S. Hancock, A. Blair Kelsey, of Belvidere; Colonel Sheffield Phelps, State Factory Inspector John C. Ward, of Salem; Barker Gummere, of Trenton; Major Carl Lentz, of Newark; Senator E. C. Stokes, of Cumberland county, and Secretary John S. Gibson, of the Republican State Committee.

Oliver H. Kelly, the Middlesex County member of the Democratic state committee, said yesterday:

"What's the use of talking any more politics? Everything is settled two months in advance. You can see it on the wall that Bryan is going to be elected." As it was clear that Mr. Kelly had been paying more attention to the chairman of the Democratic state committee than he had to National politics, he was asked about the situation in Middlesex. "I should think," he replied, "that the Republican candidate for State Senator would be ex-Assemblyman Hicks. Our people" (meaning the Democrats) "expect to elect their candidate, however." So far there is no opposition worth mentioning to the renomination of Senator Van Cleef, as he is the strongest Democrat yet named.

Oldenburg.

Elsfleth. Der Landwirth Büsing in Dalsper hat einen erwachsenen Sohn, der schon längere Zeit mit Krankheit behaftet ist, und um die Krankheit zu bannen, sprachen Zigeunerinnen bei ihm vor. Nach allerhand mystischen Ceremonien verlangten sie schließlich von Büsing, daß er den Schlüssel zu dem Schrank, worin er sein Geld verwahrte, an einem bestimmten Ort niederlegen solle. Hier müsse der Schlüssel vier Tage und Nächte liegen bleiben, falls die Besprechung der Krankheit von Erfolg sein solle. Büsing ließ sich zur Herausgabe des Schlüssels verleiten. Kaum hatte er jedoch denselben aus der Hand gegeben, als er von einem mächtigen Drang zum Schlafen befallen wurde. Als er aus der Betäubung erwachte, waren die Zigeunerinnen verschwunden und mit ihnen das im Schrank aufbewahrte Geld.

Die Erd- und Maurerarbeiten wurden als Wenigstbietenden um 51,180 Mark dem Baumeister Dengler übertragen.

NEW STYLES.

They Tend More and More to Define the Figure.

Loose and bouffant styles of bodice are less seen every day. Even shirt waists and blouses are made close and scant and the characteristic fullness is more apparent than real. The back has a few slight plaits or gathers at the waist, in the middle or is sometimes perfectly plain, especially in the case of flannel or silk waists; while the front is gathered perhaps at the waist alone, or if it is also full at the top it is cut in such a fashion that it is scant and plain across the bust. Horizontal, vertical or oblique lines of embroidery, lace, tucks, ribbon or velvet are the favorite ornaments, although any flat decoration is admissible. Fluffy effects are as carefully avoided now as they were once sought. The present style is far more favorable for women inclined to be stout than the ample fashion which has prevailed for the last few years.

The picture shows a costume of pastel pink foulard having a black design. The skirt is gathered at the back while in front it is divided by panels of blush pink taffeta. The bodice has slashes of the blush pink taffeta and a sort of flat bertha of the same material, above which are a yoke and a collar of guipure. The sleeves of foulard are plain above the elbow, but below it they have two puffs of guipure and a cuff of blush taffeta. The hat of coarse, yellow straw, is trimmed with pink roses and a drapery of blush pink tulle. JUDIC CHOLLET.

FASHION HINTS.

Items of Interest With Regard to the Wardrobe.

Lace is still the leading trimming and in the more simple varieties is used in profusion on children's clothing.

Long redingotes of plain cloth, with a plaid capuchon or revers finished with mixed fringe, are useful and fashionable for traveling and general service.

Short and rather scant capes are worn by young girls, and are preferred to the long coat at present.

Never have so many and so varied accessories been worn. Ruches, jabots, berthas, cravats and revers, arranged so that they may be readily changed, are a feature of the prevailing mode and afford an easy and effective method of varying the costume and elaborating it if necessary. Revers of plain duck give a decidedly different aspect to a gown from that produced by revers of guipure or nainsook and valenciennes lace, hence the usefulness of such additions to a limited wardrobe.

The cut shows a gown of lavender taffeta. The breadths of the skirt are tucked obliquely and joined so that they form chevrons, except toward the front, where four plaits are let in at the seams. The bodice and sleeves are tucked and joined in the same manner. The yoke of white silk is trimmed with black baby ribbon and there is a little plastron of puffed mousseline de soie. The collar and puffs at the wrists are of white silk. The hat of lavender straw is trimmed with a knot of white tulle, loops of black velvet ribbon and cherries. JUDIC CHOLLET.

A Little Bit Muddled.

A curious instance of English "as she is spoke" occurs in a letter from the secretary of the Laundries' guild in Shanghai, warning customers, as far as can be made out, that the price for washing is to be raised.

"Gentlemen—With reference to notify to you for the employed in the various laundries in Shanghai. But any washermen is quite inability of disadvantage to washing any Public and through the high price ruling now for Rent, charcoal, coal, soap, Rice, etc., its is never counterfeit. A boss burner in a sewer-pipe factory at Alton, Ill., had such a severe pain in his right side that he could get but little sleep or rest. His doctor told him the trouble was a disordered liver. The man had always been healthy before, and doubted what the doctor told him, but he knew something must be done, and took the physician's advice and treatment. He got relief, but it was not lasting. His subsequent experience is given in a letter, in which he says: "I read some of the advertisements about Ripans Tabules, and concluded to try them, and had used less than one-half dozen Tabules when the pain disappeared. Of course, I felt a little doubt as to whether it would return or not, so took a few more to be sure. The result has satisfied me that one dollar spent for Ripans Tabules will accomplish more than five dollars spent for so-called advice and treatment as meted out by the ordinary practitioner."

A TALK ABOUT FISH.

They Are Coated with Slime to Protect Themselves from the Attacks of Parasites.

Fish, as a rule, increase in weight and length every year up to their death. There are several varieties of fish that cannot swim; they are deep-sea dwellers, and crawl about the rocks, using their tails and fins as legs.

Why fish are slippery is accounted for in this way: The slimy coating protects them from the attacks of fungus, a form of plant life found in all waters. If a fish is uncovered by slime the fungus lodges there and grows until in time it kills the fish. The slime helps also to increase the speed of the fish through the water.

In order to capture a certain fish, a South American tribe whips the water with the wood of a tree which contains a substance having a narcotic influence on the fish, which are then readily caught. One South American fish, the anableps, a star-gazer, can see in air as well as in water. Its eyes are divided into an upper and a lower portion, giving the effect of two pupils in each eye, one suited for seeing in the air, and the other for seeing in the water. The fish often swims at the surface with its head sometimes above, sometimes below the water line.

There is a wonderful fish in Alaska, which, when dried, is used as a candle. The Alaskan inserts the tail of the dried fish in a crack of his rough, wooden table and lights its nose. The fish burns with a bright and steady flame of about three candle-power, giving a clear, white light and considerable heat. A fairly large fish will burn about three hours. The fish is very fat and its vertebrae are formed largely of phosphorus—thus the fat is the tallow and the vertebrae the wick of this curious candle. If necessary it can be eaten afterward, being nicely smoked.

The pollock is severely let alone by its finny brethren, for it is armed to the teeth with a formidable sting and a sac of poison. The lake lamprey of central New York is another fish which is ferocious and bloodthirsty. Its mouth is bigger than its head and its teeth are sharp and pointed like a tiger's. The brook lamprey has never been known to eat at all. It is supposed that he does all his eating before he becomes a real lamprey—in the larvae period—and is never hungry afterward.

People marvel at the mechanism of the human body, with its nearly 500 bones, but man is simple in this respect compared with the carp, which moves no fewer than 4,386 bones and muscles every time it breathes. It has 4,320 veins, to say nothing of its 99 muscles. One fish has a brain larger than man's—the whale.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

How a Bright New York State Girl Has Built Up a Profitable Little Business.

One of the most popular storekeepers in Syracuse, N. Y., is Mary Elizabeth Evans, a girl of 15 years, and the accompanying illustration shows her seated in her little store. She started out in her business career by making candy, which she sold to small dealers. Then she opened a shop of her own, where she sold groceries, meats, ice cream and a few simple drugs. She employs a clerk and is making a good deal of money. She studies during the pauses in trade, and has a sitting-room behind her store, in which she keeps a piano. Her candies are sent, also, to the Harlem Women's exchange for sale where they are disposed of rapidly.

Little Miss Evans is the granddaughter of a judge who died a few years ago, leaving his family "land poor," and as the little girl's father was dead, the family found existence difficult. Being the eldest daughter, "Mary Elizabeth," as the neighbors called her, began her enterprise of candy making, with the success told above.

CUNNING AND CRAFTY.

No Animal Excels the Fox in Shrewdness or in Its Ability to Take Care of Itself.

The fox is a cunning, crafty animal. You can see it plain enough in the bright eyes of the little fellows in the picture.

They are on the alert for something—possibly a tender young chicken they know is fattening in a farmyard near by.

Foxes live in burrows, which they scoop out of the earth by the aid of their strong digging paws, taking advantage of every peculiarity of the ground, and contriving, whenever it is possible, to wind its subterranean way among the roots of large trees or between heavy stones. In these "earths," as the burrows are called in the sportsman phraseology, the female fox produces and nurtures her young, which are odd little snub-nosed creatures, resembling almost any animal rather than a fox. She watches over her offspring with great care, and teaches them, by degrees, to subsist on animal food, which she and her mate capture for that purpose.

The color of the common fox is a reddish fawn, intermingled with black and white hairs. The hair is long and thick during the colder months of the year, so that the fur of a fox which is killed in the winter is more valuable than if the animal had been slain in the hot months. The tail, which is technically termed the "brush," is remarkably bushy, and partakes of the tints which predominate over the body, except at the tip, which is white. The height of this animal is about a foot, and its length about two feet and a half, exclusive of the tail.

A favorite pastime in England is fox hunting. A very powerful scent is poured forth from the fox from glands near the root of the tail, that furnish the odorous secretion.

It is by this scent that the hounds are able to follow the footsteps of a flying fox, and to run it down by their superior speed and endurance. The fox, indeed, seems to be aware that its pursuers are guided in their chase by this odor, and puts in practice every expedient that its fertile brain can produce in order to break the continuity of the scent or to overpower it by the presence of other odors which are more powerful, though not more agreeable.

Even when tamed it preserves its singular cunning. A tame fox that was kept in a stable yard had managed to strike up a friendship with several of the dogs, and would play with them, but could never induce the cats to approach him. Cats are very sensitive in their nostrils, and could not endure the odor. They would not even walk upon any spot where the fox had been standing, and kept as far aloof as possible from him.

The crafty animal soon perceived that the cats would not come near him, and made use of this knowledge to cheat them of their breakfast. As soon as the servant poured out the cats' allowance of milk, the fox would run to the spot and walk about the saucer, well knowing that none of the rightful owners would approach the defiled locality. Day after day the cats lost their milk, until the stratagem was discovered and the milk placed in a spot where it could not be reached by the fox.—National Rural.

Mountain Rats Are Sociable.

Mountain rats in the mines in Colorado are about as big as wharf rats, but they have a bushy tail like a squirrel, and are pets of the miners. Whenever the luncheon hour comes you will see the fellows come from their holes or nests or wherever they live in the intervals between meals, squat on their haunches, and sit there until one of the miners shares his dinner with them. Whatever they get of the scraps of that meal they sit up and eat just as a squirrel does. The miner does not exist that would not share his meal with them.

WORKING IN SHIFTS.

Old Congressional Library in the Capitol to Be Remodeled.

Change Will Add to the Comfort of Our Statesmen and, at the Same Time, Be a Convenience to the Public.

[Special Washington Letter.]

"IT WILL only require nine months to complete this work, and I will have it done by the time congress convenes in December," said Architect Wood, of the capitol building.

"But there are only three months instead of nine months, and you cannot accomplish a miracle."

"Three times three are nine," replied Mr. Wood. "I shall work three shifts of men at eight hours a day each, and thus be able to do nine months' work by the first Monday in December. The capitol building must be spick span clean when the statesmen assemble."

The work in hand is the remodeling of the old congressional library. You have all read of the new congressional library, which is the finest building in the world. But the old congressional library was located for almost half a century in the capitol building. It occupied a great deal of space in the old central capitol building, west of the rotunda. Finally it became so crowded that a new building became necessary, and the millions of books and precious documents were removed to the architectural wonder which has been erected east of the capitol grand plaza.

"The utilization of this space will prove to be a benefit to senators and representatives," said Architect Wood. "We have removed the old iron shelving this summer and have received $10,000 for it. I do not remember exactly how many thousands of tons of it there were. It was all good material—the very best—and of course we got a fair price for it. This will materially lessen the cost of the improvements which we are making. We shall make two stories here with 14 rooms on each story. This will give 28 additional committee rooms, 14 for the senate and 14 for the house of representatives. And, knowing as you do how important it is that additional committee rooms should be furnished for the use of the congress, you will realize that this is a work of very great importance. The statesmen will undoubtedly be pleased with these additional quarters.

"The general public will also be greatly benefited," said Mr. Wood. "You and your visiting friends and all visitors to the capitol will be pleased to know that we are to have elevators in this space which will reduce the exertion of climbing to the dome. Heretofore everybody has been obliged to climb all of the stairs from the floor of the rotunda to the canopy. It has been an exhausting climb. But there has been no elevator, and no place for an elevator. The only way to get up there has been to wearily climb those steep hundreds of stairs.

"Now on each side of the rotunda, fully half way up, the dome, where the concavity begins, we will have an electric elevator which will take people up to what is called 'the first landing.' These elevators will be necessary for the use of senators and representatives, because without them the statesmen would be obliged to climb the stairs, or else walk to either end of the capitol to get an elevator. Well, while putting in elevators for practical use of statesmen, we find that we can run them up to 'the first landing' just as well, and thereby give great accommodation to the people; the plain people who own this building and all other buildings in their national capital."

The workmen have taken out not only the shelving, but have excavated the walls and laid bare the work of the masons of the early days of the century. Architect Wood called attention to the solidity and perfection of the work of the men who toiled here so many years ago. The walls are 2½ feet thick, and in some places three feet, and the masonry is above criticism. They builded for all time. They placed their mortar, stone and brick in shape to uphold the massive dome, many years before that dome was erected. But when the time came for placing the thousands of tons of iron and steel upon those walls they were found to be ready for the demand upon their strength.

And so, in accordance with the plans of the architect, the workmen are busily toiling by night and by day to bring this work to a conclusion within a specified time. The electric lights are blazing away all night long, and the sound of the hammer, the trowel and other implements goes merrily on as the workmen strive to fulfill their functions in cooperation with the man who has planned the work and timed the feet and inches which are to be handled by the skillful artificers.

"Not only must this work be done in time for the convening of the congress," said Mr. Wood, "but it must be finished, so that the sergeant at arms of the senate and house may have opportunity to embellish the committee rooms and furnish them. As rapidly as possible we must complete each floor and each room, so that those officials may make them ready for the immediate occupancy of the statesmen. There must be no room for excuses nor apologies, because the senators and representatives will not tolerate excuses and apologies, under ordinary circumstances. This is a tremendous work and it must be done well, so well that it will stand for all time. And it must be done within the specified time. Of course, there may be unforeseen contingencies which may be excusable; but we are working on the theory that nothing of that sort shall happen. Consequently we must accomplish nine months of work within three months; and I am confident that we will reach our goal."

With that sort of a man in charge of the work it is pretty safe to agree with him, and unite in his prediction that the old congressional library space will be transformed into committee rooms, furnished and decorated by the first Monday in December, when the senate and house will convene for the last session of the Fifty-sixth congress.

These new committee rooms will be more desirable in many ways than the committee rooms in the senate and house wings of the capitol building. For many years the professional guides have been accustomed to show visitors all over the great building, and finally wind up their tours by saying: "Now, ladies and gentlemen, we will go from the rotunda to the congressional library. As we enter the library, before viewing its vast stores of intellectual wealth, we will cross to this portico. Now, from this height we have the best view of Washington and of historic Pennsylvania avenue. From here we can see the treasury building at the other end of the avenue. Down this avenue all of the parades advance on inauguration days. From this portico we can see the white house and many executive buildings. It is the greatest viewpoint in this city."

All of that was true. But now, with this space turned into committee rooms, the chairman and members of each of the committees who may occupy these rooms can have this splendid view for themselves and their friends on gala days. Moreover, on this part of the capitol building the best breezes come from the Potomac, and in summer time they will be the coolest and most desirable locations in the great marble building.

Applications have been made for committee rooms here by the senate committees on appropriations, finance, naval affairs and foreign affairs, and by the house committees on appropriations, ways and means and foreign relations. When the statesmen arrive and see the beauties of these rooms, which are now in embryo, there will be a scramble and a controversy for precedence. It is a singular fact that only the chairmen of the greatest committees, who are the oldest in continuous service, have applied for rooms; and that is because only those who have had the longest years of service here realize the value of the locations which are being transformed by the architect while the statesmen are absent from the city, looking after their political fences.

The architect has been requested by some senators to find space for a reference library; a place where the choicest of books may be found immediately without sending to the big senate library or the great congressional library. But if this were to be done the house members would raise a hue and cry for space in which to place a special little choice library for their use; and inasmuch as the architect has troubles enough of his own he will not be likely to change any of his plans, when any change of that sort would only bring him an assortment of worry and annoyance which he does not need in his business. After all of the 28 committee rooms are completed, if the senate or the house, or both of them, desire to set aside any one of the rooms for literary luxuries they can do so of their own volition.

There will be scramble enough for all of this desirable space, and the architect will have nothing to do with it. His work is distinct, and is being well done. After he turns it over to the senate and house they can do their own wrangling about it; and all of their competition will be laudable, because they will be doing their best to get the best space available in the capitol building.

RICH MAN'S ADVICE.

How the Late Collis P. Huntington Acquired a Fortune.

He Always Considered "To-Day" the All-Important Issue and Didn't Worry About the Past or Fret Over the Future.

As told by himself, Mr. Huntington's story of how he became a millionaire is truly interesting. It shows the spirit of independence which characterized the man who at the early age of 14 started out to shift for himself.

"Appreciate the value of to-day," he said. "That's my advice to young men. It has been my rule through life—I am nearing the century mark now—not to look forward, for the future is a blank. To-day is the all-important issue. I have never gone against the tide, nor worried while my schemes were maturing. A farmer sows a field of wheat. To worry over it would merely sap his energy. The wheat requires his attention at the havest.

"When I was a boy on my father's farm in Connecticut I worked hard, utilizing every moment, for there was plenty to do. But if I had any spare time I did chores for the neighbors. I never wanted for anything I needed; I always got it. But very many buy things they do not need. When I went to New York in 1836 I had quite a sum of money, the result of my savings, judicious investments and little tradings about the neighborhood. The great secret of success is laying by a nest-egg and adding to your little store, never spending more than you make and being strictly economical. Again, a young man should command what he is worth and always endeavor to better himself. I was my own master since I was 14 years old. I have had a hundred thousand people in my employ in different parts of the world at the same time.

"In my mercantile life I have noticed the man who arrives at his post on time and not one minute later, and who

COLLIS P. HUNTINGTON.
(He Believed in Appreciating the Value of "To-Day.")

leaves on the minute and not one second later. He does not do more than he has to do and does not do that well. Then there is the man who arrives ahead of time and works late if need be. He takes an interest in his work and is anxious to be advanced. I have always lived within my means and always strived for advancement. Another principle I have constantly obeyed is 'business before pleasure.' The chances are as good to-day as they ever were—they are even better. But I do not think that the life of one who has accumulated a hundred millions, more or less, is in the least inspiring. It dazzles, it bewilders the struggling youth. It may inspire him for a time, but that inspiration soon wears off.

"It is not possible for one to follow in the footsteps of another. Each must work out its own destiny. I have never cared a cent what any human being thought or said about me or my action, so long as I was satisfied. It is my idea that a man's business should be his first thought. It has always been mine. In consequence, I suppose, there are many things about which I know less than the average man, but, on the other hand, I am certain that there is nobody who knows more about my own business than I do myself. I never leave my game to play another fellow's. Finally, false pride is an enormous obstacle. I know young men in New York who would not carry a trunk along Fifth avenue for all the frontage they could pass because they would be afraid that they might meet some girl they knew."

The question of C. P. Huntington's fortune is an interesting one, and one upon which no two persons agree. It has been estimated anywhere between $25,000,000 and $100,000,000. Authorities scout the former guess just as emphatically as they do the latter, and say between $50,000,000 and $75,000,000 is a conservative estimate.

An Expensive Hat Bet.

A hotel man in Portland, Me., made a bet of a hat with a friend and lost. The loser telephoned to the winner: "Get just as good a hat as you want; in fact, buy any kind of a hat that suits you and have them send the bill to me." In a day or two a bill for $33 from a well-known Congress street milliner for a woman's hat was received by the loser. The winner calmly informed him that he was pretty well fixed for hats himself and so he thought he'd turn the thing over to his wife. It was a hat and the hotel man paid.

Subterranean Plant Life.

Soil was brought up from a depth of 326 feet from a coal mine in Belgium, and from it sprouted weeds of a species entirely unknown to botanists.

Wonders of Modern Guns.

The tube of a 12-inch gun has 50 spiral grooves inside, which cause the shot to revolve 75 times per second as it rushes through the air.

SPORTING.

ON THE DIAMOND

Fully several hundred enthusiastic rooters gathered on the Clinton avenue ball grounds Saturday afternoon and witnessed one of the best and most exciting games played by any local nine this season. The players were the St. Mary's and Pond Tool Works teams, and at the start each man settled down to hard work. The result was a very close game and at the end of the ninth inning the score stood 9 to 9. Another inning was played and the Pond team secured the winning run, making the score 10 to 9. The battery for the Pond team was Doyle and Owens and for the St. Mary's Scott and Keefe. The game has been a subject for discussion in the West End for some time, and considerable money changed hands on the result.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

"Rover R," and "Kenelm," A. C. Vail's speedy trotters visited Robert Fairbairn's superb half-mile track at Westfield last Saturday and gave fine exhibitions. "Rober R" trotted three miles. The first was made in 2:23, and the second in 2:27 and the last in 2:25. "Kenelm" gave two exhibitions, mile each, in 2:30 and 2:28. Those who witnessed the exhibitions were much pleased and belive that the horses can do still better.

GOLF

Besides the match on the Hillside Club course, two other matches in the East Jersey Golf Association were played Saturday afternoon, which has placed the Hillside Club in the lead once more. At Newark the Newark A. C. took a brace and defeated the East Orange Golf Association 17 to 1. The Elizabeth Town and Country Club went to Glen Ridge and was defeated by the team from Glen Ridge eight up.

Hurt Coupling Cars.

Frank West, aged thirty-seven, married, whose home is at Norristown, Pa., and who is employed as a brakeman on the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad, sustained a fracture of the arm while coupling cars at Port Reading about 9:30 o'clock this morning. Some of his fellow-workmen engaged a carriage and drove to the hospital, where he is now under treatment. The arm has been set and no serious results are likely to follow.

Received on Confession of Faith.

Communion services were held yesterday at the Crescent Avenue church and Hope Memorial chapel. At each service one person was received on confession of faith.

Use Allen's Foot-Ease in Your Gloves.

A lady writes: "I shake Allen's Foot-Ease into my gloves and rub a little on my hands. It saves my gloves by absorbing perspiration. It is a most dainty toilet powder." We invite the attention of physicians and nurses to the absolute purity of Allen's Foot-Ease. Dr. W. C. Abbott, editor of the Chicago Clinic, says: "It is a grand preparation; I am using it constantly in my practice." All drug and shoe stores sell it, 25c. Sample sent FREE. Address Allen S. NO APPOINTMENT YET.

Borough Postal Sub-Station Cannot be Opened Until Julius Stahl Gets Commission.

The borough postal sub-station was not opened this morning as was expected. There seemed to be a misunderstanding on the part of some regarding the establishment of this station. As a matter of fact Julius J. Stahl, who has been selected as manager for the office, has not yet received his appointment, and therefore cannot move in the matter until he does. He is prepared to open the station on two days notice, but he says that it will probably be two weeks before he will open the office.

At present Mr. Stahl is looking to Senator Reed for instructions, and when he hears from him he will act accordingly. He believes that he will be under the jurisdiction of Postmaster Bird, but as yet has received no word to that effect. Mr. Stahl will probably open the store in a few days for the sale of confectionery, fruit etc., and as soon as arrangements are completed the postal sub-station will be opened.

STOPPED PRAYER TO KILL SNAKE.

Reptile Caused Almost a Panic in a Church.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Flemington, September 10.—A snake came near breaking up a prayer meeting in the Flemington Baptist church. While the meeting was in progress a woman suddenly discovered the snake wriggling down the aisle. Others saw it about the same time, and there came near being a panic. The cooler heads averted this, however, and one of the male members asked the leader to discontinue the services until he had killed the reptile.

It was soon dispatched, and the meeting was resumed. It was just an innocent little garter snake, a foot long, but some of the ladies were willing to aver that it was a ten-foot rattler with eighty-seven rattles and a button.

Funeral of a Young Woman.

The funeral services of Miss Louisa Kuenlen, who died last Thursday, were held from the residence of her mother, Mrs. Marie Kuenlen, of West End Park, yesterday afternoon. They were conducted by Rev. C.E. Herring, assisted by Rev. George Hauser. A beautiful solo, "Just As I Am," the deceased's favorite hymn, was sung by E. E. Runyon. The pall-bearers were Julian Canard, of Hoboken; George W. Trust, of Dunellen; Paul C. Uhlig, of New Brighton, S. I., and John S. Hobbs, of this city. There were a large number of friends and relatives in attendance and the floral tributes were both handsome and numerous. Interment was made in the family plot at Bound Brook.

Bad Fall of an Old Lady.

Mrs. Rhoda Martin, mother of Horace J. and Joseph Martin, of the borough, met with a painful accident last week at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles Steiner, Jackson avenue. She was attempting to descend the front stairs at the home and, being quite old and unsteady in her steps, slipped and fell a distance of ten feet. Notwithstanding that she fell such a long distance, she was able to get up. Her neck was severely wrenched and the fall made her quite lame. Her injuries are not serious, but she had a miraculous escape. Dr. Rushmore is in attendance and hopes to have his patient about very soon.

Mr. Stillman in the Hurricane.

News from Sabine Pass, which was visited by the Texas hurricane, is anxiously awaited in this city because of the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stillman, formerly of this city, live there. They visited in Plainfield last month, and Mr. Stillman returned home four weeks ago. Mrs. Stillman is still visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Barlow, of Prospect place. No word has yet been received as to whether or not Mr. Stillman was injured in the hurricane.

FOR THE TRI-STATE FAIR.

Large Force of Men at Work on the Old Guttenburg Track—Automobile Race to Be a Feature.

Over 200 workmen are employed at North Hudson Park, Guttenburg, putting the place in shape for the Tri-State Fair, to be held September 18th, 19th, 20th, 21st and 22d.

The many improvements planned will keep this force at work until the opening day. The fair will present attractions calculated to draw thousands of visitors to Guttenburg.

Aside from the exhibition buildings, the numerous booths, the midway and the amphitheatre upon which performances, theatrical and acrobatic, will be given, are expected to attract the greatest attention.

The exhibition of automobiles will be the largest on the ground. Women throughout the State are manifesting the greatest interest in the fair, and their art, embroidery, needlework and other exhibits will be greater than those of past years at Waverly.

The programme for the automobile race meet to be held on the opening day includes ten races. Large fields are promised in the trotting and pacing events and the the running races on the closing day will be a feature.

TRAIN CUT OFF HER FINGERS.

Odd Accident to a Nine-Year-Old Italian Girl at Bound Brook.

Kate Selcox, a nine-year old Italian girl, and two companions were playing on the tracks of the Lehigh Valley Railroad at Bound Brook, Saturday, when a westbound freight train bore down on them. Katie's companions escaped by jumping down an embankment, but Katie did not see the train until it was almost on top of her. She jumped but fell so that her hands lay on the eastbound track. An eastbound passenger train running at the rate of fifty miles an hour came thundering along and cut off three fingers of her right hand and crushed four fingers of her left hand. Her injuries were dressed by two physicians, who believe she will recover.

New Residents of the Borough.

L. E. Barkalew has leased the old Methodist parsonage, 94 Grove street, to John Dundon, of Brooklyn, who, with his family, will take possession early next week, and become residents of the borough. His family will consist of himself and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Clark and Mr. and Mrs. Nowland, Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Nowland being their daughters, and Dr. A. H. Dundon, a nephew coming from Bridgeport, Conn. Dr. Dundon will open an office for the practice of his profession.

Barns Burned at Roselle.

Fire was discovered in one of the big barns on Owen Sullivan's fine summer home, at the corner of Rahway avenue and Chestnut street, Roselle, Saturday night, and before it was extinguished all the barns and outhouses were consumed. All the live stock, including five horses and a number of cows, were rescued. Thirty tons of hay and fifteen tons of oats were burned up and much of the farming machinery was destroyed. Mr. Sullivan places his loss at $10,000.

W. C. Hubbard, of West Seventh street, started this morning on a western business trip.

City Judge Runyon Imposes Severe Sentence on Mrs. Schmidt, but Suspends it on Condition.

EXCITING TIME IN COURT.

WEBSTER PLACE RESIDENTS WERE ON HAND IN FORCE.

They All Asserted That Mrs. Schmidt Made Life Miserable for Them and They Couldn't Stand It Much Longer.

The "Deserted Village" at Feltville will be a lively place compared with Webster place unless Mrs. Mary Schmidt, housekeeper for John Rempius, departs from that neighborhood. Its a little over a year since she moved into the Rempius household and now the families, once happily domesticated in their Webster place homes, are ready to gather together their household goods, selling their property for what they can get. These facts came to light in city court this morning when all Webster place turned out in solid array against Mrs. Schmidt.

The stories of Mrs. Schmidt's alleged great cruelty to the Rempius have been so persistent that the local Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children is preparing to take legal action against her. Meanwhile, the neighbors say, she reviles them in foul and profane language at every opportunity. The peace and quietness for which Webster place was once famed, has been rudely shattered, so they say, until life there is not worth the living.

The specific charge against Mrs. Schmidt this time was for using profane and indecent language to Mrs. Ferando Brown, her next door neighbor, last Saturday. According to the testimony, Mrs. Schmidt's verbal attack was utterly without cause and was of a particularly virile nature. Mrs. Brown's statements were practically substantiated by Mrs. McCarty, on the the other side of the Rempius home.

Mrs. Schmidt was represented in court by S. S. Swackhamer. The two little Rempius lads, neither ten years old, were put on the stand and told in a parrot-like way that Mrs. Brown had sworn some terrible oaths at the housekeeper, which they repeated. While Mrs. Brown's fondness for talking is well known she has the reputation among her neighbors of being kind and good-natured and harmless in her language. The charge consequently raised a shout of objection from the Webster placeites, who nearly filled the court room.

Lawyer Swackhamer made a touching appeal for his client, picturing her as a much abused woman. The picture didn't touch the hearts of the audience, however, and Mrs. W. R. Mattox set the legal adviser right in plain and convincing language. Lawyer Swackamer flung out a challenge to the world to bring anything against the woman which was unexpectedly accepted by Roundsman Mattox, who also added some interesting statements concerning life on Webster place before and after the advent of Mrs. Schmidt. If she didn't leave, the officer said, he was going to sell his property.

Fernando Brown, husband of the complainant, was not in court when the trial began and Mrs. Schmidt's counsel declared that he came to the counsel's office and made certain threats and was now afraid to come. Toward the end of the trial Brown walked in and lively times between Brown and the prisoner's counsel seemed imminent.

After much excitement and many interruptions the Judge had a chance to say something. He found Mrs. Schmidt guilty and sentenced her to sixty days in jail. Mrs. Schmidt was uncomfortable and the Webster place delegation were a trifle astonished. The Judge qualified the sentence to the extent that he would suspend sentence during good behavior, but in case of more trouble caused by Mrs. Schmidt she would have to go to jail and serve out the sixty days.

Republican Clambake.

The North Plainfield Republican Club will give its clambake at Mountainside Grove tomorrow evening. The bake will begin at 7 o'clock. A large number of tickets have been disposed of and a big attendance is expected. Judge J. W. Lansing, of Lincoln, Nebraska, a fellowtownsman of the Democratic candidate, will address the guests. Speeches are also expected from Counsellor George Bruce and Lawyer Fred J. Pope. LaVere's band will be on hand and tender a long programme during the evening.

MAY NOT EXTRADITE.

Clause in Treaty With Italy May Result in the Slayer of Di Leggo Going Free.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Summit, September 11.—In examining the status of the case against Tony Roberts, the bootblack, who shot Thomas Di Leggo fatally in Summit in June, the Union county prosecutor's office has discovered a clause in the treaty with Italy which will probably prevent the extradition of Roberts, who is under arrest in Naples.

After the shooting Roberts escaped, and on the death of DiLeggo in a Newark hospital, Roberts fled to Italy in a freight steamer. He was arrested in the rounding-up of all suspicious characters that followed the murder of King Humbert, and is still a prisoner in Naples.

In attempting to decide on the question of sending an officer to Italy to bring Roberts back, Assistant Prosecutor English found that the treaty with Italy contained a clause under which a subject of Italy cannot be extradited from that country. Roberts never secured naturalization papers here, and can, therefore, appeal for protection under that clause. It has not been definitely settled whether to make the effort, despite this clause, but it is more than probable that Roberts will be permitted to remain in Italy unmolested.

SPARK STARTED FIRE.

GEORGE LELAND'S HOUSE DAMAGED TO EXTENT OF $500.

Flames Started on the Roof—Much of the Contents of the House Were Saved.

A spark from a passing locomotive dropped on the shingle roof of the home of George Leland, corner of New and West Second streets, early yesterday afternoon. A lively conflagration followed in which the top of the house was burned off and the interior of the upper floor damaged more or less. The loss is estimated at $500, which is covered by insurance.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland and their son were out of town at the time but there married daughters and families were stopping there. There were several children in the party. They all escaped at the first alarm and managed to save mnch of the contents of the house with the aid of the firemen. The spark evidently landed close to the chimney and smouldered away for some time. Finally it blazed away right merrily. The flames were first noticed by Miss Amanda Carman who turned in the alarm.

The alarm was sent in from box 46 at 2:30 o'clock, but the department had already been notified by telephone. By the time the firemen arrived, the top of the house was a mass of flames. The stream from the chemical engine was used inside the house while three other streams were turned on the fire from the outside. Inside of fifteen minutes the blaze was practically out.

A spark from the fire lodged on the shingle roof of the vacant house opposite, and much excitement was caused when it was discovered. It was quickly extinguished, the damage to the roof amounting to $10.

The house, where the fire was, was owned by George Leland. The loss to the building will be $400, and to the contents $100. Both losses were covered by insurance.

Morristown's Horse Show.

Progress is being made with the preliminary details of the Morristown Field Club Horse Show to be held at the Morristown Driving Park, October 11th, 12th and 13th, and in another week nearly all the arrangements will be completed. The event is creating marked interest not only in Morris, Essex, Somerset and Union counties, but among horse owners elsewhere and will result in attracting a notably fine display of horses and vehicles. This will assure exciting competition and a sight worth seeing. In addition to the equine features of this show it will also be prominent as a society event and replete with scenes familiar at the Horse Show in Madison Square Garden.

Tearing Down Old Bridge.

Contractor Farrier has begun the work of tearing down the old bridge over Green brook at Jeffersen avenue and replacing it with a new bridge. He has removed the old woodwork and is now tearing down the old abutments which will be replaced with new ones. The bridge will be an iron truss bridge. W. T. Kirk has the contract for the iron work.

Twins.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Carson, corner of Manning and Norwood avenues, was doubly blessed on Sunday last, when twin boys arrived to brighten the lives of their parents.

A COLORED PREACHER READ OUT OF CHURCH

He Had Been Called to Preside Over the Fillmore Baptist Church in This City

DID NOT DEFEND CHARGES.

NEW JERSEY CONFERENCE DECIDED HIS CASE YESTERDAY.

Wife Appeared to Declare That He Had Deserted Her—Also Accused of Wilfully Lieing and Using Influence Against Baptist Caues.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Newark, Sept. 11.—The regular meeting of the New Jersey Baptist conference of colored pastors was held yesterday afternoon at 336 Broad street, this city, at which time there were several charges preferred against Rev. W. H. McLean, who was recently called to the pastorate of the Fillmore Baptist church at Plainfield. The first charges were preferred by Rev. W. H. Howardton and Rev. E. Elliott, for wilfully lieing and for using his influence against the Baptist cause and especially against the church of which he was a pastor before called to the Fillmore Baptist church.

Mrs. McLean, wife of Rev. W. H. McLean, preferred charges against her husband for not living with her. She also charged alienation. The conference, after hearing the above named charges, asked Rev. Mr. Lean to attend and answer the charges. He refused to do so. He was then expelled and a copy of the charges were ordered sent to the Fillmore Baptist church by a committee three, namely, Rev. P. W. Ross, Westfield; Rev. E. Elliott, Newark, and Rev. W. A. Harris, Cranford.

Resolutions were adopted denouncing Rev. Mr. McLean as being unworthy as a Christian minister and pastor of the Christian church. It was also voted that a copy of the above action be published in the Plainfield papers.

Rev. Mr. McLean was called recently to the pastorate of the Fillmore Baptist church, and was to have been installed last week. For various reasons those who were to have installed him were not present and the service could not be held as arranged. The action taken at Newark yesterday will probably result in the members rescinding the call. Mr. McLean formerly preached at Madison before coming to Plainfield. It is said that he has had three charges in New Jersey during the last nine months.

EXCITING HORSE RACE.

"Nancy T." Easily Distanced by "Elizabeth D." on Fair Acres Race Course.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, September 11.—Over 500 people gathered at the new half-mile race course of the Fair Acres Driving Association yesterday afternoon to witness the match race between "Lizzie E," owned by Jacob Reuter, of Elizabeth, and "Nancy T," the property of John Taylor, of Roselle. The horses were to race for a purse of $400, and each of the owners agreed to forfeit $100 if for any reason his horse failed to start.

At the last minute Reuter refused to let his horse go as she had gone lame, but he refused to pay over the forfeit money to Taylor. A lengthy discussion arose while the large crowd that had gathered waited paitiently for the race. At last Reuter said he would substitute "Elizabeth B," a horse owned by Thomas Dunn. Taylor agreed although the Dunn horse was known to be much faster than "Nancy T." The profit money was then paid and another bet made.

Dr. J. G. Richardson, of Elizabeth; Jacob Meyer, of Newark; Rudolph Hensler, of Newark; Jerrie Dunn, of Elizabeth, and T. H. Smith, of Elizbeth, were chosen as judges and the horses were called to the post.

"Elizabeth D.," driven by John Stearns, was given the pole. "Nancy T." was driven by Taylor's son.

The horses got off well together, but the Dunn horse at once went to the front and led all the half opening such a gap that her driver had to pull her down to keep from giving "Nancy T." the flag. The time for the quarter was, 35; half, 1:10; mile, 2:28.

The second heat was a repetition of the first, and Taylor drew his horse. The time for this heat was: Quarter, 39; half, 1:10½; mile, 2:59½.

Between the heats "Ned Davis," owned by Mr. Smalley and driven by his young son, a boy not over ten years of age, went an exhibition mile in 2:35½.

ROAD BUILDING IN ESSEX

EIGHTEEN MILES OF GOOD ROADS BEING BUILT IN THAT COUNTY.

Two Cuts, Each Over Twenty Feet Deep, Are Being Made For Macadam Roads.

One of the wealthiest and most progressive counties of New Jersey is Essex. Particularly is this noticeable in the progress of "good roads" in that county. Union county has won for itself a reputation for its fine roadways which Essex envies and is fast equaling. There are at the present day eighteen miles of macadam road being built in Essex in which State aid has been obtained.

Essex county possesses a goodly number of steep grades, and many of them are right where the county authorities desire some of their best roads. When the State Commissioner of Roads, John I. Budd, refused to approve roads which contain steep grades, there was only one alternative and that was to cut down the grades to suit the requirements. The result is that Essex has now a name for itself for departing from the old method of following the contour of the ground and has graded the land to suit the road.

There are now two cuts just completed, one 23 feet deep and the other 20 feet deep, which are the largest excavations made in the State for any public thoroughfare. The old idea was that it was absolutely necessary to follow the lay of the land but as road engineering has grown, the old Roman plan of a level roads with cuts and embankments is coming into general use. It takes money to grade the land but the final results more than justify the expenditure.

The deepest of these cuts is on a new macadam road being built out Elizabeth avenue, from the Newark city line to the Union county line at Lyon's Farms. It is only a mile long but the excavation makes it more expensive than others of a greater length. It opens up a short cut to Newark from the southwestern part of Union county without the necessity of going to Elizabeth first. Plainfielders, by turning off below Cranford, will find it a much better route to Newark than the old one which led over the stone pavements at Elizabeth.

The demand for a good road from Newark to Lake Hopatcong led to the building of Bloomfield avenue, which is continued all the way to that popular summer resort. A second route to the same place is now being prepared and the connecting link from Pleasantdale to Swinefield Bridge, nearly five miles, is now being built. An inlet to this trunk road to the lake is being constructed from Northfield church northeast to Caldwell and will connect it with the south and western parts of Essex.

There are thousands of homes all through that section of Essex which are improved in value and an enjoyment to their owners by the construction of these good roads. The county authorities seem to appreciate that fact and are covering the county with a perfect network of roads. The farmers now see the advantage, and find roads where they were once unable to haul their produce over now easy to be traveled. The cutting down of the hills and the fine roadbeds are the direct agents in this great change of affairs.

Thousand Republicans Expected.

The clam-bake committee from the Union Country Republican Club met at Elizabeth last evening and perfected arrangements for the bake and outing to be held next Saturday at Gibson's Grove, between Rahway and Westfield. It is predicted that there will be fully one thousand persons present. All persons desiring tickets are urged to secure the same by tomorrow night so that the committee will know exactly how many will be present and to prepare for. Datta's brass band and orchestra will be present and discourse music and there will be good speaking.

Death of an Old Man.

George B. Clarke, aged eighty-eight years, died at the home of his son-in-law, Henry B. Herbert, of this city, last night. He was born in London, England. He was engaged in business on William street, in New York, for over thirty years. He retired from business in 1870. For many years he lived in Brooklyn. He is survived by two sons and four daughters.

WHILE JETER SLEPT BURGLARS WORKED

Took Clothes From Near the Bed and Stole $49 in Cash and a Gold Watch.

NO TRACE OF OFFENDERS.

SECOND TIME IN TWO YEARS BURGLARS VISITED THE HOUSE.

Entrance Obtained Through a Window Left Open—Cash Also Stolen From the Mantel in Parlor Which Was Entered.

For the second time within two years burglars entered the residence of Charles Jeter, a milkman, living on Belmont avenue, early this morning, and after making a rich haul left without leaving a clue to their identity. From the manner in which the burglary was committed, it is evident that the thieves were acquainted with the house.

Entrance was effected through a sitting room window which had been left unlocked. The door leading to Mr. Jeter's room was open and his clothes were placed on a chair a few feet from it. They contained $43 in money, a handsome gold watch and a number of checks. It was not necessary for the thief to enter the room as the clothes could be reached from the doorway. It is evident that this was done as a gold watch belonging to Mrs. Jeter laid on a bureau untouched. The clothes were taken downstairs and rifled of their contents. The burglar even took the trouble to detach a lead pencil from a case and take it. The checks and papers were found scattered on the floor. On the parlor mantel was a pocketbook belonging to Mrs. Jeter which contained $6. This was also taken. The socks and vest were also miseing but the rest of the clothes were found scattered about.

Mr. Jeter discovered his loss at 3 o'clock, which is his customary hour for rising. He immediately began a search about the premises but without finding any trace of the invaders. Just two years ago Mr. Jeter's family was awakened one morning by a burglar in the house and in his efforts to get away severely choked Miss Sallie Jeter so that she has never recovered from the shock. He also struck Mrs. Jeter in the face. The man was identified through a pair of shoes which he left behind and proved to be a Plainfield negro. He is now serving a twelve year sentence in the State Prison.

WILL NOT INTERFERE.

Advertising Scheme in Connection With the Public Library Not Approved of, However.

At the request of Mayor George W. Rockfellow, and Councilman John B. Dumont, President of the Council and of the Board of Trustees of the Public Library, C. S. Sauerland met with them last evening. Sauerland has been preparing to publish a pamphlet concerning the Library and has been securing advertisements to put in it. He applied to the Librarian and no notice of his intended publication was brought to the attention of the Board of Trustees. When it was learned that he was soliciting advertisements an investigation was started which resulted in the interview last evening. Mr. Sauerland's plans will not be interfered with although the Library directors do not favor such publications.

Fall Was Fatal.

G. J. Hartman, of Bound Brook, who fell sixty feet from a telephone pole on Main street, Somerville, striking his head on the curbstone, died at his home in Bound Brook Saturday. He was employed by the Home Telephone Company, of Bound Brook, and what he was doing on a pole of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company in Somerville is puzzling the officials of the latter company. After Hartman's head had been sewed up by the doctor he walked down the street and joked with people about the fall he had had, saying that this was the second accident he had met with in a week, and he expected the third would put him in a wooden box. He then took the trolley and went to his home. He did not seem to realize that his fall was a serious matter.

PRAISED SCHOOLS.

Board of Education Receive a Letter Complimenting the City on its Educational System.

With the exception of Mr. Lovell, all the members of the Board of Education were present at last evening's meeting, which was one of the shortest on record. The usual number of bills were ordered paid, after which a letter was read from Paul T. Norton, complimenting the Board upon the excellence of the city schools. Mr. Norton's firm secured the contract for coal this year, the delivering of which required his personal attention. It was during this time that he was enabled to inspect the schools, and the improvements and thorough manner in which they are equipped led him to compliment the Board upon their having such fine buildings. He also spoke highly of the janitors and their work.

The committee on teachers reported that Miss Harriet Baker declined to accept her appointment as teacher in the Bryant School, and recommended that Miss Matilda Dreisbach, of Oxford, N. Y., be appointed in her place, which was done. It was moved that the clerk prepare a set of resolutions extending the sympathy of the Board to Mrs. L. A. T. Page, upon the death of her daughter, Miss Clara Ticknor. The Board then went into executive session.

OBJECTS TO THE AWARD.

MRS. BRUNSON THINKS DAMAGES ALLOWED WERE TOO SMALL.

Her Property Was Condemned for the Use of the Trolley—Located at ElMora.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Newark, September 11.—After hearing argument yesterday Judge Swayze, in the Circuit Court, reserved his decision in an objection made by Sherrerd Depew to the award of damages upon the property of Mrs. Saran Brunson, who owns a house and lot near ElMora, in Union county. The property was wanted when the Riker-Hine trolley was opened from Elizabeth to Plainfield and commissioners were appointed to award damages. It has 156 feet front, is 47 feet wide, covers 216 feet on one side and 380 on the other. A fine residence is upon the grounds and as Mrs. Brunson was not satisfied with the award, testimony on appeal was taken and it was agreed to hear the argument before Judge Swayze in this county.

Mr. Depue had three distinct objections to make. The first was that the commissioners had erred in not taking the testimony either of the county officials or the property owners under oath. The second was that the commissioners erred in including under assessments for benefits that kind known as "general," while the third was that the award in this case was inadequate. The latter point the lawyer considered the most important and dwelt at length upon it.

Frank Bergen, of Elizabeth, and William R. Codington, of Plainfield, represented the opposing interests.

DROVE OVER THE HOSE.

Patrick Guinee Arrested by Order of Chief Doane—Reprimanded in Court.

During the fire on West Second street yesterday afternoon Patrick Guinee, who drives a delivery wagon for Theo. Zeller, a bottler, drove over the hose. Chief Doane, of the fire department, saw him do so and instructed Roundsman Mattox to place the man under arrest. He did so.

Guinee appeared before City Judge Runyon this morning and explained that he did not know there was any city ordinance against driving over the hose. The Judge explained that while the fire department officials did not wish to press the case they were anxious to have the fact impressed on the public that the city ordinance regarding the subject must be strictly obeyed. The Judge then suspended sentence.

Brownies in Fairyland.

"The Brownies in Fairyland" will be given in Stillman Music Hall Friday and Saturday, September 28th and 29th, with a matinee on Saturday, under the direction of Malcolm Douglas and Edith Pond. This play has been given hundreds of times in all of the big cities in this country and Canada, and has scored a remarkable hit. Palmer Cox's famous Brownie creations are known the world over and the work has been cleverly adapted and arranged for stage presentation. The people of Plainfield are exceedingly fortunate in having the opportunity of seeing this wonderful production, and they should lend every effort toward making it a further success.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT CITY SCHOOLS.

Enrollment at Opening of Public Schools This Morning Will Exceed Past Years.

AT THE HIGH SCHOOL.

HIGH SCHOOL IS CROWDED WITH PUPILS OF THAT DEPARTMENT.

School Began at Nine o'Clock and Morning Was Chiefly Devoted to Arranging Classes and Schedules—No Reports of Attendance Yet.

Great armies of children were on the march early this morning. Toward the school buildings all over the city their little feet were turned. School was resumed in the city public schools this morning after the long vacation. It didn't seem as if there were nearly as many children in Plainfield before. The fact is that the enrollment this year will exceed that of past years considerably. In the High School the crowding is particularly noticeable.

Nine o'clock was the hour set for assembling, but as it was the first day and old friendships were to be renewed and new ones made so most of the children went early. The teachers were busy, nearly to distraction, looking after the new ones and corralling the old pupils.

All the class rooms were crowded and down at the Lincoln school, on Berckman street, a new class room was opened to accommodate the throng. At present, any figures concerning the attendance in all the schools are impossible as no returns have yet been made to Superintendent Maxson. It is very evident, however, that there will be an increase over last year's figures. The number of new pupils is particularly large telling of the many new families which have moved into Plainfield recently.

The High School building is utterly inadequate to provide for all the pupils who come to that department. Heretofore it has been the custom to have all the High School pupils assemble in Assembly Hall every morning for devotional exercises. This morning Principal Travell found that by putting three in each seat, meant for two, and filling the side benches, there were still many who had to stand up. It is therefore planned to have all the High School assemble in the main hall only once a week and on the other days to hold the morning devotional exercises in the different class rooms.

The total enrollment at the High School this morning was 277. There are seven post graduates, the Misses Helen L. Brown, Edna Burr, Pauline Denton, Josephine Lapsley, Mary Lock, Emma Miller and Georgette Wolf. The enrollment in the five classes are as follows: Senior class, 22; Junior class, 38; Third class, 65; Fourth class, 100; Preparatory class, 45. The greatest gain is in the Fourth class which last year numbered seventy.

An addition has been made to the staff of instructors in the High School. Miss Anna H. Prescott, a graduate of Radcliffe College, will assist in the lower grades of that department.

Borough Schools Open.

The Borough public schools opened this morning and considering many inconveniences things are running quite satisfactory. All the classes are in operation with the exception of the kindergarten, and this will be opened Thursday. There is an increase in the attendance at both schools, but fortunately provisions are quite ample for all.

At the High School President McCutchen of the Board of Education was present and made a few remarks to the scholars. Remarks were also made by other members and Superintendent Wightman.

Work was started this morning on the manual training building and this will be completed in a short time. The other work in the building is progressing favorably and should be completed in a reasonably short time before real cold weather arrives.

Colored Republicans Organized.

The Southern Republican League met in Masonic Hall on West Front street last evening and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Sipio Whendalton, president; J. C. Connett, vice-president; Peter Goden, treasurer; Arthur S. Venable, secretary; William A. Kline, assistant secretary. Delegates to the State convention were also elected as follows: William H. Doughlas, A. S. Venable, Edward Maynard, Charles Shelton and D. W. Brown; alternates, Samuel Fields, Charles Barber, Albert Wilson, Jas. Walker and William Phillip.

Attorney W. R. Codington and family, of Sandford avenue, have returned from their country home at Millington.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Clark and Miss M. A. Kurtz, of West Front street, have returned home after spending the summer at Asbury Park.

Rev. E. E. Jackson, pastor of the Mt. Olive Baptist church, left this morning for Richmond, Va., where he will attend the annual convention of the National Baptist Association.

—Millions will be spent in politics this year. We can't keep the campaign going without money any more than we can keep the body vigorous without food. Dyspeptics used to starve themselves. Now Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and allows you to eat all the good food you want. It radically cures stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

Warren Brown, of West Fifth street, has about recovered from a recent illness.

Miss Clara Ward, of West Front street, has returned from a trip to Portland, Me.

Miss Johnson, of Norwalk, O., is visiting her aunt, Mrs. George F. Randolph, of West Front street.

A Night of Terror.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham, of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she would die from Pneumonia before morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night, "but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, which had more than once saved her life, and cured her of Consumption. After taking, she slept all night. Further use entirely cured her." This marvellous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

Mrs. C. H. French, of Watchung avenue, has gone to Asbury Park for a short stay.

Mrs. Henry Miller, of Putnam avenue, is home from her summer outing at Asbury Park.

—The wolf in the fable put on sheep's clothing because if he traveled on his own reputation he couldn't accomplish his purpose. Counterfeiters of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve couldn't sell their worthless salves on their merits, so they put them in boxes and wrappers like DeWitt's. Look out for them. Take only DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It cures piles and all skin diseases. L. W. Randolph.

Rev. Garrett Conover, of Nyack-on-the-Hudson, who is spending a part of his vacation at the home of Mrs. J. K. VanArsdale, of Grove street, preached at Clinton, N. J., Sunday.

Rev. Dr. Wilson, of North Carolina, is stopping at Mrs. West's on Crescent avenue. Dr. Wilson is the father of Woodron Wilson, professor at Princeton University. He is an intimate friend of Rev. Dr. Yerkes, with whom he has spent a part of the summer.

SO DECEPTIVE.

Many Plainfield People Fail to Realize the Seriousness.

Backache is so deceptive

It comes and goes, keeps you guessing.

Learn the cause, then cure it.

Nine times out of ten it comes from the kidneys.

That's why Doan's Kidney Pills cure it.

Cure every kidney ill from back troubles to diabetes.

Here's a Plainfield case to prove it:

Mr. Geo. S. McGinnis, of No. 212 Somerset street, foreman of R. H. McCullough's Sash and Door Mfg Co., says:—"I never was sick a day in my life until a pain struck me across my back and a lameness over the kidneys. I did not pay much attention to it at first, thinking it would pass away, but instead of this it grew worse. A bladder trouble set in. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills so highly recommended by those who had used them for such troubles that I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. I used them according to instructions and felt somewhat relieved. Continuing the treatment by the time I had finished the third box, the pain in my back and lameness disappeared."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo N. Y., sole agents for the U.S. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

BRYAN SPEAKS TWICE.

Democratic Candidate Does a Big Day's Work in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—William J. Bryan told two Chicago audiences why he thought he should be elected president of the United States. The first speech was made at a reception arranged at the Sherman House by the Nebraska Bryan club of Chicago. The second was at the University of Chicago, where, in Kent theater, he addressed an audience consisting of more than 1,000 people, mostly women. More than half the students were women, and scattered among the auditors were Japanese and Indians who applauded no less enthusiastically than did the American students. In point of numbers the club reception was an incident, not more than 300 persons greeting the candidate, but all were former residents of Nebraska and gave Colonel Bryan assurance of their best wishes of success.

Kent theater was crowded long before Colonel Bryan arrived, and when he strode upon the stage he was greeted with the college yell revised to include, "And for Billy Bryan and Billy McKinley and Billy Harper too." This yell brought a smile to President Harper's face, and the head of the university rose and shook hands with his guest, who had been escorted from his hotel by Roy McCaskill, president of the senior students' council, and D. R. Richberg of the same council.

The speaker was presented by Mr. McCaskill. With brief preliminary introductory remarks Colonel Bryan began an attack upon the present form of government, assailed trusts, the single money standard, bank notes, a large standing army and imperialism. He was interrupted by auditors who asked questions only twice. One man, when the speaker, talking of the disposition of the Philippines, inveighed against a system which would permit one class ruling another, asked, "How about the situation in North Carolina?"

Instantly the speaker replied, "Let the race question which has brought us so much trouble be a warning to you not to bring another race question into this country, and we do not have to go to North Carolina, either, for we have had it right here in Illinois and in Ohio."

At the conclusion of the speech Colonel Bryan was driven to the library, where an informal reception was held.

Rains Help Yellow Jack In Cuba.

HAVANA, Sept. 11.—General Maximo Gomez and Senor Salvador Cisneros y Betancourt have been in frequent consultation since the latter's return from the United States, and it is understood that the object of their conferences is to convert General Gomez from a lethargic to an aggressive attitude. Havana will consider the advisability of a quarantine against Vera Cruz, where the mortality from yellow fever is 60 per cent of the persons attacked. The disease here is not markedly on the increase, but the recent heavy rains are conducive to its spread. All the United States troops have been removed from La Cabanas to Triscornia Campa. The customs receipts at the port of Havana last Saturday were $74,500.

A M'KINLEY WEDDING

The President's Niece Honored by Notable Gathering.

PRESIDENTIAL CARRIAGE COLLIDES.

Hotels In Somerset Will Be Filled to Overflowing Until Marriage Ceremony Takes Place—Many Presents Already Received.

SOMERSET, Pa., Sept. 11.—The president and party have arrived here over the Baltimore and Ohio road to be present at the wedding of Miss Mabel McKinley, the president's niece, and Dr. Hermanus L. Baer. In the party were President and Mrs. McKinley, Mrs. Katherine Matthews of Washington, sister of Mrs. Abner McKinley; Secretary to the President G. B. Cortelyou, Dr. P. M. Rixey, medical inspector of the navy and the president's physician, and A. J. Leonard and N. P. Weaver, stenographers, S. B. Hage, general agent of the Baltimore and Ohio passenger department, was in charge of the train.

The presidential party was met at the Somerset station by Mr. and Mrs. Abner McKinley and Dr. Hermanus L. Baer, the groom. A shout went up from the assembled crowd as Mr. and Mrs. McKinley made their appearance on the platform of the rear coach and descended the car steps. The president and Mrs. McKinley bowed their acknowledgments. President McKinley looked to be in unusually good health. It was announced that the president would devote his time to absolute rest while here.

Just as the carriage bearing President and Mrs. McKinley was leaving the station the wheels of the vehicle caught the wheels of another carriage that happened to be unoccupied and almost upset it. There was a cracking noise as if something was breaking, but aside from giving the occupants of the president's carriage a fright no serious damage was done. The incident created considerable excitement for a few moments.

President and Mrs. McKinley and Mrs. Katherine Matthews were, upon their arrival, driven at once to Abner McKinley's home. Upon arrival there a telegram from the governor of Texas was handed to the president. It was dated at Austin and was in reply to the message dispatched to the governor by the president yesterday morning from Washington. It was as follows:

"To the President:

"Very many thanks for your telegram. Your action will be greatly appreciated and gratefully remembered by the people of Texas."

President and Mrs. McKinley's present to the bride is a highly polished quarter oak chest with silver mountings filled with magnificent table silver, including everything that Mr. and Mrs. Baer will need in the way of spoons, forks, knives, carvers and off pieces during their lives. The plate on top of the chest bears the following inscription: "From Uncle William and Aunt Ida, Sept. 12, 1900."

People who did not have the foresight to engage rooms at the hotels here in advance will have difficulty upon arriving here in procuring quarters. The hotels are small and few in number, and the rooms have all been engaged a week ahead of time.

M'KINLEY TALKS BRIEFLY.

En Route to His Niece's Wedding. He Makes a Speech.

CUMBERLAND, Md., Sept. 11.—President McKinley was given an ovation here and after repeated calls went on the platform of his special car and spoke briefly to a large crowd which had congregated upon the announcement that he would pass through the city on a regular Baltimore and Ohio train. The president and party were en route to Somerset, Pa., to attend the wedding of Miss Mabel McKinley, the president's niece. The president spoke as follows:

"My fellow citizens, I assure you that this call is very much unexpected by me. I had no idea that so many of my fellow citizens of Cumberland would assemble here to give me such a cordial greeting in the few brief moments that I stopped with you. I am glad to know that no matter what may be our politics in this country we are all for the United States and all for the dear old flag wherever it floats and determined, men of the north and men of the south, to stand by the brave soldiers and sailors who are maintaining our standard in the distant territory belonging to the United States. I thank you once again for this more than generous greeting and bid you all good-by."

Mrs. Bowers Dies In Canada.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Sept. 11.—Charles B. Bowers has received the following telegram from Bath, Ont., signed by Eugene G. Denne: "Your wife is dead, sir. You villain." Mrs. Bowers formerly resided with her husband here. Some weeks ago she tried to commit suicide by inhaling gas. She was taken to the hospital, and after recovering partially she went to Canada, as Mr. Bowers locked her out of his house. She died from the effects of the gas. The sender of the message is a nephew of the deceased. Mr. Bowers said that he would have attended the funeral but for the insulting telegram. Mr. and Mrs. Bowers once separated legally, but afterward remarried.

Sons of Veterans' Encampment.

SYRACUSE, Sept. 11.—Delegates have been arriving here from all sections of the country to attend the nineteenth annual national encampment of the Sons of Veterans, which opens here. The national officers have arrived and were met by a large delegation of the local members of the order. The Iowa and Maryland divisions have arrived and are each working hard to secure the national university which is to be established by the Sons of Veterans and which will cost $2,000,000. Mason City, Ia., and Washington are the two cities for which these divisions are working.

American Yachtsmen Challenged.

MONTREAL, Sept. 11.—A challenge by cable has been received from Great Britain for the Seawanhaka cup, and a challenge in due form is under way by mail. It is expected that the meeting called to decide which challenge to accept will be adjourned to await the challenge from across the waters which is sent through The Yachtsman by Mr. Lone Currie and is backed up by the Island Sailing club. A challenge from the White Bear club of St. Paul had been received previous to this one.

CORPSES LINE GALVESTON'S STREETS

The City Is Still Flooded—Vessels Blown Far Beyond High Water Mark—Whole Families Are Wiped Out of Existence.

HOUSTON, Sept. 11.—Richard Spillane, a well known Galveston newspaper man, who reached Houston after a terrible experience, gives the following account of the disaster at Galveston:

"The city is in ruins, and the dead will number probably 5,000. I am just from the city, having been commissioned by the mayor and citizens' committee to get in touch with the outside world and appeal for help. Houston was the nearest point at which working telegraph instruments could be found, the wires as well as nearly all the buildings between here and the gulf of Mexico being wrecked.

"When I left Galveston, the people were organizing for the prompt burial of the dead, distribution of food and all necessary work after a period of disaster.

"The wreck of Galveston was brought about by a tempest so terrible that no words can adequately describe its intensity and by a flood which turned the city into a raging sea. The weather bureau records show that the wind attained a velocity of 84 miles an hour when the measuring instrument blew away, so it is impossible to tell what was the maximum. The storm began at 2 o'clock Saturday morning. Previous to that a great storm had been raging in the gulf, and the tide was very high. The wind at first came from the north and was in direct opposition to the force from the gulf. While the storm in the gulf piled the water up on the beach side of the city the north wind piled the water from the bay on to the bay part of the city.

"About noon it became evident that the city was going to be visited with disaster. Hundreds of residences along the beach front were hurriedly abandoned, the families fleeing to dwellings in higher portions of the city. Every home was opened to the refugees, black or white. The winds were rising constantly, and it rained in torrents. The wind was so fierce that the rain cut like a knife.

"By 3 o'clock the waters of the bay and gulf met, and by dark the entire city was submerged. The flooding of the electric light plant and the gas plants left the city in darkness. To go upon the streets was to court death. The wind was then at cyclonic velocity, roofs, cisterns, portions of buildings, telegraph poles and walls were falling, and the noise of the wind and the crashing of the buildings were terrifying in the extreme. The wind and waters rose steadily from dark until 1:45 o'clock Sunday morning. During all this time the people of Galveston were like rats in traps. The highest portion of the city was four to five feet under water, while in the great majority of cases the streets were submerged to a depth of ten feet. To leave a house was to drown. To remain was to court death in the wreckage. Such a night of agony has seldom been equaled. Without apparent reason the waters suddenly began to subside at 1:45 a. m. Within 20 minutes they had gone down two feet, and before daylight the streets were practically freed of the flood waters. In the meantime the wind had veered to the southeast.

"Very few if any buildings escaped injury. There is hardly a habitable dry house in the city. When the people who had escaped death went out at daylight to view the work of the tempest and the floods, they saw the most horrible sights imaginable. In the three blocks from Avenue N to Avenue P in Tremont street I saw eight bodies. Four corpses were in one yard.

"The whole of the business front for three blocks in from the gulf was stripped of every vestige of habitation, the dwellings, the great bathing establishments, the Olympia and every structure having been either carried out to sea or its ruins piled in a pyramid far into the town, according to the vagaries of the tempest.

"The first hurried glance over the city showed that the largest structures, supposed to be the most substantially built, suffered the greatest.

"The Orphans' home, Twenty-first street and Avenue M, fell like a house of cards. How many dead children and refugees are in the ruins could not be ascertained.

"Of the sick in St. Mary's infirmary, together with the attendants, only eight are understood to have been saved.

The Old Woman's home, on Rosenberg avenue, collapsed, and the Rosenberg schoolhouse is a mass of wreckage. The Ball high school is but an empty shell, crushed and broken. Every church in the city, with possibly one or two exceptions, is in ruins.

"At the forts nearly all the soldiers are reported dead, they having been in temporary quarters which gave them no protection against the tempest or the flood.

"No report has been received from the Catholic Orphan asylum down the island, but it seems impossible that it could have withstood the hurricane. If it fell, all the inmates were no doubt lost, for there was no aid within a mile.

"The bay front from end to end is in ruins. Nothing but piling and the wreck of great warehouses remain. The elevators lost all their superworks, and their stocks are damaged by water.

"The life saving station at Fort Point was carried away, the crew being swept across the bay 14 miles to Texas City.

"I saw Captain Haines, and he told me that his wife and one of his crew were drowned.

"The shore at Texas City contains enough wreckage to rebuild a city. Eight persons who were swept across the bay during the storm were picked up there alive. Five corpses were also picked up. There were three fatalities in Texas City. In addition to the living and the dead which the storm cast up at Texas City caskets and coffins from one of the cemeteries at Galveston were being fished out of the water there.

"In the business portion of the city two large brick buildings, one occupied by Knapp Bros. and the other by the Cotton Exchange saloon, collapsed. In the Cotton Exchange saloon there were about 15 persons. Most of them escaped.

"How many more corpses there are will not be known until the search is finished.

"The cotton mills, the bagging factory, the gas works, the electric light works and nearly all the industrial establishments of the city are either wrecked or crippled. The flood left slime about one inch deep over the whole city, and unless fast progress is made in burying corpses and carcasses of animals there is danger of pestilence.

"Some of the stories of the escapes are miraculous. William Nisbett, a cotton man, was buried in the ruins of the Cotton Exchange saloon, and when dug out in the morning had no further injury than a few bruised fingers.

"Dr. S. O. Young, secretary of the Cotton Exchange, was knocked senseless when his house collapsed, but was revived by the water and was carried ten blocks by the hurricane.

"A woman who had just given birth to a child was carried from her home to a house a block distant, the men who were carrying her having to hold her high above their heads, as the water was five feet when she was moved.

"Many stories were current of houses falling and inmates escaping. Clarence N. Ousley, editor of The Evening Tribune, had his family and the families of two neighbors in his house, when the lower half crumbled and the upper part slipped down into the water. Not one in the house was hurt.

"Of the Lavine family six out of seven are reported dead. Of the Burnett family only one is known to have been saved. The family of Stanley G. Spencer, who met death in the Cotton Exchange saloon, is reported to be dead.

"The Mistrot House, in the west end, was turned into a hospital. All of the regular hospitals of the city were unavailable. Of the new Southern Pacific works little remains but the piling. Half a million feet of lumber was carried away, and Engineer Roschke says as far as the company is concerned it might as well start over again.

"Eight ocean steamers were torn from their moorings and stranded in the bay. The Kendall Castle was carried over the flats, Thirty-third street wharf to Texas City, and lies in the wreckage of the Inman pier. The Norwegian steamer Gyller is stranded between Texas City and Virginia Point. An ocean liner was swirled around through the West bay, crashed through the bay bridges and is now lying in a few feet of water near the wreckage of the railroad bridges. The steamship Taunton was carried across Pelican point and is stranded about ten miles up the East bay. The Mallory steamer Alamo was torn from her wharf and dashed upon Pelican flats and against the bow of the British steamer Red Cross, which had previously been hurled there. The stern of the Alamo is stove in, and the bow of the Red Cross is crushed.

"Down the channel to the jetties two other ocean steamships lie grounded. Some schooners, barges and smaller craft are strewn bottom side up along the slips of the piers. The tug Louise of the Houston Direct Navigation company is a wreck. It will take a week to tabulate the dead and the missing and to get anything near an approximate idea of the monetary loss. It is safe to assume that one-half of the property of the city is wiped out and that one-half of the residents have to face absolute poverty."

GALVESTON ASKS AID.

President McKinley Petitioned For Food and Money.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—The following telegrams have passed between the White House and the Texan storm region:

Houston, Sept. 10.

William McKinley, President of the United States, Washington:

I have been deputized by the mayor and citizens' committee of Galveston to inform you that the city of Galveston is in ruins and certainly many hundreds if not a thousand are dead. The tragedy is one of the most frightful in recent times. Help must be given by the state and nation or the suffering will be appalling. Food, clothing and money will be needed at once. The whole south side of the city for three blocks in front of the gulf is swept clear of every building, the whole wharf front is a wreck, and but few houses in the city are really habitable. The water supply is cut off and the food stock damaged by salt water. All bridges are washed away, and stranded steamers litter the bay. When I left, the search for bodies had begun. Corpses were everywhere. The tempest blew 84 miles an hour and then carried the government instruments away. At the same time the waters of the gulf were over the whole city, having risen 12 feet. Water has now subsided, and the survivors are left helpless among the wreckage, cut off from the world except by boat. RICHARD SPILLANE.

Washington, Sept. 10.

Hon. J. D. Sayers, Governor of Texas, Austin:

The reports of the great calamity which has befallen Galveston and other points on the coast of Texas excite my profound sympathy for the sufferers, as they will stir the hearts of the whole country. Whatever help it is possible to give shall be gladly extended. Have directed the secretary of war to supply rations and tents upon your request.

WILLIAM M'KINLEY.

Austin, Sept. 10.

The President, Washington:

Very many thanks for your telegram. Your action will be greatly appreciated and gratefully remembered by the people of Texas. I have requested the secretary of war to forward rations and tents to Galveston.

JOSEPH D. SAYERS,
Governor of Texas.

Denniston Case Transferred.

ALBANY, Sept. 11.—The case of Edward M. Denniston, the former index clerk of the assembly, indicted on the charge of complicity in the fraudulent changes in the Rochester school bill, has been transferred from the county court to the supreme court. The change was made principally because Judge Gregory did not desire to try the case, as he presided during the investigation and acted as committing magistrate.

Railroad Men Confer.

UTICA, N. Y., Sept. 11.—A conference of railroad men has been held in this city. The objects of the conference are kept secret, but it is understood that the gathering consisted of delegates from four organizations and that it is the intention to federate engineers, firemen, trainmen and conductors, making a state federation of railroad employees.

Thrown From Wheel, Badly Hurt.

UTICA, N. Y., Sept. 11.—Miss Alice Pardee, aged 17, of Oneida, was thrown from her wheel while coasting down a hill, and every limb in her body was paralyzed. She suffered a hemorrhage of the brain, and there are slight chances for her recovery.

AUSTIN CONFESSES.

The Stormville Farmer Admits Killing Charles Brower.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Sept. 11.—Peter Austin, the farmer of Stormville who has been in jail since Friday on suspicion of having killed Charles Brower, his farm hand, 14 years ago, has confessed that he killed Brower, but says that he did so in self defense.

The crime was brought to light through the finding of a skeleton in a well on a farm formerly occupied by Austin which was identified as the remains of Brower by a shin bone which was known to have been broken and not properly set.

Austin stoutly protested his innocence until yesterday afternoon, when his wife was induced by District Attorney Wood to go before the grand jury and tell what she knew of the murder. When Austin was informed of this and heard his wife repeat her story, he broke down and confessed.

"We milked the cows, put the cans in the wagon and started for home. Brower being on the seat with me. All of a sudden he pulled out a knife and stabbed me in the leg, saying, 'Now, blame you, you've been sick and I can handle you.' At that he stabbed me again. I caught hold of him, and we fell out of the wagon together. He struck me a third time, and I hit him with all my might. He fell over backward and must have struck his head on a stone, for he was laying perfectly still. Then I hurried home."

OUR NEW BATTLESHIPS.

Two of the Fleet Are Finished and Others Nearing Completion.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Two of the six new first class battleships are practically completed, and another one is fast nearing that stage, according to a statement issued by the bureau of construction and repair, navy department. The Alabama, which recently had her initial trial, is set down as 99 per cent completed, and the Wisconsin, which is scheduled to make her trial run on the Pacific coast the latter part of this month, is stated to be 96 per cent completed. The Illinois, which will be the next of the big warships to be launched, is building at Newport News and stands at 85 per cent.

Work on four of the sheathed protected cruisers has barely begun, and the other two, the Denver and the Cleveland, stand at 24 and 15 per cent respectively. The four monitors are each about half completed. Of the torpedo boat destroyers the Lawrence and the MacDonough are nearest completion, standing at 97 and 95 per cent respectively.

Eight of the new torpedo boats are nearly finished, the Goldsborough at 99 per cent, the Stringham at 98 per cent and the Bailey, the Stockton and the Barney at 96 per cent, the Blakely and De Long at 92 per cent and the Shubrick at 90 per cent respectively. The submarine torpedo boat Plunger, building by the Trigg company, stands at 85 per cent.

General Wheeler Retired.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—A formal order has been issued by the war department announcing the retirement of Brigadier General Joseph Wheeler, who has reached the age limit of 64 years. General Wade, commanding the department of Dakota, was directed to take charge of the affairs of the department of the lakes until the department commander arrives. It is expected that General Otis will go to Chicago about Oct. 1 to assume command. President McKinley did not make any appointment to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of General Wheeler, but it is probable that the recommendation of General Chaffee that Colonel Daggett be appointed and retired will be carried out. It is also probable that General Theodore Schwan, colonel in the adjutant general's department and brigadier general of volunteers, will be appointed brigadier general in the regular army and retired. This will leave a vacancy for General Chaffee, whose regular rank is colonel of cavalry

Concessions Will Avert Strike.

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—"Unless some concessions are made by the operators in the anthracite coal region in a few days I do not see how it will be possible to avoid a general strike," says John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers of America. "Negotiations, the nature of which I do not care to discuss at present, are pending, and there is a possibility of a strike being averted, but it is slight. The men are becoming very restless and uneasy, and the strike order cannot be delayed more than a few days. I shall return to the office in Indianapolis, and the order will be sent out from there. But we have not decided yet on what day it will be issued. We are anxious to avoid a strike, as we are fully aware of the seriousness of such a step, but some of the abuses to which the men have been subjected must be remedied or a strike is the natural and inevitable outcome."

Influenza Rampant on Alaska Coast.

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 11.—The steamer Danube has reached here with over $500,000 in Klondike gold. The wharf at Dyea, on which was 30,000 feet of lumber, has been burned. Victor Gilmore, who was arrested at Skaguay a year ago on a charge of smuggling diamonds, has been released and the stones returned to him, as the charge was not proved. Influenza is playing havoc with the Indians of the west coast of Alaska.

WILL LEAVE CHINA.

Looks Now as if American Troops May Come Home.

WILL ENGLAND AND GERMANY REMAIN?

Not Known In Diplomatic Circles Whether Russia's Note Relative to Evacuation Has Been Responded To—Our Policy.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—The developments in the Chinese situation point to a speedy withdrawal of the United States troops from China. General Chaffee has added the weight of his opinion to that already entertained by many officials here. It probably is significant that the general's statement on this point was given publicity by the administration.

No confirmation is at hand here of the report that Great Britain and Germany have joined in an agreement to remain together in Peking regardless of the attitude of the other powers. Should this be true the fact doubtless would hasten the rearward movement of the American troops, for there is a firm determination to avoid becoming involved in any clash between the powers, such as might reasonably be expected to follow the execution of this reported British-German programme.

If there have been further responses to the Russian note relative to evacuation, their purport cannot be ascertained. This delay no longer interferes with the execution of the American policy. The state department has a reasonably accurate understanding of the attitude of even those powers that have not made formal responses to the Russian note, so that the mere written record of their views is not of importance.

The part of the problem relative to withdrawal that remains unsolved is the best means of securing guarantees for the attainment of the few objects set out in Secretary Hay's note of July 3, which have not yet been secured. Possible guarantees must be obtained from two sides—from the Chinese government as to the security of American treaty rights and the creation of a claims commission, which shall provide for the payment of indemnity for the losses suffered by American citizens and for the expenditures on account of the Peking relief expedition. Then it is entirely possible that it may be regarded as necessary if any of the allies refuse to leave Peking and persist in a war of conquest that the interests of the United States in the matter of trade, of the "open door" and of all rights now guaranteed to us in China by treaty be made a matter of special agreement between the United States and these warring powers. It does not follow that because the United States troops are to be withdrawn this autumn from China that our interests will be left completely at the mercy of the other powers. On the contrary, such disposition will be made of these troops that they, with others if necessary, can be returned to China in short order. To this end the entire army of General Chaffee will be quartered in some of the pleasantest and most salubrious portions of the Philippines. If they are wanted again in China, they can be transported inside of a week, thoroughly refreshed and fitted for effective action.

Maine's Election.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 11.—Returns from 200 towns and plantations out of 512 districts give Hill (Rep.) 43,734 and Lord (Dem.) 24,167. The same places four years ago gave Powers (Rep.) 48,762 and Frank (Dem.) 19,430. This shows a Republican loss of 11 per cent and a Democratic gain of 20 per cent. On this basis it is estimated that the Republican plurality this year will be about 32,291. The Republican state ticket was elected with all four congressmen and a great majority of the legislature. There was every incentive for voting. The campaign had been a spirited one, but the vote was not quite as heavy as in 1896, but exceeded that of the 1898 election by many thousands, and the managers of both parties when the returns from different towns came in felt that they were fully repaid for their strenuous efforts of the past four weeks.

The Democratic Convention.

SARATOGA, Sept. 11.—John B. Stanchfield of Elmira will be the Croker-Murphy-Shevlin candidate for governor. This decision was arrived at after a conference at which Frank Campbell, representing David B. Hill, was present and after Mr. Campbell on behalf of Mr. Hill refused the offer of those in power to name a candidate other than Bird S. Coler. Mr. Croker will not declare in favor of Mr. Stanchfield until today, when it is believed that Senator Mackey will have been induced to accept the nomination for lieutenant governor. The outcome of the conference leaves little doubt of Hill's intention to fight to a finish. In fact the more conservative thinkers say he could not consistently pursue any other course in the circumstances.

Funeral of Thompson Kingsford.

OSWEGO, N. Y., Sept. 11.—The funeral of Thompson Kingsford, the millionaire starch manufacturer, was held here and was attended by thousands of citizens. Business was suspended, and the body was viewed by immense throngs at the family home. Services were held in West Baptist church, which was founded by Mr. Kingsford.

California Commission Celebrates.

PARIS, Sept. 11.—The members of the California commission celebrated the admission of California in September, 1850, into the American Union by giving a promenade concert and ball at the United States national pavilion. The decorations were beautiful, and the company was very large.

New York Burglar Sentenced.

OSWEGO, N. Y., Sept. 11.—John Alton, charged with 20 burglaries, pleaded guilty in the county court to two indictments and was sentenced to Auburn prison for seven years. Alton operated in Oswego, Cayuga, Wayne and Monroe counties.

Postmasters Appointed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—The following fourth class postmasters have been appointed for Pennsylvania: Faunce, Joseph B. Dickey; Foreman, Rebecca H. Miller; Gratonia, Marybe Barry; Lopez, Bishop W. Jennings.

Congressional Representation.

The ratio of representation in the House of Representatives is now fixed at one member for every 175,901 inhabitants. Under this apportionment New Jersey is divided into eight Congressional districts, with population, as follows:

First district	198,195
Second district	185,316
Third district	159,193
Fourth district	154,739
Fifth district	198,642
Sixth district	188,964
Seventh district	308,223
Eighth district	125,793

After the census returns are completed and officially brought to the attention of Congress, it is thought that the ratio may be increased to 200,000. Allowing for an increase of 400,000 in the population of the State since 1890, this new apportionment will probably give New Jersey ten Congressmen. This will be brought about by the division of the Seventh, taking in most of Hudson county, and the Fifth, comprising the city of Newark, and making two districts where one now exists because of the great increase in the population in those bailiwicks.

These are the days when the golf player is in his glory. During the extreme heat of the summer, it takes quite a robust person to tramp under the burning sun hour after hour but now that the days are growing cool and the very air seems full of enery and life, there are few indeed who do not enjoy the tramp over the links. Plainfield has been baseball wild, bicycle mad and enthusiastic over many other sports, but now golf reigns. While it is, perhaps, a more expensive sport than many others, it can be played moderately and without a great deal of cost. While many of the younger generation prefer something more active, it is the older men who find in golf a delightful combination of recreation and heathful exercise. For those who have been shut in the dingy confines of an office all the week, the pleasure of wandering over the green turf of the golf links can hardly be appreciated by those who are not so situated.

As a practical test of the theory of commercial co-operation the plan of the citizens of Paterson to purchase the Rogers' Locomotive Works, providing it is carried out, would be a valuable example to demonstrate whether or not so much theorizing on this subject is worth the serious consideration of plain, every day business men. In this particular case the enterprise would be undertaken purely as a business venture and not simply as a means of exploiting an idea, and in this way would be given an entirely competent test. It would assist in determining, more completely than has yet been determined, how successful an entire community, and one of considerable size and varied interests, might hope to be in such an undertaking, amounting practically to municipal ownership of the business.

The Philadelphia Record observes that while Mr. Bryan is swinging his arms like flails in campaign oratory and Governor Roosevelt is charging up San Juan Hill before Republican audiences, it must not be thought that the Prohibition campaign languishes. In fact, it is humming. At Trenton the Rev. John Turner, of that party, declared that Attorney General Griggs "is a monster and without charactor," and that President McKinley "never lets a banquet pass without sticking his nose in a wineglass." When the Populists shall have aroused themselves the process of choosing a President will be in full operation.

It is a matter for pride in New Jersey that in the reports of the census returns given out for cities in this State thus far the commonwealth has shown wonderful growth. Bayonne and Atlantic City show the highest per centage of increase in the last ten years of any of the cities whose population has been announced.

Take your choice. There are now twelve Presidential tickets in the field—Democratic, Republican, Socialist Labor, Social Democracy, United Christian, People's Party, Middle-of-the-Road, DeLeon Socialist, Prohibition, Silver Republican, National Party, Union Reform.

The largest plurality on the popular vote for a Presidential candidate was in 1872, when President Grant, running for re-election, had 760,000. For his first term he had 305,000. Mr. McKinley's plurality in 1896 was 600,000.

In face of its filling nine columns of newspaper space, the Newark News refers to Mr. McKinley's letter of acceptance as "The President's Brief." Just where the brevity comes in does not appear.

Former Judge Conover, of Freehold, is mentioned as a possible candidate of the Democrats for Congress in the Third district.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Hereafter Barry Post, G. A. R., of Rahway, upon the death of any of its members, will present to the family a flag to be used at the funeral services, and kept by the family afterward. To the border of the flag will be attached a piece of silk, with the name of the post and its number neatly printed thereon, with the name of the deceased comrade written in a blank for that purpose. This will take the place of the usual wreath. The idea is the suggestion of Chaplain John W. Martin, of the post.

Jacob Kirkner, of West Eight street, is building a new observatory in the rear of his property. He has had one for several years but it was not commodious enough. His valuable telescope will be placed on a new stand equipped with the most improved clock-work for following the course of the stars. Dr. Waldo, of Stelle avenue, is very much interested in the study of astronomy and he and Mr. Kirkner expect to scan the heavens together this fall and winter. The new observatory contains a lounging room together with other apparatus beside the telescope.

Away from the turnpike between Somerville and Plainfield, over in the Watchung hills, there are no real macadam roads. Crushed stone has been used to more or less extent on some of the principal thoroughfares, but only in the most primitive way. The roads through that section of the hills are at their best just at present, however, and many of them are in fair condition for driving. Lovers of pretty drives will find many beautiful spots all through that section. There are hills, of course, many of them, and a good stout horse is required, but the fine views to be obtained are well worth the trouble in driving over. The Chimney Rock Notch is one of the most picturesque spots for miles around and these moonlight evenings is particularly beautiful.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN:

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, Sept. 11—For the past few weeks Recorder Warden has been receiving complaints about the conduct of the young men who congregate on the Washington avenue bridge, Sunday nights. They act is a very disorderly manner and at times ladies have been so grossly insulted that they are afraid to pass the spot. The recorder is determined to break up the practice and has already notified the parents of a number of the young men that a continuance of their misconduct will result in arrest.

Mrs. Nancy Thomas and family, who have been spending the summer at Asbury Park, will return home this week. Theodore Baron and family, who have been occupying their residence, will return to New York Thursday.

A valuable ring containing four rubies and three pearls was lost yesterday by a borough lady while on the way to Plainfield. A suitable reward will be paid to the finder upon its return to the postoffice.

Mrs. Catherine Maier returned home yesterday from Beaville, where she has been spending a week with her daughter, Mrs. William Conley.

A slight improvement was noticed in the condition of Alfred Cottrelly yesterday, and Dr. Brakeley now has hopes of his ultimate recovery.

Miss Minnie Eder, of New York, who has been spending the summer with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Maier, returned home yesterday.

A sum of money was found in the borough yesterday, which the owner can have by applying at the postoffice and proving property.

George Day will go to Atlantic City tomorrow to attend the annual convention of the State Firemen's Relief Association.

Mrs. R. L. Fisher and family have returned home to Newark after spending the summer at Prospect Villa.

Miss Kittie Dineen has so far recovered from her recent illness as to be able to go out again.

Fred Stilger, James McMahon and Thomas Heller left last night for a few days' stay at Scranton.

Miss Frances Hayes returned home yesterday after a few days stay with relatives in Brooklyn.

John Heil and Miss Martha Sirisky, of Raritan, spent Sunday with relatives in the borough.

Miss Maude Wilcox is spending a few days with her aunt, Mrs. Charles Vail, of Plainfield.

Rev. Mr. Sprowl, of Englishtown, will occupy the Presbyterian pulpit Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tynan, of Cincinnati, O., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Logan.

Charles Dineen and family have returned from a pleasant trip to Glen Island.

Mrs. Fred Wilcox has returned home after a three weeks' stay at Summit.

Fred Smith, of Bound Brook, spent yesterday with borough friends.

T. J. Ronayne spent Sunday in New York.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

New Market, Sept. 11—A meeting of the Seventh-Day Baptist congregation was held Sunday evening with the intention of calling a pastor to succeed Rev. Martin Sindall. A vote was taken, but it was not satisfactory, and no call was extended. It will be at least a month before another meeting can be held, and as Mr. Sindall's resignation takes effect October 1st, the church may be left for a short time without a pastor.

The marriage of Miss Daisy Dunn, of New Market and Clayton Coon, of Plainfield, will take place this afternoon at the home of the former's parents. A second wedding, that of Miss Lulu Davis and William Ackerman, of Plainfield, will take place tomorrow. Rev. Martin Sindall will perform both ceremonies.

Upon request of the defendant, the case of Coriell against Boice was adjourned in Justice Storms' court yesterday for one week.

Mrs. Daniels, of Paterson, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Hannah Nelson, returned yesterday.

County Superintendent Willis visited the school yesterday and addressed the scholars.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Sept. 11.—A number of the Republican voters met in Excelsior Hall last evening to organize a Republican club to take an active part in the campaign just opening. Those present thought it advisable to organize the votes and to make the fight for McKinley and Roosevelt an active one in the township. Officers were elected, constitution and bylaws were adopted and a committee appointed by the chair to procure a meeting room which will be open at least three evenings a week. The new organization starts with a very encouraging membership and it is expected that many more of the Republicans will unite with the club at a meeting to be held on Thursday night. The officers elected were: President, A. D. Shepard; first vice-president, John Robison; second vice-president, James E. Goodman; secretary, Wm. B. Noble; treasurer, L. W. Miller.

Miss Nancy Wade, who has been spending her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abram Wade, has returned to her duties as teacher in the school at Wahwah, this State.

Mrs. Bourne, State President of the W. C. T. U., will address a temperance meeting in the parlors of the Baptist church Wednesday evening. All are invited to attend the meeting.

The Misses Alice and May Shott and Miss Addie Johnston left Monday for Hightstown, where they will take a course of study at Peddie Institute.

Mrs. Isaac Oliver, who has been spending two weeks with relatives and friends in town, has returned to her home in Kearney, this State.

Rev. G. M. Shott spent yesterday in New York attending the weekly ministers' conference meeting of which he is secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Gere have returned from a pleasant visit of a week with Mrs. Gere's parents in Brooklyn.

Fanwood Council, R. A., will hold their regular semi-monthly meeting in their rooms this evening.

Mrs. L. G. Henry, of Plainfield, has been visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. George Clark.

The Exempt Firemen's Association held their quarterly meeting in their rooms last night.

WESTFIELD

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Westfield, N. J., September 11—At a meeting of the Township Committee George H. L Morton, for unknown parties, made a proposition to construct and maintain a water supply system in the township. The new company agrees to install a complete water plant, capable of supplying the town with water for all purposes. The company agrees further to construct the plant at their own expense, and that no part of said expense or that of maintaining or operating the system shall fall on the Township Committee. No bonded indebtedness shall be entered into for, or on behalf, by the township. The company agrees to turn over the entire plant to the township at the expiration of fifty years, free from any indebtedness or encumbrances. For all this the township shall be required to pay four per centum on the actual cost of construction and installing pipe line system for the period of fifty years. The communication did not name the source of the new water system. The matter was laid over for consideration at a later date.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, Sept. 11—Several Plainfield boys came very near taking a trip to New Brunswick yesterday, when George Ryno caught them stealing fruit. These boys need a lesson.

Mr. Horan, the engineer at the water works, is moving his family from Metuchen to the house lately vacated.

Mrs. Harry Weaver returned home Sunday evening after a three weeks' visit in Pennsylvania.

Frank Miller is laid up with an injured hand, which he got on the ice wagon.

—Three hundred and fifty baskets of peaches are going fast at Neuman Brothers at 25, 35, 50 and 75 cents per basket.

—It will surprise you to experience the benefit obtained by using the dainty and famous little pills known as DeWitt's Little Early Risers. L. W. Randolph.

F. H. Andrews, of Central avenue, has gone to Chicago on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace W. Coriell and Mrs. C. V. D. Corle, of this city, have gone to Boston for pleasure, and they will make the trip by trolley.

Mrs. Whitney and Miss Alice M. Whitney, who have been summering at Martha's Vineyard, Mass., returned to their Plainfield home yesterday.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

Miss Edith Pond, daughter of Major J. B. Pond, of Literary Bureau fame, was a visitor in the city yesterday completing arrangements with Manager Maze Edwards, of Music Hall, for the production of the charming spectacle, "The Brownies in Fairyland," Friday and Saturday, September 28th and 29th. All the characters will be personated by Plainfield boys and girls.

* * * * *

If you want a good hearty laugh go to see the famous Brothers Royer in their roaring, rollicking spectacular production, "Next Door," which is to be presented at Music Hall on Friday night. There is very little plot in the piece, it is simply a conglomeration of farce comedy, singing, acrobatic feats, chases through trick houses and walls, and everything else in the theatrical line. It is excellently put on and played with great vim and realism. The Brothers Royer are without doubt the funniest performers in their line, and the audience is kept in a roar of laughter from start to finish.

* * * * * *

Andrew Mack has scored another triumph at the Academy of Music, in New York, in his new Irish melodrama, "The Rebel," even at this, the warm season, the large theatre is crowded nightly by enthusiastic admirers of the talented young comedian whose work in his new character excels the good performances he has given in his former roles. That he has improved wonderfully is generally conceded. As "The Rebel" he assumes a character entirely different from those he has been seen in before, his past efforts being confined to light comedy, while his new role is very dramatic. Nature has been generous to the popular young actor, as he has the physique necessary for the assumption of heroic roles as well as a graceful, manly bearing. It is, however, his naturalness and earnestness that have won for him the loyalty of the theatregoing public. He seems to be the character he represents at all times, never losing it for a moment.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

The Misses Marsh, of Madison avenue, have returned from their summer outing.

Miss Ena Langworthy, of Alfred, N. Y., is the guest of Mrs. G. Homan, of Hillside avenue.

Miss Alice Higgins, of West Front street, has returned from a two weeks' stay at Asbury Park.

Mrs. H. O. Newman, of West Fifth street, has returned home from a sojourn at Ocean Grove.

Mrs. W. C. Reynolds, of Concord, Mass., has returned home after a visit with borough relatives.

Albert and Robert Shriener, of West Sixth street, have returned after two weeks spent at Atlantic City.

The son of Patrick Traynor, of Orchard place, has about recovered from an attack of scarlet fever.

Miss Maude Wilcox, of Dunellen, has been spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vail, of Orchard place.

Miss Eleanor Wilbur, of Crescent avenue, returned yesterday from central New York State where she spent the summer.

Miss Alice Lee, of Sheffield, Mass., has returned to the city to resume her duties as teacher in the Plainfield public schools.

Orville T. Waring, of Willow avenue, has returned after a several weeks' trip with an engineer corps of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Miss Katheryn Ball, of Myrtle avenue, has returned from her summer vacation spent on her father's houseboat on the Great South Bay.

Miss Louise G. Fisk, of West Seventh street, has returned from Southampton, L. I., where she spent the summer at her father's cottage, and is now in Plainfield again.

Henry B. Drake, of Duer street, has returned after spending several days with George A. Horne, formerly of Washington Park, and now chief chemist of a cement company at Smith's Landing, N. Y.

A Shocking Calamity

"Lately befell a railroad laborer," writes Dr. A. Kellett, of Willford, Ark. "His foot was badly crushed, but Bucklen's Arnica Salve quickly cured him. It's simply wonderful for Burns, Boils, Piles and all skin eruptions. It's the world's champion healer. Cure guaranteed. 25c. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

Harry Chandor, of East Fifth street, left Saturday for a week's stay at Spring Lake.

Miss Katherine Remer, of Crescent avenue, is back after spending her summer vacation at Gage, N. Y.

—In India, the land of famine, thousands die because they cannot obtain food. In America, the land of plenty, many suffer and die because they cannot digest the food they eat. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat. It instantly relieves and radically cures all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Aus der Rheinpfalz.

Frankenthal. Flüchtig geworden ist der Vorsitzende des sozialdemokratischen Vereins in Beindersheim, Maurer Rudolf Barchet. Der Flüchtige hatte sich in einem Wirthshausgespräch der Majestätsbeleidigung und eines Vergehens gegen die Religion schuldig gemacht.

St. Ingbert. Das Eisenwerk Krämer hat der für die Meister und Arbeiter des Betriebes bestehenden Pensionskasse die Summe von 30,000 Mark aus dem Geschäftsgewinn des vorigen Jahres als Geschenk überwiesen.

Schifferstadt. Auf dem hiesigen Bahnhofe wurde der Weichenwärter Michael Schwind von dem Basel-Frankfurter Schnellzug überfahren und getödtet.

Württemberg.

Stuttgart. Auf Antrag der Vereinigten Gewerkschaften beschloß der Gemeinderath, die Einrichtung von Volkshochschulkursen durch unentgeltliche Ueberlassung von Lokalen mit Licht und Heizung zu fördern.—Der Journalist Paul Egner, Inhaber des „Stuttgarter Nachrichten-Bureaus," ist an den Folgen eines Schlaganfalles gestorben.

Heidenheim. Zwischen Dettingen und Anhausen stürzte der auf dem Fahrrad aus Heidenheim heimkehrende Arbeiter Müller an einer abschüssigen Straßenstelle so unglücklich, daß er gegen einen Baum geschleudert wurde und mit zerschmettertem Schädel todt liegen blieb.

Rottenburg. Als Bischof v. Keppler von seiner Jubiläumsfeier hierher zurückkehrte, überreichte ihm der Stadtvorstand eine prächtig ausgestattete Urkunde des Inhalts, daß die Stadt als Jubiläumsgabe dem Bischof einen drei Morgen umfassenden Platz zur Errichtung einer neuen Kathedrale und Domkirche unentgeltlich abtrete. Der Bischof nahm die Schenkung entgegen und spendete als erste Grundstocksgabe 1000 Mark.

Ulm. Im Mai 1894 wurde ein hiesiger Friseurlehrling ermordet und die Leiche des Knaben zerstückelt aufgefunden. Der Verdacht wurde damals auf den ehemaligen Schächter der jüdischen Gemeinde gelenkt, den man auch verhaftete, aber bald, da sich nicht der geringste Anhaltspunkt für eine Schuld ergab, wieder auf freien Fuß setzte. Vor Kurzem ist nun unter dem Verdacht des Mordes der Stiefvater des ermordeten Knaben, der Wagenwärter Eisenhardt, verhaftet worden.

Baden.

Karlsruhe. Karl Schwindt, Vertreter einer auswärtigen Feuerversicherungsbank, der zugleich auch die Annoncenagentur von Mosse hatte, ist geflüchtet. Er hat sich Inkassi in größeren Beträgen angeeignet und auch einzelne Freunde durch Wechseloperationen und Bürgschaften besonders geschädigt.

Ersingen. In der Zeit vom 10. bis 17. Juni d. J. wurden in der Wohnung des A. Rapp sowie in der Behausung des Vaters desselben, des Franz Rapp, Einbruchsdiebstähle verübt und Geldbeträge von annähernd 1700 Mark entwendet. Als Thäter ist nun der zweite Sohn des Franz Rapp, der im Jahre 1869 geborene Goldarbeiter und Kommissionär Johann Rapp, ermittelt und zu einem Jahr drei Monaten Zuchthaus verurtheilt worden.

Mannheim. Als der 25jährige Möbelpacker Max Stenger, der von seiner Frau seit Kurzem getrennt lebte, auf der Kirchwiese des Stadttheils Waldhof mit einem Mädchen Karussel fuhr, warf seine im Publikum stehende Frau mit Steinen nach ihm. Er sprang sofort ab und stach die Frau nach kurzer Verfolgung nieder. Die Getödtete war 22 Jahre alt.

Wolfach. In Hofstetten brannte das Haus des Hofbauern nieder, wobei der Vater, die Mutter, die Frau und ein Kind Algaiers den Flammentod erlitten, während zwei Personen der Werniert'schen Familie und Allgäuer selbst Brandwunden davontrugen.

Elsaß-Lothringen.

Straßburg. Anhier hielt der Verein deutscher Lokomotivführer seine 14. Hauptversammlung ab. Beschlossen wurde unter Anderem die Begründung eines Genesungsheims.

Diedenhofen. Hierorts wurde ein Italiener Namens Cirillo Coccini verhaftet. Derselbe hatte über die Ermordung des Königs Humbert offenkundig lebhafte Freude und Befriedigung geäußert. Vernehmungen, um festzustellen, ob der Verhaftete einer anarchistischen Verbindung angehöre, haben indeß keinen Beweis ergeben.

Mülhausen. Der Gemeinderath beschloß, dem hiesigen elsässischen Dialekt-Theater das Stadttheater in der kommenden Saison zu 18 Vorstellungen gratis zu überlassen.

WONDERFUL OLD WOMAN.

Although Over 120 Years of Age, Mrs. Beausiau, of Fond du Lac, Wis., Is Still Active.

Mrs. Josephine Beausiau, who, it is believed, is the oldest woman in America, has been a resident of Fond du Lac, Wis., for the past 40 years. It is claimed that she is 120 years old. She was born in France, she claims, in 1780. When a young woman, says the Chicago Times-Herald, she went with her parents to Canada, where she was married to a man named Barcum, who died in the dominion. Her second husband was Franklin Beausiau, by whom she had nine or ten children, and who died early in the '60s at Bear Creek, Wis., to which place the family removed from Canada. The surviving children of Mrs. Beausiau are Oliver, of Bear Creek, Wis.; Samuel, of Vernwood, Wis.; Martin, of Rhineland, Wis.; Louis, of Sugar Bush; Mrs. Louise Pool, of Sugar Bush; Mrs. Martha Bird, of Fond du Lac, and Mrs. Elizabeth Ealy, of Hebron, Porter county, Ind. Mrs. Beausiau is quite well preserved. Her sight is good and she is strong in body. She gets about the house and home of her son-in-law, Charles Bird, with noticeable agility; never makes a misstep, and does a great deal of the family housework. She has always lived a simple life, had only a fair education, and she says that she has done enough hard work to kill nine-tenths of the women of to-day. Mrs. Beausiau intended starting one day this summer for Hebron, Ind., for a visit with her daughter, who she claims is only 90 years old, but she was deterred on account of the extremely warm weather and postponed the journey for a time. She was to make the trip alone, and her ability to have done so is not doubted by anyone who knows her.

CONSUL JOHN FOWLER.

American Consul Who Has Supplied the World with Considerable News from China.

John Fowler, United States consul at Chefoo, China, who has been so very active and useful in supplying news of the situation at Peking, was a consul at Ninko before he was given his present post in 1896. He began his career as a clerk in the navy yard at Washington, and later served as ship's writer on the Tallapoosa until the wreck of that vessel in 1885. Thereafter he served as a petty officer on a warship until 1888, when he went to Boston and engaged in business. In 1889 Mr. Fowler applied for the post of minister to Corea, but owing to lack of influence failed to secure his appointment. His merits, however, won him a small consulship in China. Since 1896 he has served as a consul at Chefoo, and is regarded as one of the ablest men in the service.

Tipping Recognized Officially.

The treasury department has ruled that tips to sleeping-car porters are a legitimate traveling expense. Contract Nurse Sylvester E. Ackerman, who has been employed on the transport Missouri, was ordered to Brooklyn from the Presidio at San Francisco. Transportation and a sleeping-car section were furnished him. When he arrived, however, he charged the government 50 cents expense money, which he had spent on tips to sleeping car porters. This raised the question whether such tips are legitimate expenses and, after long delay and much red tape, the comptroller of the treasury has ruled that the 50 cents should be paid.

Scourge of the Locust.

Of the 53,000,000 square miles which the world's land surface comprises, 40,000,000 are more or less continuously subject to the scourge of the hungry locust. It causes, we are told, more pecuniary loss and misery than a native war or a series of native wars combined; or, for that matter, a greater loss than a war between England and the South African republics. Thus the question of fighting the locust is one of the gravest importance.

A motherly young woman living in Rockville, Conn., has found life a pretty desperate problem. "I didn't think life worth living," she says, "until the last three years; but now, thank God, everything is different. I am 35 years old, the mother of six children, and I feel better and stronger to-day than I did ten years ago, all owing to Ripans Tabules. About three years ago I sent for a dollar bottle and have been using them both for myself and my family. They have cured me both of dyspepsia and headache, from which I was a sufferer for seven years. I tried everything under the sun, but nothing gave me relief until I got the Tabules, which gave me relief from the very first. I have recommended the Tabules to all my friends and neighbors. They are a blessing in any home."

WANTED—A case of bad health that RIPANS will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word RIPANS on the package and accept no substitute. RIPANS, 10 for 5 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

NANCY HANKS LINCOLN.

Grave of the President's Mother in Indiana to Be Marked with a Tasteful Monument.

After many years of neglect, the grave of Nancy Hanks Lincoln, mother of Abraham Lincoln, in Spencer county, Ind., is to be marked with a monument. The Nancy Hanks Lincoln Monument association purchased 16 acres of ground surrounding the grave, and Col. J. S. Culver, of Springfield, Ill., offered to build the monument free of expense to the association if the latter would improve the grounds. Col. Culver's proposition was accepted, and Thompson Stickle, of Springfield, designed a monument, which has been accepted without modification.

Col. Culver made the stipulation that as much granite as possible from the LINCOLN'S MOTHER'S GRAVE.

(It Is to Be Marked with a Neat and Suitable Monument.)

national Lincoln monument in Springfield be used for the work, and that the stone used in the temporary receiving vault, where the body of Abraham Lincoln now rests, be adopted for the foundation of this monument, and the sarcophagus for the mother will therefore contain material that formed a part of Abraham Lincoln's monument before it was reconstructed.

The design calls for a lower base or footing course to rest on a solid foundation, then a massive rock-faced base, the brackets forming the support for the die to cut solid on this block.

The die block is to be finished in rock-faced effect, and its face is to be handsomely carved in bas-relief. As the scroll of time in the design unrolls it reveals the name: "Nancy Hanks Lincoln," and added to this is the simple inscription: "Mother of Abraham Lincoln." The ivy, representing affection, and the branch of oak, symbolizing nobility, are grouped around the name in harmonious effect.

SUFFRAGE IS LIMITED.

Alabama Joins Other Southern States in Getting Rid of the Bulk of Its Negro Vote.

The most important feature of the recent state election in Alabama was the victory for the limitation of the suffrage. This issue was practically the only one prominent in the campaign, and little or no fight was made against it, the democrats winning by about 75,000 plurality and electing William J. Sanford, their candidate for governor, and almost a unanimous democratic legislature. This victory, says the New Orleans Times-Democrat (dem.), "means the early assembling of a constitutional convention that will put Alabama in line with its sister states of Mississippi, Louisiana and the two Carolinas by getting rid of the bulk of its negro vote." The last Alabama legislature voted for such a convention, but Gov. Johnston called the legislature together again and induced it to rescind its action. This time, however, it is believed that the plan will go through.

WILLIAM J. SANFORD.
(Governor-Elect of the State of Alabama.)

Webster's Massive Head.

The members of the Old Schoolboys' association, of Boston, had lots of fun at their late annual outing here trying on the ancient hat that was once worn by Daniel Webster, and which is now the property of the Atlantic house, and a valued possession. The old hat, says a Nantasket Beach (Mass.) correspondent of the Philadelphia North American, is a beaver, and so well was it made that it is even now, after the lapse of many years, in good condition. The old schoolboys, most of whom are on the shady side of 50 years, passed the hat along trying to find one who could wear it above his ears, and only one could do so, Capt. John S. Darnell, Boston's inspector of buildings. He had the only head of the party that would keep the head above the ears. The hat in those days would be called a No. 9 at least.

MEDICINE IN CHINA.

Strange and Wonderful Remedies Prescribed by Physicians.

Every Natural Production, Mineral, Vegetable and Animal, Is Used for the Cure of Some Disease or Other.

The Chinese physician employs strange and wonderful means for the recovery of his patient, and the list of medicines in vogue with the Celestials will doubtless open the eyes of many an occidental practitioner. For instance, says the Washington Times, cantharides is considered a sure cure for hydrophobia; the fruit of cardomom is supposed to increase knowledge by strengthening the stomach, which organ the Chinese identify with a person's disposition and mental capacity; the dried skin of a certain kind of orange is used as a sedative; dried aloe flowers are used in pulmonary affections, and are also employed in cookery as a tonic or relish. The honeysuckle is given in cases of rheumatism, and the dogbane in diseases of the kidneys.

Almonds are sedatives in the Chinese pharmacopoeia, and cassia buds a tonic and astringent. Melon seeds are taken for coughs, colds and asthma, while the morning glory root is used in severe dyspepsia. Pumpkins are believed to possess soothing properties and are used in cases of colics, spasms, etc. Quite a number of vegetables are considered cures for consumption and remittent fever. The under shell of the land turtle is taken as a decoction by the aged and weak, and is used generally as a stimulant, as is also the mustard seed. To oleanders are attributed rejuvenating and highly nutritive qualities. One vegetable, with an unpronounceable Chinese name, is employed to work off the effect of drunkenness.

Fragments of fossil crabs, crushed and powdered, are considered a specific in affections of the eye. Rhubarb is indigenous to China, and in former times Canton was the only port from which the drug was exported. The Chinese dig the roots early in the spring, before the leaves appear, cut them into long, flat pieces, dry them for two or three days in the shade, and then string them on cords. Tumeric is used for diseases of the skin, also as a yellow dye in the preparation of tobacco, and, mixed with indigo or Prussian blue, is the means employed for coloring green tea and also to season curries. Another of the Chinese vegetables is used to bring out the eruption of smallpox, as well as to color candles; while still another plant is found indispensable in curing boils and strengthening the hair.

CHINESE MEDICINE CASE.
(A Luxury That Is Within Reach of the Very Rich Only.)

From castor oil beans the Chinese express an oil which is used in the manufacture of candles. A very costly gelatine is made by boiling down deer horns, after which it is employed as a tonic. One medicine, taken in liquor, is thought to heal fractures of any kind. Petrified crabs are used for boils, sores, etc., snake skins for smallpox, and caterpillars are employed in bronchial complaints; dried cow's gall is used as an expectorant; the refuse of tobacco, mixed with straw, as a stimulant, and cow's glue, made from buffalo hides, as a sedative.

In fact, almost every natural production, mineral, vegetable and animal, is used in China for some medicinal purpose. Glue seems to possess wonderful healing properties, taken internally, a rather striking means for mending the human machinery. That made from tortoise shell is considered a tonic, while that obtained from tiger's bones has also great virtue and costs $1,500 per picul (133⅓ pounds), a prohibitive price in China.

Salted scorpions are considered excellent in cases of smallpox. Ant eaters' scales cure rheumatism, and, although the use of live leeches is unknown, those animals are made into a decoction, being first put into water or spirit, and the result taken internally as a purgative, or applied outwardly in cases of bruises. Dried toads are considered a tonic, and being sold at two cents each, are especially popular. A tiger's skull is regarded as a charm against typhoid fever, ague, rheumatism and rheumatic headache; also as a protection from the danger of being bitten by a mad dog. Pearls are prescribed in affections of the heart and bile; also in cases of deafness.

Idaho Invaded by Squirrels.

Sheep roaming over the hills in Morgan and Summit counties, Idaho, have stampeded swarms of squirrels from their usual haunts, and the little rodents have descended on the farmer's crops of cereals and vegetables. Trapping, poisoning and other means are being vainly used to reduce their number.

AN INDIAN ROMANCE.

Tall Elk, a Chief of the Osage Nation, Weds Daugter of an Equally Wealthy Chief.

Tall Elk is a full-blooded Osage Indian chief. He is worth more than $500,000 in his own name and is the heir to as much more. He was born out on the Osage reservation, near Wichita, Kan., and was educated at the Indian schools and at an academy. He stood high in his studies, wore civilized clothing, and was a favorite in polite society. But he was first of all an Indian, and after awhile he came back to the Osage country, discarded coat and trousers, and became an Indian in costume as well as in heart.

TALL ELK AND HIS BRIDE.
(An Osage Couple Famed for Riches and Good Looks.)

Then he fell in love with Mary Red Eagle, daughter of one of the richest chiefs of the Osage nation, and the Osages are easily the richest Indians in the world. Old Red Eagle and Tall Elk's father had been bitter enemies, and the father of the pretty squaw, whose fortune is estimated at $2,000,000, would not allow him around the wigwam. But Tall Elk was persistent, and he finally forced the reluctant father to give his permission.

The wedding, celebrated after the Indian fashion, was the event of the year in the Osage capital, Pawhuska. Tall Elk paid over 45 ponies, the price which Red Eagle exacted for his daughter, and the girl's mother brought her out to the center of the public square mounted on a little pony and clad in gorgeous red and blue robes. She dismounted from her pony, which was turned loose to become the prize of the brave who could catch it. Then Tall Elk appeared riding like mad in the direction of his bride. Her mother took off the splendid robes and left her standing alone, clad only in a simple rough dress. The bridegroom, without dismounting, threw about his bride's shoulders a handsome blanket and carried her off to his tepee on the front of his saddle. That completed the ceremony.

HENRY E. HUNTINGTON.

He Was the Favorite Nephew and One of the Principal Heirs of the Dead Railway King.

Henry E. Huntington, who will inherit a large share of the millions left by Collis P. Huntington, is the nephew of the dead railroad builder. He was assistant to the president of the Southern Pacific until April, 1899, when he was removed from power and his position abolished for the sake of harmony. It was asserted at the time that Mrs. Stanford and the Crockers were violently opposed to him; at all events, his uncle spoke out in no uncertain words in strong support of him, and this spring he was restored to his former position. Mr. Huntington got his business education in the offices of his uncle's railroads in the south. He is the president and principal owner of the San Francisco system of street railways, and also of the Los Angeles street railways. The construction of the coast line from San Luis to Santa Barbara was under his direction. For the past nine years he has resided in San Francisco.

HENRY E. HUNTINGTON.
(One of the Principal Heirs of the Late C. P. Huntington.)

Need a Spelling Teacher.

Among the causes of death reported to the clerk of the orphans' court in Bucks county, Pa., by census enumerators were those of "hart parlias," "parallya," "hart truble," "newmonia," "quinzie," "hooping cough" and "tumer." Another person was reported as having died of "live cuplat," which was translated into meaning "liver complaint."

Two New Diseases.

The mania for riding on railway trains is now known as chuchuitis. A physician in Chicago has invented a word to describe a patient whose mania is riding upon the trolley cars. He calls him a trolliac, which is a very expressive term. The doctor says that trolleyitis is becoming very prevalent in Chicago.

Electric Power on Farms.

RULERS SMOKE PIPES.

Prince of Wales the Only Prominent Royal Dignitary Who Sticks Exclusively to Cigars.

There is a man in Chicago who justifies himself in smoking a pipe by declaring that great men never smoke anything else. He says that Emperor William used to smoke cigars, and that to the fact that he abandoned them for the pipe during the last few months is due his recent steadiness and statesmanlike restraint. The pipe the emperor smokes is much like that affected by most Germans. It has a china bowl and holds two ounces of tobacco. Its covering is of gold, and it differs from that of his countrymen

THE PRINCE OF WALES.
(Only Noted Royal Personage Who Has Gone Back on Pipes.)

chiefly in that its long stem is decorated with gold and silver. The pipe that Bismarck smoked was more than twice as large as that of the young kaiser.

The czar's pipe is a plain briar of the bull dog kind. Two kinds of tobacco are liked equally well by him, cut plug and the Turkish.

The duke of York smokes the same kind of pipe and uses bird's-eye, but his father, the prince of Wales, has not smoked a pipe for ten years.

No one has a handsomer pipe than the shah of Persia, who, however much he may fancy other Yankee notions, does not care for the corncob that is used in Missouri. The shah's pipe cost $400,000 and is well decorated with diamonds, rubies and emeralds. The mouthpiece and upper joints of the stem are of pure gold. The pipe is a hookah.

Until recently the sultan smoked a hookah, not as handsome as the shah's, but it cost several thousand dollars. During the last few months, however, he has shown a fondness for cigarettes.

President Loubet of France is the only chief magistrate that country has had who has smoked a pipe. Felix Faure, his predecessor, puffed cigarettes.

President Kruger usually has a pipe in his mouth. His favorite one was of the German kind, with a big china bowl. It was given him about 24 years ago by one of his visitors. The story is told in South Africa that this pipe has been inseparably connected with his affairs. When the independence of the Transvaal was returned in 1881, the stem broke. Just before the Jameson raid a bit was chipped off the china bowl. When Edgar was killed, which led to the recrudescence of the uitlander depredations and culminated in the present war, the pipe fell to the ground and was smashed to fragments. Then Kruger had a pipe sent him from Berlin, like the old one.

BARON ALVERSTONE.

The Late Lord Russell's Probable Successor as Lord Chief Justice of Great Britain.

Baron Alverstone, who will probably succeed the late Baron Russell as lord chief justice of England, has been raised but recently to the peerage and is more widely known as Sir Richard

BARON ALVERSTONE.
(Better Known in This Country as Sir Richard Webster.)

Webster. He is at present master of the rolls and was appointed to that position this year. Baron Alverstone is the second son of the late Thomas Webster, Q. C. He was educated at Cambridge and graduated in both the mathematical and classical tripos. In 1868 he was called to the bar at Lincoln's Inn and has since that time become one of the foremost of lawyers in England. His practice is immense. He has successfully appeared in some of the most important railroad cases in the United Kingdom and has been several times before the house of lords in appeal cases. In 1885 he was appointed attorney general in the first government of Lord Salisbury. He was knighted in 1893.

PARADISE FOR TRAMPS.

Larrikin Rules the Cities of Australia and Hoboes Terrorize the Country Districts.

For several reasons Australia may be regarded as the ideal abode of the hobo and the tramp, or, as the former is designated in the cities, the larrikin.

The larrikin, like the kangaroo, is peculiar to the Australian continent. In no other country, certainly not in the United States, would he even be permitted to exist.

In appearance, says the Boston Globe, he is undersized in stature, slight in build and sallow in complexion, probably owing to an early excessive use of cigarettes. His attire is unique and unmistakable. He wears a narrow brim felt hat on one side of his head, a short jacket reaching to the hips, pants very tight about the waist to the knees, but spreading out bell-shaped at the ankles to the tips of his shoes. The latter are invariably with high heels.

Singly a desperate coward, but in packs or gangs as he perambulates the sidewalks of Melbourne or Sydney, he becomes a terror to women and children and a menace to anyone he fancies he can insult with impunity. He rarely does any work and is never found out of the cities.

The Australian tramp much resembles the same species in America, only instead of "looking for work," he generally adopts the guise of a prospector. With "billy" or kettle in hand he trudges from one sheep station to another, enforcing hospitality by the fear that if such is not accorded a barn will be found ignited on his departure.

In no country in the world are the unemployed treated with so much consideration by the authorities as in Australia. As the labor vote controls the balance of political parties, and the floating population of unemployed are "workingmen," in that respect officials are chary of saying no to a deputation of this class of citizens.

For instance, as has more than once happened, if a body of unemployed should wait upon the minister of the interior with a request for free transportation on the government railroads to some remote district, where they assert work is to be found, the minister, particularly if an election is at hand, has no other recourse but to issue the tickets.

Then, if, when the place is reached, climatic or other conditions are not found to be as conjectured, a pressing request for return passage does not often meet with refusal.

Distilled Iron Will Not Rust.

Distilling various metals, Kahlbaum, of Basle, has found that a number of them that usually rust quickly—like iron or copper—are so purified that it becomes difficult to oxidize them. Iron is a beautiful silver-white metal that does not tarnish in the air. Tin proves to be the most difficult of the common metals to distill, as in a vacuum it does not begin to pass over until a temperature of 2912 degrees is reached.—Invention.

SAILOR IS POPULAR.

Dog on a Maine Lighthouse Salutes Passing Vessels.

Rings the Station Bell Lively Whenever a Sail or Funnel Appears—His Master Is Very Proud of His Canine Assistant.

"Sailor" is the name of a wise dog who lives on Wood island, off Biddeford Pool, Me. His master is Thomas H. Orcutt, keeper of the Wood island lighthouse.

Having passed most of his nine years of life on rocky Wood island, where the waves beat ceaselessly on the granite shore, and the passing of vessels up and down the coast is the chief thing to break the monotony of life, "Sailor" naturally takes a great interest in nautical matters.

Early in life, when but a two-months' old puppy, he was brought to the island from Woodbury Bros.' milk farm in Westbrook, Me. He was not a sailor then, for his family were farmers, being Scotch collies and sheep dogs.

But "Sailor" was not long in learning the ways of the sea. He took a deep interest in whatever his master did, and followed him around the light station wherever he went. He noticed, among other things, that his master often pulled a rope that made a bell ring.

The bell was a great heavy one, used to warn vessels in a fog, and to salute them in fair weather. It stood outside the lighthouse, a few feet above a wooden platform, and the rope attached to its tongue came down so near the platform that "Sailor" could easily reach it.

One day Sailor thought he would have a try at ringing the bell. He seized the rope in his mouth and pulled. The bell rang clear and loud. Sailor was delighted. He wagged his bushy tail vigorously, and pulled again.

Sailor after a time noticed that the ringing of the bell marked the passing of a vessel or steamer. His note of this fact resulted in his trying an experiment. When he saw the next vessel coming he anticipated his master in ringing the bell.

As the years have passed Sailor has kept on ringing salutes to passing vessels and steamers. Indeed, he feels hurt if not permitted to give the customary salute to passing craft, while skippers whose course takes them often past Wood island are accustomed to see Sailor tugging vigorously at the great bell tongue.

They reply with a will on their ship's bell or horn, and in case of steamers a hearty triple blast is sent back to the canine watcher of Wood island, who gives a new meaning to the good old sea term of "dog watch."

"Sailor" is his master's constant companion, and delights in being made his messenger, especially at dinner time, when he will come bounding from the kitchen to announce that the meal is ready. He will also carry letters, papers or small articles in his mouth.

He understands all that is said to him, and although a sailor dog by adoption, his breeding comes to the fore when some one says "the sheep are in the field."

This is a signal to Sailor to quit sailorizing and light keeping, and get to more serious work. He starts up in a great hurry, rushes to the door, and wants to be off in an instant, as if the surrounding rocks and waters were covered with flocks of stupid sheep, bound to break into some imaginary field of grass or grain.

In his daily life in the household of the lightkeeper Sailor is most unselfish in sharing his perquisites. He has two large cats for companions, and is considerate of them, allowing them to eat from the same dish that he does, and often lying down with them for a quiet little nap, when his duties do not call him to the bell.

"Sailor" does not share the propensity of most sailors for roaming. He loves to stay near the lighthouse, and seldom goes away from Wood island, though he might often make trips to the mainland with his master. His chief aim in life is to see that everything goes well at the light, and that passing vessels are properly saluted.

Although reared beside the sea, "Sailor" has no taste for sport. He will not follow a gunner. In fact, he is afraid of a gun. The report of one makes him uncomfortable. Thunder also has terrors for him, and he lies very low during a shower.

"Sailor" may be said to have passed the prime of life, but he is still at the height of his vigor and is in fine condition. He weighs 60 pounds. His color is black, marked with tan, and he has a white spot on his breast.

"Sailor" has had his picture taken in the act of ringing the bell, Mr. Joseph W. Smith, Jr., of Andover, Mass., having "snapped" him. The picture was recently published in a London magazine.

THE PRUDENTIAL WINS AT PARIS 1156

The first award of gold medals for American exhibitors has just been made at the Paris Exposition, and The Prudential is the only American Life Insurance Company to receive a gold medal or an award of any kind.

The exhibit was made at the request of the American government, and the award is a convincing recognition of the superiority of The Prudential's policies and business methods.

Amounts $15 to $100,000. Ages 1 to 70.

Policies for Both Sexes.

GOLF

The first golf match of the fall season will be played on the Country Club links next Saturday, when the Country Club team will contest with the Somerset Country Club team.

According to the schedule there will be no regular event on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course next Saturday. It was intended to play for the Reinhart cup at that time, but for reasons the event was played last Saturday. This will not prevent a large number of golfers being present and no doubt the course will be crowded.

ON THE DIAMOND

Considerable interest is being evidenced in the baseball game between the Prudential and Metropolitan Insurance Companies. The game will be played next Saturday.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

A meeting of the Alis football team will be held this evening at the residence of Roy Phillips, on Madison avenue. All members are requested to be present.

AN ACTOR'S TALE.

This Thespian Attempted to Woo Morpheus on a Lawn Till a Cop Rudely Disturbed Him.

A sadly demoralized Thespian wandered through Plainfield last evening and temporarily took up his abode on a lawn on East Fourth street last evening. He wore on his head that which had once been a high silk hat. His clothing was in rags. The police found him there and locked him up.

With his once curly locks sadly disarranged, he stepped before City Judge Runyon this morning and told his little tale. He left Jersey a month ago as one of the cast in "Round the Clock" with Bird Carroll. In the wilds of Pennsylvania they appeared on the stage but the people didn't support them as they might have done.

The last that William Kelley, the prisoner, says he saw of Carroll was on top of a load of trunks held to pay the bills against the company. Then Kelly started for his home in Brooklyn. The life returning has not been a very luxurous one, judging from Kelly's appearance, so the Judge was kind and suspended sentence.

ANXIETY FOR MR TWEEDY.

It is Feared That He May Have Been in the Hurricane That Devastated Galveston.

Much anxiety is felt for Mr. Tweedy, a brother of the Misses Tweedy, who reside on Crescent avenue, who is supposed to be in Galveston, Texas, at present. His sons, Lawrence and Mellick Tweedy, and Hartley Mellick, son of Councilman George P. Mellick, of LaGrande avenue, have been spending the summer on Mr. Tweedy's ranch in Texas. They came down to Galveston and sailed on one of the Mallory Line steamers. Mr. Tweedy accompanied them as far as Key West and then returned. The boys are coming back to Plainfield to attend school. They have not yet reached New York, but are believed to have escaped the hurricane which wrought such damage in Texas. Mr. Tweedy should have just reached the Texan port when the hurricane reached there. No word has yet been received from him.

Ants, Cockroaches, Bed Bugs.

Mix, say, a 25c. box of "Rough on Rats" carefully with a pound or so of mashed boiled potatoes, or with a loaf of finely crumbled dampened bread, or two tin cups of fine powdered sugar, and place about their haunts, out of reach of children or pet animals. Even the hardier Black Cockroaches, Beetles, Wood or Water Bugs, in one or two applications will be completely annihilated. "Rough on Rats" is the only thing that will effectually and permanently annihilate Bed Bugs, and it stands unrivalled the world over for the prompt and effective extermination of Rats and Mice. 15 and 25 boxes at druggists.

Couldn't Account for Blankets.

Patrolman Myers found a man sleeping in one of the freight cars on the switch near the new station last evening. He arrested the stranger. Under the man were two blankets which the prisoner could not account for He was given five days in the county jail by City Judge Runyon this morning. He gave his name as William Thompson. He is believed to be a man that the Asbury Park authorities are looking for.

Baby Camp Still Open.

While many persons are taking advantage of the baby camp on the mountains there has not been the sickness this season as formerly. The camp will be kept open for awhile, or until the weather becomes such that it is deemed best to close it.

Chances for Walsh's Recovery.

The chances for the recovery of Martin Walsh, the injured motorman, seem to be better than at any time since the accident. He is still quite obstinate, and this does not assist those in charge in caring for him.

Fresh Young Kids.

The fresh young kids who are permitted to run special trolley cars on the West Front street and Fourth street lines, between the North avenue terminus and the car house, should be called down.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Items That Concern Democrats and Republicans in Different Parts of the State.

The latest Democratic to be mentioned for Congress honors in the Seventh district is Richard Stevens, of Hoboken. Mr. Stevens is wealthy.

Candidate William J. Bryan will visit Trenton some time in October, and will deliver an address before a convention of Democratic clubs to be held in the Taylor Opera House. The date for the event has not yet been fixed, but will be arranged later by Chairman Gourley, of the State Democratic committee. The announcement of Mr. Bryan's visit to Trenton was made at the meeting of the State Democratic committee held in Jersey City Saturday afternoon. Chairman Gourley also announced that the State committee has engaged ex-Governor Pattison, of Pennsylvania, Bourke Cockran and ex Governor David B. Hill. A further announcement was made to the effect that Senator Welington, of Maryland, Senator Allan L. McDermott, ex Congressman McAdoo and ex-Judge Skinner, of Hoboken, will stump the State.

The State convention and mass meetings of the Republican clubs of New Jersey, to be held in Columbia Hall, Thursday, gives promise of being the greatest demonstration the Republicans of the State have held in years. Among the many prominent people who will be there are: Congressman Charles N. Fowler, R. Wayne Parker, H. H. Loudenslager, Benj. F. Howell; Hon. E. C. Stokes, vice-chairman Republican State committee; John S. Gibson, secretary Republican State committee; Wm. Riker, treasurer Republican State committee; Robert W. Hawkesworth, East Orange; John R. Wiggins, treasurer National Republican League; L. W. Mott, vice-president of the National Republican League; Assemblyman H. W. Johnson, John M. Bell, John N. Klein; J. Warren Fleming, Titusville; F. F. Patterson; editor Camden Post Telegram; E. T. Gill, Haddonfield; Walter F. Hayhurst, prosecutor, Hunterdon county; while Senators Sewell, Kean, Governor Voorhees, and many other prominent leaders will attend. The list of delegates received contain the names of many who are prominent in New Jersey politics.

Walsh Acts Ugly.

Those at the hospital in charge of Martin Walsh, the injured motorman, are having considerable trouble in caring for him. He is very obstinate and frequently wants to get out of bed and leave the hospital. He tears the bandages from his wounds and acts in an ugly manner. When things don't go to suit he becomes quite violent and uses forcible language that is not pleasant to hear. He continues to improve, however, and the physicians think that he will recover. If he continues to act as he has been doing it will be a happy day for those at the hospital when he is able to leave the institution.

Grant Club Committee.

The Grant Club, of North Plainfield, will meet on Thursday evening at which time President Smalley will appoint the committees. Arrangements will also be perfected for a mass meeting to be held a week later. The enrollment of members will be taken at once. A full attendance at the meeting is earnestly requested.

HAS LEFT HOBOKEN.

Mrs. Hetty Green Now Claims Residence in Vermont.

Wealthiest Woman in the United States Is Occupying the Old Green Homestead in the Village of Bellows Falls.

America's richest woman, Mrs. Hetty Green, has changed her residence from Hoboken to Bellows Falls, Vt. Edward H. Green, her husband, was born there in 1821. In 1847 he went to the East Indies, and lived in Manila for 20 years. There he accumulated a large fortune, after which, for ten years, he resided in London and Paris.

Since then, owing to ill health, Mr. Green has lived a quiet life in New York.

The Green homestead, of old colonial style, is one of the oldest and was formerly one of the most pretentious residences in this place. It is a stone structure, built by Nathaniel Tucker, grandfather of Mr. Green, and one of the first settlers of the town. The house of late years has been neglected and it is now much in need of repairs. When the Green family spend the summer there they live in the house without curtains or furniture except of the most necessary kind. They do not employ servants and live in a way which most people would call "roughing it."

Mrs. Green during her stay there has no social life. She does not mingle with the village people. Miss Sylvia, her daughter, has many friends and frequently visits there. This summer the entire family, including the son, Edward H. R. Green, president and general manager of the Texas & Midland railroad, who will come from his home in Texas, will occupy the Green residence. It has been several years since "Ned," as he is called by his friends, has visited Bellows Falls.

Vermont is the paradise of the millionaire tax dodger, of which fact Mrs. Green is fully aware, and this,

HETTY GREEN'S HOME.
(Located in the Pretty Little City of Bellows Falls, Vt.)

rather than any sentimental reason, is said to be the cause of her choice of Bellows Falls as a place of residence. The Vermont tax law calls for a sworn inventory. If this is not given the listers double the real estate valuation and assess the personal property tax according to their judgment, care being exercised by the ordinary Vermont lister not to assess any heavier than the person will be likely to stand.

That Mrs. Green appreciates this quality of the local listers is shown by her remark that the listers there are a gentlemanly lot of fellows, not nearly so inquisitive as those of New York.

Investigation of the Bellows Falls records shows that Mrs. Green first became a legal resident there in 1889, paying at that time, and up to and including the year 1893, taxes on $30,000 personal property. In 1894 a new board of listers succeeded in materially increasing the list. She then paid on $11,000 real estate and $10,000 personal property, and on $10,000 as trustee. Her husband, as trustee, paid on $5,000, and her daughter Sylvia on $5,000, making a total of $41,000 for the Green family. In 1895 she paid on $20,000 real estate and $90,000 personal; Mr. Green on $5,000 in his own name and $5,000 as trustee.

In 1896, 1897 and 1898 she paid on $20,000 real estate and $40,000 personal, and Mr. Green on $5,000 in his own name and $40,000 as trustee. In 1899 she was taxed only on her real estate, as she desired to change her residence to Hoboken, N. J. Her reason for this was because of litigation in which she was engaged.

This year, 1900, Mrs. Green has changed her place of residence from Hoboken, N. J., to Bellows Falls, much to the satisfaction of the town. Mrs. Green, says the New York Herald, refused to make out an inventory, and the listers assessed the homestead for $10,000, a moderate valuation, and doubled it, making $20,000 for real estate. Her personal property was put in at $40,000. E. H. Green was assessed at $40,000 as trustee and Sylvia H. Green at $5,000, making in all about one-thirteenth of the total tax assessment in Bellows Falls.

The Ant Is Charitable.

It is certain that ants intentionally sanction the residence of certain insects in their nests. This is the case, for instance, with the curious blind beetle, claviger, which is absolutely dependent upon ants, as Muller first pointed out. It seems to have even lost the power of feeding itself; at any rate, it is habitually fed by the ants, who supply it with nourishment, as they do one another.

SCHOOL HAS BEGUN; SOME CHANGES MADE

A Number of Improvements and Additions Made to High School Course.

MORE ROOM IS NEEDED.

WHAT HAS BEEN DONE IN THE COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT.

Some Additions in Mathematics—Modern Equipment Provided for Commercial Course—Other Matters.

The first day of the fall term having passed by, life at the Plainfield public schools is beginning to shape itself according to the regular routine. The pupils have been arranged in their different classes, books have been distributed and regular recitations were begun today. The excitement attendant on the opening of school is now over and everybody, teachers and pupils, are ready to settle down to the work of the winter on the lines laid down.

There are no changes in the general plan of instruction at the schools. The Plainfield schools already possess a reputation in this State for general excellence and there is a general effort to continue the steady march of improvement along all the various lines. The latest modern methods prevail in the lower grades and the lack of room and apparatus is the only drawback to putting the High School on an equally high standard.

Particularly in the commercial course at the High School there have been some valuable changes and additions made. The course is a comparatively new one but its value as a public educational institution is well recognized. It is aimed to fit graduates from that department for an active life in the business world without further training and, to that end, the best modern means along those lines will be taken advantage of.

This year, the commercial course has been enlarged by the addition of history, literature, ancient or modern languages and the sciences as elective subjects. The course in bookkeeping has been improved by the incorporation of the most up-to-date office methods with a new system. A new system of shorthand, the "Gregg," has been introduced. The work in typewriting has been strengthened and the popular "touch" or all-finger method will be taught.

The commercial room has been equipped with new desks of the latest pattern for the teacher and pupils. There are a number of conveniences provided which are only to be found in the most up-to-date schools. George Weeks Sandford is the instructor in this department and has already shown his ability to successfully direct that part of the work.

In the line of mathematics, the subjects of solid geometry and plain trigonometry have been introduced. Last year a few of the pupils of the Senior class considered the advisibility of those subjects. This year they will form part of the regular work of the Senior class in certain courses.

TALENTED PIANO TEACHER.

Miss Mary Vincent Whitney is Well Qualified For Her Work.

Miss Mary Vincent Whitney, whose advertisement appears in another column, is a successful and enthusiastic teacher of music, whose experience has been gained in her connection with the faculties of Hackettstown Seminary (three years,) Carmel Drew Seminary (two years), and a New York Fifth avenue piano school (two years.) During the past year Miss Whitney has taught privately in this city, and those who attended her June musicale in Y. M. C. A. Hall may remember the unusual playing of some of the pupils who had but a few months instruction. The system which guarantees to produce these rapid results is the well-known Virgil method which Miss Whitney has thoroughly studied for several years. She is a pupil of both Mr. and Mrs. Virgil as well as Dr. William Mason and several well-known teachers.

Will Select Candidates.

At the business meeting of the Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church Monday evening last a nominating committee was appointed by President Sheppard to nominate candidates for all the officers for the ensuing year, to be voted for at the next business meeting, Monday evening, October 1st. The following is the committee named: F. E. Smith, H. E. Gayle, H. P. Seader, H. F. Crawford, Miss Sadie Searing.

—300 baskets of peaches at Neuman Brothers, at 25, 35, 50 and 75 cents per basket.

NEW MARKET NUPTIALS.

Miss Della B. Dunn Becomes the Wife of Clayton T. Coon, of This City.

A few intimate friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis J. Dunn, of Center street, New Market, yesterday afternoon, to witness the marriage of Miss Della B. Dunn to Clayton T. Coon, of this city. The ceremony took place in the parlor, which had been tastefully decorated with ferns and golden rod. It was performed by Rev. Martin Sindall, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, of New Market. Soon after the ceremony the young couple left for DeRuyter, N. Y., the groom's former home. After a short stay they will return and take up their residence in Plainfield. A large number of useful as well as handsome presents were donated by the friends of both young people, showing the esteem in which they are held.

FIGHTING FOR A PARDON

NEW JERSEY POLITICIANS FIGHTING PENNSYLVANIA R. R. EFFORTS.

Barney O'Neil a Convict in State Prison—Some Want Him Out and Some Don't.

Political influences in New Jersey are being pitted against political and railroad influences in Pennsylvania to keep Barney O'Neil in the New Jersey State prison at Trenton. O'Neil was a Philadelphia cabman. He is serving a sentence of eighteen years for murderously assaulting Isaac R. Davis, a wealthy manufacturer of Philadelphia, and his sister, Miss Ida Davis, at their cottage in Atlantic City, July 12th, 1896. Both Mr. Davis and his sister were terribly beaten by O'Neil with a piece of iron, as it was shown at the trial, and both narrowly escaped with their lives.

Partly through the efforts of his wife O'Neil has been able to summon to his assistance some of the strongest political leaders in New Jersey. One of her leading supporters in New Jersey is former Judge Thompson, who presided at O'Neil's trial, and who said when he sentenced him that he was sorry he couldn't double the sentence. Now he says to the Board of Pardons that he believes he sentenced an innocent man.

The Philadelphians who have been working for the release of O'Neil are well known in State politics, and they have succeeded in getting Governor Stone and Senator Boies Penrose to ask the Governor of New Jersey to exert his influence with the Board of Pardons in behalf of O'Neil. It is said, however, that the Governor and United States Senator had lately withdrawn their letters asking for a pardon and have sent others, saying that O'Neil had better remain in prison.

The Davis family are convinced that O'Neil was rightly convicted. From the time of the assault they have had assistance of men prominent in the affairs of the Pennsylvania Railroad in pushing the case. The family are heavy stockholders in the road. It is stated in Trenton that John P. Green, first vice-president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, has lately written to United States Senator Sewell, of New Jersey, that O'Neil should serve out his sentence, and that Senator Sewell has used his influence against O'Neil with members of the Board of Pardons who were his personal and political friends.

It is said in Camden that Peter S. Voorhees, the well-known attorney, who has charge of Mr. Davis' interests in Camden, has been retained in the case and will fight the application before the Board of Pardons.

LOST HIS WIFE.

David Blow, a Negro Living on Cottage Place, Believes His Spouse Has Left Him for Good.

David Blow, a negro of good repute living on Cottage place, has lost his wife. She left home April 11th, with the ostensible object of going to visit relatives at Petersburg, Va. But she never reached that place, so the relatives she expected to visit say. Since then Mr. Blow has been hunting for his wife with the aid of the police but not a trace of her has been found. For reasons Mr. Blow refuses to make public he believes that she did not meet with any misfortune but that she has deserted him. According to Mr. Blow's statement she left Plainfield April 11th for Petersburg, Va., promising to return home September 1st. The relatives in Petersburg wrote to say that she never reached there. Then Blow notified the police of that city and other cities where she was acquainted and might have gone but without success. The first of September came but no wife with it. So Mr. Blow believes that she has left him.

INJURED BY FALL FROM MOVING CARS.

Two Accidents Occurred on City Trolley System Last Evening—No Fatal Injuries.

HOW THEY HAPPENED.

MRS. CATHERINE WYCKOFF WALKED OFF MOVING TROLLEY CAR.

Was Taken to Hospital—Gilbert Ryno Did Not Wait for Car to Stop—Thrown to Ground in Front of His Home—Was Carried Into His Own House.

Mrs. Catherine Wyckoff, an aged colored woman living on East Sixth street, was in such a hurry to leave one of the cars of the Elizabeth Street Railway Company last evening that she did not wait for it to stop. She is now in the hospital with a scalp wound and suffering from the shock.

She boarded one of the trolley cars at the station last evening at 8 o'clock and told the conductor that she wanted to get out at Richmond street. Then she left her seat, hurried to the side of the car and stepped off.

The moment she reached the ground she was thrown, striking her head on the stone roadway. Nathan R. Titsworth, of Madison avenue, was in the car and was the first to jump out and reach her. Patrolman Saunders was close by and saw her fall. She was unconscious when they reached her. They carried the woman to the sidewalk and the officer sent for the ambulance.

By the time the ambulance arrived the woman had recovered consciousness, but was very weak. She was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital. Her injuries are not serious.

A second accident occurred on the local trolley line last evening shortly after 9 o'clock. Gilbert Ryno, of 1278 Park avenue, jumped from a moving trolley car directly in front of his home. He was thrown to the ground and severely bruised. Dr. Fritts was called and attended his injuries.

FIGHTERS NOT WELCOME

JUDGE COLLINS WARNS PUGILISTS TO KEEP OUT OF JERSEY.

Reads the Crimes Act to Hudson County Grand Jury—"Mills" are Illegal.

Prize fighters barred out of New York by the repeal of the Horton law have of late been casting longing eyes on the fair shores of Jersey, where they thought they could discern many excellent sites for "mills." Their hopes were, however, badly shattered yesterday by Justice Gilbert Collins, of the Supreme Court, who in opening the September term of the Hudson County Court, in Jersey City, bade defiance to the pugilists and threw down the judical glove of warning.

In his charge to the Grand Jury Justice Collins said that since the repeal in New York of the statute permitting prize fighting, those interested in that matter had contemplated coming across the river into New Jersey. It was just as illegal in this State, however, as in New York. Justice Collins then read section 41 of the Crimes act, which makes it a misdemeanor for any person to engage in any fight or combat with fists, with or without gloves, whether for money or any valuable things, or merely to test the skill or bodily powers of the pugilists, or to aid, assist or abet or be present at any such combat.

Finger Crushed.

George B. Cose, of Grant avenue, an employe of the Aluminum Plate and Press Company, met with an accident yesterday which will detain him from work for sometime. He was placing a piece of machinery in position which was being held up by a helper. The latter accidently let it fall directly upon his right hand. One finger was badly crushed and the hand considerably bruised. He hurried to the hospital where his injuries were dressed, and it is thought that with careful treatment the finger can be saved.

Fruit is Needed.

Those in charge of the Children's Home would gladly receive any donations of fruit. It has been suggested that those who are canning fruit should put up one extra can and donate it to the home. It will not be missed and will be greatly appreciated by the children.

In Case of Rain.

In case of rain this evening the lawn party, which is to be held at 533 West Second street, will be held in T. A. B. Hall, West Fourth street, instead.

OVERDOSE OF HASCHISH

DR. J. C. ANDERSON, A COLORED PHYSICIAN, TOOK TO MUCH.

Was Rumored That He Had Tried to Commit Suicide—Has Recovered From Effects Today.

The entire colored population of the West End was thrown into a furore of excitement last evening by the report that Dr. J. C. Anderson, a colored physician, had committed suicide. The report was not true however, but before the truth could be learned, the doctor's residence on West Third street, near the hospital, was surrounded by a curious crowd and half a dozen doctors' carriages, who had been summoned in the excitement.

The trouble was caused by Dr. Anderson taking an overdose of carmabis indica, the well-known haschish of India, a drug which produces an intoxicating effect. Wishing to test the strength of the drug the doctor placed the bottle to his lips and was in the act of swallowing a small amount when there was a knock at the door. It startled him to such an extent that he swallowed a considerable quantity, taking in all about twenty-five grains. Realizing that he had taken too much he prepared an anti dose, but it had no effect.

He requested his housekeeper to summon a physician. She at once became excited and in her hurry to procure one, gave rise to the suicide story. Several were telephoned to, but Drs. VanHorn and Browning were the first to respond. The others came later. Dr. Anderson had gone into a stupor but restoratives were applied and he was soon resting easily

This morning he had entirely recovered. The doctor, who is married, is a graduate of the New York Homœopathic College, and came here from Jersey City last February. He has a very extensive practice and is well thought of by all.

WITH MILITARY HONORS

FUNERAL OF JOHN RITTENHOUSE WAS HELD YESTERDAY.

Veterans of Winfield Scott Post, G.A.R., Were in Charge of Services at Somerville Cemetery.

The funeral services of John Rittenhouse were held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from his late home on New street, and was largely attended by relatives and friends, also Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., of which the deceased was a member, being a veteran of the Civil War. Rev. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, conducted the services, and after reading appropriate Scripture selections, he talked briefly concerning the life of the departed. He dwelt on the fact that he had died in the faith and that a life of suffering had passed to one of joy and happiness. He also spoke of Mr. Rittenhouse being a member of Trinity Reformed church, and of his attendance at services when able. Reference was made to his service to his country when the call came to fight for it and defend her interests.

During the services Elmer E. Runyon sang three selections in an impressive manner. After the service at the house the remains were taken to Somerville where they were interred in the family plot in the cemetery at that place. At the cemetery the members of Post No. 73, G. A. R., had charge, under the direction of Commander Berg, assisted by Comrades W. C. Smith, Andrew Cox and M. C. Dobbins, each of whom had a part. The customary salutes were given by the firing squad under the direction of Officer of the Guard John I. Finley. The squad was composed of Comrades Preston B. Goodfellow, Israel Compton, Abram King, Charles Rithenhausen, Albert G. Perry, John W. Wagner and Firman Gise.

The pall-bearers were William H. Staats, W. C. Smith, John R. Naylor, N. C. Pennington, Robert J. Walker and M. C. Dobbins, from Post No. 73, G. A. R. There were a number of floral tributes, including a large pillow from the G. A. R., and several other set pieces and bunches of flowers.

A "Paper German."

A "Paper German" will be held at the Hotel Netherwood this evening. It derives its name from the fact that the favors have all been made by the young women out of paper. They are quite novel. The affair is given in honor of Miss Helen Humphrey, of Washington, D. C., who is the guest of Miss May Coleman. The German will be led by Norman Pendergast, of New York, and Laurens H. VanBuren, of this city. It will begin at 8:30 o'clock.

REPUBLICAN BANNER GOES UP TOMORROW.

Band Concert and Speaking Will Mark Its Appearance Tomorrow.

WILL GO ON NORTH AVE.

BANNER RAISING WILL MARK BEGINNING OF CAMPAIGN.

LaVere's Band will Play From 7 to 9 o'clock With Interval at 8 for Speaking—Enrollment Officers Appointed.

The Republicans will open their campaign tomorrow evening unless it happens to rain. The new campaign banner arrived here from the makers in Elizabeth Monday and was placed in position at once. It was done without the knowledge of Councilman J. F. Buckle, chairman of the banner sub-committee of the city committee, and was hauled in this morning. At a meeting of the Republican executive committee last evening it was decided to formally throw the banner to the breeze tomorrow evening to the accompaniment of speaking and music.

It was first intended to hold the banner raising late in the afternoon but the committee decided that it would be better, perhaps, to hold it in the evening instead and so the change was made. The details of the affair are in the hands of a sub-committee of which Councilman J. F. Buckle is chairman. They have arranged to have the band stand erected on North avenue in front of the Hotel Kensington. A band concert will begin at 7 o'clock and continue until the banner raising an hour later. Then there will be a short speech by some prominent Republican after which the band will play for another hour.

The committee also completed arrangements for the enrollment of the Republican voters in the city. The days, September 20 and 27, were set for the taking of the enrollment which will be conducted in a similar way to the registration of voters. The Republican election officers were appointed to take the enrollment.

It was decided to hold meetings of the committee twice a month hereafter, on the second and fourth Tuesday evening of each month. Arrangements will be made with the State committee for speakers for a mass meeting to be held here some day next month.

TROUBLED WITH TRAMPS

GANGS OF HOBOES IN THE BOROUGH COMMITTING DEPREDATIONS.

Borough Marshals Looking for Them—They May Have Been Implicated in Burglary at Jeter's House.

For several days past North Plainfield has been the mecca for a number of hoboes. Unfortunately, the marshals have failed to capture these men and they are still at large. In view of the robbery at the home of Mr. Jeter, and other depredations of a smaller character, it seems highly probable that these men may have had something to do with these robberies. A woman living on the east side of the borough returned to her home yesterday afternoon, and while she went to the back door to enter the house she left a basket of provisions on the front porch. When she got in her house and went to get her basket it was not there.

Monday night three suspicious characters were seen on Race street, near the old electric light station. Several persons saw them, but failed to report the matter to the police. Yesterday a gang of three called at W. H. Combs' place of business on Linden avenue and demanded some money. The request was refused. The men then became abusive and had to be driven from the place. From there the tramps went to the home of Mrs. Weiss on Grove street and again demanded money. They failed again in their purpose and left the house, swearing and making all kinds of threats. As soon as possible word was sent to Chief Campbell and last night a vigilant search was made throughout the borough in the hope of catching the tramps.

Political Clam Bake.

The North Plainfield Republican Club will give a Rhode Island clam bake this evening at Mountainside Grove, at the terminus of the Somerset street trolley. The bake will be opened at 7 o'clock. There will be good speeches and LaVere's band will be present to discourse popular music.

AID FOR GALVESTON

An Opportunity Given to Plainfielders to Aid Sufferers in the Stricken City in Texas.

Already the appeal for help for the Galveston sufferers is being responded to nobly from all parts of the country. Subscriptions are pouring in and in a short time relief trains will be sent to the southwest. Plainfield people have been asked to contribute by the New York World through Mayor Rockfellow. The Mayor received a telegram last evening stating that their wagons would call here in a short time for any donations of money, clothing or food. Plainfield has always been noted for its charitableness and the Mayor earnestly requests that the people contribute liberally toward such a worthy object. Goods or money may be left at The Press office and they will be properly taken care of until the arrival of the World's wagon.

STATE GOLF CHAMPION.

WILL BE DECIDED AT CONTEST AT ORANGE THIS MONTH.

Hillside Players Will Participate in First Championship Play in New Jersey—Team Contest.

For the first time New Jersey will this year have an amateur State golf championship and, judging from the showing made by the best golfers of the State, there are some young men from this city who will have a fair show of being at or near the top when the contest is played. This question of an individual State champion is to be settled on the links of the Essex County Country Club, at Orange, September 27th, 28th and 29th.

The New Jersey Golf Association was organized early in the summer for the definite object of holding an individual championship this fall. The date and place was then fixed. In addition to the regular championship competition, with a round of medal play and match play to complete it, there is also a contest for the best team of five men and a handicap competition.

So far the clubs which have joined the association are the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, of this city, the Morris County Country Club, of Morristown, the Essex County Country Club, of Orange, the Lakewood Golf Club, the North Jersey Golf Club, the Englewood Golf Club, the Montclair Golf Club, the Jersey City Golf Club and the Boltusrol Golf Club. Only members of these clubs will be eligible to compete.

The Hillside Club will undoubtedly be well represented in the contests. In the team match there is hardly anything in the State which can defeat the combination of W. L. Glenney, Frank Reinhart, Frank Talmage, Willard Wadsworth and J. Whitney Baker. If they all compete in the championship contest, Plainfield should be heard from in the finals.

SOCIABLE ON THE LAWN.

Pleasant Affair Given by Members of Christian Endeavor Society of Hope Chapel.

The Christian Endeavor Society of Hope chapel gave a pleasant entertainment and sociable on the chapel lawn last evening. The grounds were enclosed with bands of bunting and were lighted by numerous colored lanterns, which, with the rays of the moon, made the scene almost as bright as day.

An informal programme of vocal and instrumental selections was rendered, every number of which was loudly encored. At its conclusion refreshments were passed by a corps of young ladies and the rest of the evening was passed in a social manner.

Those who had charge of the affair, which was a financial as well as social success, were Miss Frances Cose, chairman, assisted by the Misses Marion Porter, Margaret Porter, Mabel Firstbrook, and the Messrs. John Young, William Hangliter, George Slorah and Fred Newman.

Annual Meeting of W. C. T. U.

The annual meeting of the W.C.T.U. will be held in their rooms, 100 Madison avenue, tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. The president's address will be given and the election of officers will take place during the morning. In the afternoon State President Mrs. Bourne and others will make addresses. All are cordially invited.

Struck in the Face With a Pail.

Winfield Smalley, a hay carter, living in Dunellen, was struck in the face with a water pail by another carter at Mountainside last evening. He received an ugly gash over the eye, which bled profusely. He was assisted to this city and the injury was dressed by Dr. Clawson.

DEMOCRATS GATHER AT STATE CAPITAL.

Democratic State Convention to Choose Presidental Electors Meets Today.

VERY LITTLE EXCITEMENT.

UNION COUNTY WILL SUPPORT PETER BONNETT AS ELECTOR.

Sam'l S. Childs Fixed On at Third District Caucus—Hudson County Leaders Were Conspicuously Absent.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Trenton, September 12.—Except for the noticeable absence of the Hudson county leaders, the usual throng of Democratic leaders from all over Jersey is assembled in Trenton today for the Democratic State convention. There is little excitement as the only offices to be apportioned out are those of Presidental Electors. The convention met in Taylor's Opera House at noon, and after a short adjournment, will continue its proceedings this afternoon.

The Union county delegation held its caucus at the Democratic Lyceum on Warren street this morning at 11 o'clock. Col. D. F. Collins, of Elizabeth, was made chairman, and W. W. St. John, of Plainfield, secretary. The convention honors were then chosen as follows: Vice-president, City Attorney James Connolly, of Elizabeth; committee on credentials, F. W. Park, of Cranford; committee on permanent organization, Dr. E. B. Silvers, of Rahway; committee on rules and resolutions, George A. Ford, of Elizabeth.

It was decided to present the name of Former Mayor Peter Bonnett, of Elizabeth, as candidate for district elector at the caucus of the Eighth Congressional district delegates. It was also decided that the delegation should vote on a unit on all questions.

At the caucus of the Somerset county delegates, N. Y. Dungan, of Bound Brook, was chosen chairman, and Nathan Weill, of Somerville, secretary. The convention honors were fixed as follows: Vice president, W. H. Mattison, of Somerville; committee on resolutions, W. J. Keyes, of Somerville; committee on rules, Abram Dunn, of Bedminster; committee on permanent organization, John J. Gaffney, of Somerville; committee on credentials, M. Mount Corle, of Neshanic.

The delegation declared its intention of supporting Samuel S. Childs, of Bernards, as candidate for elector in the Third Congressional district. A committee composed of J. J. Gaffney, William J. Logan and Sheriff Schoonmaker, all of Somerville, were appointed to confer with other counties in the district concerning the candidate for elector.

Committees from Middlesex and Monmouth met with the Somerset county committee and it was finally agreed to support Childs for the electorship after Mr. Childs had declared that he would withdraw from the race for the nomination to Congress and would accept the nomination as an elector instead.

There are only ten delegates here from Hudson county, all the rest having gone on the annual outing of the Robert Davis Association. The vast majority of the delegates uphold Chairman Gourley strongly in his action in refusing to change the date of the State convention so that it would not fall on the same day with the outing of the Hudson county politicians.

The convention was called to order shortly after 12 o'clock by William B. Gourley, chairman of the State committee. Col. E. Livingston Price, of Newark, was introduced as the temporary chairman and made an address. The permanent chairman will be Former Governor George T. Werts.

The two delegates-at-large will be chosen from among Philip P. Baker, of Vineland; G. D. W. Vroom, of Trenton; Gottfried Krueger, of Newark; Peter Hauck, of Harrison, and Henry M. Harley, of Camden.

Guy Wire Broke.

One of the heavy guy wires supporting the pole an North avenue to which the Republican banner is attached was broken by the high wind this morning. It snapped with a loud report, frightening the passersby. It will be repaired in time for the raising tomorrow night.

Death of a Little Son.

Bartholomay Murphy, the two-year-old son of Timothy Murphy, of West Fourth street, died last evening after a short illness of bronchitis. The funeral services will be held Friday afternoon.

FORTIETH BIRTHDAY.

Long Established House of Amos H. VanHorn, Ltd., Celebrates—Opening Anniversary Sale—Gifts for All.

Forty years in one business in the same city is a thing to be proud of, and one is little suprised that a house of such pretensions as that of Amos H. VanHorn, Limited, 75 Market street, Newark, is making a great time over its arrival "at the years of discretion," celebrating the event with a literal reduction on every line of goods they carry.

Over four acres of floor room is what they are said to have in furniture, carpets, bedding, stoves and general housefurnishing; to walk over even half of their floor space is enough to see how well they utilize every inch of it.

Each department, parlor suits, bedroom suits, dining furniture, carpets, bedding, stoves, and so on, has its own floor and often two floors apiece, so that selling goods is a pleasure and not at all confusing.

The extreme liberality of this Amos H. VanHorn, Ltd., establishment is proven every day by the growth of their patronage. They invariably go ahead of the usual credit plans in their granting of really liberal credit terms, yet they also sell for cash.

An important item in connection with this particular sale is the elaborateness of the gift that goes to each buyer. This firm will certainly be remembered long and pleasantly.

Stood Death Off.

E. B. Mundsy, a lawyer of Henrietta Tex., once fooled a grave-digger. He says: "My brother was very low with malarial fever and jaundice. I persuaded him to try Electric Bitters, and he was soon much better, but continued their use until he was wholly cured. I am sure Electric Bitters saved his life." This remedy expels malaria, kills disease germs and purifies the blood; aids digestion, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, cures constipation, dyspepsia, nervous diseases, kidney troubles, female complaints; gives perfect health. Only 50c at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

A Night of Terror.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham, of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she would die from Pneumonia before morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night, "but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, which had more than once saved her life, and cured her of Consumption. After taking, she slept all night. Further use entirely cured her." This marvellous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

Miss Mamie Nugent, of New Brunswick, is spending a few days with Miss Maude Allen, of Jackson avenue.

George Keiderling, of Berckman street, has returned home after spending the summer at Little Silver. He contemplates leaving for England in a few weeks.

—The wolf in the fable put on sheep's clothing because if he traveled on his own reputation he couldn't accomplish his purpose. Counterfeiters of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve couldn't sell their worthless salves on their merits, so they put them in boxes and wrappers like DeWitt's. Look out for them. Take only DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It cures piles and all skin diseases. L. W. Randolph.

Mrs. Charles Dutcher, of East Fourth street, is spending two weeks with friends at Newburg, N.Y.

Mrs. John Will, of New York is pending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Haring, of West Front street.

MAINE'S ELECTION.

Delayed Returns Show Republican Plurality of 32,000.

LEWISTON, Me., Sept. 12.—Belated election returns from all over the state have come sifting in, but with the exception of Knox county very few showed any decided change from those already received. The estimates sent out hold good, and with 375 cities, towns and plantations heard from out of a total of 512 the estimated Republican plurality for the state ticket remains at 32,000. The total vote of the above towns gives Hill (Rep.) 68,237 and Lord (Dem.) 38,101.

The same places in 1896 gave Powers (Rep.) 76,398 and Frank (Dem.) 31,790. These show a Republican loss of 11 per cent and a Democratic gain of 22 per cent.

Perhaps one of the most notable features of the election was the Democratic victory in Knox county, where, owing to labor troubles, every Republican candidate was badly knifed, and only Congressman Littlefield and Sheriff Ulmer succeeded in coming out ahead of their opponents. This was surprising, as Knox county is Mr. Littlefield's home. The Democratic candidate for governor carried the county and pulled along with him the senatorial candidate, L. H. Staples of Washington, and the latter will have the distinction of being the only Democrat in the upper branch of the legislature.

Despite the Democratic gains in Knox county the complexion of the legislature will not change, and the Republicans will probably be able to muster next winter 155 votes on joint ballot for William P. Frye for United States senator. It will probably be two or three days longer before all the little towns and plantations send in their several votes.

Battle of Brandywine Celebrated.

WEST CHESTER, Pa., Sept. 12.—The one hundred and twenty-third anniversary of the battle of Brandywine was celebrated yesterday on the battlefield where on Sept. 11, 1777, for the first time the Continental army carried the stars and stripes into battle. It had been adopted as the national flag by congress a few months before. The ceremonies incident to the celebration began at noon, when a salute of 13 guns was fired. This was followed by a flag raising, during which thousands of persons present joined in singing "The Star Spangled Banner." Two cannon presented by the government were placed in position, marking the patriots' line of battle. The orator of the day was Judge Isaac Johnson of Media. The celebration was under the auspices of General George R. McCall Post No. 31, Grand Army of the Republic. The visitors included prominent G. A. R. men and persons from the surrounding counties.

Fatal Explosion.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12.—One man was killed and seven others seriously, some perhaps fatally, injured, and a number of others slightly hurt by the bursting of a four inch steam pipe at the Baldwin Locomotive works. The dead man is James Mulcahy, aged 24, and the most seriously injured are Dennis Delaney, aged 38; Andrew Burns, 48; James Kelly, 32; Harry McQuinn, 29; Adolph Hoeschler, 34; Patrick McConagle, 36, and James Smith, 25 years. The accident occurred in the tender shop, and most of the victims are steamfitters who were engaged about the boilers, putting the finishing touches on a device intended to do away with the smoke nuisance. All the injured men, including Mulcahy, were either scalded by escaping steam or burned by live coals which were blown out of the fire boxes of four boilers by the force of the explosion.

Chicago Storm Swept.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—A remarkable windstorm has blown over Chicago. For the greater part of the time the velocity was about 60 miles an hour, but this increased to 84 miles. All vessels hurried to secure anchorages. Two big ore boats started out from South Chicago and had to put back. All the lake transportation lines to Michigan quit. None of the night boats has left the harbor. The wind was so strong that it turned the current of the Chicago river, and it is again flowing into the lake. Several houses were unroofed by the gale, but no one was seriously injured. Thousands of dollars' worth of damage was done by the blowing down of trees, shrubs and plants and the breaking of windows.

Old New Yorker Dead.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Henry Q. Lansing is dead at his home in Flushing, N. Y., aged 79 years. He was born in Albany and was admitted to the bar there. He came to Brooklyn after the close of the war of the rebellion and practiced law there for many years. He had lived in Flushing since 1887. He was unmarried. Mr. Lansing came of old Revolutionary stock. His great grandfathers, Colonel Henry Quackenbush and Colonel Jacob Lansing, were officers of the patriot army, and Colonel Quackenbush had command of the detachment which brought General Burgoyne from Saratoga to Albany after his surrender. Mr. Lansing was a prominent Freemason.

Montgomery County Republicans.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., Sept. 12.—The Montgomery county Republicans have nominated this ticket: Assemblyman, Alphonso Walrath; county judge, Leonard F. Fish; surrogate, W. Barlow Dunlap; sheriff, Jay Hare; county clerk, Jacob Saltsman; coroners, Dr. W. R. Pierce and Dr. F. D. Vickers.

GALVESTON'S PLIGHT

Soldiers Patrol Streets to Prevent Looting.

DEAD BODIES BURIED IN TRENCHES.

Relief Trains on the Way—Homeless People Living in Freight Cars. Every Building in Pearland Washed Away.

HOUSTON, Sept. 12.—The condition of affairs in Galveston has not been materially affected by the work of the relief bands. The terrible state of the thoroughfares, owing to the wholesale demolition of the buildings and the tearing up of the pavement, renders rapid progress impossible.

The white cotton screwmen's organization held a meeting in Galveston and tendered their services, that of 500 able-bodied men, to the public to clear the streets of debris. Big forces were at work. The city is being patrolled by regular soldiers and citizen soldiery. No one is allowed on the streets without a pass. Several negroes were shot for not halting when ordered. It is reported that three of the citizen soldiery were shot by negroes.

The steamer Lawrence arrived in Galveston with water and provisions.

A committee of 100 citizens was aboard, among them being doctors and cooks. W. G. Van Vleck, general manager of the Southern Pacific, said he thought it would be possible to establish mail service from Houston to Texas City with transfer boats to Galveston.

Dead bodies have decomposed so badly it is impossible to send them to sea for burial. The water has receded so far, however, that it is possible to dig trenches, and bodies are being buried where found. Debris covering bodies is being burned where it can be done so safely.

G. L. Russ, passenger conductor on the International and Great Northern railroad, was among a party of refugees who reached this city. Mr. Russ said to a reporter:

"I will not attempt to describe the horror of it all; that is impossible. When I left Galveston, men armed with Winchester rifles were standing over burying squads and at the point of rifles compelling them to load the corpses on drays to be hauled to barges, on which they are towed into the gulf by tugs and tossed into the sea.

"As I left I saw a barge freighted with dead on its journey to the gulf.

"This manner of burial is imperative. The living must be protected now."

Mr. Russ' story has been confirmed.

Adjutant General Scurry, who is now in Houston, states it as his opinion that the state militia should be called out and sent to Galveston to prevent looting, vandalism and other lawless acts.

Pursuant to the proclamation of Mayor Brashear issued Sunday night, a citizens' meeting was held in the city council chamber and an organization effected for the relief of the victims of the storm at Galveston and other places. The following telegram was received by the mayor from Governor Sayers dated Austin, Sept. 10:

"I have taken the liberty of directing that all supplies of food and clothing for Galveston be shipped to you. Will you undertake to forward them when received to Galveston for distribution? Answer quick."

Mayor Brashear immediately replied that all supplies would be distributed where most needed.

The scene in and about Virginia Point is indescribable. Those who survived the flood and destruction are nearly all severely injured.

The Santa Fe railroad ran its first relief train to Hitchcock, finding conditions along its line about the same as prevailed along the Galveston, Houston and Henderson railroad.

Every building in Pearland was either damaged or destroyed, but no lives were lost there.

At Alvin great damage was done to property, and the following deaths are reported, in addition to seven previously recorded:

Mrs. J. W. Collins, killed by falling timbers; W. P. Hawley, a resident of Alvin, met death in a similar manner.

W. C. Meham and wife were seriously injured by flying timber.

Angleton and the surrounding country suffered severely from the storm, and assistance is much needed. Algoa, Arcadia and Alto Loma show signs of the severe visitation, and many are in need of help. The 12-year-old son of James Rodecher was killed at Arcadia. Two children lost their lives at Alto Loma.

One hundred ammunition boxes from Camp Hawley were found near Hitchcock, and a pile driver from the Huntington wharf was driven inland to within a few hundred yards of the town.

The prairie is covered with drift of all kinds, dead cattle, water craft of all sizes, buggies and wagons. Searching parties have found a dozen bodies in Hall's bayou and buried them, and the work is not half completed. The railroad track from Hitchcock to Virginia Point has been entirely washed away.

At Hitchcock 16 lives were lost. Two Italian families of 13 persons lost 12 of their number by drowning. The following were killed by falling timbers: Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Johnson, William Robinson and a child named Dominico.

Nuns From Newark Lost.

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 12.—Twenty-four nuns at the Catholic Convent of the Sacred Heart at Galveston came from Newark. They have not been heard from, nor have they been mentioned in the news reports, and their relatives in New Jersey fear they are dead.

CONVENTION OPENS.

Democrats Prepare to Nominate State Ticket.

STANCHFIELD WILL PROBABLY LEAD

William F. Mackey May Accept Second Place—Hill Determined to Place Coler's Name Before the Assemblage.

SARATOGA, Sept. 12.—John B. Stanchfield will be nominated for governor by the Democratic state convention, and his name will be presented to the convention by Judge S. S. Taylor of Chemung.

Hon. William F. Mackey of Erie has been offered second place upon the ticket and has agreed to give an answer as to whether he will accept before the convention again assembles. Mr. Mackey will accept, and the head of the state ticket will be Stanchfield and Mackey.

This fact is definitely known. Other places upon the ticket are not so certain and probably will not be definitely determined until tomorrow.

This, however, is the ticket which seems most probable of final acceptance:

For Governor—John B. Stanchfield of Chemung.

For Lieutenant Governor—William F. Mackey of Erie.

For Secretary of State—John T. Norton of Rensselaer.

For Comptroller—Edwin A. Atwater of Dutchess.

For Attorney General—George M. Palmer of Schoharie.

For Treasurer—Guy H. Clarke of Madison.

For Engineer and Surveyor—Russell A. Stewart of Onondaga.

Only an absolute breach of faith can prevent the selection of the two at the head of this ticket, and only the persistent claims of up state leaders will upset the completed ticket. This seems improbable, as the candidates are admirably distributed as to geographical conditions and probably as uniformly satisfactory to all factions as could be named. While many names have been suggested as available candidates the generally unsettled conditions have prevented the appearance of any avowed aspirants for nomination.

Despite the absolute hopelessness of the prospect Mr. Hill is still determined to present the name of Mr. Coler to the convention, and in order that the nomination shall come from his own county Otto Kempner of Kings is understood to have been prevailed upon to make the nominating speech.

Senator Hill, it is expected, will make a speech seconding the nomination. This expectation seems to be very much verified from the fact that when a delegation called upon him to serenade him and demanded a speech he appeared and asked to be excused, but promised that he would be in the convention today and those present would be given a chance to hear him. Beaten at every stage in the committee and in the preliminary skirmishes and with a hopeless prospect in the convention, Mr. Hill still greets his friends smilingly, and this situation has led many to believe that the shrewd politician has a view beyond the duration of the convention and that his real conflict is in prospect in the mayoralty campaign in Greater New York next year.

So far as surface indications appear the present situation is as it has been during the past 48 hours. The proceedings beyond the eruption caused by the presentation of the anti-ice trust resolution by Professor Duncan C. Lee of Cornell have been insignificant.

The committee on credentials has given exhaustive hearings to the different contestants, and the subcommittee on platform has read the prepared drafts of the platform. Neither has reached a conclusion, and all is in abeyance. A brief shower did not dampen the enthusiasm of the delegates. Broadway was ablaze with the glare of Chinese lanterns which were arched over and across the street and along the sides, while the air reverberated with the strains of music as the bands paraded with the long procession of marching clubs from New York, Albany, Troy, Syracuse, Buffalo and other cities. During all of this a blaze of greek fire added luster to the scene, and thousands of tin horns gave vent to the enthusiasm of the spectators.

The convention was first called to order yesterday morning. The hall was filled to overflowing. Chairman Frank Campbell stated that he had been directed by the state committee to present the name of Hon. Patrick E. McCarren of Kings as temporary chairman of the convention. This selection was quickly ratified, and Elliot Danforth and Norman E. Mack were appointed to escort him to the chair. At this time it was noticeable that Senator David B. Hill was not in the hall, and it was recalled that Mr. Hill did not attend the opening session of the Kansas City convention, and his absence caused little comment. It was also a matter of comment that the convention was opened without prayer, Chairman Campbell merely announcing the selection of Senator McCarren as temporary presiding officer and Charles R. De Freest, John A. Mason and Calvin J. Hudson as temporary secretaries.

As Messrs. Danforth and Mack reached Senator McCarren's seat he arose to greet them and was hailed with cheers.

Every mention of Bryan's name brought forth cheers. Senator McCarren's arraignment of the Republican legislative record was also cheered with enthusiasm, as was also his denunciation of the national administration.

As Senator McCarren concluded there was a fresh outburst of applause, and as it subsided he directed that the roll of delegates be called. When Secretary De Freest called the name of David B. Hill as first upon the list of the Second district there was an instant outburst of cheering from every section of the hall. The cheering and applause continued for several minutes, the ladies in the galleries joining in the demonstration with waving handkerchiefs and fans.

As the roll call proceeded frequent cheers were given for favorites as their names were called, Senator Mackey being particularly favored in this respect. Finally the name of Richard Croker was called, and again the convention and spectators broke into a tumultuous demonstration. The roll call was finally concluded and all substitutions made.

The usual resolution for the appointment of committees on credentials, resolutions and permanent organization was offered and adopted without friction of any character.

Professor Lee of Tompkins county, a delegate, offered a resolution condemning the ice trust. The chair refused to allow it to be read, and while he was protesting the convention adjourned.

MINERS DETERMINED.

Benjamin James Says United Workers Will Not Back Down.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 12.—Benjamin James states that the United Workers will not back down and that the only outcome will be a strike or a satisfactory adjustment of the miners' grievances. Father Phillips has left for Philadelphia and Washington. While he refused to say that his mission was to confer with the officers of the National Federation of Labor at the capital, it is believed here that he will make further efforts to have the trouble in the anthracite coalfields settled in an amicable manner.

The superintendents of the Mineral company and of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company have been notified from their respective executive headquarters that if the men at the Cameron, Burnside and Henry Clay collieries go on strike in sufficient numbers to cause the operations to be closed down, then the mules and iron shall be taken from the operations and the latter abandoned. For some time the collieries have not been paying investments, according to statements by the companies. If the three operations are shut down, 3,000 men and boys will be thrown out of employment.

Incorporations at Albany.

ALBANY, Sept. 12.—The following companies have filed articles of incorporation: Fred D. Morris company of Lockport, to deal in hardware; capital, $7,500; directors, Fred D. Morris, Minnie E. Morris and M. Jennie Wicker of Lockport. The Telepher company of New York city, to manufacture wagons and vehicles; capital, $4,000; directors, Charles W. Coleman, E. T. Wastell and Anna L. Sorensen of New York city. Sanitary Chemical Manufacturing company of Buffalo; capital, $10,000; directors, J. H. Brown, G. K. Staples and T. H. Noonan of Buffalo. The Newport Knitting company of Newport, Herkimer county; capital, $30,000; directors, Titus Sheard, Frank Senior and Homer P. Snyder of Little Falls.

Delaware Democrats.

DOVER, Del., Sept. 12.—The Democratic state convention adjourned after having placed in nomination the following ticket: Presidential electors, John H. Rodney of New Castle county, William G. Postles of Kent county, William E. Cannon of Sussex county; governor, Peter J. Ford of Wilmington; lieutenant governor, Dr. W. F. Hoey of Frederica; congressman (long term), Alexander M. Daly of Dover; congressman (unexpired term), Dr. Edward Fowler of Laurel; attorney general, Peter L. Cooper of Wilmington; state treasurer, William Louder Sirman of Delmar; auditor of accounts, Walter Donohe of Seaford; insurance commissioner, Francis D. Baldwin of Hockessin.

Yankee Tars Race British Jackies.

BAR HARBOR, Sept. 12.—A southeast wind, accompanied by rain, spoiled the interest in the boat races between the cutters and gigs from the British and American squadrons. The races were started at half past 10, five gigs from the British ships coming to the line. The flagship Crescent's boat took the lead at once and held it to the finish off the Mount Desert reading room. She won the $50 purse offered by William Butler Duncan of New York. Six ten oared cutters started in the American ships' race. It was won by only half a dozen strokes by the crew from the flagship New York. Owing to the bad weather Vice Admiral Bedford's reception on board the Crescent has been postponed.

Maiden Trip of New Steamer.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The new steamer Princess Irene, the latest addition to the large fleet of vessels of the North German Lloyd Steamship company, sailed from Bremen on Sunday on her maiden trip to this port. She carries 1,051 passengers and 2,500 tons of cargo. The Princess Irene is a twin screw steamer of 10,000 tons. The vessel is placed in the New York service only temporarily. She is due to arrive in this port about Tuesday, Sept. 18.

Divine Healer Blamed For Death.

SYRACUSE, Sept. 12.—John H. Stearns, a farmer of Cazenovia, has died in this city of cancer of the stomach. He had been attended by Francis Barnes, who claims to be a divine healer. Dr. L. F. Weaver, coroner of this county, has made complaint to the district attorney with a view of prosecuting Barnes and putting an end to faith cure practice in this locality.

Arma Senkrah's Suicide.

BERLIN, Sept. 12.—It is now said that the otherwise inexplicable suicide of Arma Senkrah, the American violinist, formerly Miss Harkness, who married Herr Hoffman, a Weimar attorney, was due to anonymous letter writers whom the Weimar police are now endeavoring to trace.

Died From Fall From Apple Tree.

NYACK, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Henry Jordan, a well known resident of Nanuet, 70 years old, lies dead from a fall from an apple tree. He went up in the tree to pick some apples and a limb broke. Mr. Jordan fell, striking on his head, dying in a few hours.

Utica's Population 56,383.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—The population of the city of Utica, N. Y., as officially announced is: In 1900, 56,383; in 1890, 44,007. These figures show for the city as a whole an increase in population of 12,376 or 28.12 per cent from 1890 to 1900.

CHAMBERLAIN'S MANIFESTO.

Colonial Secretary Wants His Boer Policy Upheld.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, secretary of state for the colonies, in the form of a letter to the Durham Conservative association, issues an election manifesto. Referring to the settlement in South Africa he says:

"I should seriously fear that if by any cause the Liberals were now returned to office they would be ready to throw away in connection with the settlement the position which has been so hardly gained by the sacrifices of war.

"I hope every elector who feels that the arrogant and arbitrary tyranny of the Boer oligarchy, culminating in an invasion of her majesty's territories, requires to be dealt with by a strong hand will support the Unionist candidates at the polls."

Reunion of Artillerymen.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Sept. 12.—The thirty-eighth annual reunion of the Tenth New York Heavy artillery, which won fame in the civil war, is now being held. Three hundred members are present from all parts of the state and from other states. Yesterday afternoon the old veterans went to Sackets Harbor, a historic military town, to visit the spot where the regiment was mustered into service. Mrs. U. S. Grant, daughter and granddaughter, who were expected to arrive at Sackets Harbor, the scene of General Grant's early military experience, have not yet arrived owing to the illness of Mrs. Grant's daughter.

Fighters Warned From New Jersey.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Supreme Court Justice Gilbert Collins in charging the Hudson county (N. J.) grand jury referred to reports that had reached him concerning the alleged intention of New York sporting managers to pull off prizefights in Hoboken and adjacent towns. Judge Collins declared that prizefighting in New Jersey was illegal and read that portion of the crimes act which makes it a misdemeanor for any one to engage in such sport, whether with or without gloves, or to assist or abet such exhibitions.

NOT READY FOR LI.

State Department Holds Negotiations In Abeyance.

MAY WAIT TO HEAR FROM CONGER

Consul Fowler's Report of the Expeditions to Rescue Missionaries Fleeing From Interior—Japanese Minister Lends Steamer.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—From the formal statement given out it appears that the state department is not yet ready to begin direct negotiations with Li Hung Chang. It does not question his credentials as a plenipotentiary, but simply leaves the matter in abeyance. Probably this is because all of the powers have not yet returned their responses to the Russian note, and it is desired to avoid making the United States the first among the powers to abandon the hope of harmonious action and strike out itself toward a settlement directly with China. Also it may be deemed well to wait to hear from Mr. Conger, who several days ago was invited to express his opinion about quitting Peking. Minister Wu was twice at the state department yesterday. It was understood that his first call was in part at least to secure transportation for Li Hung Chang from Shanghai to Taku on a United States vessel. His latter call was to receive the answer of the department to that application as well as to the communication respecting Li Hung Chang's functions. The answer returned by the state department to the latter communication apparently made it unnecessary at this time to pursue the inquiry as to the ship. If Li may not enter into negotiations at present, there is no occasion to transport him to Taku.

The state department has received a report from Mr. John Fowler, United States consul at Chefu, showing the steps taken by him to secure a vessel to go to the rescue of the missionaries and their families who were escaping from the interior of China. The consul says that through the extreme kindness of the Japanese consul, Mr. R. Tayui, he succeeded in obtaining a Japanese steamer, the Kwanko Maru, which made four trips along the coast.

The consul incloses a report made by Rev. George Cornwell, who went in charge of the ship on its trip to Yangkioakou, an inlet on the coast of northern Shangtung, over 200 miles due west of Chefu, to rescue the endangered Americans and other foreign missionaries. Dr. Cornwell says that with much difficulty he got many of the missionaries to come down to Yangkioakou from the interior. On the way to Chefu with missionaries he had gathered in the Japanese ship Heian was met at Taipingwan, and an effort was made to get her to pick up some of the missionaries who might come down later to the coast. The captain and his officers were very pleasant and ready to do everything they could, but the compredore, after parleying a long time, refused to wait for the people at Yangkioakou, to take them aboard if they came out while he was unloading and even to take on board any one to meet them, though he was offered $300 a day, and the captain urged him to accept. Dr. Cornwell says:

"We put before him the serious nature of his refusal, as it was positively a matter of life and death, but it was of no use. Then we threatened him with dismissal from the Kaiping company and summary treatment from American and Japanese consuls if he persisted in his refusal. He practically ordered us to leave the ship, and we did so, leaving him in a crowd of evil looking Chinese passengers. The captain said he could not act contrary to the compredore's orders ordinarily, but he declared that if any refugees came out to him at Yangkioakou he would take them aboard and protect them with no regard to what the compredore would say."

The war department has made public the following telegrams:

"Fowler, Chefu. Send following cablegram to Coolidge, commanding United States forces, Tien-tsin:

"'Reported here extensive looting in Tien-tsin. Report immediately whether American troops took part. If so, punish severely; repress sternly. Absolute regard for life and property of noncombatants enjoined. By order of secretary of war.' CORBIN."

"Chefu, Corbin, Washington. Tien-tsin, July 25.—Looting by American troops walled city Tien-tsin unfounded and denied. Silver taken from burned mint under direction (Colonel) Meade (marine corps), commanding, who was invalided today. No property destroyed except under military exigency. American troops have orders to protect life and property noncombatants in American southeast quarter (of) city assigned them. Will forward reports commanders of American guards in city.

"COOLIDGE."

Supplementary to the above Colonel Coolidge also transmitted the reports of Major Waller of marine corps, Major J. M. Lee, commanding the First battalion of the Ninth infantry, and Major Morris C. Foote, commanding Company M of the Ninth, which latter were the first American troops to enter the city, and also an additional report signed by himself, all of which bear witness that United States troops had no part in the looting. Indeed all the reports indicate that the Chinese themselves were foremost in the looting and that pillaged property covered the streets before the allied forces entered the city.

Sept. 24, 25 and 27—Bible conference conducted by Don O. Shelton, under auspices of Y. M. C. A.

It is a cold day, indeed, when Senator John Kean does not exercise his shrewd business judgment to good advantage. Now the Senator is reclaiming fifty acres of marsh land in the vicinity of Elizabethport by the purchase of a large quantity of dirt that is to be taken from the underground transit tunnel in New York. It is a very easy and plain proposition, and if carried out as successfully as the Senator calculates on—and he calculates pretty closely in business enterprises—it will be a profitable scheme. The initiative taken by Mr. Kean will doubtless be followed by others, and in time the great waste of land laying between the lower end of Elizabeth and Newark will be turned to a valuable asset.

"Average county jails in this State are about as secure as paper boxes," says "Freeholder" in the New Jersey department of the New York Press. Having had no occasion to test such security we are unable to discuss the question with our learned friend. But commenting further on this question "Freeholder" remarks: "Few, if any, are able to withstand the cunning criminal bent on escape, and few are capable of standing against a small force determined to seize a prisoner. Some of these jails were originally built a century ago; their walls are as pie crust to the hands. Recent escapes from the jails in Middlesex and Monmouth indicate the pressing need of steel prisons promptly."

When a business man admits by a painted sign or a display window that he wants business he can give one of but three reasons if he fails to advertise in the newspapers, viz.: That the amount of business in his line in the community is too small to warrant the expense; that he lacks the money required for the best form of advertising, or that his judgment is bad and is not influenced by obvious facts, says the Philadelphia Record. The most successful business men are the most persistent of newspaper advertisers.

The Pittsburg Dispatch says, touching the statement by an Italian physician that anarchy is a disease: "Very good. The proper treatment for this malady, then, is to seize every avowed anarchist and commit him to a hospital for isolation and treatment. If the individual case is curable the patient may be released. If incurable, the publics reaps the advantage of having him confined and incapable of disseminating the disease."

Benjamin F. Jones, of Orange, Speaker of the Assembly, is reported as not knowing that he was Acting-Governor till some friend called his attention to the fact. There, that's what the Hon. Mr. Jones gets for not closely reading The Daily Press. Last Saturday we editorially referred to the fact that caused Mr. Jones some surprise on Monday. Moral: Read The Daily Press and be up-to date in all things of a political nature.

Another candidate for Congressional honors at the hands of the Democrats of the Eighth district has appeared in the person of E. A. S. Mann, of Bayonne. It is reported that Mr. Mann is willing to accept a nomination. If this is so, and he is ready to make a fight for it, this will make three aspirants for the nomination—Frederick W. Park, of Cranford, Edward S. Wilde, of Glen Ridge, and Mr. Mann.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Andrew Lane, of Somerset county, spent Saturday with friends in Flemington, and in an interview regarding the Congressional situation in the Third district said that Somerset county would not present a candidate at the Democratic Congressional convention this year, and that, therefore, he was not, at this time, a candidate for Congress. Mr. Lane stated that, according to the custom in the Third district, the honor of naming the candidate this year clearly belonged to Monmouth county, and that Somerset would certainly present a solid delegation for the choice of Monmouth county. He believes that with a good candidate Congressman Howell can be defeated, as the farmers of his district are flocking to the Democratic party as their only hope of relief from unjust legislation inimical to their interests.—Flemington Democrat.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Thomas Peterson, of Perth Amboy, who was the first negro to exercise the right of suffrage under the fifteenth amendment, declares that this time he will vote for Bryan. His reason is that he thinks Mark Hanna, who is not the President, has too much to say in determining the policy of the McKinley administration. Peterson wears a gold medal given him by the people of Perth Amboy to commemorate the fact that he was the first negro to cast a vote. The vote was cast at a special city election ten days after the amendment was passed.

Fred Bowden, who is a member of the Second U. S. Cavalry Band, located at Mantanzas, Cuba, has written a very interesting letter to a friend in this city. He tells of the home-coming of the Cuban teachers, who arrived Friday, Aug. 31st. The band went out in a tug to meet them and give them a reception. A concert was given by the band and the selections were all of a classical nature. The band is under the direction of John Scully, and he has succeeded in drilling the members so that they give nothing but the finest music. Mr. Scully is soon to have a vacation of two months and he will visit his home in this country. As an evidence of the hard work assigned the members of the band, they are required to play on an average of seventy times a week. Below will be found the programme rendered on the return of the Cuban teachers:

Site for New Fire House.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Sept. 12.—The special committee appointed by the Somerville Board of Commissioners to obtain options on land for site of a new fire engine house, and to ascertain probable cost of same, reported at a meeting of the Board Monday night. They recommended the purchase of the property at the corner of Main and Warren streets, at a cost of $6,000, and reported that a house could be built for $8,000. The report of the committee was accepted and an election was ordered to be held Monday, October 22d, to give the citizens a chance to vote on the question of bonding the town for $15,000 to build the new fire house. There is considerable opposition against bonding the town.

Gentlemen:—I must say in regard to GRAIN-O that there is nothing better or healthier. We have used it for years. My brother was a great coffee drinker. He was taken sick and the doctor said coffee was the cause of it, and told us to use GRAIN-O. We got a package but did not like it at first, but now would not be without it. My brother has been well ever since we started to use it.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, September 12.—Miss Louise Doolittle has been appointed a teacher in the Camden Street School, Newark, and began her new duties yesterday. Miss Doolittle graduated from the Newark City Training School last spring.

Contrary to expectations the condition of Alfred Cottrelly has again grown serious and he is almost at the point of death. He is now being attended by Dr. Brakeley, assisted by Drs. B. VanD. and Ellis Hedges, of Plainfield.

John Barick, who has been spending the summer at Chester, has returned to Dunellen and will remain for some time with his son, Maurice Barick.

George Huff now has a handsome black team for his truck, having traded off his gray horse with a dealer from Peapack.

Charles Dineen's crew is using engine 153, one of the bob-tail type, for a few days in place of No. 29, which is undergoing repairs.

The Union County Board of Freeholders will meet in a body on the Jefferson avenue bridge tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Tinan, of Cincinnati, Ohio, are spending a month with Mr. and Mrs. John Logan.

William G. Holton Council held its regular monthly meeting last evening and transacted routine business.

Mrs. Daniel Randolph, of South Plainfield, spent yesterday with friends in the borough.

Mrs. A. S. Sampson went to Tarrytown, N. Y., Monday and attended the funeral of a relative.

Miss May Apgar has returned from a visit with her sister, Mrs. Sherman Cooley, at Flemington.

Contractor Garretson broke ground for the macadamizing of Madison avenue yesterday.

Daniel Richardson leaves Monday for Syracuse, N. Y., where he will enter school.

Mrs. William H. Terry and Mrs. Annie Abbott spent yesterday in New York.

Mrs. Maurice Barick spent yesterday with her parents at Freehold.

Henry Garretson spent yesterday in Newark on business.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

New Market, September 12.—Considerable anxiety is felt by the friends and relatives of David Blackford as to whether he escaped the terrible tornado in Texas or not. Mr. Blackford has been in Central America all summer, erecting machinery in a saw mill. In a letter received from him some time ago by a friend, he stated that he intended leaving for home about September 1st and would cross the Gulf of Mexico on a fruit steamer. If his intentions were carried out, his boat may be among those wrecked.

It is said that William Smith will open a feed store in A. S. Coriell's building next Thursday. His bread route will be continued by Ehner Lefler.

Fred Wagner, of Gettysburg, Pa., is spending a few days with his grandmother, Mrs. Runyon.

William Pizie and son, Benjamin Pizie, have gone to Mill Brook, N. Y., for a week's visit.

Execution has been issued by Justice Storms in the case of Hodge against Brikoff.

C. T. Rogers attended an A. O. U. W. lodge meeting at Basking Ridge last night.

James Drake, of Metuchen, spent yesterday with friends in town.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Sept. 12—The teachers and pupils of the public school settled down to their real school work yesterday morning. School re-opened on Monday morning but the real study was not started until yesterday, Monday being devoted principally to assigning the scholars to their several classes. The enrollment this year will compare favorably with the roll of the last term, 185 scholars being already enrolled and a number of others are expected to come in a little later. The school library has been added to and now the scholars have free access to a full set of Encyclopedia Brittanica beside a number of other good works which will no doubt be fully appreciated by the scholars. While reading of our school we are called back to pleasant memories of the class of 1900, and want to know what they are doing. Leonard MacIneny has entered Columbia College; Clinton Hall is about to enter one of the leading colleges; Miss Christine Bettman has entered the Trenton Normal School, while Miss Madeline Robison will enter a Brooklyn school. So we see the class of 1900 while separated are still preparing themselves to take their place in the world.

The case of Engel against Huber, in which in Judge Clark's court judgment was rendered for the full amount with cost, was docketed in County Clerk's office at Elizabeth.

Fanwood Council, R. A., held their regular semi-monthly meeting in their rooms last evening. Owing to the warm evening routine business only was transacted.

John Robison, Edward L. Hand and Wm. VanValenburg, spent Tuesday attending the State Firemen's Relief Association meeting at Atlantic City.

Mrs. Bourne, State president of the W. C. T. U., will address a temperance meeting in the parlors of the Baptist church this evening.

Frederick Monte, of Brooklyn, has been visiting at the home of Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Westcott, of Fanwood.

Miss Minnie Hosinger has returned to her duties at Crosby & Hills after a pleasant vacation of three weeks.

Mrs. Ira Walker and child have returned from a two weeks stay at Asbury Park.

WESTFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Westfield, Sept. 12.—The mission work among the Westfield Italians has been so successful that the Woman's Christian Temperance Union has decided to continue it the coming winter. Miss Emma L. Starr, president of the union, will have charge of the work.

The completion of the construction of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway will be celebrated by the construction force next Tuesday by a trolley ride through Newark to Bergen Point and a shore dinner.

Broad street, Westfield, was blocked Monday night from 11 o'clock until 5 o'clock yesterday morning by a building that was being moved.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, Sept. 12.—A colored man who was helping lower the pump at the pumping station had quite a bad fall yesterday, cutting a gash in his head.

Tom Brantingham's racer, "Myrtle Twig," is still laid up. She will hardly be able to go on the track again this season.

Mrs. Sopher, the teacher of the intermediate grade in the school, was ill yesterday. Her sister filled her place.

The masons on the schoolhouse were laid off yesterday afternoon but are at work today.

—It is time to do your canning, and before you buy peaches or Bartlett pears you should see J. A. Smith & Bro.'s stock.

—It will surprise you to experience the benefit obtained by using the dainty and famous little pills known as DeWitt's Little Early Risers. L. W. Randolph.

Miss Lizzie Kirch, of 128 Duer street, is suffering from an attack of neuralgia.

E Emmons Henry, of Watchung avenue, spent yesterday at Neshanic on business.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brokaw, of West Front street, have been entertaining the Misses Brokaw, of Brooklyn.

Mrs. Hannah Flanders and family, and Charles H. Smith and family, who have been summering at Lebanon, Hunterdon county, have returned to their homes in this city.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

The famous Brothers Royer, in the acrobatic farce frolic "Next Door," showed at Pottstown, Pa., the other night, and The News of that city had the following to say of it: "A crowded house greeted the 'Next Door,' with Brothers Royer as the stars at the Opera House. This roaring farce comedy is new on the boards, but like love's young dream, it will never grow old. The audience which greeted the play was the largest of the season. Every seat in the house was sold, and standing room was at a premium. The specialties were great, the Royer Troupe of accrobats, the Mahr Sisters, contortion dances, and the specialty of Archie and Rose Royer made a decided hit. Archie Royer is more clever in 'Next Door' than he was in 'Eight Bells.'" This splended performance will be seen at Music Hall Friday night.

The Klaw & Erlanger Comedy Company, presenting the eccentric German character comedians, Gus and Max Rogers, in John J. McNally's new farce, "The Rogers Brothers in Central Park," will open the season at the Victoria Theatre, New York, next Monday evening, September 17th, and continue there for a long run. This is the most pretentious production in which the Rogers Brothers have been seen. They made a great hit in "The Rogers Brothers in Wall Street" last year, and in "A Reign of Error" the previous season, but this year they completely eclipse their most meritorious work. Their supporting company is larger and made up of more noteworthy people, and the scenery, costumes and stage effects are more lavish and magnificent than the equipment of the two previous productions in which Klaw & Erlanger presented them. The principals of the Rogers Brothers support are Eug. O'Rourke, Will West, Lee Harrison, John Page, James Cherry, Joseph Merrick, Della Fox, who formerly starred in comic opera, Grace Freeman, Nellie Hawthorne, Emma Francis, Jeanette Bageard, Edith St. Clair, Gertrude Saye, Marguerite Haviland, Hattie Waters, Madge Pierce, Elsie Davis and Mildred Claire.

A Shocking Calamity

"Lately befell a railroad laborer," writes Dr. A. Kellett, of Williford, Ark. "His foot was badly crushed, but Bucklen's Arnica Salve quickly cured him. It's simply wonderful for Burns, Boils, Piles and all skin eruptions. It's the world's champion healer. Cure guaranteed. 25c. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

—J. A. Smith & Bro., grocers, will have a big shipment of peaches from Hunterdon county every day this week. Prices to suit all.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Mills, of East Fifth street, has returned from an enjoyable outing.

Mrs. Wikoff, of Somerville, has returned after a visit with Plainfield relatives.

Mrs. Skinner, of Elmwood place, has recovered from a severe attack of bronchitis.

Mrs. Oliver Voorhees and family, of East Front street, have been visiting Somerville relatives.

Miss Edna Bowers, of Basking Ridge, has been spending a few days with borough friends.

Miss Bessie Vail, of Dunellen, has been the guest of her uncle, Charles E. Vail, of Orchard place.

Miss Edith Conover, of Jackson avenue, who has been visiting Brooklyn friends, has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Stiglitz, of East Front street, are entertaining relatives from New York State.

Miss Sadie Randolph, of West Eighth street, is spending this week with friends in Hunterdon county.

Miss Pauline Denton, of Washington avenue, has returned from a sojourn with relatives at Manasquan.

The Misses Frentz, of Scotch Plains, have been visiting their sister, Mrs. Frank Putnam, of East Fifth street.

Mrs. George Babcock and son, George, of West Eighth street, have returned after summering at Ashaway, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore A. Roeder, of 119 West Fourth street, will celebrate the anniversary of their wooden wedding this evening at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Smith of Fairview avenue, who was taken very ill while stopping at Long Branch, has been brought to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles E. Ball. Her condition is considered much better.

—Smith Bros., grocers, West Front street, are displaying the finest peaches in the city. The prices are low; assortment large.

—In India, the land of famine, thousands die because they cannot obtain food. In America, the land of plenty, many suffer and die because they cannot digest the food they eat. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat. It instantly relieves and radically cures all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Oesterreich.

Wien. Die beiden „Faßroller," Kafetier Trebsche und Kaufmann F. Enzmann sind letzter Tage in Paris angelangt. Ihre Wanderung hat 61 Tage gedauert. Es handelte sich um eine Wette, laut welcher Trebsche und Enzmann ein ungefähr sieben Hektoliter fassendes, 240 Kilogramm wiegendes leeres Faß innerhalb der Zeit von 50 Tagen von Wien nach Paris rollen wollten. Als Wettpreis waren 5000 Kronen festgesetzt. Da die „Faßrutscher" um elf Tage länger unterwegs waren, als ausgemacht wurde, so wird die Frage, ob sie die Wette gewonnen oder verloren haben, in allen Kreisen, welche sich für das eigenthümliche Unternehmen begeisterten, sehr lebhaft diskutirt.

Baden. Im Alter von 83 Jahren ist hier der Privatier Friedrich Fitz gestorben. Fitz hat sein Vermögen, das sich auf etwa 600,000 Kronen beläuft, zum größten Theile zu wohlthätigen Zwecken bestimmt. Das hinterlassene Testament enthält nicht weniger als 49 Legate. Seinem langjährigen Raseur vermachte er 2000 Gulden.

Bozen. Die 22jährige Stickerin Luise Geffer, die schon öfters Zeichen von Geisteszerrüttung gegeben hatte, überschüttete sich während des Aufhängens von Wäsche im Dachraum ihrer Wohnung mit Petroleum, zündete es an und stürzte sich brennend kopfüber in den Stiegenraum herab. Sie verstarb bald darauf in Folge der erlittenen Gehirnerschütterung.

Budapest. Die 34 Jahre alte Opernsängerin Frau Gisela Stoll-Nemethy griff irrthümlich statt nach einem mit Limonade nach einem mit Laugenessenz gefüllten Glase und trank einen Theil des Inhalts. Die Künstlerin stürzte sofort zusammen und starb wenige Stunden darauf nach qualvollen Leiden.

Graz. Neulich stürzte der 20jährige Franz Kundner beim Suchen von Alpenblumen nächst dem Kirchlein Schüsselbrunn vom Hochlantsch sammt dem Felsblock, auf dem er stand, 300 Meter in die Tiefe. Man fand die Leiche mit zerschmettertem Schädel.

Karlsbad. Der Exkönig Milan von Serbien ist von den hiesigen Geschäftsleuten auf die „schwarze Liste" gesetzt worden. Sie warnen alle Kollegen „vor einem gewissen Milan, früher König von Serbien, bezüglich Kreditgebung" und fügen bei, daß bei Bestellungen des Exkönigs stets Baarzahlung zu beanspruchen, anderenfalls die Waare nicht abzuliefern sei.

Liesing. Während die 19jährige Marie Kowanda mit dem dreijährigen Söhnchen des Friseurs Rath am Lehnerteich spazieren ging, stürzte der Knabe plötzlich in den acht Meter tiefen Teich. Marie Kowanda sprang rasch dem Knaben nach, um ihn zu retten. Das Mädchen sowie der Knabe verschwanden in der Tiefe. Da sprang die 71 Jahre alte Frau Elisabeth Hintenaus, welche den Vorfall bemerkt hatte, entschlossen in das Wasser. Mit vieler Mühe, selbst in Todesgefahr schwebend, brachte sie das Mädchen und den Knaben an's Ufer.

Meran. Kürzlich geriethen die beiden Bautischler Wilhelm Zaninotti und Mario Covi wegen einer Schuld, 1 Krone, die der Schuldner mit 40 Kreuzern begleichen wollte, in Wortwechsel, währenddessen Zaninotti dem Covi ein feststehendes Messer von rückwärts in die Seite stieß, so daß der Tod rasch darauf eintrat.

Mitrovitza. Bei Mitrovitza wurde eine internationale Geldfälscherbande entdeckt, welche unter Leitung eines Italieners Papier- und Silbergeld verschiedener Länder fälschte und dasselbe in hohlen Gipsfiguren in verschiedene Länder verschickte.

Schweiz.

Bern. Nach einer Statistik ist die Zahl der Sparkasseneinleger in der Schweiz 1899 von 1,243,779 auf 1,291,910 gestiegen, der Betrag der Guthaben von 942,040,000 Francs auf 981,950,000 Francs.—Die Assisen in Bern verurtheilten den gewesenen Notar Rudolf Krebs von Hilterfingen wegen Diebstahls, Unterschriftenfälschung und Unterschlagung zu 14 Monaten Zuchthaus.

Schwyz. Während der 67 Jahre alte Alois Bürgler von Zingelberg auf der Alp Hefisbohl auf der Suche nach Rindern sich befand, wurde er vom Blitz erschlagen. Man fand ihn mit einem durchlöcherten Ohr, versengtem Bart und geschmolzener Uhr. Eigenthümlich ist, daß auch der frühere Inhaber der betreffenden Uhr vom Blitze getödtet worden war.

Freiburg. Der verstorbene Alt-Staatsrath Jaquet hat an verschiedene wohlthätige Anstalten die Summe von 20,000 Francs vermacht. Seiner Haushälterin hinterließ er 8000 Francs.

Graubünden. Die am Fornogletscher verunglückten Amerikaner Geo. P. Way und sein Sohn sind auf dem Friedhof von Maloja beerdigt worden.

Tessin. In Gudo erhielt ein gewisser Lorenzo Cottini in einer ihm von einem Bergamasker Maurer Giovanni Pegazzini dargereichten Tasse Kaffee Gift und erlag demselben bald nachher. Sie hatten wegen einer Arbeit Streit mit einander gehabt. Pegazzini ist verhaftet.

THE USE OF WHITE.

It Is Still In High Favor and Will Continue to Be So.

The fancy for white continues in full force and will doubtless outlast the winter, although for cold weather white costumes are less convenient than for warm weather, since wool and silk do not bear laundering like linen and cotton. They can be well cleaned by the dry process, however, and such materials as cashmere, henrietta, French flannel and nun's veiling may be simply washed, although washing always has a tendency to make them yellow.

White flannel or cashmere shirt waists are extremely pretty and may be readily washed if they are made without a lining, like the ordinary ones of percale or zephry. Gold, silver or steel buttons form a pretty decoration, although if the latter are used they must be removed when the waist is laundered. The regular shirt sleeve, gathered into a cuff, is being abandoned in favor of the plain tight sleeve, flaring over the hand or finished with a circular ruffle.

The picture illustrates a gown of blue cloth. The skirt has a plain tablier, but is laid in stitched plaits at the side and back. The bolero, rounded in front, is trimmed with stitched applications of the cloth and has a sort of vest of black and white striped silk. The collar and little plastron are of guipure over white silk. There is a wrinkled belt of white silk. The hat of white felt is trimmed with white and black plumes and white tulle.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

TRIMMINGS.

Ornamentations of All Sorts In Excessive Demand.

The increasing fondness for fine and elaborate decoration is gradually tending toward overornamentation. Embroidery made on goods in the piece is no longer acceptable, the idea now being to have each part of the costume embroidered or otherwise decorated in accordance with its shape when the gown is completed.

Needlework of all kinds is a greatly favored decoration. The finer and more delicate it is the better, and lace, tucks, drawn work, gold, silver and silk threads are combined in all sorts of ways. This excess of luxury implies a subsequent reaction in favor of extreme plainness which will be sure to develop sooner or later, and which will be a novelty and rather a relief after such a superfluity of ornament.

The picture shows one of the latest ideas for an evening gown. It is of broche mauve silk, the skirt being trimmed with applications of guipure and opening over a tablier of plain silk. The broche corsage has a short, open bolero of satin embroidered with spangles, and the decolletage is framed in fichu folds of white mousseline de soie. The wrinkled sleeves extend only to the elbow, where they are finished by a ruffle of mousseline de soie. The unusual part of the costume consists of the watteau plait of white mousseline de soie, which falls from the bolero, extending all the way across the back.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Repartee.

Observing the manager of the drug department, the woman accosted him in a spirit of badinage.

"I have kleptomania," she said. "What would you advise me to take?"

"The elevator, by all means," said the manager wittily.

"And not something just as good?" exclaimed the woman, affecting great surprise.—Detroit Journal.

AT THE BOLTON DRUG COMPANY, OF BROOKLYN, N. Y.

The Bolton Drug Co., of Brooklyn, is the largest dealer in proprietary medicines in a city having a million inhabitants. In answer to an inquiry concerning the sale of RIPANS TABULES, the buyer for this company recently said: "We sell lots of them, and the demand is steady and increasing all the time. When we first began to have calls we bought of a New York jobber, a quarter gross at a time; now we buy in five gross lots direct from the manufacturers." When asked whether the Tabules were sold more to women than to men, he said: "The buyers were about equally divided, but the same people buy them over and over again. When they once begin they always come back for more. We will have a customer in here one day to buy a five-cent carton; a few days later he'll come in and get a fifty-cent box and after that may be a dollar bottle—physician's size. We sell a good many dollar bottles." When asked his opinion of the Tabules as a druggist, knowing what they are composed of, viz., rhubarb, ipecac, peppermint, aloes, nux vomica, and soda, he said: "The formula is all right," and when asked to suggest a change that would be an improvement, he said: "It's all right just as it is."

WANTED—A case of bad health that RIPANS will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word RIPANS on the package and accept no substitute. RIPANS, 10 for 5 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

THE ELECTORAL COLLEGE.

Its Members, Representing the Various States, Elect the President and Vice President.

The electors, as the name implies, elect the president and vice president, and it is interesting to note how their number has grown since the adoption of the constitution.

When the first election was held, the electoral college numbered 91 votes, but New York, with eight votes, had not completed her electoral system; North Carolina, with seven votes, and Rhode Island, with three, had not adopted the constitution, and there were four vacancies, two in Maryland and two in Virginia. This left 69 votes, which were all cast for George Washington. The electoral college for 1792, which again unanimously elected Washington, had 132 votes.

In the table given below the strength of the electoral college is given from 1788 to the one which will meet at the respective state capitals on the second Monday of January, 1901:

1788	91	1848	290
1792	132	1852	296
1796	140	1856	295
1800	138	1860	303
1804	176	1864	314
1808	175	1868	317
1812	218	1872	366
1816	221	1876	369
1820	234	1880	369
1824	262	1884	401
1828	261	1888	401
1832	286	1892	444
1836	294	1896	447
1840	294	1900	447
1844	275

As the electoral vote is apportioned to the population, this table will give a fair idea how fast our country has grown. In several instances there was a decrease in the number of electors, but that was due to a change in apportionment and not to a decrease in population.

The electoral college which will decide the coming election is composed as follows:

	Electors.		Electors.
Alabama	11	Nevada	3
Arkansas	8	New Hampshire	4
California	9	New Jersey	10
Colorado	4	New York	36

ARE QUEER FELLOWS.

King Crabs Have Funny Ways and Habits, and So Have Their Wives and Children.

Rattle, clatter, clatter, sounds a curious noise close by the rocks on the beach. King Crab is scrambling round in search of something good to eat. He has many teeth on his legs, sometimes as many as 150 of them, and his mouth, instead of being in his head, as yours and mine are, is in the midst of his legs. I suppose this is so as to make it easy for him to eat.

He is very fond of soft seaworms, and as these wise fellows know it they hide away under the sand. King Crab doesn't mind that at all, but goes to work and digs down after them. My! how the sand and mud fly when he digs with all his ten legs! It doesn't take him long, I can tell you.

When he has grabbed his worm he holds it with his two hind feet and tears it in bits with his sharp teeth, which is his way of chewing. When it is all chewed he thrusts it into his mouth and swallows it.

THE KING CRAB.

Some people call this old fellow the horseshoe crab, because his shell house that he carries on his back is shaped just like a horse shoe.

In June Mamma King Crab digs a hole in the warm sand and lays a lot of eggs in it. She doesn't sit on them or even stay to watch them, but scrambles off to enjoy herself as soon as her task is finished.

The sun keeps them warm and the waves keep them wet, which is all they need. When the little Kings come out they are only a quarter of an inch long and have no tails. As soon as they have grown a little they throw off their old clothes and a new suit grows on their backs with a bit of a sharp tail.

Every time they have new suits their tails grow bigger. At last every King baby has grown into a fine young fellow with a tail as long as his papa's.—Orange Judd Farmer.

Didn't Know What Struck Him.

A Vermont doctor, while driving along a country road, was overtaken by a thunder storm, and was much interested in noticing a peculiar way in which the lightning ran along the telephone wire which was strung on one side of the way. Suddenly he became unconscious—that is, he has no recollection of being struck, yet when he opened his eyes he found himself hanging over the dasher, while the horse was standing by the buggy, both shafts broken, and the harness completely stripped off. He felt dazed, but not in any pain, and as the horse did not seem to be injured, he managed to rig up the harness and continue his journey to a village nearby, none the worse for his adventure.

TERRIBLE OCEAN DUEL.

In a Fight Between a Monster Eel and a Shark the Former Came Out Victorious.

A report comes from Waikiki, near Honolulu, to the following effect: Early Saturday morning two fishermen in a native canoe were pursuing their calling in the shoal water of the coral reef near Diamond Head. They had fished long and caught nothing, and were on the point of returning home when a strange thing happened.

The water near where they were moored suddenly became agitated—so much so, in fact, as to cause the fishermen's craft to roll unpleasantly.

Peering into the water to ascertain the cause of the disturbance, the two natives saw a singular sight. A huge eel of the conger variety and a hammerhead shark, which had apparently by some strange mischance drifted into the domains of the sinuous monster, were engaged in mortal combat.

Which was the attacker and which the attacked it is impossible to say, but when observed the eel had coiled himself round the selachian's anatomy in an evident effort to squeeze the life out of him, while the hammer-headed one, by frenzied rushes back and forth among the coral, was endeavoring to relieve himself from the incubus who was so pressing in his unwelcome attentions.

At last the shark, mortally hurt, gave up the fight, and the eel slowly unwound himself from the body of his fast-expiring antagonist.

At this juncture the two fishermen, tempted by the prospect of unlimited fresh meat, decided to make an effort to capture the big conger.

Moving the canoe as near their intended quarry as was possible without frightening it, one of the men delivered a well-directed spear thrust, which landed half a pound of iron and several inches of seasoned wood shaft right in the vitals of the mass of squirming gray flesh.

The effect was magical and almost tragical. To the great consternation of the fishermen, the eel, on feeling the prick of the spear point, made a lightning-like rush to the surface, jumped a full ten feet into the air and fell back into the canoe, the occupants of which were by this time thoroughly terrified.

Once in the boat, which had by this time drifted into deep water, the infuriated monster kept the fishermen busy avoiding his vicious attacks; time and again did his bristling jaws close with fearsome snap in unpleasant proximity to their arms and legs. With eyes flashing angrily and mane erect, emitting the while a hoarse kind of bark, the denizen of the depths looked the incarnation of all that is evil and unlovely.

Just as things were looking at their worst for the two natives help arrived in the shape of a canoe containing another fisherman, who, scenting the battle from afar, had taken the precaution of arming himself with a meat ax.

Arrived on the scene, he made short work of the fighting conger, and, putting half the body in each canoe, the party made for the shore.

The two pieces of the carcas, on being placed together, measured 27 feet, and the circumference was in places as great as that of a grown man's thigh.

Inside the belly of the fish were discovered a small tin of opium, some shellfish and the partly digested remains of a large cat.

This is the largest specimen of the eel genus known to have been met with in the history of the islands.

Kept Up a Long Whistle.

From Highland Park, Ill., to Milwaukee, Wis., is a distance of 65 miles, and that is a long stretch for a locomotive engine to keep up whistling, but that is what happened the other day. As a train on the Chicago & Northwestern railroad left Highland Park, the engineer blew the whistle, and in doing so the valve broke, and he was unable to shut off steam from the noise maker. So for 65 miles that whistle blew without intermission. The engineer and fireman were nearly deafened; the passengers were much alarmed until the conductor found out the reason of the din, and at every village and station on the way people came running to learn what was happening.

Chewing-Gum Sandwiches.

"The average French boy or girl," writes a friend of the Little Chronicle who is attending the Paris exposition, "does not know the mysteries of chewing gum, and most of them have never seen such a thing. The other day I saw two little French girls at an exhibit where they were giving away sample sticks of gum for advertisement. I noticed that they each took a piece and that they were wholly at a loss as to what to do with it. They finally came to a cracker exhibit and with the free samples they got there they each made a sandwich of the gum and when last seen were eating them with apparent enjoyment."

A SEA CHANGE.

Oh, he never heard old ocean's mellow roar,
And he never saw the whitecaps dashing free;
But he sighed for morning mail,
For some news that wasn't stale,
And he loathed the silent grandeur of the sea.

How he pined to hear the merry ticker's range!
Just to be again in where business rang the chime;
Where the market's swoop and curve
Kept the tingle on his nerve—
When he had to set his watch ahead of time.

But one day a heavy swell awoke at sea,
And the storm king tossed the salt spray in the air;
Then was heard no more complaint,
He was meek as any saint,
And he didn't care for business any more.

When at last the steward dragged him up on deck,
Showed him Land's End gleaming faintly through the gray,
Feebly then he stared a blink,
Moaning, "Steward, do you think
That the channel will be calm at all to-day?"

BOB BURDETTE
Takes a Trip Abroad

And Tells What He Sees and Hears Upon a Modern Ocean Liner

(Copyright, 1900, by Robert J. Burdette.)

TO A MAN who has abode all over his own land for more than 50 years before time and opportunity serve to show him those benighted, outlying lands (if any other place can be said to outlie his own dear native land), where dwell in barbarian darkness the English, French, Blackamoors, Tartars and other savage hordes, several thoughts are apt to arise.

1. Whether he will ever reach Carcasonne if he starts.

2. Whether the ideal Carcasonne does not so far transcend the real that he will be distinctly a loser by the voyage of discovery.

The first thought he dismisses at once without a second of consideration. To a man who has traveled over about every mile of rail—steel, iron and pot metal— in the United States for the past 25 years, the sea has but one terror, and that isn't fatal. The ocean trip is nothing. It isn't so far from Sandy Hook to the Needles as it is from Eastport to Los Angeles. And there are not one-tenth the perils along the way. There are not innumerable trains on single tracks, culverts and bridges, sidings and grade crossings; wild, extra, special and delayed trains, with all their varied and conflicting rights of way to be reconciled, adjusted and harmonized by the clear-seeing and quick-thinking brain of one fast-working, imperative, autocratic train dispatcher.

SONGS THAT MAKE ALL MANKIND KIN.

Why, the conservatism and the back-agedness of the church is painfully shown in the service, whenever prayer is made for those at sea, and not a word of petition put up for the travelers on the railways. Give the railways each a 50-track route, with the ability to turn out and run around anything they meet, anywhere and any time, and the first time a train left the rail and bumped into anything, every man on both trains would be discharged and blacklisted forever. The perils of the sea are very slight compared with those of the land—unless a man like Dewey gets after you with a gun. And even then, there are yet left a few men in Arizona who are quite as dangerous with a weapon of much smaller caliber, which masquerades under the same name.

You see, there is a certain glamour that clings to the sea, and keeps it in the prayerbook and romance and poetry. But it is largely of yesterday. Pirates still scour the main, but they are of the same gentle and useful class of freebooters to which you have grown accustomed on the Pullman cars and at the hotels. They do not sail, as in the merry days of old, in a long, low, rakish black schooner, with a Long Tom amidship, and rum, dancing and deviltry footing it nimbly on the blood-stained deck. They sail with you, and render you cheerful, ready and much-needed service, with a napkin in one hand and a place for a dollar in the other. The very seamen are ceasing to call the steamboats in which we cross the ocean "ships," but are beginning to speak of them as "boats," same as do the passengers. And I observed that the more exclusive passengers from New York referred to the different decks as "flats." But this is a provincialism, and is not destined to become very general.

Not a Populous Highway.

The ocean is the loneliest place on earth. I have heard people say they would make the journey to California if it were not for the awful loneliness and desolation of the desert. Well, in 1,800 miles on this cruise we sighted two steamers, two smokes and a whale. The lava beds can do better than that. I never saw so much water in all my life. And one day we saw three rainstorms working overtime in different parts of the sky, pouring water down upon the wetness with the most extravagant and uncalled-for wastefulness you ever thought of. I can't understand why there should be rain at sea, any more than I can understand why there should be duststorms on the desert. "Them as has, gits." We did not have "the worst storm which the captain said he had experienced in 20 years," and for this failure on the part of the company I understand I am entitled to a rebate. I have never met anyone who crossed the ocean without passing through this storm, and I consider that I have some right to feel aggrieved. A whale is but poor compensation for the "worst storm the captain ever saw."

After the Ship, the Boat.

The "steamboat" has outgrown the ship. I went aboard with all my boyish dreams of marking the hours by the ship's bell, and had studied the system carefully, so that when its mellow notes rang out, softly and sweetly over the dancing waters of the sunlit sea, I would know at once what time it was without consulting my watch like a landlubber. But our chairs were about amidships, and to us the ship's bell was an inaudible fancy. We might have heard a cannon fired forward if the boy in the adjacent chair had not been learning to whistle. A bugle sounded "the mess" for all meals, the bugler going with repeated encores to many parts of the ship. Whistles and bells may have been very well on the Mayflower, but they are now for official use, like the "still alarm" on board floating cities of 1,000 inhabitants. It is far better as it is. We can dispense with the romance, which is always the more romantic as it grows older. The voyage was delightful beyond all description, and my dreams were poor nightmares compared with the waking reality. I don't care for the ship's bell anyhow. I was standing right under it one evening when it went off—a quick, sharp, startling stroke; high-keyed and imperative—it is a wonder that I didn't jump overboard. After that I learned to go in every morning and set my watch by the good old reliable Seth Thomas clock at the head of the "grand stairway;" they used to call it the "companionway" on shipboard, but that also is obsolete; it is now "the grand stairway," same as in the mountain hotel, a thousand miles from sea.

And it is a city under the autocratic control of one man—a bigger man than Tom Reed. The awe and reverence in which the passengers hold the captain of the ship reminds me of the attitude of people who live in apartment houses toward the janitor. Occasionally I have observed a similar reverence on the part of some exceptionally devout people in church, during prayer; but not often. There was one woman on our ship who, whenever she met the captain, turned toward the east before she spoke to him. But this is not customary. I observed on our way over that this spirit of reverence was much more deep-seated among the northern passengers than among those from the south, where the rank of captain is only the first grade above "mister."

Music on the Water.

One thing on shipboard met to the exactest measure my full and accurate anticipation—the singing—the singing on deck, by starlight and moonlight, by the happy passengers grouped here and there. It was not merely what I had dreamed that it would be; it was just what I knew it would be. I had never been at sea before, but all my life I had mixed up with people, and when you get a heterogeneous mass of human beings together on land or sea and start them to singing, I know what to expect. So on our ship we clustered forward in the light of the stars and the fair young moon, and sang with the light hearts of youth and the tranquil hearts of age the happy songs that make all mankind kin. We all knew one verse of "My Country, 'Tis of Thee," so we sang that, and tra-la-la'd through the second, every vocalist hoping that somebody else knew the words, and that his "hum-mumming" would be heard but not detected. Then everybody knew the chorus to "A Hot Time," and we sang that much of it whenever we were trying to think of something else. The first half of the first stanza of the "Old Oaken Bucket" everybody knows; there is a standing reward of a life pension for any man now living who ever heard four people sing beyond that point in it—and they on the stage, paid for singing it. Then we sang the usual fragments of "Seeing Nellie Home," "There Is a Tavern in This Town" and "Nearer, My God, to Thee." Then, of course, the usual number of rag-time songs, of which some man knew enough to start out fiercely with the first line, break down while trying to whistle the rest of the tune, and finally console us by assuring us that it was an all-killingly pretty song, and that we ought to hear somebody we never heard of before sing it. The singing on shipboard delighted me. It was just what I had counted on.

And, indeed, that was its chief charm—its unprepared, unbegun, unfinished, happy-go-lucky joyousness. A quartette hired to sing for us would have been tiresome, but this sort of thing never was. Night after night we gathered on deck, and with flattering persuasion induced the same old choristers to let her go again at the same old gait. And we lingered until the last vocalist hoarsely broke down on something he was trying to remember, but which the rest of us strongly suspected that he never knew, and went below bravely keeping up a show of trying to whistle it. Some one has said that "music is the language of Heaven." How like the katydids, then, the angels must stutter.

All Sorts and Conditions.

Much the same manner of people go to sea that travel by rail. In 500 cabin passengers there are about so many ladies and gentlemen, so many snobs, so many duffers, geezers, gazabos and guys. And it makes a not unpleasant human "blend" of "human warious." Pepper and salt are not in themselves toothsome and luscious. But there are some very nice things which are not only nutritious but dainty which would taste very badly, be indeed uneatable, without them. "Wouldn't I always like to live exclusively in the society of ladies and gentlemen?" Well, I don't know. I don't believe I would; not all the time. Would you? Oh! "You certainly would." Well, then, why don't you? Oh, yes, I know; the time is coming when all the picturesque heterodoxy and vulgarity and dialect will be refined out of the world, and you and I will enjoy all that is elegant, courteous, polite, well favored and sweet scented. But by that time, dear human, you and I will be changed about as much as anything else in this old world of commonplace people. You and I will be surprised at the change in the transfigured duffers and gazabos; that goes without debate. But let me tell you, sister, the geezers and duffers will simply be paralyzed at the transformation in us. Let's see—what kind of people was it that were to go into the kingdom of Heaven before the eminently respectable people of their time? I know, but I ain't going to tell.

The most—indeed the only—finished and artistic singing on the ship was in the steerage. They sang selections from "Faust," "Trovatore" and "Martha," the voices were cultivated and the singing fine. But somehow or other our own ragged, patched and loop-holed singing seemed better to fit the time and the scenery. It was as well matched as the company and as harmonious as our clothes. People do not wear old clothes in the first cabin, but they wear a variety of sea things that would make a well-ordered and carefully selected rag bag feel in the "four hundred." The greatest variety is in caps. Everything goes from a skull cap through all the varieties of golf and yachting caps down to a wide-crowned, deep-visored horror, modeled upon the cap of a Dutch emigrant. There seems to be an unwritten law that all these things must be new at sunrise, but after that the wearer's taste has free rein, and sometimes it bucks, sometimes it bolts and sometimes it goes crazy. But every man knows that he is accurately nautical, and has charity for the others, so everybody is happy. And in these days of changing ideals and innumerable rigs, when the sailors on the ship wear white linen collars, perhaps the man is correct when he assumes to be a standard to himself. So I tell myself that while nothing on shipboard, save the singing, is just what I dreamed that it would be, it is all much better and far more comfortable than my dreams could have made it. I never dreamed, for one thing, of strawberries all the way over, and electric lights. The old clipper ships didn't have some things. And speaking of strawberries, I see by a pamphlet issued by one of the liners that "even Lucullus himself would contemplate with soft content the luxurious resources of the cuisine." I always said that Lucullus was a sadly maligned and slandered man. Whatever else he might have been he was no glutton.

"Mal de Mer!"

Hello! Here's an omission! I have written a sketch of an ocean voyage in which I have failed to include that patented page of boiler plate comicality, a description of seasickness. That is another of the surprises of foreign travel—there wasn't a "sick" on the ship. You couldn't have worked up a case of seasickness on that ship with a stomach pump. And yet the sea was rough enough to keep the racks on the tables four days. Ah me! what liars those old travelers be! And I am just finding them out. I am becoming disillusioned. I almost wish I had stayed at home. I know that "I never will see Carcasonne."

ROBERT J. BURDETTE.

Silk of the Halabe.

One of the most novel exhibits of the Paris exposition is a complete set of bed hangings from Madagascar, manufactured from the silk of the halabe. The halabe is an enormous and ferocious female spider, which, although it has a way of eating the males which come near it and feeding on the weaker members of its own sex, has been most effectually dealt with by M. Nogue, the head of the Antananarivo technical school. He has invented, says an exchange, a neat arrangement for winding off the brilliant golden-colored thread, and each spider yields from 300 yards to 400 yards of silk, which, although finer than that of the silkworm, possesses remarkable strength.

PIGEON MOURNED HER DEAD

Mother Bird Watched Over a Nest in Which Fledglings Had Burned.

There was a tragedy enacted at the recent Dearborn street fire where four women lost their lives witnessed by none of the thousands that stood horror-stricken as they saw men and women climbing to safety along narrow ledges of the building front. In a recess at one end of the large, overhanging cornice was a pigeon home. The father and mother birds were driven from their posts by the heat and smoke but the three nestlings perished, says the Chicago Inter Ocean.

After the firemen had stopped work and the excitement had died down the parent pigeons came back to seek their young. The heat had lapped up the straw and sticks of which the nest was built, and their young were mere crisps. Toward evening the mother bird began flying over the ruin. She circled for a time, and finally landed on the roof of the wrecked building. Soon she was joined by her mate. They seemed greatly puzzled at the change the fire had wrought. The heat had melted the joints of the galvanized iron cornice, which hung in great strips over the windows of the top story. The pigeons looked over the wrecked cornice, ducking their heads and appearing to talk together about their loss.

The father bird flew away, but the mother remained. Finally she plucked up courage enough to fly to the top of the upper story window near her nest. Then she sidled along to the stone ledge at the bottom of the wrecked cornice. She stretched her head toward her burned home, and then, as if frightened at what she saw, flew to the roof again. Soon the father bird joined her. After a sorrowful conference the mother bird again dropped to the stone ledge. She was encouraged by her mate, and crept along to the recess in the corner of the cornice. Her mate followed, and together they viewed their dead offspring. The mother bird crept timidly into the nest of embers. She even tried to cover her dead nestlings. The father bird seemed to tell her to come away, and they soon flew to the roof again. Here another sad conference was held, and after comforting his mate the father pigeon flew away.

Not so with the mother. She kept her vigil into the night, and was still at her post above her wrecked home and dead nestlings when the day closed on the scene of destruction.

ALIS A. A. ORGANIZED.

Officers Elected and Manager and Captain for Football Team Chosen.

Although the Alis Athletic Association has existed as an informal organization for several years and maintained a baseball team, it was not until last evening that anything in the nature of a permanent organization was formed. A meeting was held last evening at the home of Roy T. Phillips, of Madison avenue, when the young men who have supported the Alis teams in the past gathered together and formed the Alis A. A. Officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows: President, George Proctor Smith; vice-president, Aaron D. Thompson, Jr.; secretary and treasurer, Godwin Beard.

It was decided to maintain a football team on the gridiron this fall as usual and Edward J. Kline was elected manager of it. Roy T. Phillips was chosen as captain of the eleven with Charles S. Woolston as field captain. A meeting of the candidates for the team was called for tomorrow evening.

A meeting of the association will be held Tuesday evening of next week when the organization will be completed and new members will be elected. Application for membership should be addressed to the secretary.

CLERGYMAN SEEKS OFFICE.

Rev. Dr. Troop Would Like to Run for Congress in New Jersey.

Rev. Montgomery Hunt Troop, formerly rector of St. Matthew's Episcopal church, Jersey City, called recently on Robert Davis, Hudson County's Democratic leader, and asked to be given the nomination for Congress.

"I think I would make a winning candidate," said the clergyman, "and I would represent the district honestly."

Davis said he would give the matter consideration. Rev. Mr. Troop is now without a charge.

Judge Garretson in Somerville.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, September 12.—Judge Garretson made his first appearance in the Somerset Court Monday, and was heartily welcomed by members of the bar. His visit to Somerville was for the purpose of drawing a struck jury in the case of Benhardt Meyer against the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company. This case will be tried on the first day of the September term of court. It is a suit for damages by high water caused by the building of a bridge. It has been on the calendar for two years.

—Wise housewives will not delay their canning as fruit is rapidly becoming scarce and the prices higher. Neuman Brothers' display of fruit is always fresh and the prices low.

FINE PIECE OF MACADAM.

Park Avenue Roadbed is a Delight to All Who Use Bicycles or Vehicles.

The work of macadamizing Park avenue is now completed and it is safe to say that everyone who is at all interested is more than pleased with it. A fine road as smooth as a board is now to be found and it is a delight to wheelmen and people who use carriages. The work was thoroughly done in a first-class manner and the avenue should stand the heaviest travel. Work that was done similarly a year ago has not been touched since and it is in just as good condition as at first.

The macadamizing of Park avenue as well as other streets in the city has proved beyond any question of a doubt that roads can be built of nothing but stone. Nothing else has been used for some time past, and usage proves that these kind of roads stand the test and do not need constant scraping to keep clean and free from surplus mud. Commissioner Gavett and those under him are deserving of all the credit possible for the work done in the macadamizing of streets and other work about the streets of the city.

MISS TICKNOR'S DEATH.

Expressions of Deep Sorrow And Sympathy From Many Friends.

The many friends and acquaintances of Miss Clara Ticknor, whose sad death was mentioned in The Daily Press of Monday, have been almost stunned by the news that she had passed away. On all sides expressions of sorrow and smypathy are freely offered for those who will suffer most deeply by her loss.

Only to those who came most intimately into her life did she reveal the many virtues of her character. All knew her's to be a nature of unusual sweetness and sincerity, but only those who came most closely in contact with her daily life, realized the high purpose of every hour and the devotion to every principle that stood for the highest and best. United to her strong character for the right was on earnest Christian faith whose teachings she most faithfully and consciously exemplified.

To her family and intimate friends her loss cannot be measured by words. The school where she has worked so faithfully for the past fourteen years suffers a loss that is deeply felt by all who have been at any time connected with it. There are but few of the children who have belonged to the Bryant School who have not been at some time under her charge. To all of them and to the corps of teachers who so greatly mourn her loss, the memory of her devoted life cannot pass away, for of her it can be truly said: "Though being dead she yet speaketh." S.

FUN FOR DAVIS' HENCHMEN.

Robert Davis Association Holds Its Annual Outing Today at College Point.

The annual excursion of the Robert Davis Association, the most powerful Democratic club in Hudson county, is being held today in Wetzel's Grove, College Point.

It is said that the leaders have agreed upon the nomination of State Senator Allan L. McDermott for Congress. Mr. McDermott was against the 16 to 1 principle in 1896, and it is understood that he voted for McKinley. It is probable that the Senatorial nomination will go to Leon Abbett, who has served in the Assembly. Mr. Abbett is the son of the late Governor Abbett. Alex. C. Young is also a candidate for the State Senate.

—The regular church and Sunday-school services of the Church of the Heavenly Rest will be resumed Sunday.

—Victor B. Dolliver, of Iowa, who was to have made a Republican speech in this city tomorrow night, will speak at the G. O. P. clambake on Saturday.

SOCIALISTS TRY AGAIN.

HELD AN OPEN-AIR MEETING—NO POLICE INTERFERENCE.

E. F. Wagner, the Jersey City Socialist, Was Back Again and Talked on The Principles of His Party.

The open-air mass-meeting of the Socialist-Labor Party was held last evening instead of Saturday evening. It will be remembered that the Socialists were interrupted Saturday evening by the police and were not allowed to continue their speeches on East Second street, at the corner of Park avenue. E. F. Wagner, a Socialist, from Jersey City, was arrested at that time for refusing to move on and ordered to appear in City Court yesterday morning. He quietly ignored the orders of the court, however, and failed to appear.

Wagner was on hand last evening, however, to take charge of the meeting and make a long address on the principles of Socialism. The local adherents of the party were on hand with a few torches to light up the scene of their meeting. A soap box answered the purpose of a rostrum. The gathering took place at the corner of Park avenue and Second street.

The crowd cheered the speech a little, but was very orderly and well behaved, so there was no interference on the part of the police. The Mayor's reason for objecting to a Saturday night meeting was that the streets are so crowded at that time that any meeting of any kind would tend to greatly impede the traffic.

Some of the Socialists were inclined to think that their rights were interfered with Saturday evening and were quite jubilant because the police did not stop the meeting last night. They seemed to consider it a recognition of their alleged rights.

BACK FROM TEXAS.

Young Men Reached New York This Morning After Passing Through Edge of Storm.

Hartley Mellick, son of Councilman George P. Mellick, of LaGrande avenue, accompanied by Mr. Tweedy's three sons, Lwrence, Mellick and Jose, who have been spending the summer on a ranch in Texas owned by the father of the Tweedy boys, arrived safely in New York this morning on the steamship "Concho" of the Mallory Line.

The young men sailed from Galveston Sept. 5th, and Mr. Tweedy did not accompany them as far as Key West, as he intended. He simply went to Galveston, saw them off and returned to his ranch in the interior of Texas. He had plenty of time to reach home before the hurricane arrived, and reports show that it did not reach the section of the State where he lives.

The young men, fortunately, escaped injury from the hurricane although they felt some of its effects. Their knowledge of the ruin at Galveston was gained upon their arrival in New York today, and they are indeed thankful that they left Texas when they did.

GIRL ATTACKED BY TRAMP.

Dragged Into the Woods Near Aldene, But She Beat Off Her Assailant With a Pail.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Cranford, Sept. 12—Miss Kate Hawkins, a girl about eighteen years old, living near Aldene Bridge with her parents, was attacked by a tramp as she was walking home from this place along South avenue Monday night. The man sprang upon her and, despite her struggles, succeeded in carrying her into the woods beside the road. She made a plucky fight, however, and her cries for help attracted the attention of some men on a passing trolley car.

The car was stopped and a party, headed by W. I. Keeler, of Westfield, went to investigate. As they approached the man made good his escape in the woods. The girl's clothing was badly torn and apples from a tin pail that she was carrying were scattered all over the road. The dents in the pail showed that she had used it effectively as a weapon of defence. The girl was escorted home in safety, and the car resumed its journey.

MARRIED BY JUSTICE.

Justice Mattison Performed a Wedding Ceremony In His Court Room Yesterday Afternoon.

Mrs. Mary Flannery, aged 38 years, of this city, and Joseph J. Nolan, of the borough, called on Justice Mattison yesterday and asked him to marry them. Henry Voehl and Constable William E. Pangborn acted as witnesses.

The groom said that he was born in Philadelphia and that he had lived in the borough three years. The bride said she was born in Ireland, but had lived in this country most of her life. They did not state where they intend living.

Charles Stillman Safe.

Mrs. Chas. Stillman, who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Barlow, of Prospect place, received word this morning from her husband, who is at Sabine Pass, Texas. He is safe.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Items That Concern Democrats and Republicans in Different Parts of the State.

The Somerset County Prohibition convention for the Third Congressional district will be held at Bound Brook next Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The Congressional convention will be held at the same time when county and Congressional candidates will be nominated. Several persons will attend from the borough.

The Republicans of Somerville held a meeting at Somerset Hall Monday night to organize a club. The Somerset Band furnished music to a small crowd and little enthusiasm was manifested. James L. Griggs was chosen chairman and W. H. Cawley, Jr., secretary. A committee was appointed on permanent organization to report at a meeting to be held next Monday night. F. A. Pope was called upon and made a stiring address. There were thirty-eight signers to the roll.

Arrangements have been perfected for the convention and mass-meeting of the New Jersey Republican State League of Clubs, which will be held tomorrow at Columbia Hall, Ocean and Cator avenues, Jersey City. It is expected to be the greatest demonstration in the annals of the league, and that over three thousand persons from every part of the State will attend. The convention will be called to order at noon, but it will be preceded by a caucus at 10:30 o'clock.

The Elizabeth Republican City Central Committee opened last evening the finest political headquarters that city ever had. The rooms are located at Broad street and Caldwell place, on the ground floor of the Chetwood building. The headquarters windows are artistically decorated with American flags, while two life-size portraits of McKinley and Roosevelt are on the front of the building. The Elizabeth Republicans are beginning to show signs of much activity and have five campaign clubs, while only one Democratic campaign club is in the field.

A very spirited fight is on in Burlington county for the Republican Senatorial nomination this fall, and there are enough candidates in the field to give work to the representatives of all factions. At the present time Former Assemblyman George Wildes and Colonel Nathan Haines are the leading candidates, and a choice will probably be made between these two gentlemen if a dark horse does not slip in and win the prize. As the nomination is almost equivalent to an election, by reason of the large Republican majority in the county, those who have any show are working with great zeal. The fight is the hottest known in years.

PLUMBERS' TROUBLES.

Work on Hannigan House at a Standstill on Account of Fight With Union Plumbers.

As yet there has been no settlement of the troubles existing between D. J. Galbraith, plumber, and the union men of this city. It will be remembered that non-union carpenters were employed on Mrs. Hannigan's new house, corner of Craig place and Grove street, and the union plumbers refused to work with them. Mr. Galbraith sent his brother, John Galbraith, to the house to work. He is an apprentice, and as the Trades' Council has no control over apprenticees, nothing could be done among the union men except to refuse to work on the building. The union men endeavored to get Mr. Galbraith to take his brother off the job. This he refused to do, but John Galbraith quit of his own accord.

The work is now tied up. It was reported that a few non-union men were at work yesterday, but they quit last night. The matter is now at a standstill and will probably remain so until the Council meets next week Thursday night. The plumbers met last evening, but nothing of importance was done. The recent trouble was talked about, but as it is out of their jurisdiction they could do nothing in this matter.

NEW TRACKS PROMISED.

STREET RAILWAY TO RELAY TRACKS ON WEST FRONT STREET.

Will Use Big Girder Rails—Improvement Will be Followed by Remacadamizing of Street.

For a long time it has been the desire of Street Commissioner Gavett to better the condition of West Front street, between Park and Grant avenues. He has been deterred from his purpose by the constant tinkering of the street railway employes with the car tracks. The roadbed between these streets is in a wretched condition and has been a source of annoyance to passengers and also to Front street residents for a long time. The rails are sunken and the joints uneven, and as it is necessary to tear up the street to make repairs it would be folly to renew the macadam.

The trouble will now be done away with as Superintendent Adleman informed Mr. Gavett this morning that his company would reconstruct the entire double track between the streets mentioned. New ties will be laid and nine inch girder rails, similar to those used on the Elizabeth line, will take the place of the light ones now in use. The new macadam will then be laid and the street put in first class shape. It is expected that work will be commenced Sunday night and rushed through as fast as possible.

WILL CONTEST FOR DAILY PRESS MEDAL.

Great Interest in Athletics Among the Young Men of Plainfield High School.

FOOTBALL TEAM ASSURED.

FIELD DAY FOR PRESS MEDAL AND ALL ROUND CHAMPIONSHIP.

Annual Meeting of the Plainfield High School Athletic Association Will be Held Tomorrow Morning.

Although the Plainfield High School has not yet been in session a week, there is already considerable talk among the boys about athletics. It has been several years since the High School was represented on the gridiron but this year it is believed that a fairly strong football eleven can be formed. There is also a general desire to hold the annual field day and all round championship for the Daily Press medal this fall.

The sanction of the faculty has been received for a meeting of the Plainfield High School Athletic Association tomorrow morning. There will be no drill of the cadet corps and the time will instead be devoted to the meeting of the athletic association.

Under the new constitution adopted last year, a meeting is held in the fall to elect the board of directors who transact the business for the association during the year. There are five directors elected by the association, and a faculty director and a graduate director appointed by the principal. The school directors will be elected at the meeting tomorrow morning when Principal Travell will probably announce his appointments.

A meeting of the directors will be held at once and a manager of the football team and a manager of the track team will be elected. The manager of the football team will get the candidates together as soon as possible and have a captain chosen. Harold Davis was appointed a committee last spring to secure the names of the candidates for the football team. He has called a meeting of them for Monday. There is a fair amount of material in the High School, and a good eleven ought to be organized without trouble.

Arrangements for the field day will probably be left entirely in the hands of the manager of the track team instead of a committee. There will be a limited number of events and the contest will be for points to count for the all round championship and the Daily Press medal. For the last two years, interest in field and track athletics has been at rather low ebb on account of lack of any material. There are now a number of young men in the High School who are fond of athletics but there is no one who particularly outranks the rest. It used to be the custom to make the contest a handicap one but it is probable that there will be no handicaps this year as the ability of the different contestants is unknown and fair handicapping would be next to impossible.

Inspected New Road.

The Rahway-Carteret road, which has just been macadamized by Councilman Bracher, was inspected Tuesday by State Road Commissioner Budd, County Road Inspector Brown, Director of the Middlesex County Freeholders Asbury Fountain, the Road Board of Middlesex, composed of Freeholders Stultz, Tappan, Manning and Miller, and Supervisor Hermans, accompanied by Mr. Bracher and secretary of the Board of Trade, H. S. Barnes. Mr. Bracher was complimented on the promptness of the completion of the road, which was accepted, and the contract considered finished. Mr. Bracher afterward took the party over his Elsmere Villa property, and from there to Baird's in Rahway, where a banquet had been provided.

NEW MARKET NUPTIALS.

MISS LULU DAVIS BECOMES WIFE OF A PLAINFIELDER.

William Ackerman the Groom—100 Witnessed the Ceremony—Will Reside in This City—Licensee Costs $10.

The most brilliant wedding that has occurred in New Market for some time took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Davis last evening when their daughter, Miss Lulu Davis, was married to William Ackerman, of this city. Fully one hundred people witnessed the ceremony which was performed by Rev. Martin Sindall, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, of which the bride's family are members. The bridesmaid was Miss Annie Duer, and the maid of honor, Miss Lizzie Dinyes, both of New York. William Randolph was best man.

The bride looked charming in a dress of white silk with pearl trimmings, and she carried bridal roses. The bridemaid's dress was white organdie over silk. The groom's gift to the bride was a sunburst of pearls and opals, and to the best man and ushers, Edison Davis and Merle Larrabee, he gave pearl and opal stick pins. The bride's gift to the bridemaid and maid-of-honor was also a pearl and opal stick pin.

Following the ceremony a short reception was held, after which the young couple left for a two weeks' trip to Philadelphia and Washington. On their return they will reside in North Plainfield.

The presents received by the young couple completely filled a large room and consisted mostly of china, silverware and cut glass. The G. E. club, of which the bride was a member, presented her with a handsome combination book-case and desk.

CHURCH DEBT WIPED OUT.

St. Mary's Edifice at Plainfield to be Consecrated by Bishop Wigger on September 30th.

St. Mary's Catholic church is now free from debt. The edifice will be consecrated on Sunday, September 30th.

Rt. Rev. W. M. Wigger, bishop of the Catholic diocese of Newark, will officiate and Rev. George Doane O'Neill, chancellor of the diocese, will be master of ceremonies. Mgr. Mooney, of New York, will preach the sermon. Rev. John A. Stafford, president of Seton Hall College, will probably be the celebrant of the mass. Rev. John A. Westman, vice president of the college, who was formerly assistant priest at St. Mary's church, will also take part in the exercises. The pastor of the church is Rev. P. E. Smyth.

A MENACE TO HEALTH.

Board of Health to Get Rid of the Alum Baking Powders.

The accomplished Professor of of Chemistry of Princeton University, Prof. H. B. Cornwall, in his report to the State Board of Health, says that alum baking powders exert an injurious effect upon digestion. Since this fact seems to him to be well established, he denounces the use of alum baking powders in the preparation of food as altogether objectionable.

Professor Tucker, of the Albany, N. Y., Medical College, chemist to the New York State Board of Health, claims that the alum baking powders are decidedly injurious as constituents of food articles. "The fact should never be lost sight of," he says, "that alum is employed in the manufacture of baking powder without regard to its effects solely because it is cheap, and since cream of tartar baking powders are infinitely better and in all respects unobjectionable, the use of alum is entirely without excuse. This is a matter of importance to all, and especially to those whose digestion is already enfeebled; as in the case of dyspeptics, for with such the use alum preparations may give rise to grave disorders."

Boards of health are recommending legislation that will prohibit the manufacture and sale of alum baking powders altogether. This has already been done in some sections of the country. At present the public must seek safety from the danger, which seems to be so prevalent, in using only brands of powder that are well known as pure and reliable, and refusing to buy the low priced, so-called "cheap" goods. The baking powders containing alum are sold at from ten to thirty cents a pound, while pure powder costs about forty-five cents.

MUST TAKE OUT LICENSE

LAW THAT MANY FIRE INSURANCE BROKERS DO NOT KNOW OF.

It is Said That Persons are Violating in This City—License Costs $10.

The fire insurance brokers of this city are probably unaware of a law which was recently enacted, which compels them to take out a State license at a cost of $10. This law does not apply to the regular insurance agents but simply to brokers who obtain insurance policies for the assured from either the company or agents.

The penalty is rather severe, as, upon conviction, the sentence is not more than sixty days and a fine of not less than $25, or not more than $100, and from $100 to $200 for each subsequent offense, but the fact that a broker violates this law does not affect the policy holders in any way. It behooves the insurance brokers to obtain a broker's certificate from the Commissioner of Banking and Insurance at an early date.

There are, it is stated, about fifty persons living in Plainfield who are violators of the above-named law, and they are liable at any time to be called into court. There are many of the brokers who, no doubt, know that there is such a law, but, as there has never been any attempt made to strictly enforce it, they have paid little attention to the matter. It might be well for them to comply with the law and thus save themselves some money and trouble.

MILITARY COMPANY.

Col. Gillmore Visited Plainfield to Investigate the Advantages of the City for One.

Plainfield has a chance, afterall, of getting a militia company. Lieutenant Colonel Gillmore, of Governor Voorhees' staff, called to see Mayor Rockfellow a few days ago on this very subject. There was a chance, he said, that Plainfield might get the company. He wanted to consult the Mayor on that subject but the Mayor was out of town at the time.

A meeting of some of those interested in the proposed company with Mayor Rockfellow was held last evening but no action was taken. The question of a captain came up and the name of City Judge William N. Runyon was suggested. The Mayor will see Lieut. Col. Gillmore today and find out if it is possible for a man, who has no military training, to secure the commission as captain.

WETUMPKAH'S START.

New Tribe of Red Men Will Begin Career Next Month.

The Wetumpkah tribe of Red Men will begin its career next Thursday evening. The last preliminary meeting was held last evening at the office of Great Sachem Newcorn, when the name for Plainfield's new tribe was chosen and the details for the institution of the tribe arranged. There are now 58 names on the charter list, while a number of additions are promised. Much enthusiasm was shown at the meeting of last evening, and the Red Men expect to open the career of the new tribe very successfully.

$300 Diamond Ring Gone.

Charles Schultz, the barkeeper at The Hotel Netherwood, lost a diamond ring, valued at $300, Monday evening. He purchased the ring only a few days ago and had shown it to a number of his friends. Monday evening he left it lying on the inside of the bar for a few minutes. When he came to look for it the ring has vanished. The police were notified, but no clue has yet been obtained to the missing ring.

Escaped From Hurricane.

Walter Gorden Williams and wife, former residents of this city, but now living at Galveston, escaped safely from the cyclone, and Mrs. Williams' father, Cornelius Coriell, of Allamont place, received a telegram yesterday that they are safe. They were living near the postoffice at Galveston, and they had a lively experience. They were glad to escape with their lives, if nothing else.

Mortgage on Trolley Road.

The New Jersey Contractor and Real Estate Record, of Newark, says that the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company has given a mortgage on all franchises, property and right of way of said company between Plainfield and Elizabeth, to the Fidelity Trust Company, as trustee, for $150,000.

Think They Have a Clue.

The authorities of the borough believe that they have a clue to the thief who entered Charles L. Jeter's house a few days ago and stole $49. They are now vigorously at work on the case, and have reasonable hopes that the guilty one will be caught.

PAPER GERMAN WAS A GREAT SUCCESS.

Charming Social Event Held at the Hotel Netherwood Last Evening.

HANDSOME FAVORS GIVEN.

MANY OF THE FIGURES WERE NEW AND QUITE NOVEL.

Favors Were Chiefly of Crepe Paper and Included Hats, Sashes, Ruffs, Flags, Etc.—Led by Messrs. Pendergast and VanBuren.

The "Paper German" at the Hotel Netherwood last evening proved a great success. More than a score of couples participated in it, and some figures of quite novel design were given. It was one of the prettiest and most enjoyable events of the social season at The Netherwood. The young people of the hotel with a few from this city took part, while the older set watched from the doorways and veranda.

At 9 o'clock the cotillion began and the dancing continued until well past midnight. It was led by Norbert R. Pendergast, of New York, and Laurens H. VanBuren, of this city, who had prepared a number of original figures for the occasion. The young women of the hotel had actively aided them by preparing dainty favors of crepe paper, hence the name of "Paper German."

The favor table looked pretty, indeed, when the dance began. It was fairly hidden under its burden of colored banners and other combinations of the crepe paper. Prettiest of all were the paper hats, built in most clever design out of the prevailing material. In charge of the table were Mrs. Edwin Faber, Mrs. Ricardo Struller, Mrs. William Mercer, and Miss Adams, of New York; Mrs H. C North, of Boston, and Mrs. F. W. Coleman.

The opening figure was really a grand march in which the couples were maneuvred through pretty movements under the direction of the leaders. Then followed a dozen figures. One of the most unique was the "looking glass" figure. Four of the young women were seated in the middle of the room, each with a looking glass in her hand. The young men passed behind them. When the young man who glanced over the young woman's shoulder was not the partner she desired, she brushed off the looking glass with her handkerchief. When the right one came, she danced with him.

In another figure ruffs made of crepe paper were given to the young men and sashes of the same material to the young women. These were bestowed on the partner they desired and worn. Other souvenir favors in the shape of the gaily decorated paper hats built after the style of the fashionable hat of the fashionable hat of today were bestowed on the young women by the young men, while variegated shaving balls went to the men. Then there were, in another figure, spiders for the men and snake bracelets for their partners.

There was quite a little rivalry among the young women in securing the greatest number of souvenir favors. Miss Mildred Williams, of Washington, D. C., was the most favored.

Among those who took part were Miss Bessie Smith, of Cleveland; Miss Mary Louise Dickson, Miss Helen Garre and Miss Ida Kellum, of Brooklyn; Miss Lora S. Holbrook, Miss Hazel Clark, Miss Jeanette Mercer, Miss May Wallace, Miss Louise Kane and Miss Marguerite Tillotson, of New York; Miss Helen Worthington, Miss Alice Fuger, Miss Helen Humphries and Miss Mildred Williams, of Washington; Miss May Coleman, Miss Maud Lord, Miss Lida vanHerwerden, Miss Florence R. Beal, Mrs. Beard and Miss Harriet Goddard, of Plainfield; Lieutenant Day, of Havana, Cuba; F. Lloyd Kane, Harold Richard, Henry Richard and Edward Fuller, of New York; Charles Cole and Robert Carberry, of Westfield; Frederick Watts, of Newark; Philip Ricketts, of Elizabeth; Carroll L. Runyon, Carroll Lord, Raymond Carroll, James Dodd, Irving Stewart, Fred W. Goddard, Morris J. Dumont, Walter L. Long, Godwin Beard, Henry Ostermoor, A. Willis West and Owen Fleming.

State C. E. Convention.

The annual State convention of the New Jersey Christian Endeavor Union will be held in Jersey City October 11th and 12th.

MRS. PARSE PRESIDENT.

ANNUAL ELECTION OF OFFICERS OF THE W. C. T. U.

Reports of the Officers Were Encouraging—Address by Mrs. Bourne, State President.

The annual meeting of the W.C.T.U. opened this morning at 10 o'clock in the rooms, 100 Madison avenue, and was well attended. The president, Mrs. Elizabeth A. Parse, presided.

Miss Mary E. French, treasurer, showed by her report that $1,050 had been raised and used during the past year. The report of the corresponding secretary, Miss Jessie Pruden, was encouraging. The evangelistic work has been excellent and the attendance at the various meetings held was very good. Mrs. John H. French, secretary, presented an excellent report, showing all the departments to be in good condition. The membership of the Union has increased.

Following the reports, the president's annual address was given. This gave the members much encouragement, showing how well the work during the past twelve months has been carried on with success.

Then followed the election of officers as follows: President, Mrs. Elizabeth A. Parse; corresponding secretary, Miss Jessie Pruden; recording secretary, Mrs. John H. French; treasurer, Miss Mary E. French; honorary vice-presidents, Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson and Mrs. J. W. Yates; vice-presidents: Crescent Avenue church, Mrs. Stephen A. Cahoone, Mrs. J. W. Yates; Congregational, Mrs. A. C. LaBoyteaux; Seventh-Day Baptist, Mrs. A. T. Maxson, Mrs. George H. Babcock; First M. E., Mrs. Susie Jackson; First Baptist, Miss Anna Boice, Mrs. Reuben Knox; First Presbyterian, Mrs. E. B Shotwell, Mrs. Ramsey Blair; Friends, Mrs. Dietrich; Warren chapel, Miss Mary Mair, Miss Anna Claypoole; Grace M. E., Mrs Jacob Voehl, Mrs. Powell; Park Avenue Baptist, Mrs. D. C. Smalley, Mrs. Seely Edsall; Grace P. E., Mrs. Smith; Trinity Reformed, Mrs. Elizabeth A. Parse.

During the morning session those present enjoyed an instrumental selection, violin and piano. The noontide prayer closed the session. This afternoon the State president, Mrs. Bourne, of Newark, was present and made an address telling of the State work along the line of temperance. It was announced that Mrs. Bourne would speak at Scotch Plains this evening in the Baptist church, and many will go from Plainfield to hear her. An effort will be made to reorganize the Union at that place.

It was also announced at the meeting that Miss Mabel Conklin, one of the National organizers, will come to Plainfield the 9th, 10th and 11th of October and hold meetings on those dates. In the afternoons she will speak to women and in the evenings to mixed audiences.

OPENING OF BOYS' CLUB.

The Event Will Take Place Next Saturday Evening.

The Boys' Club will be opened Saturday evening at 7:15 o'clock. There will be open house Saturday and Monday evenings, giving everyone a chance to come and see and have his name placed on the waiting list. Tuesday those who will be the first regular members will be notified and the classes will be organized Tuesday night.

It would be a pleasure to those in charge if parents of the boys would come and see what the Boys' Club is trying to do for those who care to attend.

Prof. Conde Coming Home.

Mrs. P. Ludwig Conde and children, Ludwig and Edna, who have been summering at Hotel Childwold, Lake Massawepie, Adirondacks, have returned to their home to this city. Mr. Conde, who has been furnishing the music at the above hotel during the summer, will return home on Saturday and resume his work next week. On August 27th Mr. Conde and his orchestra gave a concert at the hotel which was a great success, financially.

To Advocate Cold Water.

The members of Howell Division, No. 97, Sons of Temperance, are arranging to hold a public meeting in Washington Hall next week Monday evening. Grand Worthy Patriarch Murray, of Orange, will be present and make an address. There will be a programme of music, recitations, etc., and the public is heartily invited to attend the meeting in the cause of temperance.

OUT IN THE BIG BLOW.

PLAINFIELDERS WERE IN THE GREAT TEXAS HURRICANE.

On a Steamer in the Heart of the Storm — A Thrilling Experience.

The four Plainfield young men who returned on the Mallory Line steamer "Concho," yesterday, had quite a thrilling experience after they left Galveston, Texas. The party consisted of Hartley Mellick, son of Councilman George P. Mellick, of LaGrande avenue, Lawrence Mellick and Jose Tweedy, who will attend school here this winter. The steamer ran into the hurricane which has caused such fearful destruction in Texas but weathered it in safty. The passage was decidedly rough and the young men were very sick part of the time and compelled to keep their berths.

Captain Samuel Risk, of the "Concho," said concerning the voyage:

"We left Galveston, September 5th, and on Thursday we struck the storm. At first we were just at the southwest corner of the storm area, but by that night we had come dangerously near the centre. The only thing to do was to run the vessel for all she was worth, and in that way we got out of danger again.

"At 5 o'clock on Friday we struck the recurve of the storm from the south-southwest. We were in this for four hours, and it was considerably more severe than the storm itself. The wind here reached a velocity of ninety miles an hour. Such a tremendous volume of water was falling that it literally pounded down the waves.

NOTABLES NOT THERE.

Those at Republican Clambake at Mountainside Grove Did Not Hear Anything of Politics.

It was a trifle cool last evening for a clambake, but this did not dampen the ardor and enthusiasm of the members of the North Plainfield Republican Club, who had arranged one to be given at Mountainside Grove. N. H. Astfalk, of Elizabeth, was in charge of the "bake."

LaVere's Band was in attendance and discoursed popular music during the evening, and several cornet solos by "Al." Sweet were features of the the well-selected programme.

The "bake" was advertised to be opened at 7 o'clock, but it was nearly two hours later when the crowd sat down to the table. The delay was occasioned by the fact that the committee were desirous of waiting for some of the notables from the county. There must have been a misunderstanding, for they failed to arrived, and the affair went on without them.

The peculiar feature of the affair was that while it was a Republican outing, not one word was spoken publicly about politics. There was some talk on the side, but that was all. No one's interest was advanced, and no one thought to suggest three cheers for McKinley and Roosevelt. This may be accounted for by the fact that all were busily engaged eating the excellent things provided. It was a quiet affair and very tame. Soon after 10 o'clock the guests had departed, and everyone went away happy.

Boys Played Cards.

A number of young boys living in the borough have of late been in the habit of congregating in the orchard near Tier's lake and playing cards. They do not play for money, but so many complaints have been received from time to time that Chief Campbell hailed two of them to court yesterday afternoon. One gave the name of Drake and the other that of Godown. There was no evidence against the boys for gambling, but they were considered violators of the law in playing cards on the highway. Mayor Smalley reprimanded the boys and let them go.

Dime Savings Bank Reopens.

The Dime Savings Bank, of Newark, which suspended business two months ago, in consequence of defalcations by Charles R. Westervelt, the treasurer, to the amount of about $40,000, has reopened for business after expert bank examiners had found that the bank was solvent. Several hundred depositors withdrew their accounts. Others were satisfied to allow their money to remain in the bank.

Struck Jurors.

The following from North Plainfield have been drawn on a struck jury in Somerset county to try the cause of Bernard Meyer, of Finderne, against J. S. Harris and J. L. Welsh, receivers of P. & R. R. R.: North Plainfield—Charles E. Buell, Jacob J. Heidloffe, Charles A. Lee, Jacob Voehl, Aug. J. Winckler, Fred. W. Wolfert; Warren, Edward E. Cooper, Israel V. Adams. The case will be tried Sept. 25th, and will probably last a week.

DEMOCRATS HELD TAME CONVENTION.

Presidential Electors Chosen Without a Semblance of a Contest.

KEYS AND BURCH AT LARGE.

PETER BONNETT FOR THE EIGHTH AND S. S. CHILDS FOR THIRD.

Former Governor Werts Made a Quiet Chairman—No Disturbances of Any Kind Among the Delegates to Convention.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Trenton, Sept. 13.—Minus the usual lusty and loyal Hudson county delegation, the Democratic State convention got through its business yesterday without great ado. With only nomination of Presidential Electors to carry out, it was not expected that the convention would be marked by usual lively tactics that always come whenever there is a contest for honors in Democratic ranks in New Jersey. This expectation was amply realized, for the convention was one of the quietest held by the party in this State in several years. There was not a ripple of disturbance at any time. The delegates seemed bent on getting through with their perfunctory dutues as early as possible, and this desire the conventions officers happily acquiesed in.

After listening to the address of Gen. Collins, of Boston, which was a Democratic arraignment of the Republicans on the question of imperialism, the convention took a recess while the committees performed their duties. During the recess it was also settled that Former Senator William J. Keys, of Somerset county, and Thomas H. Birch, of Burlington county, were to be named for electors-at-large. When the convention reconvened the selection of Messrs. Keys and Birch were ratified without a dissenting vote.

Former Governor George Werts, of Jersey City, was made permanent chairman. His speech was an attack on the Republican policy of imperialism. It was delivered in a monotone, and while it contained many passages that would, with proper oratorical effect, have stirred the Democrats to enthusiasm, it failed to do so because of the quiet, ordinary tone of voice in which it was delivered by Mr. Werts. If the convention had been as turbulent as Democratic assemblages of that kind usually turn out to be in New Jersey, it is doubtful whether or not Mr Werts would have been the right man in the right place. He lacked the snappy, aggressive manner necessary to a successful chairman.

The district delegates were elected as follows without opposition: First district, former Congressman Thomas M. Ferrell, Gloucester; Second, Richard D. Norton, Mercer; Third, Samuel S. Childs, Somerset; Fourth, former State Senator Thomas Kayes, Sussex; Fifth, Addison M. Ely, Passaic; Sixth, Jeremiah O'Rourke, Essex; Seventh, Peter Hauck, Hudson, and Eighth, Peter Bonnett, Union.

After the electors had been chosen, a phonograph was brought forth to grind out some campaign songs and speeches, but it proved a poor attraction and the delegates began to leave the hall. The convention was then adjourned.

LAWN PARTY.

Pleasant Affair Given by Misses McInerney to Their Friends.

Probably the last of the lawn parties, which have been a feature of West End social life during the summer, was given by the Misses McInerney on the lawn surrounding their home on South Second street last evening. The grounds were decorated in the usual pretty manner and lighted by colored lanterns. Dancing was the feature of the evening and was kept up until a late hour to the strains of Professor O'Reilly's popular two steps and waltzes. The evening's enjoyment concluded with the serving of refreshments. It is not the intention of the young ladies to abandon these little gatherings altogether now that cool weather has set in, but during the winter they will probably be given at short intervals in T. A. B. hall.

Said His Tires Were Cut.

An unknown Hebrew complained to Chief Campbell, of the borough, yesterday, that some boys had cut the tires on his bicycle. Swan Smalley's son and a boy named Vaughn, living on Jackson avenue, were arranged before Mayor Smalley on the charge, but as the complainant could not identify the boys they were released.

—The regular Christian Endeavor meeting will be held at the First Baptist church tomorrow evening. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

—Maria Matthews, colored, of Race street, who was locked up in the borough for two days on a charge of being disorderly, was released yesterday.

—Handsome new awnings have been placed in front of J. K. Arnold's grocery store and J. J. Stahl's store, adjoining, on Somerset street. The latter place will be used for the postal sub-station.

—Chinese are dangerous enemies, for they are treacherous. That's why all counterfeits of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve are dangerous. They look like Dewitt's, but instead of the all-healing witch hazel they all contain ingredients liable to irritate the skin and cause blood poisoning. For piles, injuries and skin diseases use the original and genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. L. W. Randolph.

Business Revivals.

With the passing of the summer months, begins the impetus of trade. This is to be noticed in our larger manufactures all along the line, for business seasons are as strongly marked as those of the year. The fall trade in pianos shows an early revival at the Fischer establishment, whose warerooms at 33 Union Square, West, New York city, present the evidence of unusual activity, early in the season as it is. The warerooms have been newly decorated throughout in a light Colonial style which offers a pleasing contrast to the deeper shades of unusually fine pianos, and the artistic sense, both eye and ear, of the most exacting is gratified while visiting the rooms for the purpose of selecting a piano. The reputation of the Fischer is so well known that it is almost superfluous to comment upon it. Suffice it to say that the unique qualities, sympathetic sweetness of tone, and durability and the external beauty of design abundantly justify for the Fischer piano its distinctive claim: "Standard of Highest Merit."

Stood Death Off.

E. B. Munday, a lawyer of Henrietta Tex., once fooled a grave-digger. He says: "My brother was very low with malarial fever and jaundice. I persuaded him to try Electric Bitters, and he was soon much better, but continued their use until he was wholly cured. I am sure Electric Bitters saved his life." This remedy expels malaria, kills disease germs and purifies the blood; aids digestion, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, cures constipation, dyspepsia, nervous diseases, kidney troubles, female complaints; gives perfect health. Only 50c at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

Municipal Ownership.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Asbury Park, September 13.—By a vote of 18 to 14 the property owners of Allenhurst have decided to recommend to the Borough Council the purchase of the beach front, swimming pool, bath houses and Casino for $75,000. Some of the real estate holders oppose the purchase because they claim that the borough is already heavily bonded. Before the borough can buy the property the question must be voted upon by the people.

—Millions will be spent in politics this year. We can't keep the campaign going without money any more than we can keep the body vigorous without food. Dyspeptics used to starve themselves. Now Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and allows you to eat all the good food you want. It radically cures stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

Miss Alice Scribner, of Maple avenue, is spending two weeks with friends in Newark.

Mrs. Gilbert, of Easton, Pa., who has been visiting Plainfield friends, has returned home.

A Night of Terror

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham, of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she would die from Pneumonia before morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night, "but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, which had more than once saved her life, and cured her of Consumption. After taking, she slept all night. Further use entirely cured her." This marvellous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

Mrs. Augustus Runyon, of West Front street, is quite ill at her home.

Miss May Brown and Miss Pauline Denton, of Washington avenue, have returned from Asbury Park after a week's sojourn.

—The wolf in the fable put on sheep's clothing because if he traveled on his own reputation he couldn't accomplish his purpose. Counterfeiters of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve couldn't sell their worthless salves on their merits, so they put them in boxes and wrappers like DeWitt's. Look out for them. Take only DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It cures piles and all skin diseases. L. W. Randolph.

A Discriminating Horse Thief.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, Sept. 13.—A horse thief of discrimination called at the stable of Augustus Voorhees, in Franklin Park, Monday, before daylight. He hitched a black horse to a side bar buggy and started out, but finding that the horse was lame, he drove back to the stable and and put the animal in its stall. He then broke a lock on a stall and took Mr. Voorhees' best horse. The man drove in a circle several times near the house so that it is not known in which direction he went.

SO DECEPTIVE.

Many Plainfield People Fail to Realize the Seriousness.

Backache is so deceptive
It comes and goes, keeps you guessing.
Learn the cause, then cure it.
Nine times out of ten it comes from the kidneys.
That's why Doan's Kidney Pills cure it.
Cure every kidney ill from back troubles to diabetes.
Here's a Plainfield case to prove it:

Mr. Geo. S. McGinnis, of No. 212 Somerset street, foreman of R. H. McCullough's Sash and Door Mfg Co., says:—"I never was sick a day in my life until a pain struck me across my back and a lameness over the kidneys, I did not pay much attention to it at first, thinking it would pass away, but instead of this it grew worse. A bladder trouble set in. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills so highly recommended by those who had used them for such troubles that I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. I used them according to instructions and felt somewhat relieved. Continuing the treatment by the time I had finished the third box, the pain in my back and lameness disappeared."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo N. Y., sole agents for the U.S. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

EIGHT WOMEN KILLED.

Female Minstrel Troupe In Railroad Smashup.

CAIRO, Ills., Sept. 13.—By the breaking of a car wheel of the special car occupied by Duncan Clark's troupe of female minstrels nine of the company were killed and six were injured, four seriously. The company showed at Chester Tuesday night. They were billed to show next at Mound City. Their car was attached to the Illinois Central fast mail train and was wrecked just after they entered the yards at Mounds, three miles from their destination.

Those killed outright were Alice Williams, Ollie Enright, Ella Patterson and Pat Patterson. These were so seriously injured that they died within a short time after the wreck: Marguerite Compella, Anna Bell, Betty Ruby, Kitty Howard and Faith Hamilton. Betty Ruby and Kitty Howard died at Mounds and Faith Hamilton expired in this city on reaching the hospital.

As the car wheel broke the car veered around to the right, and the rear end struck switch engine No. 128 on a parallel track. This demolished the end of the car, and the wreckage was strewn along the track for 100 feet. The switch engine lost its smokestack and pilot and was otherwise damaged.

Havana's Sanitary Condition.

HAVANA, Sept. 13.—A sanitary order has gone into force directing and authorizing continuous police inspection of all buildings in Havana, especially private residences, for the purposes of sanitation. While the streets of the city are clean, it often happens that private houses and the gardens attached are far from that condition owing to the accumulations of garbage. The new order is intended to cure this evil. The municipal council has appointed a committee to study the Havana charter and to suggest modifications, which, after the municipality has approved them, probably next Friday, will be referred to Governor General Wood. The forthcoming election day, when the delegates to the constitutional convention will be chosen, will be observed as a general holiday.

National Life Underwriters.

SARATOGA, Sept. 13.—The following officers were elected here at the convention of the National Association of Life Underwriters: President, L. Layton Register of Philadelphia; first vice president, F. A. McNamee of Albany; secretary, Fred B. Mason of Chicago; treasurer, Eli D. Weeks of Connecticut; executive committee, Horace S. Bull of Albany, Stephen F. Woodman of Boston, Joseph A. Goulden of New York, D. S. L. Fuller of Chicago, W. G. Carroll of Philadelphia and L. B. Wilkes of St. Paul.

Cup Challenger May Be Lost.

TORONTO, Sept. 13.—Grave fears are entertained for the safety of the Fisher cup challenger Minota and her consort, the steam yacht Wapiti. They left Charlotte yesterday. The weather was fine, but storm warning had been received, and the vessels had been warned to put into Olcott, N. Y., the first port. Five telegrams were dispatched to Olcott, but nothing could be learned of the yachts. A telegram to Oak Orchard, a harbor not far from Olcott, also was without result.

Congressional Nomination.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Sept. 13.—The Republican congressional convention of the Seventeenth district, composed of Orange, Sullivan and Rockland counties, has renominated Arthur S. Tompkins of Nyack for congress. B. B. Odell, Jr., wired his regrets at not being able to attend the convention, saying that he was kept away by duties pertaining to filling the vacancy on the state ticket.

Steamer Founders, 14 Drowned.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 13.—A telegram from Erie, Pa., says the steamer John B. Lyons has foundered off Girard, Pa. It is believed 14 persons went down with her. The Lyons carried a crew of 16, two of whom reached shore. The Lyons was owned by J. C. Gilchrist of this city and was valued at $60,000.

Famous Painting Stolen.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—In some unaccountable manner the famous painting by Ruysdael, "Silenus Sommolens," has been stolen en route from Naples to New York. The picture was bought in May by an agent of J. Harfield Morton of this city and was intended for a naval commander, supposed to be Admiral Dewey. The price was $14,550.

LOOTERS EXECUTED.

Negroes Caught Robbing Galveston's Dead Are Shot.

COURT MARTIAL DECIDES THEIR FATE

Conservative Estimates Place Dead at 4,500—Scores Dying From Want of Water—Twenty-four Hundred Bodies Recovered.

DALLAS, Sept. 13.—W. H. McGrath, manager of the Dallas Electric company, has reached Dallas direct from Galveston. He says:

"Vandalism at Galveston has been horrible. The most rigid enforcement of martial law has not been able to suppress it entirely. Adjutant General Scurry's men have arrested a hundred or more looters.

"Forty-three negroes, with effects taken from dead bodies, were ordered to be tried by court martial. They were tried, convicted and ordered to be shot.

"One negro had 23 human fingers with rings on them in his pocket."

On receiving this statement from Manager McGrath the correspondent wired to Houston for confirmation and received this answer:

"It is absolutely true. Twenty-five were shot this morning by court martial order."

A bulletin received earlier here from Galveston, via Virginia Point and Houston, said:

"Situation grows worse every minute. Water and ice needed. People in frenzy from suffering from these causes. Scores have died since last night, and number sufferers gone insane."

Passengers arriving on trains told horrible tales of Galveston's situation. Hundreds of desperate men roamed the streets crazed with liquor, which many had drank because nothing else could be procured with which to quench their thirst. Numberless bottles and boxes of intoxicating beverages were scattered about and easy to obtain.

Robbing and rioting were going on, and as the town was in darkness efforts of the military to control the lawless elements were not entirely successful.

Big bonfires were built at various points from heaps of rubbish to enable the troops better to see where watchfulness was needed. Reports here say that from 50 to 100 looters and vandals have been slain in the city and along the island beach.

News by boat to Virginia Point states that conservative estimates place the total number of Galveston's dead at 4,500. This number does not include the fatalities outside the fated city's limits.

Those engaged in the task of recovering the bodies only wonder when the sickening work will end. Terrific heat for the last two days has led to the greatest difficulty in handling the dead bodies, and the problem of giving customary Christian burial becomes more serious.

The after horrors of a great battle could alone compare with this. The volunteer relief parties worked incessantly all day and late into the night. While they accomplished much in relieving the suffering and recovering the bodies of the dead, there is still an untold amount of work to be done. It cannot be predicted when the situation will be cleared up.

The death list has grown at a rate that has simply stunned the authorities, and no one here pretends to have any definite idea as to how many more bodies are missing. The fact that up to this time the total number of bodies recovered exceeds 2,400 is a basis for the conservative estimate that the total will reach 4,500.

Bodies are found in all kinds of places and positions, and usually in groups of five and more. This is accounted for by the fact that when it was seen that the storm was likely to cause loss of property many families sought refuge with their neighbors who were thought to live in more substantially built houses. When their places of refuge went down, all met death together.

The wildest scenes are witnessed at the improvised morgues where the work of identification is in progress. As the bodies are brought in they are inspected by men and women searching for some trace of friends or relatives, and each identification is announced in the cries of distress and grief.

Volunteer undertakers from all parts of the state are assisting in the work of preparing the bodies for quick burial, and as rapidly as identification is completed the bodies are placed on tugs and conveyed out to sea, where they are lowered into deep water.

Hundreds of the dead are still undiscovered, while unsightly bodies scattered throughout the district lying between Broadway and the beach also await removal. Add to this the carcasses of horses, mules and domestic animals that perished in the storm, and some conception can be formed of the situation which confronts and imperils the lives of the survivors of the storm.

The death list is rapidly increasing. Hundreds of bodies are discovered floating in the bay, and the gulf is casting many up on the beach.

Captain Evans of the steamship Comal reports that in approaching Galveston he passed through a school of between 400 and 500 bodies. These are supposed here to be victims of the storm elsewhere than in Galveston, as the winds and waves that rushed in upon this city would carry bodies to the west and northwest. It is believed that hundreds of bodies were carried into the west bay or southwest into the gulf and that some found lodgment on the shores of the mainland many miles distant.

The committee on burial of the dead reported late last night that 2,400 bodies had been recovered. Those last found had lain in the sea slime so long that it was not possible to identify them. They were rapidly driven to pier 21, placed on the barges and buried at sea. Bodies were still reported lying exposed, especially in that portion of the city lying west of Bath avenue and south of Avenue O to the gulf and west to the corporate limits.

One man said he had counted over 180 bodies within a block beyond recognition. Many others will undoubtedly be found beneath the ruins of wrecked houses, while still others will never be found. Bereaved persons shadow the morgues and search among the ruins for the lost. Their lamentations are heart rending.

Talmage Aids Texas Sufferers.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage has cabled from Paris to The Christian Herald of this city to pay to the Texas storm sufferers $100 for himself and $100 for Mrs. Talmage. A check for $200 was immediately sent to Governor Sayers.

STANCHFIELD NAMED

New York Democrats Decide on Chemung County Man.

COLER WAS PLACED IN NOMINATION.

William F. Mackey Follows Stanchfield on the Ticket—Croker and Hill Agree on Questions of Minor Importance.

SARATOGA, Sept. 13.—For governor, John B. Stanchfield of Chemung.

For lieutenant governor, William F. Mackey of Erie.

For secretary of state, John T. Norton of Rensselaer.

For comptroller, Edwin S. Atwater of Dutchess.

For treasurer, John B. Judson of Fulton.

For attorney general, Thomas F. Conway of Clinton.

For engineer and surveyor, Russell R. Stuart of Onondaga.

This was the ticket named by the Democratic state convention. Its head was not selected without the indulgence of personalities and a sarcastic exchange of compliments among the leaders, but when the will of the convention had been finally registered Senator David B. Hill was first to propose the unanimous nomination of "a friend of lifelong standing, John B. Stanchfield." This attitude proved so spontaneously infectious that representatives of almost every county which had opposed Mr. Stanchfield were immediately upon their feet, and one by one they were recognized by Chairman Raines to second the nomination of their intrepid leader.

It cannot be denied that Mr. Stanchfield's canvass was conducted with adroitness and diplomacy. In the management of S. S. Taylor was manifest considerable political sagacity. Antagonizing neither individual candidate nor faction, he simply awaited the time when the will of the convention was ready for registering, and then in a speech of brilliant eloquence he swept away the objections raised to his candidate and presented his qualifications and the record of his services to his party so tersely as to leave no room for legitimate objection. Whatever acrimony there was in the speeches was confined to Senator Hill, Charles N. Bulger, Otto Kempner and Senator Thomas F. Grady and had no significance as regards the candidates finally nominated. In emphasis of this Senator Hill, in proposing the unanimous nomination of Mr. Stanchfield, declared that he did not question his loyalty to the party or his capacity for office.

An evidence of purpose to avoid friction upon all other questions than the gubernatorial candidate upon the part of both Mr. Hill and Mr. Croker was manifest in the unanimous adoption of the committee reports upon both resolutions and credentials. In the seating of the delegates about an even division was made between the contestants of the Hill and Croker-Murphy factions. Both these reports were adopted by the convention without objection. Some of the remarks of the speakers were extremely poignant and their shafts aimed with unerring accuracy, and no attempt was made to conceal the intensity of feeling existing among the rival leaders. But this spent its entire force in the selection of the head of the ticket, and thereafter in the naming of the minor places upon the ticket there was an absolute unanimity of sentiment.

After effecting organization the state convention of the Democratic party was called to order by Chairman McCarren, who announced the first business to be the report of the committee on credentials and recognized Mr. Shea of Kings to present that report.

The committee reported in favor of the contesting delegates of both districts of Cayuga, the contestants in Chautauqua First district and sitting members in Second, the contesting delegation in First Albany, the sitting members in Fulton and Hamilton and sitting members in Queens.

The announcement of this report was received with mingled cheers and hisses. When Chairman McCarren put the question upon the adoption of the report, the galleries joined in voting in the negative.

Mr. McCarren, however, declared the report adopted and then recognized Mr. Guggenheimer of New York to present the report of the committee on permanent organization. The committee presented the name of George Raines of Monroe for permanent chairman and a list of secretaries, one from each senatorial district. This report was received with cheers and quickly adopted. Arthur McLean and John B. Judson of Fulton were appointed to escort Mr. Raines to the platform, and he was given a cordial reception when formally presented to the convention.

Mr. Raines' brilliant eloquence quickly gained the favor of his vast audience.

Mr. Raines was frequently interrupted by enthusiastic applause, his arraignment of the policy of imperialism meeting with particular favor. Despite the great length of his speech he held the closest attention of the entire audience to the end, and as he concluded with the mention of the name of W. J. Bryan a tremendous shout arose.

In an instant the whole convention was upon its feet. The band broke in upon the wild cheering with a patriotic air, and this demonstration continued for fully two minutes. When this had finally subsided, Chairman Raines presented Professor James Milne, chairman of the committee on resolutions, and he read the platform.

The platform is as follows:

The Democratic party of New York in convention assembled declares as follows:

We pledge ourselves anew to the principles of Jeffersonian Democracy and indorse the platform adopted by the last Democratic national convention.

We recognize the truth of the declaration of that convention that the burning issue of imperialism, growing out of the Spanish war, involves the very existence of the republic and the destruction of our free institutions. We regard it as the paramount issue of the campaign.

Upon this issue, therefore, we invite all citizens of our state to promote the election of a Democratic president, however they may differ upon national issues which at this time are inferior in rank. In the presence of this momentous peril to our land and to the cause of democratic and industrial self government we are confident that the patriotic citizens of this state, faithful to the principles of the Declaration of Independence, will not permit themselves to be divided upon any difference of belief or judgment as to any other question of governmental policy. The issue now paramount includes the question of the perversion of the power of government to the exclusive benefit of favored classes, or of the substitution of government by syndicate for government of, by and for the people, and in this connection we wish to impress upon all the following declaration of our last state convention:

"We are opposed to that foreign policy of the present national administration commonly known as 'imperialism,' which contemplates schemes of conquest and the establishment of colonial government in accordance with British theories and practices; demands large standing armies for the purpose of subjugation; impoverishes the people with vast public expenditures, creates hordes of officials to rule over people who should be permitted to rule themselves; disregards the principles of the Declaration of Independence and materially changes the nature of our republican form of government. We maintain that the constitution follows the flag over every integral part of the Union, affording to its inhabitants the protection and benefits of its guarantees of life, liberty, habeas corpus, freedom of speech, freedom of the press, trial by jury and uniform tariff laws. Congress has no more right to establish or govern a territorial or colonial system outside of the constitution than it has to create a king. We demand that every part of our possessions shall be governed according to American precedents and American principles."

We ratify and indorse the nomination for the presidency of William J. Bryan, a statesman of undoubted patriotism and independence, enjoying in a marked degree the confidence of his fellow citizens, an honest, able and fearless champion of popular rights and aspirations, in whose hands the business interests of the country and the industrial element of our citizenship would find equal and ample protection.

We condemn the corporate combination known as the ice trust and denounce all combinations of capital known as "trusts" as inevitably and intolerably unjust to both producer and consumer. By substituting for the natural laws of commerce the arbitrary dictates of selfish greed prices are reduced to the producer and increased to the consumer to the extreme limit, to provide enormous dividends upon fictitious capital values. To accentuate the evil the policy of trusts, in restricting production, deprives thousands who under legitimate conditions would be profitably employed of all opportunity to earn a livelihood in the calling or occupation to which they have been trained. The direct effect of these immense combinations of capital in control of every industry is to destroy all individual enterprise and to rob the young men of the country of the free field and fair competition which in Democratic times constituted the great glory of the nation and permitted the advancement and independence of our youth without any favoritism and without any other requisite aids than merit, honesty and industry.

The platform declares in favor of economy in public expenditure and calls for the abolition of unnecessary offices. Taxation of public franchises is upheld. Declaration is made for local self government. The platform continues:

We condemn the canal policy of the Republican party as ruinous to the commerce of the state. The wasteful and fraudulent expenditure of $9,000,000 and the failure to punish those implicated therein is a blot upon the administration of the canals meriting the rebuke of a plundered and betrayed people. We pledge the Democratic party to an economical and honest administration of canal affairs. The complete abandonment of the canal problem by the Republicans is a surrender of the commercial interests of the state to the unrestricted exactions of the railroads. We believe the canals should be maintained and, with economical expenditure, improved to the condition which permits their operation as competitors in freight transportation and as factors in the limiting of freight rates and the prevention of unjust discrimination between shippers.

The Democratic party in state and nation has been the consistent friend and champion of labor. We heartily indorse and call especial attention to the plank of the national platform providing for a secretaryship of labor in the cabinet of the president.

We call for a strict enforcement of all labor laws upon the statute book and especially the eight hour law and the prevailing rate of wages law, which are now being violated and evaded in different parts of the state. We also favor amendments to the penal code so that its provisions shall not militate against organized labor.

We protest against the assumption of Republican leaders who claim that the Republican party is the friend of labor by reason of some half hearted legislation passed by the legislature under Democratic pressure while the records show that every measure of importance urged by organized labor was defeated by the Republican majority in the legislature of the past five years. All the substantial legislation now upon the statutes was placed there while the Democratic party had control of the state legislature and executive and during its passage was bitterly opposed by the Republican minority. We condemn the Republican assembly of the state for defeating so excellent a measure as the employers' liability act at the behest of the Republican machine under the direction of the Republican candidate for governor. We promise to correct this injustice at the earliest opportunity.

Convict labor, the Ramapo water bill and the "McCullagh force bill" are condemned. Good roads are favored. Election of United States senators by direct vote of the people is upheld. The platform concludes:

The Democrats of New York state appeal to the patriotism and intelligence of the voting population to support in state and nation the party whose cardinal principles have ever been:

Equal and exact justice to all, special privileges to none; peace, commerce and honest friendship with all nations, entangling alliances with none; home rule, individual liberty; common sense civil service; honest pay for honest toil and the lowest possible taxation consistent with efficient administration.

Lake George Battlefield Bought.

ALBANY, Sept. 13.—Under the provisions of an act of the last legislature the state comptroller's department has completed the purchase of a plot of 25 acres of land at Lake George, including the site of the old battlefield of Lake George. The battle of Lake George was one of the conflicts of the French and Indian war, and the property taken for the state is to be added to a plot in the same locality purchased by former Comptroller Roberts in 1898 for the purpose of establishing a state park on the historic property. The latter covers about ten acres, and upon it stands a museum. The property transferred to the state today was sold to the late Comptroller Morgan in June last, but the papers were not signed at the time. The purchase price was $12,100.

Transport Sherman at Nagasaki.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The war department has been informed of the arrival of the transport Sherman at Nagasaki, Japan. The Sherman has on board one battalion each of the Second, Fifth and Eighth infantry. Major Borden of the Fifteenth infantry, who is in command, reports the condition of the troops good. The Sherman sailed from San Francisco on Aug. 21. She will proceed to Manila. The Scindia has arrived at Malta. The Adams will leave San Francisco on the 15th inst. for a cruise down the Pacific coast and to the Hawaiian Islands. She is due back at San Francisco about March 15 next.

Loom Fixers Convene.

LOWELL, Mass., Sept. 13.—The annual convention of the National Loom Fixers' association opened with a large attendance of delegates. At the business session committees were appointed on resolutions, credentials, auditors, bylaws and constitution and labor resolutions.

Watch Your Kidneys!

They are Filters For the Blood. Impure Blood Causes Disease.

Few people understand the important part performed by the kidneys in filtering the blood. As the blood in its circulation through the body passes through the kidneys, its impurity is left in the kidneys, which in turn empties the secretions into the bladder in the form of urine.

If the kidneys are blocked and filtration of the blood from poisonous or diseased germs is prevented thereby, the result is one or all of the following: Sleeplessness, Nervous Prostration, Weak Back, Pains in the Back and Loins, Scalding Dark and Cloudy Urine, Dizziness, Rheumatism, Diabetes, Congestion of the Kidneys, Bright's Disease and Inflammation of the Bladder.

Unhealthy Kidneys Must Be Treated

A medicine is needed that will properly promote the filtration of the blood and check the over-secretion of urine.

PRESIDENT TO DECIDE.

Withdrawal of Troops From Peking Being Considered.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The question of withdrawing the American troops at once from Peking is now before the president, and a speedy decision is expected and required. There are differences among officials in Peking on this subject, and the issue is for the president to decide. The action of the French government, as reported by cable dispatches in joining Russia in orders for the withdrawal of troops has brought about the contingency touched upon in the reply to Russia in the following language:

"The result of these considerations is that unless there is such a general expression by the powers in favor of continued occupation as to modify the views expressed by the government of Russia and lead to a general agreement for continued occupation we shall give instructions to the commander of the American forces in China to withdraw our troops from Peking after due conference with the other commanders as to time and manner of withdrawal."

General Chaffee was made acquainted with the attitude of the government and was directed to hold himself in readiness to withdraw his troops. Undoubtedly he has conferred with the other commanders as to the time and manner of withdrawal, according to the terms of the note.

MASSACRES IN CHINA.

Fifteen to Twenty Thousand Converts Lose Their Lives.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—All the correspondents in China are sending terrible stories of the wholesale massacre of missionaries and native Christians. It is asserted that during July between 15,000 and 20,000 converts were massacred in the northern provinces. Large numbers of missionaries are still unaccounted for, and small hope is entertained of their escape.

Native reports are subjected to the most careful scrutiny, with the result that although there may be some exaggeration it is impossible to doubt that in the main they are correct.

The horror is intensified by confirmation of the reports that the women were subjected to unspeakable barbarities and tortures, being stripped and slowly clubbed to death. This was one of the mildest methods. The Boxers wreaked fiendish vengeance.

The newspapers are calling loudly for swift punishment. Fears are expressed lest the Russian government, which does not encourage missionary propaganda, should prove lukewarm in this matter.

PHILIPPINE COMMISSION.

First Public Session Appropriates $1,000,000 In Gold.

MANILA, Sept. 13.—At the first public legislative session of the Philippine commission held here bills appropriating $1,000,000 in gold from the funds of the island for highways and bridges and $2,500 in part payment of surveying expenses were passed.

Senor Torres, attorney general, asked for information as to the method of disbursing the appropriation, reminding the commission of Spain's practices in connection with public funds.

General Luke E. Wright of the commission, answering the inquiry, explained that good roads for the military were an economic necessity and that General MacArthur, as the executive, was aided by trained army engineers. The army was thus the best and only machine for supervising ably and economically the construction of such public works. The commission, he said, desired in this way to give the Filipinos an object lesson in the honest and efficient disbursement of public funds, and this would be all the more effective because it was the army's economical and honest administration that had created the surplus and made the appropriation of $1,000,000 possible.

THE GARDINER CHARGES.

Governor Roosevelt Sends His Decision to Attorney General.

ALBANY, Sept. 13.—It has been ascertained that Governor Roosevelt had forwarded to Attorney General Davies his memoranda relative to the charges preferred against Colonel Asa Bird Gardiner, district attorney of New York county, by the City club, predicated on the report of Ansley Wilcox of Buffalo, who was appointed by the governor to take the testimony.

It is stated on excellent authority that the governor sustains the report of Commissioner Wilcox and exonerates Colonel Gardiner from the charges preferred against him.

Acting under instructions Attorney General Davies, when asked for a release of the memoranda, absolutely refused to either release or dismiss the matter until later, when, he said, he would talk for publication.

Champion Miller's Injury.

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 13.—With the exception of Charles Miller of Chicago, the six day bicycle champion, none of the riders who were injured in the smashup at the Coliseum track are now confined to their beds. Miller's left shoulder is broken, and he probably will be unable to ride again this season. It is not thought he is internally injured.

BIG STRIKE NOW ON.

President Mitchell of United Mine Workers Issues Order.

145,000 MINERS TO STAY FROM WORK

Loss In Pay to Men Will Soon Run Up In Millions—Miners' Union Has $1,000,000 In Treasury to Uphold Strike.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 13.—At 5:30 last evening the United Mine Workers of America declared a strike in the anthracite region. The president of the United Mine Workers has called the men out.

The order of President Mitchell calling out the miners in the anthracite coal region of Pennsylvania recalls the last great strike in the same district three years ago, which was practically ended by the tragedy at Lattimer, in which 21 miners were killed and over 50 wounded by deputy sheriffs. The strike inaugurated by the United Mine Workers will for the time being terminate operations in the most productive hard coal field in the world.

The mine employees in the anthracite district of Pennsylvania number about 145,000. The membership of the union is not known to a certainty, but the leaders claim that about 80 per cent of the miners are organized. The union men do not anticipate any difficulty in inducing the unorganized miners to strike.

The coal basins extend over an area of about 470 square miles and are distributed throughout several counties, the more important workings being located in Luzerne, Lackawanna, Schuylkill, Carbon and Northumberland counties. If all the veins were located in one place they would occupy a space about 20 miles wide and a little less than 24 miles long. The coal seams vary from six to 60 feet in thickness. The districts are known as No. 1, comprising upper Luzerne and Lackawanna; No. 7, comprising Hazleton and the upper Schuylkill region, and No. 9, comprising Shamokin and a portion of the Schuylkill region. The average production from the entire district is 75,000,000 tons a year.

In the mines in the Lackawanna and Wyoming valley districts 80,000 men and boys are employed. Of these 50,000 are distributed through the workings lying between Pittston, in Luzerne county, and Forest City, in Susquehanna county. There are 25,000 employees in the mines in the vicinity of Wilkesbarre, Ashley, Nanticoke, Plymouth and Wanamit, 15,000 about Hazleton, 20,000 at Mahanoy City and Shenandoah and 23,000 around Shamokin, Pottsville and Mount Carmel.

Should the strike continue over a period of two months the loss in wages will amount to $8,400,000, the loss to railroads $20,000,000 and the loss to mine operators $20,000,000.

Officers of the Miners' union estimate that the organization has a cash balance of $1,000,000 in the treasury with which to conduct the strike.

In their demands the miners ask the correction of many evils, the more important of which are the following: Abolition of the company stores, reduction in the price of powder to $1.50 a keg, abolition of company doctors, semimonthly payment of wages, abolition of the sliding scale, wages paid in cash, 2,240 pounds to the ton, an advance of 20 per cent in wages less than $1.50 and not exceeding $1.75 a day, that all classes of day labor now receiving $1.50 and not exceeding $1.75 shall receive 15 per cent over present wages, that all day labor now receiving $1.75 shall be advanced 10 per cent and that no miner shall have at any time more than one breast, gang or other class of work and shall get only his legal share of cars.

Coville's Mysterious Death.

ROCHESTER, Sept. 13.—The dead body of James A. Coville, aged 60, a teamster, was found lying at the bottom of an embankment at the end of a by road leading off the main Buffalo road about two miles from the city yesterday. Standing close by was a horse attached to a light buggy, which was badly wrecked. Coville was lying flat on his face, and by his side was a woman's black straw sailor hat with dark lace trimming and a white linen handkerchief with black border. The death of Coville is a mystery. When he left home, he told his wife he was going to drive a commercial traveler named John Brown to Chili and back. No such hotel as the one designated by Coville is in Chili.

Workingmen's Federation Meets.

UTICA, N. Y., Sept. 13.—At a session of the State Workingmen's Federation resolutions were adopted encouraging the boycott on the New Majestic theater, Utica; favoring a state printing plant, to increase the number of factory inspectors to 20 and that four be employed only on public work, to defend the eight hour law in a suit now on trial at Albany. The delegates were then taken on a trolley ride to Summit park, where a concert was given. The convention will conclude its work not later than Friday. Strong efforts are being made to eliminate politics from the proceedings.

Builder of Hoosac Tunnel Dead.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13.—Robert Campbell, builder of the farfamed Hoosac tunnel in Massachusetts, is dead at his home in this city. Mr. Campbell was well known throughout the country as a director of large engineering enterprises. At the time of his death he was superintendent of the Holy Cross cemetery. He was 58 years old. A family survives him.

Foresters Elect Officers.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Sept. 13.—The high court of Foresters of the state of New York has elected the following officers: Arthur E. Hume, Alexandria Bay, high chief ranger; Peter M. Marin, New York, high vice chief ranger; Charles R. Fitzgerald, Buffalo, high secretary; Harry J. Carpenter, Brooklyn, high treasurer; Dr. W. B. May, Buffalo, high physician.

Camden's People Number 75,935.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The population of the city of Camden, N. J., as officially announced is: In 1900, 75,935; in 1890, 58,313. These figures show for the city as a whole an increase in population of 17,622 or 30.22 per cent from 1890 to 1900.

Political Outings.

During the last few years it has been considered an essential of every well-regulated political organization in New Jersey that just previous to active campaign work there should be held an "outing," a "picnic," a "blow-out," or something of the kind in which social features and a liberal supply of refreshments should figure as the principal ingredients. It is a tradition of politics that that these affairs are also occasions for bringing out the "booms" of favorite sons for one office or another and to "fix up the slate" for the conventions held later on.

Some of these "outings" are held in high regard in strict party circles, as for instance that of the Robert Davis Association, which vied this year with the Democratic State convention. While it is true that the Association did not prevent the State convention from transacting the perfunctory business it was called together to carry out, it is a fact that the conflict of of dates, and the failure of Hudson county people to forego the pleasures of their "outing" to participate in the convention, resulted in depriving the latter meeting of much of the snap and vigor which usually attends it. This condition of affairs, of course, testifies strongly to the hold that political "outings" have upon the body politic.

Doubtless the "outings" appeal to the class of politicians familiarly called "the boys," but whether or not they are of serious effect in deciding an election would seem to be a doubtful question unless measured up with a view to the old saying that "the easiest way to reach a man's mind is through his stomach." That veteran observer of New Jersey affairs, "Trenton," of the New York Herald, questions the wisdom of the "outings" in these words:

There is a growing fear among New Jersey politicians that the political picnic business may develop into a first-class nuisance. They were able to endure the annual outing of the Joel Parker Association, out of respect to the memory of the old "War Governor," but they are unwilling to extend this charitable excuse to the bibulous orgies of the Franklin Murphy and the Robert Davis Associations. The "picnics" of these personal political clubs are characterized, in the opinion of the judicious, by no feature which makes them commendable or desirable. They are not calculated to elevate our politics or our politicians, and as object lessons in patriotism to young Americans they are distinctly pernicious. If this new political departure is to prove contagious we shall soon have a William J. Sewell Association, a John Kean Association, a Foster M. Voorhees Association, a Mahlon Pitney Association, and a score or more of other associations, all going on outings, and roping in all their friends and descendents to buy tickets at $5 each. And then what guzzling and stuffing and smoking and maudlin politics there will be! It opens up alarming possibilities.

Help for the Living.

The more that detailed news is received from Texas depicting the ravage and disaster of the hurricane that swept over the southern part of that State last Saturday, the more terrible and enormous appears the devastation that was wrought by the storm. As much as the whole nation deplores and sorrows for those who lost their lives in the storm, it is not to the victims that the paramount thought and interest of the people of the country must be turned to. Help for the living! is the cry that goes out to all sections of the country.

Six thousand are dead! A frightful thought. But there are ten times that number of living who are in the direst need and who must perish by even a worse death than that which wreaked itself on the immediate victims of the hurricane and flood if the helping hands of the people of this country are not at once liberally extended.

The situation in the stricken territory is a horrible one, and is growing more appaling every hour. The aftermath of suffering is intense. Millions upon millions of dollars worth of property has been destroyed and the whole resources of the territory wiped out of existence.

With charactertistic philanthropity and a willingness and desire to aid the sufferers as quickly as possible, a number of great agencies have set at work gathering money and supplies to be forwarded to the devastated district. One of these is the New York World. Through Mayor Rockfellow The World has announced that contributions of money and the necessities of life will be transmitted to the Texas suffers with the greatest expediency that is possible.

Plainfielders have long been noted for their generosity to local charitable purposes. Now let them add to that honorable record by responding to the appeals for the Texans as liberally as their means will allow. "He who gives quickly gives twice," is an axiom that is apt to the present situation.

The Daily Press will gladly act as a medium through which donations may be made and quickly forwarded to The World, and then on to the stricken Texans.

A newspaper advertisement may be the best of recommendations, says the Philadelphia Record. Passing through a city in Central New York a rich New Orleans man bought a local newspaper in which he found a real estate broker's "ad" that pleased him. On reaching home he sent to the agent a commission for the sale of a piece of property near Syracuse. The business was done so promptly and well that the advertiser was subsequently made the sole agent for the immense property interests in Northern New York of the Southern millionaire.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Our neighbor, the Plainfield Press, seconds our suggestion that the name of the Riker system of electric roads be changed from Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company to Noah's Ark Street Railway Company, but adduces a different reason than ours for the suitableness of the proposed title. The Press declares that "'Noah's Ark Street Railway Company' will cover a multitude of sins, and it is certainly true that this trolley system possesses about all the satanic attributes that trolley roads are capable of developing."

It seems to us a great pity that The Press did not set out in plain print some of these satanic attributes, for they are hard to discern by those patrons of the road who have the good fortune to live in Cranford. If the serpent has entered this little Garden of Eden it is in the guise of a public benefactor, and he is so regarded by our unsuspecting towns-people. As yet he has not accomplished our ruin by burging in honeyed and seductive phrases the eating of forbidden fruit. The Press should come to the rescue of this benighted and imperilled community before it is too late. Forewarned is forearmed.

Until the contrary is proved we shall continue to entertain the kindliest feelings for the trolley company. With all its faults, we love it still; for it gives a cheap and convenient service, and exerts a constant stimuless to the building up of property that would otherwise be inaccessible and therefore valueless.—Cranford Chronicle.

Dear Sirs:—Some days since a package of your GRAIN-O preparation was left at my office. I took it home and gave it a trial and I have to say I was very much pleased with it, as a substitute for coffee. We have always used the best Java and Mocha in our family, but I am free to say I like the GRAIN-O as well as the best coffee I ever drank.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, Sept. 13. — Yesterday's high wind played havoc with trees in this vicinity, especially those bearing fruit. In many instances the trees were blown down, or large limbs broken off. Others were completely stripped of their fruit. One farmer yesterday was selling Bartlett pears, which had been blown from the trees, at fifteen cents a basket.

Alfred Cottrelly, who has been critically ill for some time, still continues to sink despite the skill of his physicians. He is very weak and may succumb at any moment.

Theodore Baron and family, who have been occupying Mrs. Thomas' residence for the past few months, returned to their home in New York today.

Mr. and Mrs. Bunyon Stelle, of New York, who have been spending the summer with H. M. Hayes, left for home today.

Theodore Ruldoshes is having the ground about his new residence graded and put in first-class shape.

Merle Larrabee was one of the ushers at the Ackerman-Davis nuptials at New Market last evening.

Mr. Pierce and family, of Plainfield, have removed to one of James Craig's houses on Front street.

Charles Clark left today for New York, where he will spend a few days with friends.

Miss Susie Schaefer, of Plainfield, spent yesterday with friends in the borough.

Frank Smalley has left for a few days' stay with relatives at Philadelphia.

Mrs. James McElvar entertained Miss Susan Waters, of Plainfield, yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fleming have returned home from a sojourn at Asbury Park.

Mrs. Annie Abbot is spending a few days with Mrs. H. L. Terry, of Westfield.

Ludlum Frazee has returned from a few days visit in New York.

C. D. Taylor attended a clambake at Metuchen yesterday.

Albert Apgar visited friends in Plainfield yesterday.

Mrs. W. Gilroy spent yesterday in New York.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

New Market, Sept. 13. — Daniel Lienau has returned home after a few days stay in New York.

The Misses Jenner and Fred Wagner spent yesterday at Washington Rock, where a relative of the former is camping.

J. W. Reiker, of Catasaqua, Pa., attended the wedding of Miss Davis and William Ackerman last evening.

A bright little baby girl arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bieler, Tuesday.

Frank Daniels, of Plainfield, was the guest of friends in town yesterday.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Sept. 13.—Judge Clark, when not dispensing law and dealing out justice, devotes a great deal of his time to raising chickens and ducks. About two weeks ago his fowls were attacked with a disease which began carrying them off at an alarming rate, notwithstanding all his efforts to check the epidemic. Several authorities on chickens were consulted and it was agreed that the fowls were suffering from a form of cholera. A remedy was at last found to check the disease. The Incubator Company, of Lincoln, hearing of the strange disease, forwarded a sample of medicine which proved to be just the thing and the Judge is once more happy and will begin at once to replenish his stock.

Charles Scheelan, borough collector of Fanwood township, can point with pride to his record as a hustler after delinquent taxpayers. Only two properties are recorded as being on the delinquent list, while the poll tax delinquents have gradually been rounded up until only two names are listed. Surely Fanwood borough must come pretty near heading the list along this line at least.

The temperance meeting, which was advertised for last evening in the parlors of the Baptist church, was postponed until this evening. Mrs. Bourne, State president of the W. C. T. U., will make the address.

Several members of the class in stenography, that recently closed a course of twenty lessons, have united with the Ruth School of Stenography, of Plainfield, and will continue the study.

Theodore Bruchman attended the Democratic State convention held at Trenton yesterday. Mr. Bruchman went as a representative of his party from Fanwood township.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Jimerson, of Westfield, were the guests of their daughter, Mrs. George W. Marsh, last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jourg have taken possession of the Hollingsworth Cottage on Stanbery avenue.

Township Committee will hold a regular meeting in the township rooms tomorrow evening.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, Sept. 13—William B. Stewart returned home Saturday after a very pleasant three weeks' visit at the home of Editor Frank Baldwin, Orange. While a guest of Editor Baldwin "Uncle Billy's" 85th birthday came around and a "birthday party" was given in his honor, and a large number of friends called to pay their respects to Mr. Stewart and Editor Baldwin and his family.

The high wind yesterday did no damage here. It caused the masons on the schoolhouse to quit about the middle of the afternoon on account of the dust.

Robert Haran, the engineer at the pumping station, moved yesterday from Metuchen to the house lately vacated by George Clark.

The coal storage has been running steady the past week.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

A remarkable case was tried in the Semerset county court at Somerville recently. A farmer living in one of the country townships of Somerset county sold a horse to a Somerville man. The latter gave a note for $50 in payment. The man who received the note paid little attention to its wording, but went to the bank to have it discounted. The bank officials refused to discount the note, as it read: "I promise to pay 100 years after date, etc." The man with the note was greatly excited when he discovered the time of the note which he had not noticed at all, and promptly brought suit against the man who gave it. The case came up in court at Somerville. The defendant claimed that he was perfectly able and willing to pay the note when it came due, but protested that there was no law that compelled him to do so before that time. It was in black and white on the note and the Judge had nothing left to do but dismiss the case.

There is general rejoicing among the residents out Johnston avenue that the controversy between the city authorities and the Union County Board of Freeholders is over and that they are to have a bridge over Cedar brook at last. For half the year, Cedar brook, where Johnston avenue crosses it, fails to put in an appearance and there is only the dry water-course. The rest of the year the brook trickles down and occasionally rises to such a height as even to overflow the road at low points. Heretofore it has been necessary to ford the brook at that point or else drive way round by the way of Netherwood avenue. It was a question as to whose duty it was to build the bridge owing to this fact that the brook does occasionally dry up. The Freeholders have acted in the matter and are even now advertising for bids to do the work.

The present style of wearing no hats in the street is sometimes attended with unlooked for consequences. A young girl standing at the counter of one of our department stores was accosted by a stranger who evidently mistook the young miss without a hat for one of the clerks.

"Where will I find hat elastic"? asked the lady.

"I don't know," replied the girl indifferently.

"Well, you ought to know," exclaimed the lady.

"I don't know why," said the girl with a smile.

"I shall report you to the proprietor of the store," wrathfully burst out the woman.

"I don't know what good that will do," answered the girl sweetly, "I am here making purchases just as you are."

The lady gasped "I beg your pardon" and doubtless has her opinion of the fashion that misled her.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

The Brothers Royer have found in "Next Door," which will be seen at Music Hall tomorrow night, a gold mine that can safely be compared with the wonders of the Yukon. It is without a shadow of a doubt the funniest show on the road. "Next Door" contains a plot discoverable perhaps with a Lick telescope, but the stars play havoc with the lines by their art of delicious foolery. It is mostly pantomime, with swift and truly legitimate appeals to one's sense of humor, without the excessive fustian so many farce comedians insist upon flinging at an unoffending public. There is a lot of trick properties, trap chairs, pivotal doors and windows, and mysterious contrivances. The burlesque absurdities of the acrobats follow one another like clock work, and one wonders if he is ever going to stop laughing, but long after the final curtain he is still wondering.

"Way Down East," which enjoyed such a long and prosperous run at the Academy of Music, New York last season, will be presented again at Music Hall, Monday, Sept. 24th. The success of the play has been remarkable. It caters to all classes of theatre-goers and presents a strong moral without a sermon being preached to you. It is owing to this latter point that it has aroused the interest of the clergy in the different cities in which it has been presented. During the engagement at New York, numerous clergymen in Brooklyn used it as a text for their Sunday sermons.

The charming spectacle, "The Brownies in Fairyland," will be seen at Music Hall Friday and Saturday, September 28th and 29th. All the comical little characters—the Policeman, Chinaman, Dutchman, Irishman, Sailor, Dude, and all the others—you will find all these quaint little people as true to life as possible. Besides the funny "Brownies" there will be a stage full of real "Fairies," and they will surely win your hearts, for they will be represented by Plainfield boys and girls. Miss Edith Pond, daughter of Major J. B. Pond, will train the children. Malcolm Douglass, the composer of the Brownies' music, will assist at the performances. Miss Pond will meet the children at Music Hall Monday afternoon directly after school and assign the different characters. All boys and girls between the ages of 8 and 15 years that would like to take part are requested to report at Music Hall box office that day. One hundred and fifty are wanted.

A Shocking Calamity

"Lately befell a railroad laborer," writes Dr. A. Kellett, of Williford, Ark. "His foot was badly crushed, but Bucklen's Arnica Salve quickly cured him. It's simply wonderful for Burns, Boils, Piles and all skin eruptions. It's the world's champion healer. Cure guaranteed. 25c. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

Miss Gertrude Tier, of Bank place, is visiting her cousins, Madge and Victoria Martin, 223 126th street, New York.

Miss Clara Williams, of Madison avenue, and Miss Bertha Wheeler, of Webster place, have returned from Bridgeport, Conn., where they had a delightful two weeks' visit.

HURRYING THE LAWYERS.

Their Cases Must Be Ready When Called or Go to Next Term.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, Sept. 13th—At the opening Tuesday of the Middlesex county courts J. Franklin Fort, who presides here for the first time as successor to Justice Collins, caused consternation among lawyers by the announcement that during his incumbency a case marked "ready" must be ready when called or go off for the term.

"Under no condition," he said, "will I submit to a postponement, nor will the cases even go to the bottom of the list. I expect to try about five cases a day, and there must be no delay whatever."

A general voice of protest arose, but the Court refused to listen to it. There will be some "tall hustling" in the next few days, as a more liberal policy hitherto has prevailed in the Middlesex courts, and many lawyers were looking for postponements.

Berlin. Im Jahre 1888 zählte man in ganz Deutschland circa 550 Zahnärzte. Die am 1. April 1898 behördlicherseits angestellten Erhebungen über die Zahl und Vertheilung der im Deutschen Reiche thätigen Medizinalpersonen ergaben 1299 Zahnärzte. Mit Einschluß der unselbstständigen Zahntechniker wurden 4376 Zahnheilkundige, darunter 180 weibliche, gezählt. Fast die Hälfte aller Zahnärzte lebte in den 28 Großstädten des Reiches.—Für das Bismarck-Denkmal vor dem Reichstagshause findet zur Zeit die Herrichtung der Fundamente und die Umlegung der Wege statt. Für den Guß des Denkmals, dessen Enthüllung der Kaiser auf den 1. April 1901 angesetzt hat, ist ein eigenes massives Montirungsgebäude fertig gestellt worden.—In einer Versammlung der Kohlenarbeiter ist der Strike für beendet erklärt worden. Durch den Strike ist eine Lohnaufbesserung von 1.50 Mark die Woche erreicht worden.—Nach Verübung von Wechselfälschungen in Höhe von etwa 600,000 Mark war vor einiger Zeit aus Düsseldorf der Bauunternehmer Heinrich Mertens flüchtig geworden. Auf seine Ergreifung war eine Belohnung von 1000 Mark ausgesetzt worden. Der Berliner Polizei gelang es neulich, den Flüchtigen hier festzunehmen.

Küstrin. In der Wagner'schen Maschinenfabrik war man auf den unregelmäßigen Gang der Maschine aufmerksam geworden; als man das Maschinenhaus betrat, bot sich ein schrecklicher Anblick; der Heizer Zimmermann war den dem Riemen der Maschine erfaßt und vermuthlich mehr als 100 Mal um die Welle herumgeschleudert worden. Die Leiche war entsetzlich zerstückelt.

Zielenzig. Die alte Blockhauskirche in Burschen, die letzte in der Provinz Brandenburg, die im Jahre 1698 durch den Johanniterorden erbaut wurde und den alles nivellirenden Einflüssen der Neuzeit zum Opfer fallen sollte, wird nun nach endgiltiger Entscheidung des Kultusministeriums erhalten bleiben und mit einer staatlichen Beihilfe von 3000 Mark wiederhergestellt werden.

Provinz Hannover.

Bentheim. Als im nahen Dorfe Gildehaus der Arbeiter Büld den Draht erfaßte, der zur elektrischen Lampe führte, erhielt er einen so heftigen Schlag, daß er sofort entseelt zu Boden stürzte. Kurz darauf ergriff der Komtorist Herms in seiner eigenen Wohnung den Draht, woran die Glühlampe hing, und war eine Leiche. Zahlreiche Bewohner des Dorfes erhielten elektrische Schläge, als sie die Beleuchtung einschalten wollten, ohne glücklicher Weise ernstlichen Schaden zu nehmen. In der Angelegenheit wurde gerichtliche Untersuchung eingeleitet.

Aurich. Der 16 Jahre alte Schäfer Harms Schoon zu Wiesede begab sich Abends zwischen 7 und 8 Uhr mit seiner Heerde auf den Heimweg. Plötzlich zuckte ein Blitzstrahl nieder und streckte den Schäfer mit 33 seiner Schafe todt am Wege nieder.

Lingen. Für den Bau einer Bahn Lingen-Fürstenau-Bramsche bewilligten die städtischen Kollegien eine Zinsgarantie von 500,000 Mark; dadurch ist der Bau gesichert.

Provinz Hessen-Nassau.

Homberg. Der Bürgermeister Gohlke, der mit der Stadtvertretung in Fehde lebte und sein Amt gekündigt hatte, hatte sich um die Bürgermeisterstelle in Kranz beworben und war in engere Wahl gekommen. Die dortige Stadtvertretung hatte sich nun um Auskunft an die Homberger gewandt. Als solche sandte man ihr das Kreisblatt ein, worin das Antwortschreiben der Stadtvertretung auf die Kündigung des Bürgermeisters veröffentlicht war, in dem es heißt: „die Amtsniederlegung Gohlkes sei seine erste und einzige gute That für die Stadt." Hierauf hat Gohlke jetzt Magistrat und Stadtverordnete von Homberg, 24 Personen, wegen Beleidigung und Vermögensschädigung verklagt.

Kassel. Der Schwankdichter Karl Laufs ist gestorben.

Niederwalluf. Seinen 100. Geburtstag feierte David Rheinberger, der seit 1835 bei der Familie Gontard als Oekonomieverwalter in Diensten steht.

UNDERWEAR.

Lace and Embroidery—Corset Covers and Petticoats.

Lace is popularly considered a less substantial trimming for underwear than is embroidery, but as a matter of fact it lasts longer unless a very delicate kind is chosen. Valenciennes and thread laces are doubtless not serviceable, but torchon and medici laces are strong and outlast even heavy embroidery. The embroidered portion is serviceable enough, but the lawn or nainsook upon which the embroidery is made gives way very quickly, usually where it is sewed on the garment.

The ordinary tight fitting corset cover is gradually losing ground, being replaced by the French variety, which is full in front and sometimes at the back and may have a basque or be simply drawn in with a ribbon at the waist. Corset covers with a basque are more protection for the corset, which is apt to be soiled by colored skirt bands. Bolero corset covers are favored by plump women who wish to avoid as much as possible all thickness at the waist.

Today's picture shows two petticoats of taffeta. The first has a circular flounce of taffeta edged with a ruffle of lace and ornamented with butterflies in lace application. Over the flounce fall points of lace, headed by a narrow lace ruffle. The second petticoat has a narrow, fine plaiting around the foot, over which is a circular flounce cut in points and bordered with guipure. The flounce is trimmed and headed by horizontal bands of guipure insertion. JUDIC CHOLLET.

COMING FASHIONS.

Prospects For the Wardrobe of the Winter Season.

Taffeta is still to be worn through the autumn and winter. A new decoration will be narrow bands of black velvet stitched on in bands and various patterns, and the idea is also reversed, stitched taffeta bands appearing on velvet apparel. These trimmings are used for jackets and wraps as well as for gowns.

Fur is another favorite of fashion which still retains all its prestige, and it is to be more cut, embroidered and worked over than ever. To ornament a fine piece of fur is like gilding refined gold, but this superfluous decoration is sanctioned and even commended by the mode. On the other hand, however, opportunity is afforded for the use of scraps of fur which could never otherwise be utilized, for fur is employed in embroidery and combined with galloon, guipure, lace and metallic passementerie.

The cut shows a gown of green taffeta the skirt of which is cut irregularly at the sides and back above a deep plaited flounce, which is headed by a wide band of guipure. The bodice has a sort of bolero of plaited green mousseline de soie, outlined by a band of guipure. The revers of white moire extend below the waist and open over a crossed vest of green mousseline de soie. The vest has a yoke of white moire with bands of guipure, and the high, draped collar is of green mousseline de soie. The sleeves have tucks and a band of guipure at the top and terminate in a guipure and moire cuff below the elbow, a full sleeve of white mousseline de soie emerging from the cuff. JUDIC CHOLLET.

A man in the employ of the Philadelphia offices of the Reading Railroad says: "I have been a bookkeeper for over sixteen years, and ten of them I have spent with this corporation. My occupation being sedentary, I have always found that a little walk after meals did me a wonderful amount of good, and gave my food a chance for proper digestion. A few months ago, however, prior to the reorganization of our road, the work so accumulated that I was compelled to give it all my time and attention. Instead of going out for my meals as was my custom, I remained at my desk, hastily partaking of a cold luncheon and immediately returning to my work. This finally resulted in upsetting my constitution, and got my stomach into very bad shape. Complaining of my ill health at one time in the presence of one of our traveling agents, he advised me to try Ripans Tabules. I did so, and the effect was almost miraculous. The very first one brought me immediate relief, and within the short space of six days I found myself restored to my old time health and vigor. Ripans Tabules are certainly a wonderful remedy for ills resulting from a bad stomach. They have proved so in my case, and I take great pleasure in sincerely recommending them to all suffering from dyspepsia, nervousness and severe headaches. One Tabule brings relief."

POEMS IN BASKETS.

Indian Women Put Much Thought in Their Handiwork.

Every Design and Line Has a Peculiar Meaning — The Art of Pottery Originally Proceeded from Basket Making.

[Special Los Angeles (Cal.) Letter.]

DURING the last ten years the craze for Indian baskets has grown into an epidemic. Twenty years ago there were not more than half a dozen respectable collections in the country—now there are scores. And there is more reason in a craze of this kind than in many that the fashionable world indulges in. Indian baskets, far more than any other one thing, reveal the life and thought of the Indian women who make and use them. Most people in picking up an Indian basket will see nothing more in it than a crude or fine piece of work (as the case may be), with a design worked more or less skillfully into the woof. But the expert can read a great deal more than that. He can see the love and affection put into it; the care of months expended in its manufacture; the objects upon which the woman's eyes rested while she was making it; or, mayhap, the thoughts and prayers she indulged in while it was in her hands. In some baskets one can read the social condition of the maker, whether she was a maiden, a married woman or a widow. And, indeed, there are so many things connected with Indian baskets that, to a wise collector, they become a humanizing education.

How many people are there who are aware that from basketry sprang the art of making pottery? And yet it is pretty generally accepted by those who have given the matter the closest study that the making of pottery was an accidental discovery made somewhat as follows: Saucer-shaped baskets had long been in use, and seeds were roasted in them—even as they are to-day by scores of Indians—by throwing red hot coals into the basket and shaking them among the seeds. Sometimes this would result in the burning of the bottom of the basket, and some bright woman hit upon the idea of lining her basket with clay. By and by she learned that sand mixed with the clay prevented its cracking, and thus the pottery idea began. It is easy to see how the clay inside would, after hardening, now and again slip loose from its basket, and there a new and complete utensil was found, ready made, in the Indian woman's hands.

Now I have seen these processes actually exemplified with the Havasupai Indians of Cataract canyon, in SABOBA INDIAN WITH BASKET.

Arizona. To this day they line their roasting baskets with clay, and much of their pottery, as well as that of other Indian people, is formed by plastering it around wicker work.

But it is to the designs on Indian baskets that I especially desire to call attention. These are many and varied. In a book I now have in the press I have shown that some of these designs are merely imitative. Others are ideographic, and still others symbolic. Imitative designs are those that portray the lightning—a zigzagging of valleys and mountains; a stream of water; the rainbow; trees; the calyx of a flower; the nets in which the Indians carry things; the spider web; the rattlesnake; the bear; the deer; the antelope; dancing men and women, and the like. I have baskets on which all these imitative patterns are shown.

But some baskets have many and strange ideas woven into them. Ideas of mythology, of history, of religion, of social life, etc. The old man in the engraving holds a basket in his hands, into which his aged wife wove the following, which she told me when I secured the basket last year. The couple are the oldest members of the small remnant that still lingers at Saboba, made memorable by "H. H." in her fascinating novel "Ramona." This is the story:

When the world was young the Saboba people led by their great captain, Uuyot, crossed the ocean of the sunset and came to the Pacific shore of what is now southern California. "Those Above" directed them to come to this place, but they could not settle upon any location to establish their homes, owing to the darkness which covered the earth. Suddenly a frightful earthquake shook them, loud thunders were heard and vivid and threatening lightning descended from the heavens. Terrified beyond measure the people stood still for awhile, and then they began to complain and ask of Uuyot what these things meant. He replied that he was sure something dreadful was about to happen, but he could not say what it would be. "Let us be silent and humble and reverent, then when Those Above speak to us we may hear and know what they desire us to do." The quivering of the earth, the thunder and the lightning still continued, but during a temporary lull after one particularly frightful outburst of thunder, Uuyot called out with a loud voice: "Wit-i-a-ko?" which signified: "Who's there? What do you want?" There was no reply. All was silent. The frightened people were silent. All nature herself was silent. Then, solemnly, Uuyot said: "My children! My own sons and daughters! Something is wanted of us, but I do not know what it is. Let us come near together in reverence to Those Above. Let us bring tobacco and make the big smoke and dance the sacred dances." So all the people brought tobacco and Uuyot took the large pipe made of stone and made the big smoke and blew it up into the heavens as an offering to "Those Above," and then showed the people how they must dance. They danced for a long time, and then asked Uuyot to talk more with the Great Spirits of the Above. But the spirits made no response. This made the people sad and Uuyot sat down utterly overcome. Then the people were panic-stricken, but Uuyot marched away and said never a word.

At last, however, light came into the sky and soon the sun, in his perfect brilliancy and completeness, shone upon them. Then the people were contented, for Those Above had removed the darkness and shown the light to them. But the light revealed the fact that the earth was bare, so Those Above bade Uuyot gather all the people together. He did so. Then the greatest of the spirits took some of them and converted them into rocks, trees, animals, birds, fishes, reptiles, insects, clouds, etc., according to their value. Then he made more people, some to live here, some to live there and some to live everywhere. Each was given his own tongue and he was told not to mix with people of another tongue. Then he scattered them abroad in their own villages and the world was peopled. But he linked them together with the chain of common blood and warm friendship. They were all powerful and encircled the earth. Nothing could harm them, for they were surrounded by mountains, which protected them from onslaughts by any enemies. These were the days of their greatness and power. "Those Above" smiled upon them. The sun, each day rose above the mountains, and at night the moon and the evening star together with all the other planets and stars shone upon them, and in the morning the morning star's bright beams cheered their hearts before the new rising of the glorious sun.

Then, pointing to the basket, my Indian friend reminded me that the connected series of circles represented the time of her people's power and explained that the upper portion of the design was to represent the mountains and valleys, and the peculiar U-shaped figures are the sun, moon, and stars rising above them.

A common symbolic design is that used by the Hopi (Moki) woman when she wishes to propitiate the spider woman who weaves the clouds. When rain is to be prayed for in the barren desolate country where she lives, the pious Hopi woman knows the rain cannot come unless there are clouds in the heavens. All clouds are woven by the mythical spider woman, so she weaves the spider web into her basket. This is symbolic of the clouds she desires. Then she goes to the shrine of the spider woman and sprinkles the sacred meal and offers her prayers. Now the men may begin the snake dance (which is a Hopi prayer for rain), as the spider woman has been propitiated and the clouds will be woven.

I once bought a basket from a Havasupai woman in which the funnel-shaped death-dealing cyclone or tornado was symbolized. This basket was supposed to have great power in diverting the tornado from the hawas, or homes, of her people, and she used it in her prayers to the spirit of the tornado that she and all who belonged to her might be saved from injury.

G. WHARTON JAMES.

When the GRAND ARMY of the Republic Captured Chicago

For a whole week Chicago, the city of big things, found her stock yards, her railroad interests, her manufacturing interests, her lake commerce, her lumber and grain outdone by a little badge, a bit of bronze and ribbon.

The Biggest Thing in Chicago.

For a whole week the Grand Army badge was the biggest thing in big Chicago, a city surfeited with big things. For a whole week Chicago forgot to talk of the other big things of which she is given to boasting; every conversation turned to that bit of bronze and ribbon and the gray-bearded men who wear them.

Beside the Grand Army encampment, the fall festivals, the Dewey receptions and all the other shows with which Chicago has attracted guests for her hotels and purchasers for her merchants paled into insignificance. But to Chicago's credit it must be said that the financial side of the encampment was lost sight of in the city's efforts to entertain royally. For the first time in years merchants responded to the pleas of the finance committees without first asking "how much business will it bring to me," or "will the line of march be so arranged as to pass my store?"

At Philadelphia last year, when Chicago asked for permission to entertain the veterans in the closing year of the century, her committee promised that $100,000 would be provided for the entertainment. That and more was easily raised, and another sum of equal or larger amount was expended by individuals in decorations.

For a week the distinguished statesman, the successful business man or renowned scholar was unheard of and unthought of, and their places were occupied by the men in faded blue who wore the Grand Army badge, for every one of whom there was a cheer.

Proud of the Grand Army.

Chicago is a proud city; proud of her rapid rise to eminence among the cities of the world; proud of her own and the institutions of the state of Illinois, and of none of these is she prouder than of the Grand Army of the Republic, for the Grand Army is an Illinois institution.

Blue and Gray Stood Side by Side.

Away back in 1864 when the guns of Sherman's army were booming at Atlanta and it seemed that the confederacy was doomed, and that the long fight would soon be over and the union saved, two Illinois soldiers talked of the friendships and memories that the war had installed in the hearts of the men who had fought in the federal armies, and set themselves the task of finding a way to perpetuate them.

These two men were Dr. B. F. Stevenson, major and surgeon and Rev. William T. Rutledge, the chaplain of the Fourteenth Illinois infantry. Conversation followed conversation and from them gradually evolved the plan for the Grand Army as it stands today. The man of pills and surgical instruments and the man of prayer and consolation for the dying were both busy men, but around the camp fires of the night they found odd moments in which to work out the details of the great organization. Through it Dr. Stevenson has helped to heal greater wounds than ever soldier suffered on any of the bloody battle fields of the war—the wounds of a broken nation.

Through the efforts of the Grand Army the blue and gray stood side by side with hand clasped in hand during the encampment in Chicago, and the great city gave to each an equal welcome.

An Object Lesson.

It would seem that no better place could have been chosen for this, probably the greatest of all the Grand Army encampments, than cosmopolitan Chicago.

In Need of an Object Lesson.

The second city of the nation is a city of many peoples; a city practically builded since the close of that war which these encampments commemorate; a city in which reside the outpourings of every nation. It is a city in which are to be found many conflicting emotions; patriotism rubs elbows with anarchism in its busy streets; a city in which the American born and foreign born work at the same desk and bench in office and factory; a city in which the accumulation of wealth is the predominant thought.

Such a city needs the object lesson which these encampments teach; it is well that its foreign born citizens, good citizens though they be, should see the power of the nation when its rights are assailed, a power born of patriotism and love of country.

That illustrious Chicagoan and soldier, Gen. John C. Black, in speaking of this phase of the encampment as it applied to Chicago, said:

"Vast numbers of people residing in Chicago are men and women, or sons and daughters of such, who have come to this country since the close of the war. They will have an opportunity of seeing a veteran soldiery which was called from the ranks of civil life in the hour of the country's peril, which fought to a successful issue the greatest war of modern times against the bravest foemen ever army encountered and who now again are plain citizens. It must give the American, native or foreign born, new reverence for the country and its institutions when he sees the veterans received, honored and blessed."

And the Decorations.

Chicago is too big to decorate effectively or artistically. The expenditure of $100,000 would hardly put one flag on each Chicago housetop. Yet the city attempts to decorate itself in gay plumage at least once or twice each year, but never before, not even during the days of the world's fair, was the donning of holiday attire carried to so great an extent.

Flags Fluttered from Every Window.

During G. A. R. week flags fluttered from practically every window in the downtown district, with its miles of streets; towering sky scrapers were literally wrapped in red, white and blue bunting, and from the housetops great bronzed eagles spread their wings.

But the spirit of decoration and adornment did not stop in the business district. It 'spread from the Indiana state line to beyond Fort Sheridan, from the lake to far back on the Illinois prairies beyond the municipal precincts. Everywhere the national colors floated to the breeze. Cannon boomed from early morning until late at night, and the week was but a continuous Fourth of July celebration in which the small boy reveled and his father gloried.

While the veterans marched through Chicago streets, the hundreds of thousands of spectators who lined the pavements and cheered them on were buried beneath the flags and bunting they carried, and never was hero given a greater meed of praise than the men who fought the battles of the civil war and now wear the badge of the Grand Army, even though a third of a century has passed away since Richmond fell, and the nation has emerged victorious from another war; a war in which the blue and gray fought side by side beneath the stars and stripes.

Troubles of the Census Man.

Chicago is unlike New York in at least one respect; within the municipal precincts the colored man is comparatively safe. In fact Chicago is a haven for all races and classes of men with but one exception, which goes to prove the rule.

Fate of the Census Enumerator.

Chicago is a good place for the census enumerators to stay away from. The gentlemen who counted or guessed at the number of people in the city by the lake as the case may be are not wanted, and they are not there. On June 1 several hundred residents of Chicago with great nickel-plated badges pinned to their coats started out to take the census of the city. They took it, or said they did, but the results were not satisfactory to Chicago and to-day it is unwise for any man to admit that either he or any of his relatives had anything to do with the census excepting to "kick" at the result. The board of health will not attempt to answer for the well being of any who are so unwise as not to follow this rule.

If the census enumerators guessed at the population of Chicago they should have been patriotic enough to have guessed larger; if they really counted the people they should have counted more of them than they did, and the Two Million club assert that they were there ready to be counted.
